Dr. S. insists that we should not charge upon individuals the wars that have desolated Europe. Kings, prime ministers, and emperors, are but the instruments. It is the spirit of races that produces and decides historical questions. Under Napoleon the Romanic race made its last great effort to rule over the Germanic, and it was the design of France to stand at the head of the Romanic. This could only be accomplished by the ruin of England, which was prevented by Anglo-Saxon energy, and Russian or Sclavic jealousy. From this view we infer that Dr. S. does not adopt the idea which is advocated with zeal in these days, that the cause of liberty and democracy was identified with Napoleon.

Dr. S. greatly disparages the Sclavic race. He has the poorest opinion of the Sclaves.—They lack energy and independence. They are the antipodes of the self-reliant, laborious, utilitarian Anglo-Saxon, while they also lack the grace and vivacity of the Romanic. They are a soft, dreamy, melancholy kind of people. They are also kind, hospitable, amiable, like children; but like children, they need to be guided and taken care of by their superiors. They are friendly in their feelings, but forget their friends as soon as they are out of sight. Like all who are destitute of self-reliant character, they are full of lies. Passiveness and receptiveness are their characteristics. They are represented in nature by the vegetable principle, while the Germanic is represented by the animal, which is the creative and positive.

Dr. S. has no faith in their becoming truly free and independent. He thinks their hope of elevation is in the generous kindness and care of the superior Germanic races, and he expresses the same idea in regard to the African race also. The religion of the Sclavic race is the Byzantium Christianity, which is simply calculated to amuse, like a parade or illustrated newspaper. It has no element of conscience. The position of Dr. S., thus briefly sketched, of the inherent superiority of one race, and the inferiority of another, and that the great principles of civil liberty and freedom of conscience are identified with one, and impossible for another, by their very make and essence, is certainly interesting, but in one view painfully so. We would like to hear and report the other view of the case.—N. Y. Independent.

On Saturday, Joshua Sears, Esq., a wealthy merchant of Boston, who is approaching the winter of life, married Miss Snow, of Brewster, Mass.

At Tahuta, Miss., some boys tied a pack of fire-crackers to a dog's tail, which ended (the trick, not the tail,) in the destruction of $200,000 worth of cotton.

REPORTS.

The negroes of Jamaica are reported as being in a most miserable condition, and very far from realising the blissful premise made for them when they were emancipated. The interest and care for them by the British government ended with the act that made them free.

We know they have been thus reported in some quarters. And so it was reported in Canada, by Brownson, in his lectures, that the protestant population of New England were much inferior to the catholics, in education and intelligence. The two reports are just about on a level, as to their value and veracity. There is more or less ignorance among the Yankees and misery in Jamaica, beyond question; but the comparative degrees of both are misstated in the most ludicrous disproportion; by Brownson, who can admire nothing but his adopted Mother Church; and by all writers who worship slavery as the golden goddess of Jamaica, now alas, left destitute of worshippers.

DEMOCRACY IN CONNECTICUT.—The Democratic Convention of the State met at Hartford on Washington's Birth Day, and nominated their candidates with great unanimity and harmony.

After a lengthy discussion, the Convention passed the following resolution opposing the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, by a large majority, the vote being nearly unanimous:

Resolved, That the Democrats of Connecticut do recognize the doctrines of the Baltimore Convention that nominated Franklin Pierce a candidate for the Presidency, and also the principles announced in the Inaugural Address of President Pierce; and we now abide by those principles and stand upon that platform, and rely upon the wisdom and integrity of our friends in Congress, that they will be true and faithful to all compromises, especially to the ordinance of 1787, the Compromise of 1820, and that of 1850, measures heretofore adopted in our national councils for the settlement of the slavery question. We have full confidence that such measures will be acquiesced in and agreed upon as may best maintain and perpetuate the glorious Union of these States.

MASSACHUSETTS.—The Boston Courier says,—the bill for the repeal of the liquor law, which was assigned for consideration in the House of Representatives yesterday, has been postponed for two weeks. It is expected that the opinion of the Supreme Judicial Court, as to the constitutionality of the law of 1855, will be made known in the course of a week or two, and the postponement was probably predicated upon the expectation of receiving that opinion.

THE COURT DRESS.—A letter from Paris of January 22d says—"Our Minister has been publicly received by 'his Imperial Majesty,' Louis Napoleon, who has graciously allowed Judge Mason to appear for this time only in citizen's dress, hoping that on all future occasions he will conform to the usages of his Court."

This Court Dress matter is an exceedingly small business. We can see no good reason whatever, which should oblige a plain citizen of our professedly plain republic, being our minister at a foreign court to ape the minions of royalty in their court dresses. Suppose now, that our government should acknowledge the independence of Hayti, (as they ought to have done years ago,) and then as a matter of course should send a minister to the royal court of the puissant black emperor Soulouque? Suppose if you please, that Uncle Toby himself were the minister. The Sable Queen has a birth day; or the little dusky heir apparent enters his teens; or some other great event calls the Court together in all its regalia and all its glossy splendor. Should Uncle Toby have a ponderous sword by his side? wear a cocked hat? and blacken his face? The idea is so ridiculous as probably to prevent the old gentleman's applying for the appointment.

On the other hand, if the whole foreign ministry business is a farce, as it sometimes seems to be,—it is quite in keeping for all the players therein to wear fantastic dresses.

NEW COIN WANTED.—A correspondent whose business requires the use of much change suggests the expediency of a small new coin of the value of one cent. He mentions that a coin is much wanted of the size of the three cent pieces, but with an open centre, so that they could be easily distinguished from other money.—Boston Transcript.

We wish the Transcript's correspondent would get up a printed petition to Congress for a new small cent, get it signed by all the bakers, milk men, market men, &c., of Boston, and send copies to other cities, large and small. The measure would pass at once.—Our present copper coin is exceedingly cumbersome, and the half cent utterly useless. A small cent would be very convenient, and our clumsy, ponderous copper currency would gradually disappear.

Almost every shopkeeper and market-man in this city would sign a petition like the one proposed.

For the Chronicle.

JOHN MITCHEL.

Messrs. Editors:—Having perused different remarks on the career of that fast countryman of mine, named John Mitchel, I would state a few facts relative to the man, and also offer a few remarks.

This three months' citizen, before he was one month in the United States, pounces on Secretary Marcy and denounces his well written document on the Koszta affair as anti-republican; he then goes on to call the learned, eloquent and deceased Daniel O'Connell, a Nisi prius lawyer. In writing such paragraphs he loses ground in the hearts of the Irish, as he would among Americans if he slandered the immortal Washington. He expresses himself on southern slavery as if he had no part of a heart of humanity beating in him, and yet he goes on a crusade to liberate the Emerald Isle from British thraldom. He wishes he had a good plantation well stocked with healthy negroes, in Alabama, just as he emerges out of the galling slavery of England, branded a felon. He endorses Senator Douglas's Nebraska bill; but he had better leave such questions to those persons who understand them better. To do the Irish any good, his text ought to be Temperance and Fraternity. First temperance; and on this he should use all the eloquence and influence of his Citizen to reform his fellow countrymen from the vice of intemperance—that preventive of happiness. The Irish people are great sufferers by indulging too freely in intoxicating liquors, for the fruit of their indulgence is to be seen, heard and felt every day. A reformation in this respect is essential; lest when fast John would think Ireland wrenched from British thraldom by the 80,000 Hibernians he expects to muster on this side of the Atlantic, it might turn out a New Ross disaster, losing all he gained by too much whiskey being drank in the camp. Next he should promote Fraternity: he ought to employ his powerful weekly to unite his countrymen in harmony. I don't pretend to say he can patch up permanently the old and bitter rent between Orangeism and Ribbonism; but he might unite the Farups and Fardowns. For the results of such quarreling factions, look at their fights, their railroad and Portland riots, and desecration of the Sabbath. On these and other essential morals, Mr. Mitchel might exert himself, and in so doing he might aid in freeing his countrymen and country from the most miserable and destructive slavery of intemperance and faction.

A SUBSCRIBER.

"A CHAW OF TOBACCO."—Fowlers & Wells, publishers, in New York City and Boston, have sent us three new Pamphlets, each being a prize essay on Tobacco. The first, as they lie before us, is entitled Tobacco: its history, nature and effects: with facts and figures for tobacco-users: by R. T. Trall, M. D. The second, Tobacco Diseases: with a remedy for the habit: by Joel Shew, M. D. And the third, The Evils of Tobacco, as they affect the Body, Mind and Morals: by Rev. Dwight Baldwin.

These tracts tell terrible stories of tobacco chewers and smokers, snuffers and spitters; making one feel almost as sick as when he goes by a dirty fellow with a "duddeen" in his mouth, smoking "old sojers." Uncle Toby smoked his last segar thirty odd years ago; and one "chaw," taken before the 19th century had got into its teens, will probably last all his lifetime. So he advises all the youngsters round, to digest these tracts before they get so wedded to the weed as render a divorce next to impossible.

☞ A coroner's jury in Portland, on the body of Guiney, who died from wounds in the Irish Sunday scrimmage, have brought in their verdict, that Thomas Guiney came to his death on the 21st day of February, by blows inflicted on the head with clubs in the hands of Martin Connelly and John Connelly, on the 12th day of February, at about 5 o'clock P. M., on Danforth street.

☞ The Essex County Freeman, late a semi-weekly, appears as a weekly paper, published at Salem, Mass. The Salem Register says:

The Essex County Freeman and Beverly Citizen have made their appearance again. They both bear a wonderful resemblance to the Lynn Bay State in a very transparent disguise.

☞ One Theron H. Knight, of Chelsea, Mass., a tailor, has just been sentenced to seven years labor in the State Prison, for receiving stolen goods, which business he had been carrying on largely.

☞ Charles G. Came, Esq., whig, was chosen Representative to the Legislature of Maine, in place of Mr. Fessenden, on Wednesday.

An attempt was made on the 15th to get up a meeting in Louisville in favor of the Nebraska bill. The result was a complete failure. Only fifty-seven persons were present, and a majority of those were opposed to its object. The Journal and the Courier speak of it as an out and out failure.

LOCAL.

ORNAMENTAL PAINTING.—After the comfort of a public or private building is properly cared for and secured, next comes its embellishment. The art of decorative painting on the walls and ceilings of houses, halls and churches, is now extensively patronized.

Among the Artists who gratify the taste for such decorations, and who seek for a share of such patronage, are Messrs. Butler & Poldemann, who advertise in our columns this day. The former is already known as a good ornamental painter; and the latter has just finished a good specimen of his skill in this line, in the clothing store of Mr. William P. Walker, on Market Square, which may be examined, and will recommend itself.

☞ Our snow storm on Thursday, gave us 6 or 8 inches of snow on a level,—if we could but find a level spot. But the wind, varying from West to North, and blowing fresh and cold, blew all the snow into heaps, clogging up the railroads and belating the trains, so that the train from Boston due here at 5, did not arrive till 8 P. M., and the train from Concord due at 6 had not arrived at 9. The train from Portland due about 6, did not come at all.

☞ A full attendance of the members of the Mercantile Library Association is requested this evening.

☞ The fifteenth lecture before the Lyceum at the Temple will be on Wednesday evening next, March 1, by Rev. Theodore Parker.

☞ There was no quorum present at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen last evening.

☞ Owing to the non-arrival of the Concord train last evening, we are without our usual Court report.

TEMPERANCE IN NEW MARKET.—The citizens of New Market, favorable to the suppression of intemperance, held a meeting on the evening of the 10th inst., and followed the example of Exeter in choosing vigilance and prosecuting committees, to secure the conviction and punishment of all those in that town who violate the law by selling intoxicating liquors without license. Nine hundred dollars were raised on the spot to meet the expenses of prosecutions, and the sum was soon after raised to fifteen hundred.—Messenger.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTH DAY.—In Portland, Me., the "State" newspaper says,—We noticed numerous urchins parading the streets on the 22d, each armed with a tin horn, said horns varying in length from eighteen inches to three feet. In the wake of each horn bearer followed generally about half a dozen hornless urchins, and every few moments the lucky youth who was possessed of a horn would put it to his mouth and use his utmost powers to, as we thought, blow his brains through said horn; as soon as he had blown himself windless his followers would eagerly clamor for the privilege of putting themselves to the same inconvenience. In the evening the horns seemed to multiply, and the din increased accordingly. No two horns sounded exactly alike, and not a single horn made an agreeable sound, so those of our readers who had not the extreme felicity of witnessing, or rather hearing, this demonstration, can imagine in a slight degree the sweetness of the musical treat which we enjoyed yesterday and last night. A few blazing tar buckets were dragged through the streets to give a touch of variety to the entertainment. We are told that all this was to celebrate the birth of Washington. The observance is very proper, but we do not see the appropriateness of the manner, and believe it is peculiar to this city.

MORE FISHING TROUBLES APPREHENDED.—A bill has passed the Legislature of New Brunswick, and received the royal sanction, which enables the colonial authorities to board American vessels in the fishing grounds, when within three miles of land, and remain on board until they depart. It has other provisions for the protection of the in-shore fisheries, which are equally stringent and obnoxious.

SAD ACCIDENT IN HOLDEN, MASS.—On Monday afternoon Mr. Moses Blackmar of Holden, who was grinding at Chaffin's grist mill, took an iron bar and entered the wheelpit below, for the purpose, as it is supposed, of starting the wheel, which had been stopped by the ice. It is supposed that while he was using the bar to remove the ice, the wheel suddenly started and knocked him into the raceway. Mr. Blackmar was seventy-eight years of age.—Worcester Transcript.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A letter from Canton of Dec. 8th, states that the U. S. ship Plymouth has just arrived there. She reports the loss of Lieutenant Matthews and fourteen of her crew in a typhoon near the Bonair Island.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Ex Senator Clemens and William P. Harris had a very serious fight here yesterday, Harris being badly beaten.

The best "fire annihilator" we ever saw, is an armful of green hemlock wood. We have tried many others, but none that come up to this.

Counterfeit half dollars of the date of 1839, are in circulation, made of some base metal mixed with silver. They may be detected by their light weight.

The oldest preacher in the world is Rev. Robert Fletcher of London, who is about 107 years old.

TRAGEDY AT RANDOLPH.

On Wednesday morning, at Randolph, Mass., Mr. Augustus Wilbur, a shoemaker of that place, while at the breakfast table, killed his wife by blows on the head with an axe, and then cut his own throat. The children of the deceased are seven in number, the oldest fourteen and the youngest two years old.

The five oldest children fled on the instant, and when the neighbors reached the room they found both Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur dead on the floor, and the two smallest children as usual, fastened in their high chairs at the table. The children over whose young lives this terrible shadow has fallen are uncommonly active and intelligent.

Mr. Wilbur was a man of about forty years. He was a native of Randolph, of good standing, and a bootmaker by trade. Sixteen or seventeen years ago, he married Miss Harriet Bryant, a native of North Bridgewater. Immediately after their marriage they removed to Pennsylvania, where he purchased a farm and was highly prosperous in his vocation of tilling the soil,—his constant industry being rewarded with rich harvests and well filled garners. During fourteen years residence in Pennsylvania they had seven children born to them, and their domestic happiness was most complete. At the end of this time, he was induced by the solicitations of his wife to sell his farm and remove back to Massachusetts, when he purchased a farm in Marshfield. This removal was made sixteen months ago. He lived on the Marshfield farm and worked it, as the farmer phrase is, one season, but with poor success. He then rented the farm and went to reside in Randolph, where he purchased his last residence, a cottage house and shop for $1200. His averred intention was to carry on the manufacturing of boots and shoes, but he never commenced the business. From the time of his removal to Randolph to the period of his death, he was engaged in no occupation, but passed his time in attending religious meetings and in reading the Bible. For some time passed he had displayed unmistakable symptoms of insanity, which was undoubtedly caused in a great measure by his frequently expressed fear of coming to want. More than a week ago his wife told a friend that she was afraid her husband would do her some injury, and that his insane conduct made her tremble for her life.

Mr Wilbur, while in Pennsylvania, was a member of the Methodist Church, but since his residence in Randolph he had worshiped with a Baptist society, as there is no Methodist Church in West Randolph. He is said to have been strictly temperate, happy with his family, and as usual attended church with them last Sunday.

He is said to have been worth 3 or $4000, and is represented as being economical almost to stinginess. His wife was thirty eight years of age; she has a mother living in Bedford, Mass.

From the above statement, which we condense from the Boston papers, chiefly from the Times, it is plain the tragedy arose from an insane love of money, coupled with an equally insane view of religious truths and duties.

BOSTON PRICES.

Extracted from a review of the week, in the Chronicle of Thursday.

FLOUR.—The market has been completely unsettled by the late unfavorable foreign advices, and prices are tending downward. Nothing of any importance doing in Western, the sales of the week having been confined to retail lots from dealers. The nominal prices are $8 75 for common brands; $9 for fancy, $9 50 a 10 for extras, and $10 a 10 75 per bbl for extra Genesecee. Southern Flour—common $9 25 a 9 50, cash and 4 mos; favorite extra brands at $10 and Haxall and Gallego at $10 per bbl.

Grain—The transactions in Corn have been for yellow at 95 a 97 cents; white remains quiet; Northern Oats 53 a 54 cents per bush., cash.

Molasses—The market for Cuba sweet is not so firm, sales having been made at 13 cts. per gal, 6 mos; no change to notice in sour; by auction, 225 bris New Orleans 28 1-2 a 29, 4 mos; 90 bris Muscovado 23 cents, cash.

Provisions—Sales of Pork have been limited, owing to the small stock in the hands of receivers; prices without material change. Some sales of Western Mess Beef at $14 a 14 50 for good and $15 a 15 50 for extra brands, 4 mos. Further sales of Lard at 10 1-2 a 12 cents in bris and kegs. Prime Butter in good request at 21 a 23 cents; fair to good 18 a 20 cents per lb.

Coffee—There have been further sales of St. Domingo and Java at 10 1-2 a 11 cents for the former and 13 1-2 cents for the latter per lb, 6 mos.

Hay—Eastern is scarce and has been in fair demand at $21 per ton, 6 mos.

THE STORM.—Philadelphia, Feb. 22—The Captain of the brig Florence, of Providence, from this port for New Orleans, came up to the city to-night, his vessel having gone ashore on Bombay Hook Bar, Monday night, in four feet of water. He reports the storm as being the most terrible experienced in many years. Nine vessels are ashore, and six men were found frozen to death. Many vessels are outside. Two wrecks are being towed up to the city to-night.

New Orleans, Feb. 21.—Roberts & Lambert's extensive sugar-house, at St. Landry, was burnt last week, with four hundred hogsheads of sugar.

Mr. Douglas, the father of the bill for the repeal of Missouri Compromise, is a Northern man, a representative of one of the free states—and the fact is regarded by some of the politicians in the South, as a sufficient justification of their support of the measure—or at least as matter of taunt. Thus, in his speech in New York, on Saturday evening last, the Hon. John P. Hale cited Col. Benton thus: "Said Mr. Benton to me, Sir, if a Southern man had introduced this measure, I would have denounced it as infamous; I should have black balled it, but, sir, if the North have made a bargain, a bargain that was imposed upon them, and have lived by it thirty-four years, and now want to give up their half, have I any right to complain?"

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Nobby tetters are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so miserable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave two children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I have heard some the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last she bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. In the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

TICKET SWINDLING.—On Wednesday afternoon, fifty young men, mostly strangers from the West, appeared at the Lower Police Court of New York to prefer charges against Wm. M. Young & Co., by whom they have been swindled out of from $75 to $200 each, in the purchase of worthless tickets for California. Eight of them, young men from Chicago, after being inveigled into Young's office, were fleeced out of $1140 by Young and his confederates. Four of the men who were in the office, represented themselves to be agents and part owners of the steamship North Star, and the money was expended in purchasing tickets for passages in that vessel. These four men have been arrested, but Young, the head and front of the offenders, is at large, and it is feared he has gone to England in the steamer Pacific, with about $15,000, which he had obtained by the sale of spurious tickets.

A WATCH CAT.—A family residing in South Boston have in their possession a cat which is not only a smart rat-catcher, but also performs all the duties of a watch dog. Puss is of quite a large size, and whenever a stranger enters the gate, if allowed, will fly at him with all fury. Twice in a single day last week, he made these attacks when unwatched. One was a scavenger who entered the yard. The cat flew at his legs, and spit and clawed with such fury that the man was obliged to beat a retreat. A market boy was next attacked, and was obliged to leave the yard. If confined in the house, and the cat hears any one enter, he makes to the window and seems in a perfect fury to get out.—Boston Journal.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

It it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours: Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linimeut, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S ENDEAVOR REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with many success.

THE BEARD.—The Ladies' Own, of Edinburg, has the following, from a lady correspondent:

Dear Mr. Editor:—If you wish to retain the favor of the ladies, you must advocate the cause of the beard and moustache, those great ornaments of the male sex. Shaving is a modern innovation. Samson wore a beard, and we all know what happened to him after he was deprived of it. The patriarchs, the apostles, Luther, John Knox, and Shakespeare, were all true to nature; and we have all read of Aaron's beard, which was famed for its great length and beauty.

The advocates for smooth chins certainly cannot vaunt of the antiquity of shaving, which only dates back to the Norman conquest, whereas the beard worn in its natural state dates back to Adam in Paradise. What would a lioness think of her noble consort were he shorn of his magnificent mane, and what can we think of a man under a similar bereavement? I am a married woman, Mr. Editor, and I have persuaded my husband to cultivate a beard and moustache. They are both in their infancy yet, and he keeps them covered with a muffler when out of doors, to preserve animal heat, and hasten their growth. But it is his intention, at the commencement of the ensuing year, to remove the muffler, and inaugurate them to the gaze of the admiring public. Perhaps, you will ask, what interest has the public in this private matter? I answer, much. Does it not show my influence over my husband? and what I have achieved may be accomplished by other wives, and the beard and the moustache become the fashion.

SINGULAR ESCAPE FROM A TIGER.—Last week, the inhabitants of Newton Stewart and neighborhood were thrown into a considerable state of excitement, by the report that Lieut. Stewart, son of James Stewart, Esq., of Cairnsmore, was mortally wounded by a tiger while out hunting near Churan Fort, India, where the camp of the lieutenant governor of the N. W. provinces is situated. We learn, on particular inquiry, the following particulars:

Lieutenant Stewart, being separated a short distance from the rest of the party, had got within reach of the tiger without being aware of its close proximity, and was instantly struck down before he had time to discharge his gun, both barrels of which were loaded; but his presence of mind did not forsake him at that awful moment. Feeling that his only chance would be in counterfeiting death, he lay perfectly still. When the tiger had passed him a pace or two he returned, and lifting him up, carried him a short distance, frequently changing his hold, before finally dropping him, which at length he did, then staid growling over him a few moments, striking the victim with his closed paw, and, believing him dead, made off through the long grass, after inflicting no fewer than thirteen wounds upon the helpless sufferer, who, by God's blessing, was enabled during these awful moments to remain perfectly motionless, notwithstanding the agony of mind as well as body he must have endured. The last accounts received at Cairnsmore were written by Lieut. Stewart himself, in pencil, a week after the fearful occurrence, and contain a favorable report of his recovery.—Ayr Advertiser.

"Get the Testament, Isaac, and see what it says about the New basket bill," said Mrs. Partington, as she came from church the other Sunday, and folded up her long shawl, and placed the bonnet in the old Indian basket under the bed. "It don't say nothing about it," said Ike, who was reading the story of the 'Avenging Sword, or the Ghost of the Red Tower of Lunenburg,' and didn't want to be disturbed. "Dear child," said she admiringly, "he is so busy with his Sunday school books!" Ike said not a word, but kept devouring the 'Avenging Sword,' with as much avidity as if it were a whole Sunday school library—perhaps more. "It must be in the Bible, Isaac, or our minister wouldn't have preached about it, and on a Sabba' day too. It must be in the Bible. Perhaps its in the hypocrisy, Isaac. At any rate if it isn't in the good book it ought to be, for what right has a minister to dispense with the gospel if it isn't in the Scripture?" She said this to Isaac, but the boy had got just where the 'Avenging Sword' was beginning to avenge—where the thrilling part came in—and was oblivious. She might as well have talked to the ancient corporal who hung there in rigid perpendicularity upon the wall.—Boston Post.

CONSPIRACY TO EXTORT MONEY.—A woman named Depuytren was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction, on Monday 13th inst., by the Court of Common Pleas at Springfield, Ms., for conspiracy with her husband to extort money from Mr. J. C. Bartlett of that city. She went to Mr. Bartlett, and asked him to assist her to find work, as her husband had gone off and she was in want. Mr. Bartlett called at her house some time after, to see her on this subject, when her husband rushed in with a carpet-bag in his hand, saying that he "had caught them now." He then threatened Mr. B. with all sorts of Murder, untill he succeeded in extorting a bill of sale of all his property. Mrs. Depuytren acknowledged the conspiracy, but says she was compelled to go into it by her husband. The husband has decamped, forfeiting his bail.

MUSICAL REVELATIONS.

One fine day last summer, Mr. Meinerth came hastily into our office with a paper in his hand, containing a letter which he said some one had written and published in his name, to injure him and others in this place. This was a letter signed Karl Meinerth, first published in the New York Musical World & Times of July 8, 1853, and republished in a following column of this day's Chronicle.—Mr. M. wished us to notice the matter in the Chronicle, and to deny the authorship on his behalf. We believed him, and wrote a little article as he requested—adding our own suggestion to the editors of the World & Times, that they should carefully preserve the manuscript, envelope, &c.

In the course of the day, Mr. M. sent in a card of his own, in which he faintly denied the penmanship rather than the authorship: this card we appended to our article, and printed in the next morning's paper, mailing a copy to the World & Times, with the article distinctly marked.

Our next move was to prepare a joint letter to the editors of that paper, calling for the manuscript letter, to be sent to our City Clerk, or Post Master, or some public functionary here, for purposes of comparison,—but on making this motion to others interested, we were surprised to learn that Mr. Meinerth had gone to New York in person.

Why he should have incurred such expense of time and money, merely to do what a letter costing three cents would have done better, we could not conceive. Still we suspected no wrong on his part; and we never knew exactly what he did or said there, until lately, when Mr Dyer's letter came along. This letter, if correct, shows why he went. He returned without the documents, and after an attempt at explanation, in a card published in the Chronicle of July 25, 1853, pleading that he was very busy, he declared it "a sin" for him "to waste a minute more in this hideous matter."

At this point of time, a friend drew our attention to an article on Music, avowedly written by Mr. Carl M. Meinerth, and published with his name at the head of it, in the Portsmouth Journal of Dec. 4, 1852. It was a long article, occupying more than two solid columns of that paper. It is, of course, too long for republication by us; but in order to do justice to the author and the subject, we call out a column of its choicest gems, and place the extracts taken, in a column side by side with the offensive and "hideous" letter.

No sooner had we read the two documents through and compared them carefully together, than we were struck with the great similarity of sentiment between the two, and also with the family likeness of the language.—There was no servile copying of a sentence in the one, from a sentence in the other—but a remarkable coincidence of thought, feeling and manner pervading both, which would be strange indeed in two authors, but quite natural in one and the same.

We stated this impression, and in so doing doubtless offended Mr. M. and some of his friends. One gentleman, alike friendly to him and to us, lately suggested that he was not satisfied of their identity, as he did not deem the extracts from both, which we published, to be at all conclusive. On looking back to the paper, we perceive that we gave only 6 lines of one, and 7 of the other; altogether too small a sample to prove a general resemblance. To supply this deficiency, we republish the whole of the offensive letter, and a selected column of Music Used and Abused. We place them side by side for the purpose of comparison. To us they appear twin-brothers in egotism, vanity, and self-esteem; alike in undervaluing other musicians; alike in sneering at all other taste or cultivation but the writer's own. We leave them to make such impression on the reader's mind as they may, in regard to the internal evidence of authorship of the offensive letter.

As to the external evidence, we have the letter of Mr Oliver Dyer, who was one of the firm Dyer & Willis, publishers of the World & Times, asserting distinctly that a man calling himself Mr. M. claimed the authorship of the letter, and yet wished them to deny it for him.

Mr. M.'s only answer to this, so far, is, to deny having written such a letter for publication, to deny the press the right to draw inferences and make insultory remarks, and to request the public to suspend judgment till he shall inform it "with the truth in the proper way."

Two weeks have gone by,—but we have neither seen nor heard a word of contradiction or disproof from Mr. Willis of the World & Times, from Mr. Meinerth, or anybody else. And if no contradiction is made, no counter evidence offered, we must conclude we have arrived at the truth in the matter, and so have done with the authorship of the letter.

But we have not quite done with Mr. M.—Leaving the letter, the authenticity of which has been disputed,—let us go back to the Essay on Music, which he avows. Why did he write it? under what circumstances? for what purpose? What right had he to "draw inferences and make premature insultory remarks in a personal manner," to the injury of his older and better musical competitors?

What were the circumstances? Mr. M. came here in 1850, a stranger, to seek his fortune, as a teacher of music and drawing. He had the advantage of being entirely unknown, and of being introduced to our citizens by one of our most thoroughly educated general scholars, who spent some time in Germany, and is at once an adept in German literature, and much attached to the German modes of thought and action. This gentleman, a member of one of our largest and most wealthy families, and moving in the most literary and fashionable circles, gave the new comer an excellent start among those families most ready to employ an artist, and best able to pay him well. He had good encouragement, and was earning a good living, getting a large share of all the scholars on the piano.

Why then should he write such an essay?—We can see but two reasons: one, to give vent to his overweening vanity; the other, to take away or destroy the remaining patronage still possessed by other music teachers in the city, one of whom was a native of the soil; another married and settled here.

Both these are dishonorable motives: will anybody suggest a third probable motive, higher or better?

Was it the improvement of music? if so, he was to be the improver. He has now been here three or four years: what can he sing? what can he play, more or better than others? Pupils he has had in good numbers, and thereby put money in his purse—but can they play or sing, more or better than others?

The people of Portsmouth have heard him try to sing and play in public: but he has not repeated the experiment lately, nor is he likely to do it again at present. There is no question that he can play "the scale," nor that he can teach little girls something about the finger board and so forth:—but that he is a superior teacher or player, is yet to be proved. His assertion in the case is now good for nothing.

We did not begin the controversy: but if no one responds, we now close it.

NEBRASKA MEETINGS.—A great crowd of people gathered in Faneuil Hall, Boston, on Thursday afternoon, on the Nebraska question—against the bill, of course. Their proceedings fill a large space in the Boston papers.

A despatch from Concord, N. H., says of the Meeting there—

The violent snow storm detained many of the trains with prominent politicians who were expected to participate in the anti-Nebraska meeting, announced to be holden in the depot hall. From this cause, Mr. Bell, the Whig candidate for Governor, who was expected to speak on the occasion, was absent. But very few democrats participated in the meeting, though some of them signed the call. Most democrats deny that the Nebraska bill is an issue in the coming election. From 600 to 800 persons were present at the meeting. Mr. Tuck was one of the speakers.

Rev. James H. Marston, of this city, has accepted the invitation of the Freewill Baptist Church in Salem, Mass., to become their pastor.

TRIAL FOR MURDER.—In the case of John L. Chapman, tried at Cambridge for the murder of Reuben Cozzens, the jury disagreed, standing 11 for condemnation, and 1 for acquittal.

A SAD ACCIDENT.—We learn from the Manchester Mirror, that a sad accident occurred in that city on Tuesday evening last. A party of young ladies and gentlemen had engaged to pass an hour or two in the delightful occupation of coasting. Their coast extended down a street and over a bridge which crosses the upper canal. As a sled upon which were seated two gentlemen and a lady, Miss Samantha Eastman, was descending the hill, its course was unexpectedly changed by an intervening obstacle, and the party, instead of crossing the bridge, were precipitated into the canal. The young men succeeded in reaching the shore, but Miss Eastman was drowned. Her body was afterwards recovered. She was a daughter of Mr. William Eastman of Manchester, and was a young lady of very estimable character.

Dr. Mitchel of New York, has recommended the increased cultivation of pumpkins, partly for the sake of the oil which may be obtained from the seeds. He states that half a gallon of excellent limpid oil may be pressed from a gallon of seeds; that it has no disagreeable taste or smell, and burns well.

BURGLARY.—Syracuse, Feb. 23.—The house of Alfred Tiller at Onondaga West was entered by burglars this morning, and while Mr. Tiller was gone out to procure help his wife was shot dead and $400 were stolen.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN MILFORD, MASS.—As two men were engaged in painting a dwelling-house in Milford, on Friday, the staging upon which they were standing gave way, and they were precipitated a distance of thirty feet to the ground. One of them, John Clarke, was instantly killed. The other F. A. Leslie, sustained a few severe bruises. Mr. Clarke leaves a wife and family.

2 WEEKS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTHERN LIGHT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The steamer Northern Light arrived at this port about half-past five o'clock this afternoon, having left San Juan on the evening of the 15th inst, and bringing San Francisco dates to the evening of the 1st inst, making the time through in twenty-one days and nineteen hours, being the quickest on record.

The San Francisco Chronicle of Feb. 1st says:—"On Tuesday evening, Jan. 17, a rumor was circulated in the streets that the banking-house of Adams & Co. had failed. On the next day holders of certificates of deposit made a rush to draw their money.—From the time the bank opened in the morning until it closed in the afternoon the rush was kept up, and when it was discovered that the funds in the bank were equal to the demand the excitement died away. The rumor arose from the fact that the name of the firm did not appear among the shippers of treasure in the report published as sent on the 16th of January. Adams & Co. paid out $416,000 to depositors, and had sufficient money left to be considered perfectly good by everybody.'

The steamer Helen Hensley exploded one of her boilers whilst lying at her wharf in San Francisco, killing two men, and badly scalding several passengers.

The steamer Golden Gate was stranded at the entrance of the harbor of San Diego on the morning of the 18th.

The Shasta Indians had commenced hostilities again on the Klamath river, where they attacked a party of whites and defeated them after a day's fighting had taken place between them. The whites had four killed and a number wounded.

The winter has been unusually severe in California. In Grass Valley and other places snow is two feet deep. In the mountains, near Stockton, the rains had been violent.—The gulches were filled and the miners were busy.

The sloop-of-war Portsmouth and a government mail steamer were to sail from San Francisco for Lower California to look after the Walker party.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.

SENATE.—Mr. Fessenden, the new Senator from Maine, was sworn in.

A large number of petitions against the Nebraska bill were presented.

Mr. Cass presented a petition asking the interposition of the government with foreign powers in order to secure to American citizens abroad the enjoyment of religious worship while living, and a place of sepulture and the rights of Christian burial when dead, accompanying the presentation with a few brief remarks in support of the objects of the petition. He moved a reference to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The Nebraska bill was taked up, when Mr. Toombs of Georgia spoke in its favor.

HOUSE.—No business of importance was transacted in the House.

Cincinnati, Feb. 23.—The Martha Washington Conspirators, including Kissane, Cummings, Cole and Chapin, were arrested this morning, on a requisition from the Governor of Arkansas, and were taken away heavily ironed. A destructive fire occurred last night on Fourth between Main and Syracuse sts.—Loss $95,000. Keyer's furniture establishment, Meakin & Pickering's fancy goods store and Pearson's periodical store were destroyed.

FEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Yesterday the steward of the steamship Africa was arrested on a charge of smuggling a large quantity of lace goods found in the store of an importing firm in this city.

A dispatch from Washington states that Gen. Armstrong, the proprietor of the Union newspaper of that city, died last evening.

A letter from San Francisco mentions the failure of Messrs. Otis & Farnum, flour dealers, and Ogden & Hayes, engaged in the China trade. Liabilities about $200,000 each firm.

The meeting of the German Democrats last evening, called to endorse the Nebraska bill, broke up in a row.

DEATHS FROM BURNS.—On Tuesday morning Chas. Henry died at South Boston. Two weeks ago, Henry, who was enployed at the Rolling Mills at the City Point, accidentally slipped into a trough of hot water, scalding his back and extremities very badly. A physician was called to dress his wounds, and had covered his burns with cotton wet with linseed oil, when the surgeon's assistant accidentally held his lamp too near the cotton and it took fire, burning the man again in a most dreadful manner. He lingered in great agony until Tuesday morning. He was a single man, twenty-five years of age.

RESCUED FROM THE ICE.—On the 5th inst., Benj. Crowell and Joseph A. Jones were rescued from a boat in Bass river, badly frost bitten, they having been exposed to the cold all night, while attempting to reach the vessel to which they belonged. On the 6th inst., Captain Lysander Chase and his mate started in a boat about noon, from on board schooner Isis, at anchor in Bass river, to come to South Yarmoth. When within about a half mile of the shore, the ice drifted in, and completely surrounded the boat, so that they could neither go forward or return. The mate attempted to go ashore on the ice, but only got wet through and completely chilled. Fortunately their condition was discovered, a large number of the citizens of South Yarmouth came to their assistance, and after the most persevering and unremitting efforts all the afternoon, they were finally rescued from their perilous situation, almost frozen and much exhausted.—Yarmouth Register.

TRAVEL IN SALEM.—There passed in one day, at the Eastern Railroad crossing, between the depot and the head of the tunnel, 613 vehicles and 61 locomotive engines, some with trains attached, and others without. The shortest detention to vehicles was fifteen seconds, the longest one minute.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE REVERE HOUSE, BOSTON.—This hotel is to be enlarged by adding two estates in the rear, on Bulfinch street.

MUSIC, USED AND ABUSED.

A WORD TO ALL IN HER BEHALF.

BY CARL M. MEINERTH.

Impediments in the way of the progress of the art, and the improvement of the taste for it.

A person after living sometime in New York or Boston, having felt there in every corner the intense interest which is entertained for the divine art, cultivated as it is to the highest point, and having heard the master works of the greatest composers, and the finest modern Operas, and met with the first living artists of the world,—comes out into the country and makes the acquaintance of some of the best families. He enters one evening the house of his friends, and after the first salutations his eyes meet with a dear name. "Chickering" smiles at him from a splendid instrument, and all his musical recollections are aroused; he cannot resist begging the fair young lady to enchant him with a tune, whilst the strains he has heard in the city are still whirling around in his head—and when the fair fingers are approaching the ivory bones, he expects in what is to follow the very embodiment of his dreams. Oh my poor ears!—a hornpipe—in the best street-organ style!

* * * * Twenty years ago they were taught and learned the music of Masters, now we have gone back and descended to the Music of street-organs and Negroes. * * * *

There are two great impediments in the way of progress in Music, and of the improvement of taste for it here out in the country. The one is the fact that any person who has learned to play a little tune, may assume the title of a Music Teacher, and the other is the want of submission to a proper instruction, or with other words the general belief Music can be learned in two or three terms.

Each of these evils grow out of each other and result into each other. Bad teachers produce imperfect players, and half taught players commence to teach again, before they know the very a b c of music. We will consider the two impediments in detail.

When some person, who can play a little on the Piano, is struck with the idea that it may be a more pleasant and profitable business to "teach music" than that which he now follows, at once proclaims or advertises himself as a teacher of music, and will soon have his pupils (poor victims!) Nobody will ask—has he learned himself something right?—or has he experience how to teach? No, only—what are his terms? And when these are one or two dollars less than those of other teachers, then of course he must be a good teacher and he is engaged for the family; but Art turns away from this family with a tear in her eye.

* * * * Nor does any one ever inquire, where or what a teacher has learned?—nay it is often known that he or she who is teaching has taken not more than two or three terms themselves; (and of whom?) and still people are inconsiderately kind enough to support and nurse such worms in the bud of art.

The consequence of this abuse of the public confidence and trust in one's ability is easily proved the low degree of taste so generally existing—hornpipes, quicksteps, a few waltzes and polkas which are always the same, and a few silly songs, are all the idols in which music is represented and venerated! * * * *

Somebody, who has not learned himself more then to drum off a few dances and marches, and sing and accompany a song, in whose play and execution is no taste and nothing especially elevated beyond the common—what can be expected of him to teach? Of a knowledge of music as a science, so essentially necessary to enliven and cultivate the germ of a musical talent in pupils there is no trace in him; how can he impart anything true and correct of the science and art itself?

* * * * Cheapness and party spirit, and—shame to say—business reciprocity, only, are the motives in the engagement of a teacher; whether he makes a miserable drummer of the child, or a skilful artist, is no matter!

* * * * * * * *

Not many weeks ago, a lady who is called "one of the finest players," asked one of my pupils in my presence to play her a march. "I do not play marches," was the excuse.—"What! you have taken six months' lessons, and cannot play me a march? I could play marches after half a term."

"Well," says I, "how long have you then taken lessons in the whole?"

"Almost five years."

"And now what could you play after this long time?"

"O, marches, quicksteps, some little variations."

"Ah! after five weeks a march, and after five years a march—what a progress!"

(The fair lady will recollect my expression of "level" of progress.)

Of the existence of this very systematic method of progressive instruction, we may have easily the evidence by a glance into the music-books an the pianos. Look from page first to the last in the massive volumes, and tell me if there is perceptible the least progressive step—from the easier to the more difficult, from the simple to the higher style? No;—here and there we find an accumulation of sheet-music, from three to four years' lessons, the last piece of which has not the least advantage over the first. March, polka, song, quickstep, waltz, march, polka, song, song, quickstep, and so it runs through the whole library of music-books. If it comes high, then the astonished eye meets with a variation by Herz; more frequently by Valentine; or with a "gem" from a "most popular" opera, arranged (six favorite gems for a ninepence!)

* * * * Do we pay so high sums for instruments, and teachers, and music, for the silly thing of a march, or an air (that the boy in the street whistles better) or a negro-song? I intended not to touch this latter kind of music, but I cannot abstain from mentioning it for the question—is not the prevailing preference for it to almost any other music (not to mind desecration in classical masters and works) the surest sign and proof of the extreme low condition of taste for the art?

* * * * * * * *

Fathers, I know there is no use in speaking to the most of you of the merits of better, true, classical music, (it has the same worth with you as Milton's poems have to an Indian, permit me to say!) you have grown up and breathed nothing but the music of you ancestors and contemporaries, Dan Tucker, Kinlock of Kinlock, and all those sweet little things

* * * * Therefore be not unreasonable in your views on a subject which you yourself admit that you do not understand.

PORTSMOUTH, June 27, 1853.

EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL WORLD & TIMES:

When I came here in 1850, I found three "professors" and teachers. When I was called to give lessons'—"we wish you to give our daughter the last finish," said the parents, and on asking them to play me one of the last-learned pieces, almost all of them came out with the Russian March.

"How long have you been taking lessons?"

"Oh—two—three years!"

I could not believe that this piece was really the highest achievement of the art, and turned the leaves of the big music book, (I was at that time just fresh green from the green meadows of Germany;) but found nothing in reality nothing beyond this. Innumerable waltzes by Beethoven, quicksteps, and innumerable jet black melodies with portraits of negro artists on the title page (such a one usually being the title page of the whole "music book") formed the numbers around the Russian March. Here and there, a duet from Linda, a prayer from Zampa, and an air from Beatrice, arranged on a five-cent-sheet-music-page, and a little variation by Herz, or by Valentine, appeared like one new shingle in an old roof. Nothing visible beyond that, nothing!

I closed the book quietly, and asked for the first five notes of the scale of B flat.

"I—I have not come yet to the flat scales."

"What!—how is this? do they learn here in America two—three years on the sharp scales only?—how perfect they must be! let' see.

"Please to play me the scale with three sharps."

Long pause.

"Oh, it is so long since I learned them—I don't know—"

Such were the pupils to whom I was called to give the last finish.

I need not relate to you what I did. All opened their eyes widely; some of them, and I must say the most of the first pupils I had here, faithfully withstood the trial, encouraged by wise parents, and these play now all the "old and new-fashioned tunes" between Tancredi and Bamboula, studying along with the "thrice twelve" Etudes. Some other pupils thanked Heaven when the twenty fourth lesson was over, and remarked gently to third persons: "they never knew before of such a queer way of teaching music."

You have no idea, my dear Mr. Editor, of the struggles of a poor music teacher, when he is conscientious and remains faithful to his mission. I don't mean such a teacher who takes the pleasure of a seat near to a lady at the piano, and suffers her to try a march, and when she cannot reach the octaves, takes it away: "Well, we'll try another one the next time;" but the teacher, who, toiling from morning till night, finds misappreciation and ingratitude in nine cases out of ten, and finally, that he has sacrificed his lungs to the good cause, and earned—consumption.

It is true, every teacher has pupils, whose progress compensates for the trouble with others; but on the other hand, he has often pupils also, who make him think it must be exceedingly beautiful to load gravel-cars; hemming there, Est ist bestimmt in Gottes Ratch.—(It is determined in the councils of Heaven.) And of such pupils there is no want here. There are about thirty or forty families who can value the opportunity of learning something good; but the rest, having been kept down in real (musical) jesuitic darkness and ignorance (one teacher said: "It is neither useful nor wise to tell them all we know!") are even opposed to any improvement of taste; and my faithful pupils often tell me, they were accosted by this or that person (who is called an excellent player): "For what do you learn all that stuff? I wouldn't take the trouble to learn it," &. All this sad state of things is—as you easily perceive—a consequence of the incapacity and unfaithfulness of teachers.

Portsmouth seems to be recognized as no place for music and musicians at all; for the better class of artists never come here. One "celebrity" was here two years ago with a pianist, and I won't name him; they seemed to know how to improve upon the good Portsmouthians. For instance, we heard the air, "An Alexis," with little variations, given in the "programme," Zampa Overture, &c.

Finally, this spring, the Boston Quintett Club proposed to come here, but not before a subscription was raised to defray at least the expenses. Mrs. Wentworth (of the H. and H. Society,) who is a native of Portsmouth, (and a very charming singer,) joined them, and I am sure, without her the subscription had never succeeded. They came, and had a programme evidently "got up" for Portsmouth. Mrs. Wentworth was warmly applauded, but the Quintett didn't "take," at all, though, of course, they performed, "as they do." This I expected, notwithstanding the simple programme. After the concert came the critic—the Press, which presses down everything beyond its own power of digestion. We have four papers here that praise everything as "most excellent" that is on a level with their own taste (and well paid for and advertised.) Now what did they say of the Quintett Club? Instead of praising and recommending such performances as refining the taste and worthy of frequent repetition, they said: "We should have been better satisfied, if there had been more simple and less operatic music."

I fear we shall never hear the Quintett Club again here. But—no matter. Have we not our own regular Quintett Club here now? Yes, my dear sir, we have; and such a one! A week or two after the Quintett Club concert, Mr. Moses (who, by the way, is considered a little deranged) got it into his head to establish a "Portsmouth Quintett Club," and this great company gave their first concert on the 27th of May. Please look at the programme enclosed.

What must be Mr. M.'s idea of a quintett? It is true, there are five; himself, Mr. Reynolds, a transient teacher of singing, Mr. Plumer, with a bass-roar, and two girls. Miss Plumer has a nicely spoiled voice, Miss Miller hasn't got any at all. First they roar and sigh all together in chorus, and then one after the other gets up and singly sings, Mr. Moses accompanying. Such is a Portsmouth Quintett Club concert! And now the Press follows:—"Such exertion to please should be encouraged in native talent, if the fine arts are worth patronizing at all!"

I see with terror that I am on the fourth page: your cigar is out, and your patience at an end. Na, I will stop.

Leben sie wohl und glucklich!—In herzlicher Ergebenheit, Ihr. KARL MEINERTH.

THE TEMPERANCE PLEDGE.

FUNE, "Auld Lang Syne."

The pledge! the pledge! come sign the pledge,
And you may gladly find
That, like the cable and the kedge,
It will from danger bind.

When passions, like the tempest rage,
Or heave, as ocean's wave,
Its charm their fury will assuage,
And from destruction save.

And when temptation shall allure
To taste the maddening bowl
Its sacred ban will be most sure
The tempter to control.

The pledge! the pledge! 'tis freedom's chart
To guide thro' life's rough sea,
And from the breakers of the heart
To keep its virtues free.

It is the beacon light, that shines
To warn of dangers near—
The star that glows and ne'er declines,
In duty's path to cheer.

It is the hope of "home, sweet home,"
That life's worst fear destroys,
And when abroad its kindred roam,
The shield to guard its joys.

It is the little deed that sends
To all, who wish it, wealth—
The seal, which warrants and defends
Love, reason, peace and health.

Come all! who would be useful men,
To friends and kindred dear,
Oh, come, and with a faithful pen
Record your promise here.

And, Ladies! we would plead with you
Your cheering names to add,
It will make all your lovers true,
And friends of temperance glad.

The pledge! the pledge! let ev'ry name
Be written on its sheet,
And it will save from wo and shame,
And make life's blessing sweet.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

It it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United states, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Galls, Sore Patches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 74 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

RUSSIAN MARINE.—The statement going the rounds of the papers relative to privateers being fitted out in the United States, under Russian papers, must be entirely false. Our government could not and would not permit it. Such a course would involve us in a war with England and France in a single month. In our war with Mexico, the governments of Europe refused to allow the fitting out of any privateers against American commerce. One made the attempt, and with authentic Mexican papers as a letter of marque, carried one American as a prize into a Spanish port, but the prize was at once released and the privateer seized and condemned by the Spanish authorities.

The stories, also, of the Russian government having contracted for ships of war to be built in the United States, are also probably false. They could not be got out of sight of land without falling into the hands of the English.

Russia can do nothing on the sea against England and France. She must draw her marine into the few ports which she has on the Euxine and the Baltic, to aid in their defence, and confine herself entirely to the defensive.—Newburyport Herald.

Miss Webster, the young woman who was some time since pardoned out of the Kentucky penitentiary, where she was confined on the charge of abducting slaves, has received notice from the citizens of Trimble county, Ky, that she must leave the State immediately. This is in consequence of the recent disappearance of a number of slaves, and the arrest of Rev. Norris Day, at Madison, Ind., on the charge of abducting slaves. Day, it is alleged is a partner of Miss Webster in the business, and the two, it is said, resided on a farm which they had purchased in Trimble county. They have threatened to tear down her house, and forcibly drive her from the State, if she does not leave voluntarily.—Baltimore Sun.

NO MORE ARMY FARMS.—During Mr. Calhoun's administration of the War Department, under his orders, farming by the troops was commenced at Council Bluffs. Three or four years' experience sufficed to show that it interfered with the military duties required, and failed to pay pecuniarily. A few years ago, it was again essayed, by order, at nearly all remote posts. Up to this time, it has netted the service a loss of some thousands of dollars, while its interference with the military duties required of the troops has not been less than during Mr. Calhoun's time. Hence, the Government have directed that the system be abandoned.

"SCHOOLKARM WRIT IT SO."—A short time since a young man called at our office and wanted to learn the printer's trade. After asking him a few questions, we told him to write his name. He quickly wrote "William Wallos." We asked him for whom he was named. "My father," he readily replied. "Did he spell Wallace in that way?" "Yes" "How do you know, as your father has been dead ever since you was an infant." "I 'spose he writ it so, as the schoolmarm writ it so on the kiver of my book." "Did she spell Wallace, W-a-l-l-o-s?" "Yes.—that's the first time I ever know'd how to write it."—Manchester Mirror.

THE GOWN.—A talented D. D., belonging to Edinburg, paid a visit during the last week, to Newcastle. In the course of his stay he was invited to preach to a congregation, the pastor of which, in confirmity with the custom of his church, wears a cassock and gown in the pulpit. While the doctor was preparing in an ante-room for his ministerial duties, the beadle entered and offered to assist him on with his gown. "Gown, sir," replied the doctor, in a voice which nearly frightened the beadle out of his wits, "my wife wears the gown; I wear the breeches."—Sunderland News.

A man by the name of Orr, who styles himself the angel Gabriel, preached in the streets of New York last Sabbath. The preacher was armed with a bugle, and ever and anon blew it, much to the gratification of the crowd, to whom he announced that he had been sent to warn the nations that the end of the earth was at hand.

A despatch from New Orleans, dated on Tuesday last, says:—"Mr. Dyson, the schoolmaster who has been imprisoned for some months for an alleged attempt to excite a slave insurrection, died yesterday in prison.

Mr. Thomas Ladd of Sebec, Me., while travelling from Milo to his place of residence, on the 28th ult., is supposed to have frozen to death, as he was found the following morning about 25 rods from his house. He was aged 57.

LAWRENCE CARPET COMPANY.—The Lawrence Courier says of this company, just incorporated with a capital of $500,000, that it is contemplated by it to build a mill of about the size of the Duck Mill just below the latter.

The charges against Prince Albert have been made the subject of debate in both houses of Parliament, and the prevailing impression is that he has, through his friends, made a most triumphant defence, and that he will stand higher than ever in the confidence and esteem of the English people.

The Detroit Advertiser of Monday, says that a firm in that city have effected a sale of 200,000 bushels corn, at 70 cents, delivered in Albany on the opening of navigation. The stock of corn there is large.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, FEB. 27, 1854.

The Ecclesiastical Courts in England have cognizance of moral delinquencies, and sometimes inflict ridiculous punishments. A man near Bristol, who had broken the sixth commandment, was convicted and sentenced to stand on a stool in the church, with a white sheet over him, and a candle in his hand, for an hour! It is said he was a good imitation of a ghost.

The punishment, however ridiculous, could not be more so than is the paragraph. A man in England who had broken the sixth commandment, ("thou shall not kill,") would find himself in the common jail, and not in the spiritual court. He would have irons on his wrists, and not be allowed a candle.

According to the recent annual showing of the condition of the finances of Switzerland, that government has a surplus as arge as that of the United States in proportion to population. They are the only two governments of the world with any surplus in their treasuries.

It is doubtful whether there will be any surplus here three years hence. And that will be a matter of little consequence, provided we pay our debts, to the old French claimants, to the soldiers of the war of 1812, &c.

LENTEN DIET.—Lent begins on the first of March, Ash Wednesday. In Boston an official Catholic announcement is made, and the regulations published are as follows:—

1st. All the days of Lent (Sundays excepted) are fast days of obligation; 2d. The use of flesh meat is allowed by dispensation, on all Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays, in Lent, once in the day only; on Sundays it is allowed without restriction as to the number of times; 3d. Lard may be used in preparing food on all the days in Lent. This dispensation extends also to the days of abstinence throughout the year. 4th. Eggs, fish, butter, cheese, and milk, may be used at the evening collation; 5th. The use of flesh-meat and fish at the same meal is prohibited.

A DIAMOND.—A diamond of the finest water, weighing 254 carats, and estimated to be worth upwards of $1,240,000, was recently found in Brazil by a negro slave. It was consigned to a House in London, by whom it was deposited in the Bank of England. The slave who found the gem was rewarded with freedom.—N. H Capital Reporter.

Must there not be some mistake here?—Don't it mean that the slave was punished or injured by being set free? How can he take care of himself?

DELICATE QUESTIONS.—The Boston Journal states that the members of the city watch were severally inquired of lately by the constables of the respective divisions, as to whether or not they were in the habit of drinking intoxicating liquor? The officers informed the men that they had received orders to put the question to each member of the division. Some of the men refused to answer what they asserted was an impertinent inquiry.

It was quite an insult; but it happens to be one which would not be felt at all, by any man who did not use the article.

☞ The New York Herald is discussing the probability of a dissolution of the Union by Messrs. Seward and Sumner; and predicting a most terrible series of calamities which will oppress the free States when that event shall happen.

SAMUEL HOUSTON.

Extract from Gen Houston's speech on the Nebraska bill:

The Senator from Connecticut had intimated that the Presidency had something to do with this measure. He knew not how that fact was, but he stood in opposition to the majority. Several distinguished Senators had been named for that office. Among them the Senator from South Carolina, Mr. Butler; from Virginia, Mr. Hunter; and himself. He thought he could illustrate the feelings of each of these Senators, with respect to this matter, by reciting an anecdote. It was customary at one time in Georgia for magistrates assembled in quorum court to fill all vacancies among the justices of the peace, during the recess of the Legislature. The muster bounds were there called company beats. On one occasion a vacancy happened in the magistrates in the beat of Capt. Waters. An upright, honest, robust, athletic Irish gentleman, named Teet, was a candidate for the vacancy, and he being a gentleman accustomed to giving his friends a tapping on the head on all occasions where they opposed him, was advised to attend the court. He did so, and secured the favor of two of the five justices. Towards the close of the day, and as Saturday night drew on, one of his friends said—'Oh, there is a vacancy in Captain Waters's beat, who shall we appoint?' His other friend immediately answered—'Sure, and yonder is Mr. Teet, who lives there, he can recommend some one.' Teet was therefore called up and asked if he knew any man in the beat whom he could recommend to fill the vacancy in the justices of the peace. Teet responded—'May it please yer honors, I have lived in that same beat these fifteen years, and know every man, woman and child who ever lived there; but now I'll speake to your honors just as if I wasn't here at all, and didn't know a fitener man in the whole bate than meself for the place.' [Loud laughter.]

RELIGIOUS FRATERNITY.

A convocation of ministers and members of the Protestant churches of Philadelphia was held on Thursday evening for the purpose of giving formal welcome to the Rev. Dr. Duff, the distinguished missionary recently arrived from England. The assemblage was large. About seventy clergymen, of most of the Protestant churches, were on the platform. The Rev. Dr. Murray, of Elizabethtown, N. J., stated the object of the meeting to be to extend a cordial welcome to one who had labored successfully in the cause of Christ, and had come to observe our institutions, people and resources. Dr. Duff was then introduced, and was warmly greeted. He dilated upon the beneficial results of a union of the Christian sects. He quoted the Brahmin story of the sages, who disputed about the shape of a certain animal, each having hold of a different portion of the body, to illustrate the manner in which each sect may have obtained a portion of the truth. He regarded participation in missionary enterprises as an essential part of the duty of every Christian, and this proposition he proceeded to demonstrate and illustrate at great length, and with remarkable eloquence. He adverted to the necessity for the continued good feeling between the two great Protestant nations, Britain and America, each the refuge of the oppressed, and the home of religious and civil liberty. He said there was a growing feeling of kindliness for us on the other side of the ocean. Just before he left Great Britain, on his journey hither, he had met a distinguished official connected with the British Government, and told him that he was coming to America. "Ah, go," said he "and tell them that we are their brethren—tell them there is a great crisis approaching, when we must stand together." At the close of his remarks, the Rev. Mr. Bartine, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, offered a resolution, extending a hearty welcome to Dr. Duff, and recommending him to the hospitality and kind consideration of all true Christians in America. It was also voted that a convention of all the friends of Missions in Protestant churches in the United States be held early in May.

RELIGIOUS SECTS IN ENGLAND.—Recent English journals are much occupied in analyzing the official returns made by the Census Registrar, respecting the relative number of persons in England and Wales connected with the various church establishments. We condense the following interesting statistics from the voluminous returns. It is a matter of congratulation that these reports may be relied upon. Hitherto the religious statistics of England and Wales have been furnished chiefly by the various ecclesiastical bodies themselves, while the methods of collecting them have been so diversified, and the motives to exaggerate or depreciate so strong as to deprive the returns when obtained, of the value to which they would be entitled if furnished by the authority due to facts and figures given impartially by the officers of the Government. The large number of 30,610 persons were employed to collect the facts respecting houses of worship and those connected therewith. There are in England and Wales 35 different communities or sects—27 native and indigenous, and 9 foreign. These include all the bodies which have assumed any formal organization. There are in addition, many isolated congregations of religious worshippers adopting various appellations, not sufficiently numerous or consolidated to be called a sect.

The total number of places of worship is reported to be 34,467, of which 14,077 belong to the Church of England, and 20,390 to all the other denominations; the total number of sittings is 10,212,563, of which the Church of England produces 5,317,915, and all the other denominations 4,894,648. So that the sittings furnished by the Established Church are more than half the number furnished by places of every other description. Upon the Sabbath selected for the enumeration, thirty-five persons in every hundred of the population attended divine worship. These are thus divided under the general heads of Church of England, Protestant Dissenters and Roman Catholics. The ratios are as follows: In every thousand persons in the churches and chapels on the day of the count, 490 were Protestant Dissenters from the Established Church, 470 were of the Church of England, and 40 were Roman Catholics. There was but one Roman Catholic to every 24 Protestants. The falling off in the numbers of the Established Church is remarkable. One writer in the London Advertiser affirms that at the commencement of the 17th century, or 250 years ago, when the Dissenters were a very inconsiderable body indeed as to numbers, and the Roman Catholics were one-thirtieth of a population of five and a half millions, or 175,000 in all, there must have been about 5,085,000 Churchmen, or nearly that number. There is a falling off in the Society of Friends from former returns. The Church of England had the largest attendance in the morning, and yet she scarcely substantiates her claims to be called the national church. In the afternoon and evening, however, the Dissenters had an excess of 2,203,966 worshippers—a number nearly equal to the population of the six New England States!

TEMPERANCE OF THE NEW YORK COUNCILMEN.—At a late dinner of the Board of Councilmen of New York, two remarkable features presented themselves. The dinner was paid for out of the pockets of the getters up, instead of the City Treasury. The next was the setting apart at one end of the large dinning hall, of a Temperance table, at which Dr. Young, of the Third Ward, presided, and a very respectable minority of the City Legislature assempled.

"We noticed there," says the Tribune, "Councilmen North, Pinckney, Lee, Brush, Cooper, Baxter, Holden, Belden, Foster, Curry, McClave, and C. Tucker. This is a feature we never before saw at a dinner where wine was at all used.

DEPARTURE OF MR. SEVERANCE, EX-UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER.—Among those who left on the Young America for the United States, was Mr. Luther Severance, late Commissioner to the Sandwich Islands. Mr. Severance took his leave in a very friendly and complimentary note to Mr. Willis, Minister of Foreign Relations. The Polynesian says: "As a private man and public officer, Mr. Severance leaves on these islands many friends and no enemies."

COUNTRY TRADE.

Messrs. Editors:—If you will allow an earnest well wisher to the interests of this city, to express some plain ideas in a plain way, I would like to say a word or two on our trade with the country back of us, in the articles of Wood for fuel, and of Ship Timber.

It is known that we have been well supplied with Wood during the hard winter, (now we hope near its close,) by the large quantities which have come over the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad. This abundant supply is doubtless the cause of our having hard wood about a dollar cheaper on the cord than our neighboring city Newburyport. And many of our people know how important and advantageous a thing it is to have ship timber easily accessible to our great building yards. Large quantities of this timber also come over the same line of road.

Now it is understood that the action of this road, as to its actual working, is greatly cramped for want of means. In other words, the freight on the line of the road employs all the furniture, cars and engines, which the company have at present: and the freight business might at once be doubled, and very soon trebled, if more furniture was provided.

But alas, the concern has no money: the middling interest men who vested their money therein, can do no more than they are doing. Rival roads and rival cities of course offer no help.

Now I would suggest, and as I own nothing in that road I can do it impartially, that the city of Portsmouth, following the example of Portland, should loan its credit for a small sum, say $100,000, not to build a road, for that is done already,—but to loan their credit for this sum on ample security, to furnish the means of pouring trade into her own bosom, and gain into the hands of her traders and mechanics.

I know not what may be thought of this matter by others; but I would like to see this question discussed. W.

Court of Common Pleas—Feb Term.

Exeter, Feb. 25.

In the case of Tappan v. Tappan and als., verdict for Deft.

This was the last Jury trial. The rest of the Docket was disposed of by settling or continuing actions. The Docket for Sept. Term '54 will be quite small.

This term of Court lasted 12 days in all.

☞ We are desired to say that Rev. James H. Marston of this city has not yet accepted the call of the Freewill Baptist Society in Salem. Such a call has been made unanimously; but is yet under consideration.

EVENING SCHOOL.—The officers and patrons of the school, are respectfully requested to be present this evening, as it will be the last session for the term.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Mr. Calvin French, a brakeman on a freight train of the Providence and Worcester R. R. was instantly killed near the Pawtucket station, Tuesday morning. He was passing from the tender to the cars, when he slipped and fell upon the track, and several cars passed over him. But five weeks since, he buried his wife and child, and the man he employed to fill his place while attending to the burial, was jammed between the cars, and died from the effects of wounds received at about the same place.—Mr. French was about 25 years old.—Worcester Spy.

The Mr. French, whose death is related above, was a son-in-law of David Pierce, Esq. of Dover, and his wife and child were brought there for interment. The death of first, the wife and child, then the man employed by Mr. French, while attending to the last sad rites of his companions on earth, and finally the sudden termination of his own life, form a chain of melancholy events, the details of which cause the heart to bleed at their recital. —Dover Gazette.

CRYSTAL PALACE.—We have just received from the publishers, Putnam & Co. of New York, a quadruple number of the Industry of All Nations, illustrated with elegant engravings. This number completes the work, which will now be sold in volumes, and no doubt have a great run.

Mr. Pettit of Indiana, in his speech in the Senate on Monday, denied the accuracy of the interpretation placed by Mr. Everett on the words of Mr. Webster, when he said there was not a foot of territory belonging to the United States, whose character, as regarded freedom or slavery, was not fixed by some irrepealable law, as meaning by irrepealable law, the Missouri prohibition. When he spoke of irrepealable law, Mr. Webster referred not to the Missouri Compromise, but to that great law of nature which had placed natural boundaries to slavery by its regulation of climate and soil to these productions to which alone slave labor could be profitably employed.

A despatch from Washington to the N. Y. papers Friday, says—"Mr. Toombs's speech to-day was violent and denunciatory of Messrs. Seward and Sumner. He is willing to receive Utah, polygamy and all. His speech was not equal in ability, to expectations. Senator Douglas's letter, published in pamphlet form, in which he alludes to Edmund Burke as "a deadly enemy to the Nebraska bill, under the hypocritical guise of friendship, has produced some excitement.

After an interval of three hundred years, a Roman Catholic priest has been established at Haddington, Scotland. He officiates in a granary loft, the use of the Assembly room having been flatly denied him.

Mr. Walker of Wisconsin, reported a bill extending the rights of pre-emption to actual settlers, which, he said, would probably take the place of the Homestead bill.

A report was received acquitting Alexander Ramsey, late Superintendent of Indian Affairs in Oregon, of all charges made against him, and a resolution directing the settlement of his accounts was passed.

The Nebraska bill was taken up, when

Mr. Douglas said the friends of the bill had concluded to close the debate on Tuesday, and would call for a vote on the bill on Wednesday.

Mr. Chase of Ohio said he had amendments to offer.

Mr. Hunter of Virginia, then spoke in favor of the bill.

HOUSE.—Mr. Appleton of Massachusetts, presented the resolutions of the Massachusetts Legislature against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. After a long squabble over a land bill, the House went into committee on the private calendar. When the committee rose, the death of Gen. Armstrong was announced, whereupon the House adjourned to Monday, to enable members to attend the funeral of the deceased.

AT REST.

There is a fine poetical idea, and an exquisite path s in the following lines, from the February number of Putnam's Monthly.—They are by R. H. Stoddard:

With folded hands the lady lies
In flowing robes of white,
A globed lamp beside her couch,
A round of tender light.

With such a light above her head,
A little year ago,
She walked adown the shadowy vale,
Where the blood-red roses grow!

A shape, or shadow joined her there,
To pluck the royal flower,
But stole the lily from her breast,
Which was her only dower.

That gone, all went; her false love first,
And then her peace of heart;
The hard world frowned, her friends grew cold,
She hid in tears apart:

And now she lies upon her couch,
Amid the dying light,
Nor wakes to hear the little voice
That means throughout the night!

A telegraphic despatch from Baltimore states that Rev. Henry V. D. Johns, a much esteemed Episcopal minister of that city, is lying dangerously ill, and it is feared that he will not recover.

The Empress Eugenie having been prescribed exercise, has had a pair of skates made fitted with wheels, on which she skims the polished floors of the saloons of the Tuilleries.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it almost removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S HOME REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

TWO KINDS OF COURAGE.

BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Not many years since the good ship Ponto sailed from Boston, bound to Sumatra. She was commanded by Captain Isaac Jacobs, a good seaman, and a naturally good-hearted man, but in his long career beneath the trident of Neptune he had imbibed many of those false ideas prevalent among seamen, and he had come to look upon the sailor's life as one, which necessarily did away with those finer and warmer traits of character that mark the humane and generous landsman. In this wise Isaac Jacobs sometimes lost sight of true merit, where it actually existed.

Among the crew of the Ponto, on her present voyage, was a young man named Caleb Barker. He had shipped only three days before the ship sailed. He was a slender formed man, with a fair prepossessing countenance, light blue eyes and light brown hair. Though light in his build, yet he was well stocked with muscle, and his motions were quick and energetic. His appearance was calculated to predispose beholders in his favor.

One day, shortly after the ship left port, as Barker was busy about some matters of his own in one of the gangways, one of the men, a rough, uncouth fellow, by the name of Bunkton, came along and gave the clothes-bag of Baker a kick out of the way, thereby scattering a number of things about deck.

'I wish you'd be careful,' said Baker, as he moved to gather up his things.

'Then keep your things out of my way,' gruffly returned Bunkton.

'They were not in your way.'

'Do you mean to tell me I lie?'

'I said my things were not in your way.'

'And I say they were. Now don't you dispute me again.'

'Very well,—have it your own way,' calmly returned Baker, as he drew his bag closer in towards the bulwalks.

'And dont you be impudent, neither, piovokingly added Bunkton. 'Not here.

'Look ye, Bunkton if you've any business of your own you'd better mind it.'

'Eh, lubber? I'll show you my business. Take that!'

As Bunkton spoke, he struck the young man upon the face. The crew had most of them gathered about the place, and arrangements were quickly made for a fight.

'Just come forward—and I'll show ye my business,' cried Bunkton bristling about with his fists doubled up.

'A fight! a fight!' cried half a dozen of the men. 'Don't stand that, Baker.'

The young man's eyes flashed, as he received the blow, and there was a quick quivering of the muscles in his hands, but he made no motion to strike.

'Aint you goin' to take it up?' asked Bunkton.

'No, I want nothing to do with you,' returned Caleb.

'Then you are a coward!' uttered Bunkton, with a contemptuous tone and look.

Young Baker calmly replied to the taunt, and Bunkton became still more savage.—Those who know anything about ocean life, will understand the sentiments of the crew upon such matters as the present. They could not comprehend but one kind of courage, and the moment Baker refused to fight they set him down as an arrant coward. At first they had been prepossessed in his favor, for Bunkton was a quarrelsome fellow, and they hoped Caleb would flog him; but when they saw him quietly turn away, and resume his work, they began to taunt him too.

'What's all this?' asked Captain Jacobs, who had been attracted to the spot.

The matter was explained to him.

'Didn't resent it?' uttered the Captain, looking mingled surprise and contempt upon Caleb. 'Why didn't you knock him down, Baker?'

'Because I don't want to fight with any man, sir.'

'And you will allow yourself to be struck, and not resent it?'

'I will defend myself in case of danger, but I will not so abase myself as to engage in a brutal fight, when it can be possibly avoided. I have as yet done wrong to no man; but were I to fight one of my shipmates, I should wrong him and myself both.'

'Then you will have yourself looked upon as one who may be struck with impunity?'

A quick flash passed over the young man's face as the Captain thus spoke, but he was soon calm.

'I mean, sir, he returned, to give no one occasion to strike me; yet Bunkton struck me, but you can see that he already suffers more than I do.'

Bunkton gave Caleb the lie, and again tried to urge him to fight, but the Captain interfered and quiet was restored.

From that time Caleb Baker was looked upon by the crew as a coward. At first they taunted him, but his uniform kindness soon put a stop to those outward manifestations, and the feelings of the crew were expressed by their looks. Bunkton took every occasion he could find to annoy the young man, for he had taken his oath that he would have a fight out of the coward yet. The rest of the crew might have let the matter pass, had not Bunkton's continued behavior kept alive the idea of Baker's cowardice. None save himself knew the great struggles that went on in the young man's bosom; but he had resolved that he would not fight, except in actual and necessary self-defence, and he adhered to his principle. He performed his duties faithfully, and Captain Jacobs was forced to admit that, though Baker was a coward, he was yet a good sailor.

Thus matters passed until the ship had doubled the Cape of Good Hope, and entered the Indian Ocean. It was towards the close of a day that had been sultry and oppressive, that a fitful breeze sprang up from the southward. It came in quick cool gusts, and the broad canvass only flapped before it.

'We are likely to have a blow soon,' remarked the mate.

'Not much, I think,' returned the Captain, as he took a survey of the horizon.

'This spitting will soon die away, and I think the wind will then come round from the west'rd. However, it may be well enough to shorten sail. You may take in the t'pgallants'ls and close reef the sops'ls.'

This order was quickly obeyed, and as the Captain had predicted, the spitting gusts died away, but there was no wind came out from the westward. It grew dark, but no wind had come. About ten o'clock those who were on deck were startled by a sudden darkening of the stars, and they saw a great black cloud rolling up from the southward. It soon hung over the ship like a pall, and the men began to be frightened. The Captain was called, but before he came on deck there came a crash as though the very heavens had been rent in sunder. The old ship trembled in every joint, and a huge ball of fire rolled down the mainmast. Another and another crashing of the lightning came, and at length the electric light began to play about the ship in wild fantastic streams.

'The foremast is struck!' shouted one of the men. 'See where its head is shivered.'

All eyes were turned to the spot, and by the next wild flash the men could see that a dangerous havoc had been made with the foremast. The cap was shivered, the starboard cheek was nearly stripped off, and the trestletrees were quivering. Of course the heavy topmast was only held in its place by the dubious trestletrees, and the main top threatened every instant to come thundering upon the deck, with the long topmast and topgallant mast in its company. Such a catastrophe would surely prove fatal to the ship, and all knew it.

But while all hands were gazing at this another danger arose. The low, rumbling sound that had been growing in the southward had escaped the notice of the crew, and ere they knew it the rushing, howling wind was upon them. The ship leaped like a frightened stag before the gale. The mate cut the maintopsail sheets, and the sail was snapped into ribbons. The foretopsail was blown up and the ship was got before the wind.

The lightning cloud was swept away, and it was dark as Erebus. The wind howled fearfully, but there was one sound more fearful than that. It was the creaking of the shattered trestletrees, as the fid of the topmast bore down upon them.

'O God!' ejaculated Captain Jacobs, 'if the trestletrees give way we are lost!—Hark! Hear them labor!'

'If we could bring the ship broadside off,' said the mate, 'the weather rigging might be cut, and the mast would go overboard.'

'True—true, returned the captain, but who shall go aloft and do the job? There will be no foothold in the top, for that will go with a crash. The trestletrees are already shattered.

'If you will port the helm I will make the trial,' cried a clear, strong voice, which was at once recognized as Caleb Baker's

'It will be sure death,' said Jacobs.

'Then let it be so, returned Caleb. If I succeed, the rest of you may be saved, but now we are all in danger. Port the helm and I will go.'

Caleb took the axe from the mizzenmast, and soon his form was lost in the darkness, as he moved towards the starboard rigging. The helm was put aport, and the ship gradually gave her starboard side to the gale.—Soon the blow of an axe was heard—then another—another. The ship heaved heavily over—then another blow was heard. Then came a fearful straining and cracking—and then came the crash. The heavy topmast had gone clear over the side! Fragments of the trestle and cross trees came rattling on deck, but all eyes were strained towards the mast-head. The dim outlines of the heroic man could be seen safely hanging by the mizzen top mast stay.

The ship was once more got before the wind, and ere long Baker came safely on deck. He staggered aft to the binacle, and there he sank, fainting and bruised, upon the deck; but he was quickly conveyed to the cabin, and his wants were all met.

Caleb's bruises were none of them bad, and in a few days he was again at his duty. The men eyed him anxiously, as they met his smiles; the Captain too, changed color when he met the kind, noble look of the young man, but he soon overcame the false pride that actuated him and stepping to the noble fellow's side, he took him by the hand.

'Caleb, 'said he, if I have done wrong, I surely ask you to forgive me. I have called you a coward, but I did not know you.'

'Think no more of it,' said Caleb, with a beaming eye. 'I once promised to one whom I loved better than life—my mother—that I would never do a deed of which I might afterwards be ashamed.

Bunkton pressed forward. 'Caleb,' he said, seizing the hand of the young man in his hard fist, 'you must forgive me for what's passed. We'll be friends after this.'

'Bless you, Bunkton, and friends we will be,' returned Caleb.

'Yes,' added Bunkton, and if you won't fight for yourself, I'll fight for you, if you ever stand in need of it.'

'I tell you, my men, said the captain, 'there's certainly two kinds of courage; and I don't know but that Caleb Baker's kind is the best. It takes a stronger and bigger bosom to hold it at all events.'

CASE OF MALPRACTICE.—In the Supreme Court, at Dedham, Mass., Judge Thomas presiding, the case of John Kerr of Franklin vs. Dr Ira Perry of Medway, was tried. The plaintiff having had his shoulder dislocated, was attended by the defendant, and alleged that he was not properly attended to, and that he has not recovered the use of his shoulder. He sued to recover the sum of $2,000. Verdict for defendant.

CAPTAIN DROWNED.—Bark Pario, of Thomaston, from New York, arrived at Savannah on Friday in charge of the mate, Capt. Killoch having jumped overboard, off Hole in the Wall, and drowned.

COMPARISON OF PAPERS.

The Lowell Daily News draws the following invidious comparisons between the papers in New York and Boston.

There is a marked difference between the journalism of New York and Boston. The proprietors of the leading New York papers employ a host of able men as editorial contributors, letter writers and correspondents, and pay them liberally. The proprietors of the leading Boston papers prefer to get along in a more niggardly and economical way, and whenever they are in want of racy matter in the shape of ably written essays on the leading topics of the day, they poach extensively in the preserves of their New York brethren.

The same Lowell News, in the same column, speaks thus of the Boston Transcript:

We are much pleased at the reception of the Boston Evening Transcript among our exchanges. It has always sustained a high character as a newspaper—is ably edited and more neatly printed than any other Boston Daily.

Is not the Transcript a leading paper? To be sure it is small,—but it is second to none in accuracy and beauty. Or do the papers which the News calls "leading," refuse to exchange? Or what is the matter? We see all the Boston Dailies except the Commonwealth,—and some from New York. But we have never been aware of the fact that the large Boston papers, though smaller than some in New York, were less ably managed, or in any improper way dependent upon them.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.—We have already stated that the jury on the case of Chapman, the murderer, at Cambridge, disagreed, and that eleven were for conviction, and one for acquittal. The Lowell News states that the one dissentient refused to agree with the others, because he had conscientious scruples about hanging. It is known that the Judges of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, have restored the "institution" of hanging in that State, by a construction of the statute which was intended to abolish it so silently as not to shock the prejudices of many good people. The people of Maine are living very quietly under a similar law.

ALL WRONG.—In Boston, on the 20th February, the Mayor and Aldermen passed an order directing the Chief of Police, under the direction of the Mayor, "to cause complaints to be entered in the Police Court, in the name of the Mayor and Aldermen, against all persons" violating the liquor law. The chief obeyed, and made several complaints in the Police Court against suspected persons, "in the name of the Mayor and Aldermen," instead of "in behalf of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts," which is the true form of a criminal complaint—and Mr. Justice Russell dismissed them for the reason here indicated. It should be noted, that Mayor Smith and one Alderman, voted against the order. Of course the majority, being wrong, must now learn of the wiser minority.

The Batavia, N. Y., Times, says on the 10th ult., a wedding party was held in the vicinity of that village. Shortly afterwards all of the persons became violently ill, and the bridegroom, Mr. Nicholas Phillpot, with his bride and a young man by the name of Peard, died in the early part of last week. The others still remain very sick, two being so dangerously ill that their recovery is doubtful. It is believed that there must have been poison in some of the liquors which were drank on the occasion of the marriage.

Very likely; poison like that of the serpent and the adder was supposed to lie concealed in the wine-cup in Solomon's day; and it is probable the liquors of our times are not any purer than those of the ancients.

There is but one bank, with a capital of $100,000, in Cincinnati and Hamilton counties, Ohio. The population is over 200,000, and an extensive manufacturing business is carried on.

If this be true, every business man knows it is impossible to do the business of 200,000 people with only $100,000. They must either have store orders, factory notes or checks, or specie—or banks from other states or counties must furnish them with bank bills. Fifty cents per head will not suffice to do the marketing for a family.

The Ellsworth Herald says—"A Protestant who went from Ellsworth to California, recently died there. This is the melancholy part. His widow, who is a Catholic, and still lives here, paid the priest to remove his body, (by miracle of course) to the burying ground in Ellsworth, which he has not only done, but has pointed out the precise spot where it now reposes.

The story is as incredible to us, as is the miracle. We are unable to believe either of them.

A suit has recently been tried at Quebec, Ferguson v. Patton, in which the jury gave $4000 damages for slander. A young gentleman in the employ of Mr. Potton, was engaged to be married to Miss Ferguson, which becoming known to Patton, he made very serious charges against the moral character of the young lady.

LOCAL.

RAIN—AND SO FORTH.

Every body about here, knows that it rained finely on Sunday afternoon, and more so in the evening. The storm extended along the coast well to the southward, and spoilt the telegraph business. The Boston Courier speaks of rain all Sunday afternoon, and says:

The barometer on Saturday stood at 30.73; but on Sunday afternoon it had run down to 29.42—a fall of 1 inch 31-100ths during about thirty hours.

We heard of many falls during the day, but could not learn that any person received serious injury. In Albany street, about five o'clock in the afternoon, quite an incident occurred. A young lady who had been for some time "contending with the fretful elements," was actually blown from the sidewalk into the middle of the wide street, her umbrella turned inside out, her bonnet blown from her head, and she seemed a sad victim of the ruthless and pitiless storm. She tried in vain to regain the sidewalk, to arrange her dishevelled gear, and to restore her umbrella to its natural form. At this critical period, a young man came to her rescue, shielded her with an umbrella amply capable of protecting her and him, brought her to the sidewalk, and gave her safe conduct to her home. She seemed delighted! and he, upon leaving her, was heard to ejaculate in a suppressed tone, "'Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good." It was quite a scene of gallantry—really.

We didn't see any sights exactly like the above, because we didn't have quite so much wind. But the few ladies who went to church in the afternoon and walked hope in the slop, were nearly all dressed in drabbled drapery when they got there, affording beautiful illustrations of the trailing skirt on a walking dress. The only exceptions were some nice Yankee girls, who with both hands and a commendable energy, reefed up a quarter yard of useless trail, and then marched independently off a la Bloomer.

On Monday morning the urchins with their sleds, made wonderful voyages on the ice from the top of High street to any port where they happened to land. It was doubtful which way they would go, and sometimes doubtful where the men and horses would go, if the sleds happened to strike them. But the boys had a good time and hurt nobody.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.—The session came to an unexpected close. The Exeter News Letter gives the following account of it. After reciting the cases tried, nearly as we gave them in the Chronicle, the News Letter says:

We understand that the case in order for trial on the disposal of the above, No. 77, O. Head v. J. D. Parsons of Rochester, for value of a carriage sold to another and received by defendant, was not allowed to go to trial by the defendant, who settled up. This case was expected to occupy the court some two days, but not coming to trial, no other case was found ready, the juries were accordingly discharged on Friday, and on Saturday morning at half-past eight o'clock, the court adjourned without day, much to the dissatisfaction of a large number of persons who have cases now pending. The adjournment, however, will probably be an actual benefit to the County, as each day's session costs the County at least $150, and before the September term, doubtless, 100 of the cases now on the docket will be settled.

☞ We perceive by a card in the Exeter News Letter, that Mr. Charles L. Rand, a young mechanic who lost tools, &c. by the late fire in Exeter, has received donations from friends, through Chs. D. Towle, Esq., amounting to $221.

BOY KILLED.—A boy by the name of Smith, at Francestown, N. H., sliding down hill last Wednesday, hit against an apple tree and so injured himself that he died next day.

The boy Pierce, of Dorchester, who has made himself so infamously notorious by his barbarous treatment of two of his fellow school mates, on account of an old school grudge, sailed for Calcutta on Friday night. His father forfeits his bonds. The town is glad of his departure.—Boston Herald.

The New York Liquor Bill has been reported back from the committee to the Senate, and the Tribune says there is little doubt that it will pass both branches of the Legislature.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD.—On Tuesday about sixty workmen were discharged, and the yard now has but very little to do. There are remaining about fifty workmen and fifty apprentices.

Dr. Arnold, the famous Rugby schoolmaster, said the difference between one boy and another was not so much in talent as in energy. It is with boys as with men; and perseverance is energy made habitual.

The New York Tribune thinks that aristocracy does not bear showing up anywhere.—Even though it escape negro blood, it stumbles over a cobbler's workbench, or an old woman's apple stall, and in fact is very ordinary crockery at best.

A clergyman who is at the seat of the present difficulties in the East, says that the Mahommedans will never be converted to the Roman Catholic or Oriental form of religion, but to a Protestant Evangelical Christianity.

INSTALLATION AT NASHUA, N. H.—Rev. M. W. Willis of Bath, was installed over the First Unitarian society and Church of Nashua, last Wednesday. Services by Rev. F. D. Huntington of Boston.

☞ The Military Court of Inquiry, relative to the wreck of the steamer San Francisco, has closed its labors, and forwarded the documents to Washington. From the published accounts, we do not infer any gross negligence on the part of the officers: but we think the war department greatly to blame for sending so many people and so much property in one overloaded vessel. We trust they will shoulder the blame themselves, and not throw it off upon army officers, who are generally very poor sailors.

BUFFALO, Feb. 25.—Terrible Accident.—Two men named James Brady and Charles Sergeant, fell with the scaffolding attached to the suspension bridge across the Niagara river, two hundred and forty feet to the water, and were instantly killed. Two others saved themselves by catching hold of the gables.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 25.—Steamship Isabel has arrived, bringing Havana and Key West dates to the 22d. From Havana we learn that three American sailors, so long confined, had, through the exertions of Mr. Robertson, acting U. S. Consul, been liberated. There was a report current of a negro insurrection east of Cardenas.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city; each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. 3 DAYS LATER FROM EUPOPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE EUROPA.

The British mail steamship Europa, Capt. Shannon, from Liverpool Feb. 11, arrived at New York on Saturday morning. The commercial news of the last three days was rather favorable than otherwise. Consols were a shade higher at the close on the 10th than they left off on the 7th, the latest previous date, being quoted at 91 1-2 to 91 5-8. The amount of coin and bullion in the Bank of England had not fallen off. The lower grades of cotton had slightly appreciated. Confidence was increasing at Manchester. Breadstuffs had not improved, but on the contrary declined a little. A Liverpool circular of the 10th says—Market very dull in the early part of the week, at a decline of 3d per 70 lbs on Wheat, of 1s 6d per brl on Flour, and of 2s per qr on Indian Corn; but now more business doing, and prices firm at the decline—Western Canal super Flour, per brl, 40s 6d to 41s; Baltimore and Philadelphia do, 41s to 42s.

The strike of the operatives at Preston in Lancashire, is still maintained, by which about 60,000 people have remained in voluntary idleness for nearly six months, supported by subscriptions from the operatives at work in other towns. It was hoped that an arrangement would have taken place, yesterday, but upon being tested the men seemed more determined than ever not to give in. If their claims were conceded, they would call it a victory, although the additional pay for which they have been fighting would not, in less than five or six years, make up the loss they have already sustained.

Short of a direct attack on Sebastopol, or the despatch of a land force to the Danube, the allied powers are doing everything that is possible in the way of coercion. The next step will be to blockade the Russian ports on the Baltic, but the time for that will not arrive until the breaking up of the frost. All is arranged, however, with regard to it.

Meanwhile the despatch of effective aid to the Turkish army on the Danube, or at all events of a contingent that shall be ready to act in case the Russians cross that stream and endeavor to march upon Constantinople, is understood to be immediately contemplated by the French and English governments.—Orders have already been given to various English regiments to hold themselves in readiness; troop ships have been engaged, and plans formed for calling out the militia to perform some of the home services for which under the circumstances they will be required.

In this state of affairs it will be seen that any new incident of importance will be the signal for an unequivocal commencement of the general contest. Designs are evidently in progress on the part of the Russians for another desperate attack on Omer Pacha at Kalafat, to retrieve their past disgraces, and from the nature of the preparations and the large concentration of troops and artillery with the view to render it overwhelming, there can be little doubt it will be of a more decisive character than anything yet reported. Should success fall to the Russians the assistance of English and French troops to check them in their triumph will be imperative.

The bad weather alone has prevented the Russians from attacking Kalafat. The investing army has made a movement in advance, but active operations will not begin before March, when the bridges for crossing the Danube will be ready.

The contest between Russia and Turkey having extended to Greater Wallachia, and on the Austrian frontier, the Emperor of Austria has ordered a corps of 25,000 men on the frontier of Lesser Wallachia, to preserve his state from invasion from the West.

LATEST FROM ST. PETERSBURG—HEALTH OF THE CZAR.—St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—The excitement is very great. The war party are full of enthusiasm, and the peace party very anxious. Nothing is known of what is passing in official circles. The Emperor is suffering from a bilious attack, accompanied with fever, and the presence of gout is also suspected.

CHANCES OF A GENERAL WAR.—The Times says that if the German powers, and in particular, Austria, adhere to their engagements with the Western states, the chances of peace are small—but war, if it breaks out, would be limited in extent, and probably short in duration. If, on the contrary, it should turn out that the Russian has overpowered the independence and sounder policy of the German states, war is not only inevitable, but it must assume a more general and aggravated character.

LATEST COMMERCIAL NEWS.—Letters from St. Petersburg to the 2d of February state that several purchases of tallow having taken place indicated that some operators still doubted the probability of a blockade.

Advices from Marseilles mention a considerable decline of wheat at that port, and that fifty or sixty ship loads were about to be sent to England.

IRELAND.—Dublin, Feb. 9.—It is a remarkable, as well as a gratifying fact, that the corn markets show a downward tendency the more nearly we approach to war. This fortunate reaction has occurred at a very critical moment, when the consuming classes were suffering deeply from the extravagant prices of food, and when there was serious alarm about still higher rates. Those farmers who have been holding over their stocks, on the speculation that war would run up prices enormously, are likely, after all, to be disappointed. Nevertheless there is every probability that breadstuffs, and, indeed, provisions of all kinds, will continue high, at least for some months to come.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—The first freight train from Boston over the Lowell Railroad on Monday morning, ran over and killed an Irishman at or near Billerica Mills.

Mr. Kennison, the conductor of another freight train on the Lowell road, had his arm taken off at the shoulder. He was attempting to uncouple two cars while they were in motion, and fell between them, and the last car passed over his arm, severing it from his body.

SINGULAR.—Died suddenly on Tuesday evening, Rev. Mr. Green, pastor of the Baptist Church in Scotia village. The Schenectady Cabinet says:—He received a telegraphic communication during the day, announcing the dangerous illness of a friend in Madison county, and was in the act of closing a letter in reply, when he expired in his chair without any premonition.

LYON'S KATHAIRON for the Hair.—Use it and buy it of J. H. THACHER, Apothecary, cor. State and Pleasant sts. jan 23

BARRY'S TRICOPHEROUS for the Hair—sold by J. H. THACHER, Apothecary.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and only failed except in two cases, (both thinker humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benedit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and slomp old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has alresdy done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, with flesh soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years and have been regulated by it. When the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think it will cure everything to any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads; which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regarks dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nutritious food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, teaspoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

GOSSIP AND SCANDAL.—The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Sun says that a lady relative of the editor of the New York Herald, who has been long foiled and disappointed in woman's natural ambition, by his highly prized but truly fatal guardianship, is at present in Washington, for the purpose, it is said, of obtaining admission into the United States—of matrimony. "The little giant" is expected to make "the motion," not in the Senate, of course, but in the proper place.—In plainer terms, he is expected to "pop the question," and should he refuse, look out for a change in the wind in the Herald's sails. He gallanted the lady in question at the President's levee on Friday of the week before last; and his appearance at last Friday evening's levee in company with another lady, was the subject of remark and speculation among the "knowing ones" in Washington. It is true, some of the Douglas papers deny the "soft impeachment;" but there is reason after all to believe in its accuracy. "The little giant" is a rich widower, owns quite a number of negroes, and has a house in Washington much in need of a mistress. Now think of the boldness of the game. Could "the little giant" make a path to the Presidency over the ruins of the Pierce Administration, and take for his partner the sister-in-law of the Mr. Bennett, that mission to France, if not a place in the Cabinet, would be sure. Wouldn't that be Napoleonism? But alas, clouds have already gathered over the prospect.

THE KATE KEARNEY.—The United States Commissioner at St. Louis has issued warrants for the arrest of Captain Brown and first engineer Hardy of the unfortunate Kate Kearney steamer, on a charge of manslaughter. The United States Steamboat Inspectors are also to be called up for examination, as it is said that the Kate Kearney's boilers had not been examined for a year.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in plat bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc. which street, New York.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it entirely removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S RENNET SYRUP for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which has done great service, and its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Morning Chronicle.

DO WATCHMEN DRINK?—The Boston Chronicle says:—The city authorities have taken measures to ascertain as near as possible whether any member of the Police or Watch departments are addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. With this object in view, lists were drawn up containing the names of every member, and placed in the hands of the constables of the Watch with instructions to obtain definite answers from each member of the department as to whether he uses liquor as a beverage or not. Some of the men refused to answer a question which they considered impertinent, and many of those who answered qualified their replies in such a manner that we hardly believe the information obtained by the movement will be regarded by the Mayor as very definite. The South Boston Division and almost every other division replied that they use no liquor while on duty; of the Boyston, 45 out of 50 replied that they use it when they choose; nearly half of the members of the Centre Division unqualifiedly, YES, although really quite as temperate as any other body of watchmen.

We think we should have a decided preference for watchmen who put no bricks in their hats at all. The danger in all cases where they put in any, is that they get more than a load. A total abstinent watchman of course will keep sober—but all others quite uncertain.

SWINDLING.—Quite a commotion was raised in certain circles in this city yesterday, by the discovery on the part of some of his victims, that a man named John Parsels, who has hitherto borne a good character as a citizen and member of the M. E. Church, had left for California on Monday, leaving a large number of debts unpaid, principally for borrowed money, and in sums from $10 up to $700. It is said that he had quietly laid his plans, and on various pretexts, borrowed money from all whom he could victimize, up to within half an hour of his departure, and such was the confidence generally reposed in him, that he had no difficulty in procuring it. The extent of the 'operation' is said not to fall short of $10,000. Other and graver charges—in the eye of the law at least—are made against him, but we refrain from mentioning them, as they are not yet sufficiently verified.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTH DAY IN WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS.—We learn from the Springfield Republican that the new town hall at Greenfield, which was dedicated on Wednesday evening by a magnificent ball, is a fine building 100 feet by 65, and 55 feet high, and cost $22,000. The same evening the liberty pole at Greenfield blew down, its fall being hastened as it is supposed by the cutting of one of its supports by Deerfield boys, irritated at the seizure by Greenfield boys some time since of a cannon formerly in their possession. The same evening, also, the Methodist Church at Chester Factories was blown up by a keg of gun-powder; the meetings of a temperance league having been held in it.

DEMOCRATIC FESTIVAL.—The societies of Democratic Republicans of all nations celebrated the downfall of Louis Phillippe in 1848, and the establishment of a French Republic, by a festival at New York on Friday. The different societies marched in procession, with music and banners, and were attended by an immense host of spectators, among which were many French and German women. The front society was the French Section of the Mountain, nearly 100 strong, with their red flag. Italians, Germans, Poles and others, followed, among them about 85 Orleans, with their "Lone Star" banner. They marched through the streets to the Shakspeare Hotel, where a feast was had, toasts given, and speeches made.

GROWTH OF INDIGO IN THE ISLANDS.—The Polynesian says the eastern side of Maui is being overrun with indigo, which grows large and rapidly, and is used very generally for wood. It bids fair to starve out the cattle, as it has got such fair and extensive hold that it cannot easily be destroyed.

The prices of breadstuffs and meats are less on the Pacific than on the Atlantic. The crowding of these articles upon the merchants of San Francisco has amounted to a glutting of the market, and while shippers have depleted the stock upon this side they have gained nothing by pouring it upon the other.

It is said that His Holiness the Pope, between his temporal sympathy, and his spiritual antipathy to the emperor of Russia, is puzzled how to act in the Turkish question. The success of the Czar would be the success of the Greek Church over the Latin, while the defeat of Russia would inevitably reawaken liberalism in Italy.

Mr. G. C. Wallingford, Station Agent on the Boston & Maine Railroad at Salmon Falls, while attempting to shackle some freight cars, on Tuesday last, accidentally caught his right wrist between the banters, as the cars came together, and had it most shockingly jammed. It is thought, however, that amputation will not be necessary.

NEBRASKA RESOLUTIONS.—We learn from Augusta, that on Saturday the House of Representatives passed nearly unanimously, a resolve instructing our Senators to oppose the Nebraska bill so long as it contemplates the abrogation of the Missouri Compromise.—Portland Argus.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH. 1, 1854.

ITEMS ON THE NEBRASKA BILL.

The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce, alludes to the various amendments which have been made to the bill of Mr. Douglas, and says:

The question is yet to be discussed in the Senate, whether the bill as it now stands, will permit the "squatter sovereigns" of the Territories to prohibit slavery; also the question whether the Constitution does not apply to all new territories, and if so, whether it does not carry slavery with it. So the Douglas bill is not for some time yet to get out of the Senate—not until some of these points shall be discussed and voted upon; nor until the legal effects and consequences of the bill shall be well understood. It is impossible to tell what amendments may yet be adopted to the bill, in one House or the other.

The friends of the Army and Navy, and Homestead and other bills, begin to find that the Nebraska question will overshadow every thing else for a long time to come.

The friends of internal improvements in the Senate are becoming alarmed at the prospect of the entire failure of any internal improvement measures at this session. There is a majority in both Houses for some of these measures, but the minority is very watchful and persevering, in opposition to them.

A letter from Washington to one of the Philadelphia papers says:—"Mr. Douglas's Nebraska bill is receiving its death licks from the West. The New England abolition howls are not heeded, but the Western yell is becoming frightful, even to the administration.

The Keene Republican claims that Mr. Barstow, of that town, doctor of divinity, must be clerical captain of the clerical company of anti-Nebraska revolutioners.

Prince John Van Buren has arrived at Washington. The administration and the Nebraska bill are the objects of his ire.

It is said that seventeen Senators from non-slaveholding states are in favor of the Nebraska bill.

"Inspector," of the New York Courier, says with regard to the Nebraska bill:

I may mention that so far from all the New Hampshire members having been brought in to the support of the measure, Mr. Kittridge and Mr Morrison will speak and vote against it, leaving Mr. Hibbard as its only supporter, from the President's own state.

The correspondents of the New York Times and Tribune have stated that Mr. Hibbard was undecided with regard to his vote upon the Nebraska bill.

The state election in New Hampshire takes place on the 14th of March, and it is not likely that either of the Representatives of New Hampshire will speak upon the Nebraska subject before then. The Senators from New Hampshire will be obliged to vote upon the bill, but it is hardly possible for the New Hampshire Representatives to have an opportunity to declare themselves thereupon, in season to affect their state election, let their sentiments be what they may.

We give the above paragraphs as we find them, leaving the reader to speculate as he may, in the prospects of the bill.

ANTIOCH COLLEGE.

A friend has sent us the Catalogue of Antioch College for the year 1853-4. Horace Mann is president, and there are five professors, of whom Rev. Thos. Holmes, late of this city, is one. Instructors, in all, nine or ten. Pupils, including preparatory school, 236. The preparatory school appears to be equal to a good academy: and the whole plan of the institution strikes as favorably. It cannot fail to elevate the denomination that sustains it, and to be generally beneficial to the region where it is located.

THE MAIL ROBBER IN CONNECTICUT.—The New Haven Courier contains the particulars of the arrest of Rowland A. Smith, before mentioned, for robbing the mail between Hartford and New Haven. Mr. Smith was baggage master at New Haven of the New Haven, Hartford and Springfield Railroad.—Mr. Holbrook, special agent of the Post Office department, secreted himself near the depot at New Haven, where he watched the movements of the suspected man, who, soon after he had received the mails, was seen to place them on a barrow, and wheel them to an out-of-the-way place on the north end of the platform, when he, in a most dexterous manner, unlocked one of the bags and took from it several bundles of letters, which he put into his pockets, and then returned the barrow to his baggage room. Smith was soon after arrested, and the package found, and on searching his private desk and trunk in the baggage room, a large number of post bills, envelopes, letters, drafts, checks and notes, to the amount of some $30,000, were found.—Also, upon his person were found about $800 in bank notes, embracing the money contained in several decoy packages placed in the mail bag by Mr. Holbrook.

According to some very modern decisions, this mail agent had no right to make decoy packages, and his testimony ought not to be received as evidence against the culprit, because he thus tempted him to steal. We do not believe it is law, but some small rogues have crawled out of difficulty, through this small hole, nevertheless.

PUNCTUALITY.—Henry Ward Beecher is a man that always "comes to time." He had an engagement to lecture at Brattleboro', last Tuesday evening, and finding the southern train not likely to reach there in season for his lecture, owing to some unexpected detention, he chartered an engine at Springfield especially for the trip.—The second time he has taken the same method of reaching that village.—Springfield Republican.

WASHINGTON NATIONAL MONUMENT.

As elections will be held during the ensuing months in several States of the Union, the Board of Managers have deemed it their duty to request the Judges or Commissioners who may be appointed to take the ballots of the voters, to put up boxes at the different localities where election will be held, for the purpose of receiving such contributions as the admirers of the Illustrious Father of his Country may think proper to deposit in aid of the great Monument, now in course of erection of Washington to his memory.

They feel assured that when this noble and patriotic purpose is presented to the people, they will not hesitate to give their mite for such an object; and it now becomes more necessary, as the funds of the society are rapidly diminishing and may not soon be adequate to carry on the work. A small contribution from each citizen or voter throughout the United States, would be sufficient to complete the Monument,—a work intended to add to their glory as well as to honor the memory of the illustrious dead. A half dime is but an inconsiderable sum, and yet a half dime contributed by every inhabitant of our country, would rear the grand structure now in progress, to its destined completion. It will be pitiful, wondrous pitiful, if out of twenty-five millions of souls who in habit this great country, rendered independent, prosperous and happy mainly by his exertions and devotion to its cause, the sum necessary to erect a Monument worthy of such a man could not be completed for the want of the small pecuniary aid which every American should feel it his pride, as well as his duty to afford.

At the last Presidential election, the plan of obtaining contributions at the Polls, (thus testing the patriotism and liberality of the voters and others,) was attempted, and though previous arrangements were not such as to insure a very full collection, the result was as satisfactory as could, under the circumstances, have been expected.

It is therefore desirable that this system should be continued in the different States at all future elections of a local or general nature; and the Board of Managers indulge the hope that on this occasion at the election to be held in the State of New Hampshire, contributions will be made in aid of the Monument, worthy of the countrymen of their illustrious benefactor.

Journals favorable to the above object, in the States where elections are to be held, are requested to publish the above. The Monument is now 150 feet high.

GEO. WATTERSON,
Secretary of the W. N. M. S.

WESTERN CRITICISM.—The editor of the 'Great West,' published in Cincinnati, has established his reputation as a model critic.—Upon the recent visit of Monsieur Jullien to that city, he indulged in a lengthy criticism upon the great maestro. After an introduction, in which he described very minutely Jullien's personal appearance, calling him 'the Orphic full moon, to whom a neap tide of impatient and delighted ears had for a long time been ready to rise,' he winds up his article in the following style:

There were occasions when Jullien looked as if he might be only a conductor, when we should not have suspected that that sedate air and amplitude of shirt bosom concealed more than an ordinary mortal, even in music. But, then, when the inspiration of the moment seemed to rest upon him, no general ever led an army to storm a fortress with more enthusiasm than he led his orchestra against the complicated difficulties that were heaped up, along almost insurmountable bars of next-to-unconquerable symphonies and variations.—He plied his baton relentlessly, this way and that, as if infinite unseen enemies were being thumped on the head. Then he would have his players touch their instruments so gently, that their soft sounds should not offend the ear of the old Norwegian god, who would lay and hear the grass grow on the mountains, and the wool on the sheep's backs. Then so gently Jullien waved his hand, that you would have guessed the music was only the echo of his scented glove coquetting with the enamored air. He seemed to brood over it as though it were some heavenly stranger that must be delicately nursed, to enable it to survive the mutations of our lower atmosphere. But when a grand finale was in order, and avalanches of sound were to roll down imagined Alps, and plunge into the profound depths of acoustic Niagaras, and the hall was to be made to rock with the roaring and crashing of forty-man power upon all sorts of drums and trumpets; then the king-conductor would bow himself submissively, and then throw himself up majestically, as if he would invoke all the thunders of Jove down upon the audience. Jullien is a monarch of sound—a Lord High Admiral on the ocean of melody—a Perfect Brick in the temple of music—we don't doubt it."

DONATION PARTY.—The vestry and hall of the Free Will Baptist Church, in Manchester, were filled to overflowing, on Friday evening, by the friends of Rev. J. B. Davis, who took that method of making him a donation visit. The amount of the proceeds was $155, mostly cash. Remarks were made by Mayor Smyth, Goodale, of the Democrat, J. P. Newell, Esq., and Dr. Walker.

His sermon, preached on the 12th inst., on account of his prosecution by Judge Potter for slander, just published, was there for sale, and $17 taken for copies of it, which is not included in the estimate of the donation.—Mirror.

THE ROBINSON DIVORCE CASE.—We are informed that our paragraph in relation to this case, on Saturday, although embracing a correct statement, was not so full as to give a clear understanding of the nature of the decision. The case was disposed of last week by the Supreme Court of Maine. A motion had recently been made by the libellee for an allowance to enable her to defend, &c., and during the pendency of this motion, at the request of Mr. Robinson's counsel, the Court gave their opinion upon the ulterior question of the case, and decided that under the recent statute of Maine, extending the authority of the Courts in cases of divorce, the libel could not be sustained. This we understand, was given at this time at the request of the libellant to enable him to carry his case at once to the Legislature of Maine, now in session.—Boston Journal.

LOCAL.

☞ Two young seamen, Edwin A. Pierce and Samuel Collins, both belonging in this city, arrived here on Tuesday. They were on board brig Erie, from Philadelphia for Boston, last December, when the Erie came in collision with a ship off Barnegat, and jumped on board the ship; and have now arrived safely at home.

MR. MEINERTH'S CONCERTS.—Mr. Meinerth has very politely sent a Card to the editors of the Chronicle, enclosing an order or promise for Four Season Tickets of admission to his proposed Musical Soirees. Of these entertainments he proposes to give four, the first to take place about the 15th of this month, and to be followed by the others every other week, thus going nearly through April. He is to have the aid of several talented musical performers of his acquaintance in Boston and elsewhere. The prospectus has been sent to families for their subscription, at 75 cts. for the four evenings; while single tickets are to be 25 cts. Mr. M.'s pupils are to have free tickets.

Should this series prove successful, he promises arrangements next winter for musical soirees of the first order.

SUICIDE.—Mr. Aaron Roberts of Dover, whose residence is on the Neck, committed suicide by hanging himself with the reins of a bridle in the chamber of an outbuilding on his premises on Wednesday last. Mr. Roberts was a farmer of handsome property, but having during the past season built a new house, he has labored under the idea that he should be reduced to want, and for nearly six months has been partially insane. He was a good citizen and neighbor, and his melancholy death will be deplored by all who knew him. He was 57 years old, and leaves a wife and three children.—Enquirer.

The sufferings of a man afraid of poverty, must be dreadful indeed; fully equal to those of one who is afraid of death, to which indeed the fear of poverty has driven this poor victim. It is difficult, however, for any one to sympathise with such persons, unless he has shared their feelings to some extent.

BURKE vs. DOUGLAS.

The Capital Reporter of Feb. 28, contains a long letter from Edmund Burke, in reply to Senator Douglas. This letter will be read with much interest both in New Hampshire and elsewhere, especially in Washington.—Burke is quite as severe on Douglas, as the latter was on him. Burke accuses the little giant of falsehood and hypocrisy, in pretending that the Nebraska bill does not authorize and establish slavery in the territory; accuses the political managers of the State of New Hampshire, including President Pierce and the N. H. Patriot, with playing fast and loose with the slavery question; challenges Mr. Douglas to stand up in the Senate, and take the same ground which he takes in his letter, —telling him, if he will do so, that the bill and his management taken together, must be considered a cheat and a humbug on both the North and South. He closes as follows:

Certain leaders in this State have always feared to meet the slavery question boldly, and hence they have sometimes equivocated about it, and sometimes given way before it. They do not now dare to meet the Nebraska Question boldly, and hence they equivocate about it, and misrepresent its true meaning and import. And by their arts and finesse, they have entrapped Senator Douglas in their toils, by which scheme they have effected two purposes, viz.: they have used him to carry out their schemes in this State, and also, have "used him up" for the Presidency. Henceforth he may be regarded as no obstacle in the way of the re-election of Gen. Pierce.—The "little giant" should not get astride hobbies which he has not the capacity to manage.

CHARLESTON, 27th.

STEAMERS BURNT.—The steamers Samuel Dale, running on the Alabama River, and Ambassador, running on the Bigbee, were burnt in the port of Mobile on Saturday, together with their large cargoes of up freight. They were loaded with produce, all of which was destroyed. Loss about $70,000. Insurance only $20,000.

NEW ORLEANS, 27th.

FROM ASPINWALL.—The steamer United States, from Aspinwall, Feb. 22, arrived below to-day. The Empire City arrived at Aspinwall on the 22d, and would leave the same afternoon for New York, with 200 passengers and $600,000 in gold.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT THE FRENCH OPERA HOUSE.—A terrible accident occurred on Sunday night at the French Opera House, the gallery falling during the performance, carrying away the second tier of boxes. Three persons were killed, and over fifty wounded.

NOT GONE.—The report in some of the papers that the boy Pierce, who recently committed the gross outrage in Dorchester, had sailed for Calcutta, is not correct.—Boston Advertiser.

It is a great pity that he hasn't. He ought to go somewhere—we think to the penitentiary.

CLERGYMAN ROBBED.—During the fire in Union street, Boston, Saturday, as Rev. Thos. Whittemore was working his way through the crowd, a gold watch worth $200 was stolen from his pocket, the guard chain having been cut.

In Georgia, Vt., a son of Mr. Moore, engaged in sliding, was thrown upon a sharp stick, which penetrated his mouth, came out at the back of his neck, and killed him.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, Feb. 27.

SENATE.—Mr. Chase presented petitions from Ohio and New York, asking for the repeal of the Fugitive Slave Act, the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, and the repeal of all laws for the taking of slaves in payment of debts due to the United States.

Bills were passed granting land for railroad purposes in the States of Alabama, California, Florida, Arkansas, Louisiana, Wisconsin and Iowa.

The San Francisco Disaster.—Mr. Gwin informally presented a substitute for the resolution rewarding the captains and crews of the Three Bells, Kilby, Antarctic and Lucy Thompson. It presents them with gold, silver or bronze medals with suitable devices, but gives no award in money.

The Nebraska bill was then taken up, when Mr. Cass proceeded to give his views on the question. He defined his position generally on the subject, and said he should vote for the bill.

Mr. Cooper of Pennsylvania followed in opposition to the measure, and Mr. Brodhead of Pennsylvania replied in favor of it.

HOUSE.—Mr. Davis of Indiana offered a resolution for the appointment of a printer, which was discussed at some length.

The rules were suspended, and the Senate bill was taken up authorizing the construction of six first class frigates, with screw propellers, and also appropriating three millions of dollars for that purpose, as well as for completing and launching the frigates Santee at Kittery, and Sabine at New York. The bill provides that the steam frigates may be built by contract or at the government Navy Yards, as the Secretary of the Navy may think best.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Secretary of the Navy to communicate to the House his opinion touching the fitness for war purposes of the steamships employed in the ocean mail service.

A resolution was offered to permit M. Gallagos, the delegate from New Mexico, to have an interpreter on the floor of the House, but the House refused to suspend its rules. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—A despatch from Washington states that the British and French Ministers on Thursday called upon Secretary Marcy for the purpose of protesting against the fitting out of Russian privateers in this country. It is also understood that they informed the Secretary that such vessels would be treated as pirates by their respective governments.

The Washington letter-writers have a "current report that Hon. H. Hibbard of New Hampshire is wavering on the Nebraska question, and has concluded not to speak on it; and also that his vote is in doubt." Mr. Hibbard is understood to be a candidate for United States Senator, in the place of the late Mr. Atherton.

A DEVELOPMENT.—We learn that police officer N. K. Hammond, who lately figured in the prosecution got up against Dr. Thomas T. Ellis by a Mr. Goddard, has found it necessary to leave the State in a hurry, for parts unknown, taking with him Mrs. Goddard and, leaving in Boston a wife and family. Hammond, we learn, has been dismissed from the police, and a warrant for his arrest on a charge of perjury in the prosecution against Dr. Ellis, has been issued from the Police Court. And we have seen an affidavit of Mr. Charles H. Goddard, the woman's husband, who is a most respectable citizen of New Ipswich, N. H., and letters that have passed between them, which show a dark picture of the doings of this guilty pair.—Boston Commonwealth.

GENEROUS CONDUCT.—In pleasing contrast to several recent cases of tyranny and cruelty on the part of shipmasters, may be placed that of Capt. Henry Shoof, of the ship Parthenia, of Newburyport, towards the young man, George Hodgkins, who died on shipboard, in Boston harbor. Young Hodgkins was taken sick at Havre, and was unable to perform the least service. Capt. Shoof ascertaining his condition, took him from the forecastle, provided him with a state-room in the cabin, and during the whole voyage gave his personal attention and care for his comfort. When the ship arrived at New Orleans, instead of placing him in the hospital, he was kept on board, a physician employed, and the most assiduous kindness manifested to preserve his life until he could reach his parents in this city. But it was of no avail. He died before the ship reached the wharf in Boston. Such a captain will never find difficulty in getting a crew, or experience any trouble from them when at sea.—Herald.

EXECUTIONS IN CANADA.—Le Republicain says that three hundred Canadians and Americans resident in New York city, have addressed a petition to the Governor-General of Canada, that the sentence of death pronounced against Francois-Xavier Julien at Quebec, may be commuted to imprisonment. Julien was convicted of killing his own father, and is condemned to be hung on the 17th of March. It is said there has not been an execution in Quebec during the last eighteen years.

CALIFORNIA WINE.—Considerable quantities of wine are made in Lower California, and the article is manufactured from the pure juice of the grape, which is extracted something after the Madeira fashion. The San Francisco Advertiser says that the grapes are thrown into a small box, about the size of a candle-box, perforated at the bottom with numerous small holes. An Indian steps barefoot into this box and tramps out the juice, which flows through the holes into the receiver beneath. The wine thus produced is very sweet and good.

A young man, 19 years of age, named William Forrest, was arrested, on Tuesday, in New York, on the charge of bigamy. It appears that he has been married to his first wife some two years, and, on the 8th of January last, married the second, Margaret McElroy, and on the 8th of February inst., married Mary Stevens. He was brought before Justice Batchley, and after a hearing—all three wives were present—he was committed in full to await the action of the Grand Jury, which is now in session.

BARRY'S TRICOPHEROUS for the Hair—sold by J. H. THACHER, Apothecary.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its uniting some cases, but not yours. It has pedled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been positive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853. I sold 4820 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who use it as a stimulant in its place, they think that it cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. After the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, taking it inwardly in the meantime, for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eye, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regarding dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives a relish for something else. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United states, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $50 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but prefers to wait, and let it speak for itself, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it alone removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as a Nature Known Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE POOR MAN'S MUSIC.

BY H. E B.

One writer very broadly asserts that the "poor man's only music is the sound of village bells."

He probably thought that poverty destroyed the sense of hearing, so that the rich gush of unwritten music, which floats around us, could only be enjoyed by those who posses a certain amount of money. He might have failed to recognize the sweet music of winds and waves, of birds and bees, and therefore imagined that music was produced alone by the organ, piano, or harp.

None of us are willing to admit that poverty blunts the sensibilities; and the poor man can enjoy the cricket's song beside his hearth, the tea-kettle's merry whistle, and the prattle of his joyous hearted children, as truly as the rich man.

But Charles Lamb says "the children of the very poor, never prattle."

I was walking a few days since in one of the most neglected lanes of our city, and while passing a miserable, tumble-down tenement, my attention was attracted by the musical laugh of a child, who came bursting into the street close by my side. She was a fair, delicate creature, beautiful as Mrs. Stowe's Evangeline, but clad in the tattered garments of abject poverty.

She wore neither hood nor shawl, and her long curls were rudely blown and tossed by the wind. It seemed cruel to expose such a young, frail child to our rough, northern winter, but she skipped gleefully along, stopping now and then to make snow balls with her little purple hands, as if the warmth of her own heart was a sufficient protection from the piercing cold.

As we turned a corner, I saw approaching us, a very common-place looking laborer, with an axe upon his shoulder, and a wood-saw in his hand.

The little girl instantly bounded forward exclaiming "I come to meet you papa," and seizing the hand which he held to her, with one bound she was in his arms, her soft cheek resting lovingly against the rough, weather-beaten face of the man.

I stopped to look at the delighted father, as he walked triumphantly along, with his precious burden, listening to the soft, musical tones, which welcomed him from a world of toil, and I could not help wondering whether Charles Lamb, if he had seen the sight, would not have made an exception to his unqualified assertion, that "the children of the very poor never prattle."

Did that poor man sigh for other music than the joyous laugh of his children, or the subdued, tender tones of his wife?

Is not the voice of affection sweeter far than the organ's richest notes?

Hath not our Merciful Father given his poor a world of music, which money cannot buy?—Bangor Whig.

YOUNG AMERICA.—"Robert," said an indulgent mother to a youngster of nine, who was amusing himself in the corner with pulling the tail of a respectable tabby cat, which with the utmost force of its feline lungs was expressing its indignation at such unfeeling treatment: "Robert, what would you like to have me buy you for a new year's present? Shall it be a top?"

"A top! No, I'm too old for a top," was the reply.

"Then perhaps you would like a sled or a pair of skates."

"No, I don't want them."

"Shall I get you a bow and arrows, or a picture book—or what would you like best?"

"Old lady," said Robert, rising with dignity, "respect the feelings of a gentleman, and do not aggravate me farther; keep your bows and arrows and picture books for them that like 'em. If you want to know what I should like, I will tell you,—a box of cigars and a shawl!"

His mother fainted with surprise, and when she recovered, expressed the conviction that Robert was the forwardest boy of his age she knew of, and she was quite sure he would make a great orator one of these days. She thought proper to deny him the cigars, but as for the shawl—perhaps you have seen a figure of three feet or under, promenading Middle street within the past week, closely enveloped in a thick gray shawl. Well, that's Robert.

INDIGNATION.—There is an excellent touch of sly humor in the following item:

The Cincinnati Commercial says a number of the merchants of that city propose calling an indignation meeting for the purpose of expressing their wrath at the Czar for not instantly declaring war on France and England when the allied fleet entered the Black Sea. The Czar, it is thought, has acted in the most cowardly and infamous manner, and is most ingloriously backing out, and on account of his diabolical cowardice there is a serious decline in flour.

The wife of Russell Sheldon, of West Northfield, has been arrested and held to bail on charge of having caused the death of Sarah Guellow, a town pauper who was placed in Mr. Sheldon's care in April last. A post mortem examination and other circumstances are relied upon to justify the arrest and holding to bail.

THE BROADWAY MURDER.—Wm. Haynes and wife, who were recently examined before a coroner's jury in New York, charged with shooting Dr. Lutener, and who were discharged, have been indicted for the murder by the grand jury, and arrested.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, MARCH. 2, 1854.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COURTS.

We have heard a great deal of fault found by worthy citizens of this city, because of the delay and postponement of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad case. The blame is generally laid at the door of the Judges, as if they and they only were blame-worthy: and the case is commonly treated as if it were self-evident as to its merits, or so nearly so, that the decision ought to be made instanter.

Now as we did not hear the trial, and never read a full report of the evidence and argument, we shall not attempt to decide in our chair editorial, what seems to have puzzled the whole bench. But we shall undertake to carry the blame of that interminable delay, which is a complete denial of justice, not only in this case, but others, to a bad system of Courts, which the people of this State would do well to replace with something that will decide and settle suits within some reasonable time, instead of protracting them, like the famous case of Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce, described by Dickens in his Bleak House, where after the lapse of many years the lawsuit died, simply because the whole property had been eaten up by the costs.

In the case of the Concord Road, which from being well known is as good an illustration as any, of the principles to be discussed, —it is known that after a long trial, hearing much testimony and able arguments on both sides, the Judge charged the Jury and laid down the law to them as he understood it.—We say the Judge, because the side judges really do not purport nor pretend to be expounders of the Law. Under this charge and this ruling of law, the Jury found a verdict for the plaintiffs: but the case was on motion the defendant's able counsel, forthwith sent up to the Superior Court on a bill of exceptions, which they took to the ruling of the Court, that is, of the one judge. This happened more than two years ago, and to this day no man outside the bench knows that the case has made any progress whatever towards a decision. True, so much time has elapsed, and therefore the parties must be so much nearer the knowledge of their fate, if it is ever to be decided. But we see no guaranty that any decision will be made. If judges can postpone such a case two or three years at their pleasure, why may they not do it twenty or thirty? why not for a lifetime?

But it may be said, indeed it has been by some supposed, that the Court (i. e. the four judges,) are equally divided. Suppose it to be so. There ought never to be a Court so constituted, as that it can be equally divided. We choose three or five referees; so for the same reasons should we have three or five judges. We hold that in every possible case, any decision is better than no decision. A man who is stripped of his all, and knows it, may begin again: but a man with his whole property hung up and hampered in the law,—what can he do? He may wait, and die, of starvation and inanition.

We do not believe that the added salary of a fifth judge would ruin the State of New Hampshire; nor did we ever see why all the terms of the Superior Court should be held in Concord. But we think we can see sufficient reasons for an odd number of judges on the full bench, so that all suits may either be closed by confirmation, or get back to the lower Court for a new jury trial, if the ruling is reversed.

It is desirable that every man should see the end of his lawsuits in his own lifetime if possible, and not leave them as an heirloom to his children.

PRO AND CON.

We have no where seen the two sides of the Nebraska question better set forth in a brief way, than in the two following extracts. The first is from the Boston Post, and contains Mr. Douglas's doctrine of non-intervention.

Our Country—Its National Institutions!—They rest on the adamantine basis of principles common to all. Other principles there are—advocated in some sections and rejected in other sections—not common to all. The principle laying at the basis of our compact of country—stipulated for before we were one country—provides for all this: the right of the people of colony, territory, or state, to fashion their own local policy. This principle lies at the very beginning of this people as ONE COUNTRY, &c., &c., &c., &c.

The other is from the Boston Courier, and is a reply to the above. It reads thus:

All this is a bag of wind. There is not the slightest question of constitutional principle involved in the Nebraska question. It is simply a question whether the agreement we have made not to do a specified thing shall now find us true men or false knaves. A bargain has been made, a solemn compact entered into, that slavery shall not be legalized in a certain region, and the question is whether at this moment, without the slightest necessity or excuse, we shall wilfully, and in the face of the whole world, break our word thus solemnly given, and commit an act of national perjury.

"I bless God," said Dr. Watts, "that I can lie down with comfort at night, not being anxious whether I wake in this world or another."

For the Chronicle.

ABSTRACT OF THE NEBRASKA BILL.

The 1st section fixes the boundaries of Nebraska, beginning at the 40th degree of latitude, and extending to the 49th, and from the Rocky Mountains to the western boundary of the territory of Minnesota; then southward to the Missouri river and down that river to said 40th degree; and provides that "when admitted as a state or states, the said territory, or any portion of the same, shall be received into the Union, with or without slavery, as their constitution may prescribe at the time of their admission," and declares that our compacts or treaties with the Indian tribes shall be maintained.

The bill relating to Nebraska consists of twenty sections, and twenty in addition follow, which make precisely the same disposition of Kansas, whose limits begin at a point on the western boundary of Missouri, the 37th degree north latitude, thence extending to the eastern boundary of New Mexico, thence on said boundary to the 38th degree—thence northward to the 40th parallel of latitude—thence east on the same parallel to the State of Missouri—thence south by Missouri to the place of beginning.

The Federal constitution having declared that "Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States," the present bill, in pursuance thereof, prescribes all such rules and regulations as may be deemed requisite, and the executive and chief officers of the territories are to be appointed by the executive department of the United States—a council and legislative assembly is authorized—but no laws can be passed inconsistent with the provisions of the bill, and must be subject to the supervision of the Federal government. The governor and other chief officers are liable to be removed from office by the President of the United States—large salaries are allowed there, and large sums are to be appropriated and paid from the United States treasury to execute the measure.

Sec. 5. "All the laws passed by the legislative assembly and governor shall be submitted to the Congress of the United States, and if disapproved, shall be null, and of no effect."

The 8th section relative to the organization and jurisdiction of the Supreme and inferior Courts, has a singular exception from the past bills, viz: "except only that in all cases involving title to slaves, the said writs of error or appeals, shall be allowed and decided by the said Supreme Court, without regard to the value of the matter, property, or title in controversy."

The framers of the constitution would not allow the idea that man can hold property in his fellow man, to be expressed in that instrument, but the idea is expressed in this bill.

The 10th section extends the fugitive slave act over the territories.

The 13th section appropriates $20,000 to erect a State House in Nebraska, and the same amount in addition for a State House in Kansas.

The 14th section repeals the 8th section of the Missouri act prohibiting slavery north of 36° 30'.

The 15th section appropriates $10,000 to purchase libraries for the chief officers of Nebraska and Kansas.

The 19th section appropriates one hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of extinguishing the title of the Indian tribes to their lands. With all the salaries to each chief officer, from two to three thousand dollars per annum, and all the other appropriations for various purposes, the total amount may be a considerable drain from the United States Treasury.

Under all the provisions of the bill, from generals to particulars, it may be rather difficult to find a place to apply the new doctrine of non-intervention on the part of the Federal government, which holds the territories in complete subjection. And there is still another clause in the constitution, viz.: "The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government." The free States, adhering to this clause, for about two years resisted the application of Missouri, with a slave, or as alleged, an anti-republican form of government, to be admitted into the Union. T.

We notice in the list of premiums awarded by the Chrystal Palace Judges, that the widely celebrated Chocolate, Cocoa and Broma preparations of Messrs. W. Baker & Co., of Dorchester, Mass., to whom premiums were not long since awarded by Institutes and Fairs at Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, have now received the first premium for superior excellence, and a bronze medal from the New York Crystal Palace Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations. Their choice preparations, which are for sale by the principal grocers in the United States, have attained a wide celebrity in all parts of the country,—allay rather than induce the nervous excitement attendant upon the use of tea or coffee, in consequence of which they are recommended by the most eminent physicians, and thousands of persons can be found in every State who have experienced great benefit from their use.

FLOUR SPECULATION.

The New York Express puts down the amount of flour in that city at about 125,000 barrels. It remarks that large sums—fortunes it may be said—have been lost and won by speculators in that city, who the few weeks past, have been large operators on 'Change. A case in point, illustrative of many others: A well known dealer in breadstuffs, in September last, purchased 21,000 barrels of flour, at the average price then current, $5 75, and sold it a few days since at $9. Net profit, $67,950! On the other hand, it is stated, that some days since, as soon as the marine telegraph announced that the steamer Pacific was coming up, there were some heavy operations, with the understanding that the purchaser should have the privilege of annulling the bargain after the foreign news transpired by paying the seller 2s. per brl. Parties who purchased, on this condition, were very sanguine that the Pacific's news would advise a large advance in the English markets. Buying at $9 as they did, they thought it must be a good speculation to re-sell at $9,50,—as no doubt it would, had the foreign advices come up to their expectations. Unfortunately, however, for them, it did not. A small advance only was announced, in the English markets. It was also stated in the private letters that the market closed "heavy." The influence on prices here, therefore, was but slight.—Prices were a shade firmer, but that "shade" was far from 25 cents per brl. Of course the sanguine operator of the forenoon was a wiser man, if a somewhat poorer one, later in the day! It was a bad speculation.

BREADSTUFFS.—The news from Europe by the Europa is not regarded as unfavorable for flour, the Havre market showing an improvement of half a franc, and the Liverpol market realizing no lower rates than were quoted by the Baltic, viz—Western Canal flour 40s 6d a 41s. The decline noticed by the circulars is for the entire week, and covers the falling off previously reported. Corn has declined under the news, the Liverpool quotations being about 1s per quarter lower. The sales are at 90 for Jersey, and 91 a 92c for Southern yellow.—New York Journal of Commerce, of Saturday.

MAINE.—The Maine Legislature has before it applications for fourteen new banks, and for increase of stock of nineteen existing banks, so that the applications embrace more than two millions of additional capital, or nearly 37 per cent. increase on the present banking capital of the state. There are probable other applications to come.

Bills to authorize the city of Bangor to loan its credit in the sum of $500,000 to the Penobscot and Kennebeck Railroad, — and the sum of $325,000 to the Oldtown and Lincoln road have passed to be engrossed in both branches of the Legislature by large majorities.

With regard to the Nebraska resolutions, the Augusta Age says:

We understand that the Joint Select Committee to which was referred the Nebraska resolutions, have unanimously agreed to report a simple resolution, without preamble or unnecessary verbiage, requesting our delegation in Congress to oppose any territorial bill or bills which contemplate the abrogation of the Missouri Compromise. This is right.—We trust it will pass unanimously.

Bills have been reported in the Senate to incorporate the Bangor and Castine Telegraph Co. and the Penobstot Telegraph Co.

MAINE.—Plurality Law.—In the Maine Legislature on Wednesday, Mr. Cutler, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported a resolve providing for an amendment of the Constitution in relation to the election of civil officers, which proposes to make the Governor, Senators, and other elective civil officers elected by plurality.

FROM WASHINGTON.—The correspondent of the New York Courier reports the following by telegraph, under date of Washington, Feb. 27.

It is understood that Mr. Buchanan has instructed to ask an explanation of Lord Clarendon's late declaration in regard to the Anglo-French Alliance in reference to American policy.

Messrs. Bell and Clayton design speaking on the Nebraska bill.

Mr. Cass's speech condemns the bill, and indicates a desire for essential amendments, but promises an affirmative vote in any case. The speech will injure the bill in the House.

The Senate passed the Iowa and other railroad land bills to-day, amounting to twenty millions of acres.

The House Committee on Public Lands have adopted a rule which will confine their grants for this session within twenty millions of acres.

The Supreme Court decides the Renault land case, involving titles to immense tracts in Missouri and Illinois, against the plaintiff, on the ground of a defective survey.

NOT A RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The Irishman found dead on the track of the Lowell Railroad Monday morning, according to the coroner's verdict came to his death mainly from exposure to the weather, though the wound on his head might have been caused by contact with a passing train. Deceased was about 25 years of age, and probably recently arrived in the country, as a ticket from Liverpool, dated in January last, bearing the name of Fras. Thornton, was found in his pocket.

MR. SOULE.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser writes that "it is understood here that Mr. Soule's position is one of almost complete isolation, as to society, in Madrid. The character that had come before him, with his challenge of Turgot, have created a feeling against him that nothing can overcome, and which makes his situation alike humiliating and painful."

In France they have commenced the manufacture of champaigne from beets. Cream of tartar is used in the preparation, and the required bouquet is derived from aromatic plants.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, Feb. 28.

SENATE.—Many petitions were presented by Messrs. Toucey, Wade, Everett, Sumner, Chase, Fish, Seward, and others, against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

The bill granting land to all the States for the benefit of the indigent insane, was taken up and so amended as to give each State 100,000 acres, leaving 6,900,000 to be appropriated among them according to population and the number of square miles. The bill was ordered to be engrossed.

The Nebraska bill was then taken up, when Mr. Brodhead spoke in its favor.

HOUSE.—In the House to-day, the committee on elections reported against the petition from New York, contesting the right of Hon. Mike Walsh to a seat.

A sharp debate of some length occurred on referring to the Committee of the Whole the bill granting to Wisconsin land for railroad purposes. Before concluding, the morning hour expired, when the House went into committee on the Homestead bill.

Mr. Dean proposed an amendment to the effect that the lands shall be chosen in the territories and not in the States, which was rejected.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The Democratic Caucus nominated A. O. P. Nicholson for public printer of the House. 74 members were present, and Mr. Nicholson received 40 votes. There was no organized opposition to him. W. W. Curran intends running as an independent candidate.

THE NEBRASKA BILL.—Washington, Mar. 1st.—Mr. Clayton, of Delaware, will speak to day against the Nebraska Bill. Mr. Bell, it is understood, will follow on the same side.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The steam propeller Andes, Capt. Moody, which left Liverpool Feb. 14, arrived at Boston on Wednesday morning, bringing three days later news from Europe. The Andes will proceed to New York after discharging a portion of her cargo, and will again return to Boston to take the mails for Liverpool.

The new reform bill introduced by the ministry was giving rise to considerable debate, and its introduction at the present time, when there should be a unity of feeling in Parliament, is deprecated.

The reports from the manufacturing districts show that, notwithstanding the warlike demonstrations from the withdrawal of the Russian Ambassador, and the active preparations for hostilities, trade has considerably improved, though prices have not experienced a corresponding advance.

The Corn markets through the country have experienced a sensible decline, varying from 2s to 4s per qr. on wheat, and a corresponding rate of fall on other articles. This appears to have operated to induce farmers to sell.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.—We can find no confirmation of the report that negotiations have been resumed.

A Berlin letter of Feb. 7th, says:

"The conference of ambassadors in the Austrian capital may now be considered as dissolved by their own act of referring Russia's last reply to their governments, and superseded by the categorical ultimatum forwarded to St. Petersburg by England and France.—The organs of the Russian party here affect to feel much regret at the little chance there is now of Baron Von Meyendoff getting the ambassadors together again to work in Vienna."

VIENNA, Sunday Feb. 12.—It is announced on authority, that the Vienna Conference is not dissolved, although the Russian ambassadors have left London and Paris.

It is confidently announced that a manifesto, signed by Nesselrode, is shortly expected at Vienna, in which Russia will announce to the world her final intentions.

PREPARATIONS FOR WAR are going forward in England and France with increased activity.

The Liverpool Northern Daily Times of Feb. 13, says: "The fact that some of the Cunard steamers have been taken up by the government to convey troops to the seat of war, no longer admits of doubt. The agents have now themselves announced that the Cambria and the Niagara are engaged for that service, and we understand they will leave for Malta on Saturday next. It is known that the expedition will consist of 40,000 French troops and 10,000.

A London paper comments as follows on the present position of affairs:

"The period of forty days allowed by the Porte for the acceptance of the term adopted by the Turkish Cabinet expired on Thursday, Feb. 8th, and the Porte or its allies are fully justified in taking, without further notice, any measures they may think necessary.

ST. PETERSBURG, 3d.—Since Orloff's departure, great animation has prevailed, but matters wear a warlike and sombre aspect.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.—The news from the seat of war is not important. No general action has taken place. The Russians were still concentrating their troops at Kalafat. There are reports of skirmishes further down the river, but nothing definite is known in relation thereto.

A letter from Krajova of the 29th ult., states that on the 29th there was a sanguinary conflict between the Turks and the Russians near Boleschti. After the affair both parties retired to their former p sitions.

The following despatch speaks positively of a late conflict:

BELGRADE, Feb. 3.—A serious fight took place at Tejanna on the 29th ult, which was attended with great loss on both sides. The Turks retreated to Kalafat.

We have no confirmation of this dispatch, and no details of the reported engagement.

AUSTRIA.—The Austrian, and indeed the whole German press is all but unanimous in condemning the conduct of Russia, and its disregard for the peace and order of Europe.

SPAIN.—The young prince of Austria, the only surviving child of the Queen of Spain, is dangerously ill. His death would once more open the succession to the Duchess of Montpensier.

INDIA AND CHINA.—Intelligence has been received by the overland mail from Calcutta, of Jan. 3.

A Dacoit chief had 5000 men near Tongboo, and the garrisons at Maulmein and Martaban were apprehensive of attack.

Accounts from Madras represent the augmenting distress in the Northern districts of that presidency. The famine which prevails, owing to the want of rain, is daily assuming a more alarming aspect, and in some of the districts disturbances have taken place, and the grain sellers have been plundered.

EASTON, PA., Feb. 27.—The storm of Saturday caused much damage in this vicinity. The Delaware rose eleven feet, and the Lehigh six feet, but both rivers are now falling. The Morris canal is somewhat damaged. An engine was sent up the Belvidere Railroad to ascertain the extent of damage done on the road, and when returning, the track over a culvert at Spring Gardens, fifteen miles below here, gave way, and the engine was precipitated down an embankment into the river, seriously injuring three persons, including the superintendent of the road.

WHEELING, VA., Feb. 28.—The steamers Thomas Swann and Fanny Fern came in collision about two miles below here this morning. The latter sunk immediately, and two deck hands were lost. The Swann was injured.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On the 18th inst., Mr. Daniel Hession of Fitchburg, Mass., was, with his wife, child and a friend, thrown from his wagon while descending a hill in that village, at a furious rate. Mr. Hession, in falling, struck his forehead against a stone post, fracturing his skull so badly that he died on Tuesday night.

A ship built of zinc, at Nantes, has just returned from a long voyage. She has proved a excellent sea-boat. Her compasses were not affected, as is the case with iron vessels.

BARRY'S TRICOPHEROUS for the Hair —sold by J. H. THACHER, Apothecary.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in my own family, it has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple remedy has. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will judge from this what I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for everyvariety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why should I make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. In the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fever two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Leavenworth was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen it, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will cause a good appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humor, where it seems to fail. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous Swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

A CHANGE OF INDIAN POLICY.—The Washington Star says that it is well understood that a change of the policy of the government towards the Indians is about to take place. It says that the tribes which are now wholly or in part supported by the government, will soon be left "either to starve, live by plunder, or go to work like white people." The white people and civilization are now advancing upon the Indians from both the East and the West, and consequently the old policy of the government will before long become impossible. Something must be done to make way for the "inexorable law of American progress."

The Star says that the Chairman of the House Committee on Indian Affairs is prepared to report a bill to provide for purchasing the reservations in Nebraska. Under the provisions of this bill, the Indians are to be settled in families on land to be theirs, in tracts of 80, 160, 320 and 640 acres, according to the number of souls comprised in the family—that is, they are to get fee simple titles to them after such settlement, and a prescribed cultivation for a specified time; and on such terms, or rather under such restrictions, as to render it impossible for the speculator to divest them of the land.

Italy has lost a patriot, Austria a reproach, and the world of letters one of its cherished favorites. Poor Silvio Pellico, the author of 'Le mie Prigioni,' died at Turin, on the 1st inst., in the sixty-fifth year of his age. His touching tale of oppression and endurance has already given him a fame, sometimes denied to men of loftier reach in literature.—Albion.

The examination of Abigail Temple, in Worcester, Mass., upon the charge of arson, resulted in her commitment for trial at the next term of the Court of Common Pleas.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they never could be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

TAMPERING WITH A JURY.—The Hartford Times mentions a somewhat singular case in the Supreme Court in that city on Wednesday. A suit brought by Mr. Reed, of Tariffville, against the town of Bloomfield, for damages ($10,000,) sustained by his wife on a defective road, was on trial. During the recess of the Court, two of the jurymen were dining in a restaurant in a slip with Mr. Miller of Bloomfield, when the latter commenced a conversation with the former in reference to the case—remarking that Mrs. Reed was not much hurt, that the road was good enough when the accident happened, &c. Reed's counsel happened to hear the conversation, and when the case was continued in the afternoon, Miller was called as a witness for the town, and of course Reed's counsel was very soon after him with a sharp stick. He asked him if he had taken much interest in the case, and finally desired to know whether he had conversed with any of the jurymen. Miller said that he had, and then one of the jurymen stated all the facts. On consideration, the judge discharged the jury, continued the case, and ordered the State's Attorney to commence a suit against Miller. The fine for conversing with a jurryman on the subject of a case before him is $100, and the same fine applies to the jurymen.

ASCENT OF MOUNT WASHINGTON IN WINTER.—We have a letter from a friend in Gorham, N. H., which says: "Last Wednesday (15th) two gentlemen from Lancaster ascended Mt. Washington. They did not dare to remain long enough to enter the house on the summit, as it grew so cold there was danger of freezing. These gentlemen, one of them Mr. Spaulding and the other's name I have forgotten, are the first who ever reached the summit of the mountain in winter. Two miles from the top they found the sides covered with ice, the wind having blown the snow away. We are going a deer hunting to-morrow. The deer are quite plenty in this vicinity this year—none having been taken for a long time."—Boston Chronicle.

WAGES AND DAMAGES DECREED.—In the U. S. District Court, in the case of Edward Wope et als vs. A. Hemenway, a libel for wages, the court decreed for libellants, $111 each, making $666. In the case of Edward Wope vs. L. Snow, for imprisonment, the court decreed for libellant $130. It appeared that six seamen shipped for California, with the understanding that they could have their discharge at Valparaiso, but on arriving there, the captain did not so understand their shipment, and had them imprisoned 34 days for refusal to do duty.

SHIP MODELS.—A correspondent, not likely to be mistaken, sends us the following:

"Having seen it stated, in several papers, that Orlando B. Merrill, of Newburyport, made the first longitudinal section, or water-line model, for ships, in the year 1794, permit me to say that it is well known, to the writer of this paragraph, that the late Enos Briggs, of this city, was in the habit of making models of the above description, for his own use, some time prior to the year 1789, and that he built the ship Grand Turk, for E. H. Derby, Esq., from a model of this kind, in the year 1790."—Salem Register.

HORRIBLE.—A few days since the telegraph announced that the house of Alfred Filler, at Onondaga West, had been entered by burglars, who brutally murdered his wife while the husband rushed to a neighbor's to procure assistance. It now turns out that Filler himself committed the horrible deed, and afterwards so arranged the body and furniture as to lead people to the belief that the whole was the work of burglars.

KENTUCKY.—Governor Powell of Kentucky has vetoed the bill to apportion the members of Congress from that State. His objections to the measure were those advanced by the Democracy when the bill was under discussion. Much confusion and excitement ensued, but the Senate passed the bill—the objection of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding—ayes 21, noes 12.

The bill to reverse and annul the sentence against Thomas W. Dorr, and to write "reversed and annulled" upon the record of the supreme court containing the sentence, passed the Rhode Island Senate, 16 to 15. The House did not concur in the passage of the bill on Saturday, and the Senate refused to concur in the resolve ending the session on that day. So both branches met on Monday.

If a well bred woman is surprised in careless costume, she does not try to dodge behind the door to conceal deficiencies, nor does she turn red and stammer confused excuses. She remains calm and self-possessed, and makes up in dignity what she may want in decoration.

The Crystal Palace stock now sells as low as 20 cents on the dollar. The receipts up to December were $801,070, 72, of which $330,802,00 were for sale of tickets, the balance from capital stock and loans. Amount paid for constructing and furnishing the building was $841,181,29.

The laborers at St. Vincent, W. I., have struck for higher wages, and committed violence on persons and property of planters.—The legislature assembled and decided on swearing 1000 special constables, who will accompany the governor to quell the disturbance.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, MARCH. 3, 1854.

A REASON FOR HASTE.

We were disposed at first to wonder why Senator Douglas need to be in such a great hurry to pass his Nebraska bill. We supposed then that the bill would certainly pass, as it was said in the newspapers that the noses had been counted in both Houses; and it was also said, in one paper at least, that it was of no use for the people here to make any opposition, because the thing was determined.

We have not yet given up the opinion that the bill will pass and become a law, chiefly because in every struggle which we have witnessed hitherto between freedom and slaveryin this country, slavery has been the victor, so far as to gain political power. We do not believe there is enough real attachment to freedom among northern representatives, to resist such temptations as will surely be held out, of office, emolument and favor, to induce them to vote for a measure which on the whole they disapprove.

But we do see, now, a considerable reason why Mr. Douglas ought to be in a hurry, viz: that the prospects of his bill, like the health of a certain Frenchman's friend, "is getting no better very fast." The unfavorable symptoms about the matter, seem to be, that the more the scheme is examined, the more numerous appear the objections and objectors. One of the latest difficulties will be seen in the following extracts:

Mr. Orr, of South Carolina, is Chairman of the House Committee on Indian Affairs, and a bill which he has prepared has just been printed. It is entitled "A Bill defining the terms on which treaties shall hereafter be made with certain tribes of Indians, and for other purposes." This bill provides that each family of every tribe or nation of Indians may locate a homestead on the following terms:

"Each single person over 21 years of age is entitled to 80 acres; each family of two persons, 160 acres; each family of three and not over five, 320 acres; each family of six and and not exceeding ten, 640 acres; and each family over ten, 160 acres for every five members; and to families who own SLAVES, in addition to the foregoing, there shall be allowed, if less than ten slaves, one half section (320 acres); if ten and not exceeding fifteen, one section (640 acres); and for every ten above that number, one half section (320 acres.)

On this state of facts the New York Times remarks:

"This bill is intended as an appendix to the Nebraska bill of Senator Douglas. The latter repeals the prohibition which now rests upon Slavery in Nebraska, and the other is intended to recognize and to legalize its existence, and to pay a bounty out of the Treasury of the United States for the introduction of slaves, according to their number. This is certainly a most extraordinary movement, and shows the hollowness of the pretext that this bill is intended to place the subject of Slavery entirely beyond the action of the Federal Government. It proves that bill to be merely preliminary to another, by which the National Treasury is to be used directly for the extension of Slavery into new territory.

At present, unquestionably, the enactment of 1820, by which Slavery is prohibited north of 36° 30', is in full force. There is, therefore, now no legal slavery in Nebraska. And yet it is well known that slaves are held there; that Mr. Johnson, the Missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in that territory, and now the delegate representing it at Washington, is a slaveholder;—and that he is actively urging the passage of both these bills, in order to secure to himself and the small circle of slaveholders by whose agency he was elected, the permanent possession of their property."

The Boston Atlas says:

While Senator Douglass is writing to New Hampshire, and expressing great indignation that any one should intimate that he and his friends have any desire to extend slavery into that territory, a Committee of the House are urging forward a bill, which admits that slavery already exists there, and actually offers a bounty of 320 acres of government land to every savage who can procure ten slaves!

It is worthy of remark, that the delegate and chosen representative of the Nebraska schemers is a slaveholding clergyman. Let this be put alongside of the fact that the northern clergy by hundreds, oppose the bill.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 28th.—The bill to reverse and annul the judgment against Thomas W Dorr, was passed in the House this afternoon, with amendments. It goes back to the Senate for concurrence, to-morrow. As amended in the House, it takes effect immediately. This is to prevent the judges from interfering to prevent the execution of the act, if they should decide it to be unconstitual. The debate was very exciting.

PROVIDENCE, March 1.—Governor Dorr.—The Senate concurred by one majority in the amendments of the House to the bill annulling the sentence of Gov. Dorr, and expunging the records of the Supreme Court. [The amendment makes the bill go into operation forthwith.]

In this case a legislature mutilate, not their own records, but those of another branch of the State government. Rubbing out a record, however, does not rub out the fact recorded; and therefore the effect of this singular and novel legislation, is simply to let the world know that the legislators, or a majority of them, approve of Governor Dorr, and disapprove the sentence.

☞ The homestead of the Hutchinson family, at Milford, N. H., is offered for sale.

THE ROBINSON DIVORCE CASE.—Having published several articles on this case last year, we now copy the following statements by request of a member of the family.

LYNN, Feb. 28, 1854.

Will you please publish this decision in the Robinson Divorce Case, rendered on Saturday, 25th, by Judge Howard, sanctioned by three of his associates.

"Upon the coming in of the Court, the Judge stated to Fessenden and Deblois, the libellants' counsel, that as the grounds were somewhat novel, and it was alleged that C. Robinson came here to take advantage of the law, he had thought best to communicate with the other judges here in reference to the matter. He found they all (3) agreed that if the libellant could prove all he alleged, their opinions were adverse to granting a divorce. The libellant was present, and he and his counsel retired to the lobby, and in a few minutes they returned, saying that from the intimations thrown out by the Court, Mr. Robinson would prosecute no further; therefore the Court ordered the libel dismissrd, with costs for respondent."

We understand that this Libel, which has been decided by the Supreme Court of Maine to be a novel one, is soon to be published in pamphlet form, together with the answer of the Respondent, and a choice collection of other interesting matter connected with this case.

With regard to the reports so industriously circulated in relation to the matter, "being presented to the Maine Legislature, and that it will be out of the reach of the Respondent," permit me to say to the friends of my mother in particular, and to all others, that in all human probability an "order of notice to appear" will be served upon her, and she will be ably represented before that body as heretofore in court, as a full and impartial hearing before any tribunal is a consummation on our part devoutly to be wished for.

Yours, respectfully, J. L. ROBINSON.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK FOR MARCH.—This number is received from Federhen & Co. of Boston, via J. B. Moore of this city; and contains an illustrated article on the Manufacture of Paper; Selling the Wedding Ring, with an elegant engraving; unrivalled colored Fashions; fancy cottages; music and dancing, Pop goes the Weasel; lessons in drawing, bead work and needle work of various sorts; a chapter on Babylon, Nineveh and Mr. Layard; Mrs. Mudlaw's Recipe for Potato Pudding; Essays and Plans for building Houses; and a great variety of other matter.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE for February, 1854, contains a very spicy and amusing article entitled Abyssinian Aberrations, being a review of a book of travels in that country by Mansfield Parkins; The Quiet Heart, part 3; National Gallery; a Glance at Turkish History; Macauley's Speeches; Fifty Years in Both Hemispheres; A Sporting Settler in Ceylon; Gray's Letters.

Leonard Scott & Co. publishers, New York.

THE NEW YORK DELEGATION ON "NEBRASKA."—New York has thirty-three representatives in Congress—and as she is a Northern State, as well as the most powerful one in the Union, no little interest is evinced at Washington in regard to her position—or, more properly, that which she is to be made by her representatives to occupy—on the Nebraska question. Of her thirty three members in the House, twenty-one are classed as democrats, nine as whigs, two independent democrats, and one freesoil. The whig and freesoil portion may be set down as opposed to the bill. In addition, letters from Washington count ten democratic members as opposed to the measure—making twenty in all. It is probable there will be others, though it is impossible to make any accurate count at present, where so many and such diverse influences are brought to bear. The leading New York politicians, representing the two sections of the democracy, the "Hards" and the "Softs," are in Washington, and making extraordinary exertions for or against the Compromise repeal. Several caucuses on the subject have been held, but with no definite result. John Van Buren is using all his influence to defeat the bill, and especially by operating upon the members of his own State. Mr. Marcy, the New York member of the Cabinet, is said to be the only member thereof who does not cordially support the Douglas movement. His personal and intimate friends (according to the New York Courier's correspondent) affirm that he acquiesced only after a quiet protest against it as a measure likely to distract the party and the country. It is generally believed that the course of the New York delegation will decide the fate of the bill. That a majority of them will vote against it, seems to be conceded; but whether a sufficient number of the democratic members will so vote to defeat the measure, is another matter. There can be doubt that the people of the Empire State would give an overwhelming majority against it, if submitted to them for approval or rejection.—Boston Chronicle.

CAN SLAVERY EXIST IN NEBRASKA?—It is often asserted that it cannot, and that no practical issue is now before the people; but the Washington correspondent of the New York National Democrat said, on the 24th ult:

"In a conversation which I had this morning with Col. Johnson, the accredited representative here of the people of Nebraska—and who, by the way, is a fair specimen of the indomitable pioneers of the West—he informed me that there are already some hundreds of slaves in that Territory. About a hundred are owned there, and the rest owned by people in Missouri, who lease them to settlers in Nebraska. So it will be seen that, contrary to the general impression on the subject, the question is one of immediate practical importance."

We presume the testimony of this witness will not be impeached by the friends of the measure.—National Era.

The society over which Dr. Cox presides, in consideration of his ill health and past services, have purchased a $7000 farm for him in Oswego county, where he is to reside in his old age.

In the Common Council, the Snow ordinance was received from the Aldermen,—referred to committee on bills.

Adj. to Thursday evening next.

☞ The lecture on Thursday evening before the City Lyceum at the Cameneum, was delivered by Rev. Mr. Lamson of this city. His subject was, the Family, which he described as the seat of happiness, and as the centre of intellectual, moral and spiritual culture. He would not and did not undervalue the influence of churches and schools, nor of public assemblies for amusement and improvement; but he placed the good influence of a family, well ordered by an affectionate father, far above them all.

The lecture was moral and religious, and yet it was so nicely adapted to the lecture room, that no auditor could fancy it out of place, or wish it exchanged for an essay on another subject.

It was written in the usual pure English of the lecturer, fitly delivered, and must take its place among the best lectures of the season.

The lecture on the next Thursday evening is to be by Rev. Mr. Moore of this city.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—At the meeting of the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, on Wednesday evening last, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:—Moses Wherren, President; Stephen H. Lovejoy and John F. Kennard, Vice Presidents; Thomas S. Nowell, Recording Secretary; Horace Webster, Corresponding Sec'y; David S. Webster, Treasurer; John T. Leverton, Librarian; S. Henry Kingsbury, Assistant Librarian;—Directors; John A. Paul, John H. Lowd, Charles W. Martin, Lewis W. Brewster, Charles A. Grant, Daniel H. Spinney, jr.

☞ Mr. Hiram Covell, of Portland, a respectable man 45 years old, a good husband and father, a man of honor and of property, drowned himself in his own cistern, in a fit of insanity, which seems to have arisen partly from ill-health, and partly from his recent relinquishment of business.

The Washington Star says that the three citizens of Washington who were persuaded, from motives of humanity, to become sureties for Chaplin, have been sued, judgment obtained against them, execution issued and levy made. It says it has heard of contributions solicited by abolitionists, and of money paid in Scotland and elsewhere for the "Chaplin fund," but asserts that none of the money raised north and abroad has reached the sureties.

SPANISH MINISTER.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Herald states that M. Cueto, formerly a chef de Bureau in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs at Madrid, has been named Minister Plenipotentiary of Spain at Washington.

EXECUTION.—John Hadcock suffered the extreme penalty of the law on Friday, February 24, at Morrisville, for the murder of Mrs. Mary E. Gregg.

Otto Goldschmidt has written to London that Jenny Lind has been compelled by recent occurrences, to abandon her intention of giving a series of concerts in England.

Rev. Norris Day, arrested in Madison, Ia., for stealing negroes in Trimble County, Ky., has escaped on habeas corpus and a fleet horse.

☞ One James Dunphy, a liquor seller in Portland, got clear of a prosecution, by the plea that his name was wrongly spelled as James Dumphy.

THE CONSUMPTIVE!

BY MARY BELL.

No, never more—my setting sun
Hath sunk his evening rays,
And this poor heart is nearly done
With hope of better days;
I feel it in the clay cold hand,
The hard, and fast expiring breath,
For now, so near the tomb I stand,
I breathe the chilling airs of death.

No, never more—when prisoners wait
The death call to their doom,
And see beyond the dungeon gate,
The scaffold and the tomb,
On the fair earth and sunbright heaven,
Their gaze how fervently they cast:
So death to life a charm hath given,
And made it loveliest at the last.

No, never more—and now farewell!
The bitter word is said,
And soon above my green-roofed cell
The careless foot will tread;
My heart hath found its rest above,
The cares of earth are passing by,
And, O! it is a voice of love,
That whispers it is time to die!

MARCH 1, 1854.

A Montreal paper states that 1500 persons took the tectotal pledge on Sunday, Feb. 12, in St. Patrick's church in that city.

This is well, if they keep their pledge; otherwise a silly farce.

The directors of the Providence and Worcester Railroad have passed a vote that all the settled clergymen residing on the line of the road, including those at Providence and Worcester, be furnished with free passes over the road the ensuing year.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, March 1.

SENATE.—Several remonstrances against the Nebraska bill were presented from New York and Pennsylvania.

A bill was passed making Lakeport a port of entry.

A resolution of inquiry was adopted as to the propriety of purchasing Mr. Stuart's portraits of the first five Presidents.

The Indigent Insane bill was further debated and postponed, when the Nebraska bill was taken up, and Mr. Clayton proceeded to give his views on the question. He spoke at length on the bill, and did not object to that part of it relating to the Missouri Compromise, but objected to other provisions. Before concluding he gave way for an adjournment.

HOUSE.—The Wisconsin railroad bill was further debated.

The House then proceeded to the choice of printer. Whole number of votes 203; necessary for a choice, 102.

Mr. Nicholson of the Union received 122 votes; Mr. Gales of the Intelligencer, 48; scattering, 33; and Mr. Nicholson was declared elected. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—Washington letter writers state that it is understood that there are but three members of the House from New England who will vote for the Nebraska bill. These are Messrs. Hibbard of New Hampshire, Ingersoll of Connecticut, and McDonald of Maine. The Tribune correspondent thinks the motion of Mr. Dean of New York, to engraft the Homestead bill on the Nebraska iniquity, has enraged the friends of the Nebraska bill. If the amendment is carried many believe it will defeat the bill.—Boston Courier.

MAINE.—The committee on the Nebraska bill in the Maine Legislature, unanimously agreed to report simple resolutions, without preamble or unnecessary verbiage, requesting the delegation in Congress to oppose any territorial bill or bills which contemplate the abrogation of the Missouri Compromise, and requesting the Governor to forward the same to the delegation in Congress. The resolves would probably have passed the House unanimously, but Mr. Cushing of Frankfort, a Free Soil member, took occasion to make a strong partisan speech thereupon, when Mr. Starr of Thomaston said—

If these resolves had been voted upon without debate, he would have assisted to give them a passage; but he would not vote for them, loaded down as they had been with the endorsement of an abolition speech of the most violent and denunciatory kind. He did not mean to have "niggerism" rammed down his throat without making a protest against it. He was, in the outset, in favor of peace, but the gentleman from Frankfort had broken the condition of peace, and changed the relation of the subject to the House.

As has been stated, the resolves passed the House, 96 yeas to 6 nays—Messrs. Foss of Aroostook, Hall of North Berwick, Smith of Mattawamkeak, Haynes of Passadumkeak, and Spalding and Starr of Thomaston. In the Senate, one vote was given against them.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Extraordinary Presentiment.—On Tuesday, Simeon C. Webster, formerly of Jericho, Vt., was caught by the belt of a driving shaft in a mill at Nashua, and instantly killed—his neck having been broken and his body horribly mangled. Mr. Webster was in his 20th year, and had been married about three months. We have learned from a relative of Mr. W. that on the day of the accident Mrs. Webster was strongly impressed with the idea that a terrible calamity was then to happen to her husband. She was exceedingly distressed, and weeping as if the event had already occurred, expressed her convictions to the lady with whom she boarded.—This lady endeavored to calm her fears, and invited Mrs. W. to her room. On the way, they observed from a window a crowd in the yard of the mill, and Mrs. W. instantly exclaimed—"Simeon is dead!" Alas, it was too true.—Vermont Watchman.

A TRAGEDY.—From the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Gazette we learn the particulars of a distressing tragedy which occurred in that city on Friday last. A Mrs. Cooper, wife of the janitor of the Pittsburgh Masonic Hall, had been for several weeks past laboring under an apprehension that a conspiracy had been formed to kill her. On Friday morning, during the temporary absence of her husband, she locked one of the kitchen doors, and then attacked her daughter, a young woman twenty years of age, with an axe, inflicting a severe wound upon her head. The daughter succeeded in making her escape through another door, and Mr. Cooper hearing her screams, entered his house just as his wife had inflicted a terrible gash across her throat with a razor. Mrs. Cooper was about forty-five years of age; her wound would undoubtedly prove fatal.

MELANCHOLY CASUALTY AT LYNN.—Mrs. Nancy Porter, a venerable lady of 74, visiting her son, Charles Porter, Esq., a well known Pearl-street merchant, of Boston, was lighted to her chamber on Sunday evening, at her usual hour for retiring. Chancing to extinguish her light, she sought to descend the stairs, but missed her foothold, fell, and fractured her skull, rendering her for the time insensible. She revived sufficiently to explain the circumstances, but expired on the following day.

CHAPMAN'S TRIAL.—Ephraim Crosby, the only juror on the trial of Chapman who was in favor of his acquittal, has published a card in the Lowell Courier, in which he states that it is not true that he stood for acquittal in consequence of conscientious scruples on the subject of capital punishment. He says he is in favor of the execution of the law as long as it is not repealed, and could he have satisfied his own mind of Chapman's guilt, he should have been for conviction. On its first division, the jury stood five for acquittal, and seven for conviction.

ACCIDENT.—A large load of boards attached to an ox team was going down Union street, Portland, on Tuesday, when one of the oxen fell, by which means the yoke become detached from the sled tongue, when the load slewed and ran half its "bigness" into the theatre.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Three to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no liff's scrofula, humor and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to a child of my own to an old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in costiveness and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853. I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors. Those who are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 21 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much reduced (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. It the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it, and it soon cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humors outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
Wash the sick week enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors; where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
Dandelion root, for Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Senator Douglas in his letter to Mr. Cyrus Barton, of Concord, N. H., protesting against certain strictures upon the Nebraska bill, which appeared in the New Hampshire Reporter, calls it "a great measure of pacification."

RESULT OF SNOW BALLING.—A gentleman residing at Spring Garden, while on his way home from Philadelphia in an omnibus sleigh, on Tuesday evening, was struck by a snow ball containing a piece of ice, by which his sight was entirely destroyed.

Senator Douglas was hung in effigy on Boston Common Monday night. The figure, which was taken down by the police Tuesday morning, bore a card, on which was written: "Stephen A. Douglas—the author of the Nebraska bill—the Arnold of 1854."

The editor of the Lewiston, Me., Farmer and Mechanic, gives as a reason why he did not attend a late lecture, because he had eight cases of measles to attend to in his family.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Cramp, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 100,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United states, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and active merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore an anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Morning Chronicle.

MR. ELLIOT CRESSON, who died lately at Philadelphia, was a most sincere and ardent philanthropist who devoted his money and his labors most freely to the cause of humanity, in modes in which he first satisfied himself that his efforts would produce a useful result. The leading object of his efforts was colonization in Liberia, in aid of which he has probably done more than any other individual.—The N. Y. Courier says:

"Mr. Cresson was a native of Philadelphia, and was in the sixtieth year of his age at the time of his death. He has been one of the most active members of the Colonization Society, looking to that as a means of civilizing and christianizing Africa. Probably few men have done more than Mr. Cresson towards building up the Republic of Liberia to its present stature. Unmarried, and possessed of a handsome competency, his heart was always open to the appeals of suffering humanity, and his hand ready to supply the necessities of the poor. The North American states that there is reason to believe that by the terms of his will drawn up a few months before his death, his entire possessions are set apart in aid of the individual and associated charities of the city of his birth."

The senses of smelling, tasting, and even of feeling or touch, are liable to innumerable causes of deception. It is mentioned by the Museum of Art and Science that if two fingers of the same hand, being crossed, be placed upon the table, and a marble or pea is rolled between them, the impression will be, if the eyes are closed, that two marbles or peas are touched. If the nose be pinched, and cinnamon be tasted, it will taste like a common stick of deal. Many substances lose their flavor when the nostrils are stopped. Nurses, therefore, upon right and scientific principles stop the noses of children when they give them doses of disagreeable medicine. If the eyes be blindfolded, and buttermilk and claret be alternately tasted, the person tasting them, after a few repetitions of the process, will be unable to distinguish one from the other.

A LEAP.—The Cincinnati Commercial says a leap not much less perilous than that of Samuel Patch, was witnessed on Saturday, by the conductor and passengers of the Covington and Lexington train. A young farmer was walking across the bridge at Demoisville, just after the train had passed over, when the engine was suddenly reversed and the cars were backed at a rapid rate. There was no room on the side of the bridge to stand between the edge and the cars; the only alternative was to spring off into the creek running thirty or forty feet below. The young man gave one look at the cars, and instantly sprung over the side and struck the water feet foremost. The train was stopped, but to the surprise of all, the hero of this perilous feat came out of the water, shook himself, and walked off whistling "Jordan is a hard road to travel, I believe."

DESERVES A PENSION.—A correspondent of the Belfast Journal says "last season, in your historical account of Machias, you spoke of two girls who carried powder and balls, to the amount of 30 pounds, through the woods, to the patriots of that place. One of the ladies is now living in Jonesboro. She spun and knit a pair of stockings, and sent them to the World's Fair, in New York. Her name is Weston. She has brought up a large family, and deserves a pension."

A SLOW COACH UPSET.—A Canada paper states that a young lady at Saltflat, who had been courted by a mopus of a fellow for four long years to little purpose, got sick of that sort of fun, and married a more enterprising suitor who presented himself. Mopus opened his eyes and sued her for breach of promise. The jury, composed of men who had hearts beating under their jackets, returned a verdict of "served him right."

REV. Thomas Whittemore has concluded to take the Presidency of the Fitchburg Railroad Corporation, to which he was chosen several weeks since, also retaining the presidency of the Vermont and Massachusetts Corporation. There are suits pending in Court, brought by the Vermont and Massachusetts road against the Fitchburg.

FROZEN TO DEATH.—Parker Wright of Westford was frozen so badly on Friday evening last, that he expired on Sunday.—Wright was addicted to intemperance, and at the time, it is thought, was under the influence of liquor. Another warning against the use of liquor! It was only a few weeks since that we noticed a similar death in Pelham, where rum was the agent.—Lowell Herald.

DEATH FROM HYDROPHOBIA.—We learn that a boy named John Homans, about 14 years of age, died in Charlestown on Tuesday, from the effects of the bite of a rabid dog. The wound was inflicted about two weeks since. The unfortunate boy exhibited every symptom ascribed to hydrophobia, and suffered intensely until relieved by death.—Boston Journal.

THE RAPPITE COMMUNITY residing at Economy, Pa., has remitted $260,000 in gold sovereigns to New York, the past season, for the purchase of railroad securities. It appeared, in a late trial at Pittsburg, that for the last fifteen years the community had constantly on hand over half a million of dollars.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MARCH. 4, 1854.

N. H. SUPERIOR COURT.

One of our old merchants, whose soundness of judgement and weight of character entitle him to a hearing, suggests to us that it is the duty of the Judges of our Superior Court to make a decision on every case within a reasonable time, as really as it is the duty of a jury either to agree and bring in a verdict, or to come in and say they cannot agree.

This seems reasonable, and so also does this farther thought in the same connexion. The ruling of the one Judge in the Railroad Case to which we alluded a few days ago, is undoubtedly law, unless and until it is contradicted and the verdict passed on it is set aside by some higher law power. Now a tie vote is no vote at all. The case goes up to the Superior Court on a bill of exceptions—and an equal division or tie vote does not sustain the objections. It is suggested that the case ought to come down again endorsed, we don't know how this is—but would recommend a reference to three good men, or to another jury of twelve.

Three men could not help deciding; four may be tied interminably by an equal division.

The same old merchant, and half a dozen younger ones, with half a score of other persons, have mentioned the existence of a report, that one of the four Judges of our Superior Court, is standing in the same position relative to a Railroad in the country, as the defendants in the P. & C. Railroad case, are in relation to that road.

Of the truth or falsity of this report we know nothing; nor do we know to which Judge of the four such report applies. But we are sure that if such is the fact, that Judge owes it to himself and the public, to decline sitting on the case which is precisely like his own.

If not true, such is the currency of the report here, that it is exceedingly desirable to have it contradicted forthwith, on competent authority. Any persons having knowledge of the facts, would confer a favor on the public by making them known.

THE NEBRASKA DISCUSSION.—The Troy Whig says:

We protest against opposition to Mr. Douglas's scheme being made the hobby horse of Abolitionists here at the North. If it be, we are ready to despair of its final defeat. There are thousands of men in the South who look upon the Nebraska bill in the same light that we do. There are Southern members in both Houses of Congress ready to vote against it. We cannot afford to lose their aid by mixing the question up with Abolition vagaries and Uncle Tomitudes which have run riot here at the North for the last dozen years, to the infinite disgust of the whole Southern public.

In the Tribune of Monday there is an "Appeal to the women of the free states of America, on the present crisis in our country, by Harriet Beecher Stowe." In this address the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" takes the field against Douglas and his bill. Now, however good may be the intentions of Mrs. Stowe, there is no doubt her effort will make ten supporters of the bill where it unmakes one.

The author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and the caricaturist of the South, is not the person whose advice is likely to be heeded at all by those who need it. Her "sisters in the free states," unfortunately, will not have the privilege of voting on the question when it comes up in Congress, while perhaps some Southern members, who may see her address will conclude, that if Uncle Tom Stowe is against the bill as a matter of course they should be for it. Opposition to the Nebraska measure is strong and almost universal here at the North now. But strong as it is, it is too weak to outlive for a month the active, open favor of the Stowes, the Theodore Parkers, the Garrisons, the Pillsburys, the Fosters and the like. Their opposition is harmless, but spare any good measure from the curse of their support.

How easy it is for some writers to befog a simple question. The one before us is as simple as this: Is it right or wrong, wise or foolish, to admit slavery into certain territory?

Having settled this question in his own mind, an independent voter, a free man, need not ask who goes for it! or who goes against it! Those who have no opinions of their own commonly do so; and some of them are dreadfully puzzled at the present time.

We have no doubt there may be some blockheads south of Mason and Dixon's line, as well as north of it; but the Southern people generally, and their members of congress in particular, are not such a set of simpletons as the Troy Whig seems to suppose.

JOHN NEAL.—It has often been said, that John Neal Esq., of Portland, well known as a writer, was editor of the "State of Maine" newspaper. He certainly wrote some articles there, some time ago. But that paper of this week says:

Mr. Neal, who is frequently receiving letters directed to him as Editor of the State of Maine, wishes it to be understood that he has nothing to do with the State of Maine,—that he was never the editor, and that for many months he has not written a word for it.

One of the ladies in waiting to Queen Victoria, formerly resided at Halifax, and her family was in such straightened circumstances that she and her sisters took in sewing.—Marriage raised her into noble circles.

A WORD FOR AUSTRIA.

The Newburyport Herald has an editorial on European Nations, intended as a corrective of the overweening vanity in some American Journalists, who affect to despise or hate European Governments or Sovereigns.

The article speaks a good word for the Emperor of Russia, and then says of Austria:

Even at the moment in which our politicians have been breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the young Emperor of Austria, of whose energy and ability we certainly have abundant evidence, we find that he has been taking measures, which according to the Augsburg Gazette, (unquestionable authority) we now learn are consummated, for the emancipation of the peasantry over the greatest portion of that Empire, and in the extensive kingdoms and provinces of Bohemia, Hungary, Moravia, Serbia, the Banat and Waicuedia, he has abolished all statute or service labor hitherto paid to the nobleman or original owner of the soil. The decree prescribes that the peasant shall receive a farm with the necessary buildings on it, as his own property. The worth of it is valued, leaving the peasant to pay it on easy terms, which are settled by a special commission, formed to mediate in the matter between the nobles and peasantry.

Incomplete as this emancipation may be, it assures independence to the people, severs all the ties between master and peasant, and redeems the latter from the extortions and rights of arbitrary ejection hitherto exercised by the former. The value of the homestead once paid, the peasant is free and wholly independent, master of his land, time, and labor.

Remember it is the Emperor of Austria, that is doing all this, while our government is doing we will not say what; but you can look over the Congressional debates and see for yourselves.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY, for March, 1854, lies on our table, deposited there by Mr. Shores, bookseller, of this city, from Fetridge & Co. Boston.

The number begins with an illustrated article, entitled New York Daguerreotyped, which contains 17 descriptive cuts of beautiful buildings and blocks, mostly private residences.

The other contents are, The Great Cemetery, Notes from my Knapsack, No. II., The Cocked-Hat Gentry, Men of Character, The Valley of the Amazon, Borodino, Who was Juliet's Runaway, Visit to the Iron Mountains of Missouri, The Gambling Houses of Paris, The Encantadas, or Enchanted Isles, How I Live, and with Whom, A Winter-Evening Hymn to my Fire, Letter to the Editor, Editorial Notes.

In one of the editorial notes to a southern correspondent, it is stated that seven-eighths of the subscribers to the Monthly are in the free states. In the same note the editor remarks, that while there has been a Southern Quarterly, a Southern Literary Messenger, and so on, no magazine among us has ever bore the title of Northern.

THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW for this week is a capital number. The music consists of a glee arranged from Beethoven, a glee by Wm. Bradbury, a sacred song by George F. Foot, and a motett arranged from Grell. The reading matter is varied, instructive and amusing. New York vs. Boston, and other articles, constitute the editorials; while the music news and miscellany are full and interesting. Published by Mason Brothers, 23 Park Row, New York, at $1.00 a year. Cheap and good.

Some of the papers make serious imputation upon the members of Congress as well as the President, by intimating that enough of the members of the House from the North will be influenced by the patronage of the Executive, to pass the Nebraska bill. When it is considered that more than half of the Senators from the free states have avowed their determination to vote for this bill, it must be evident that the assumption of those papers is wholly unwarrantable.—Newburyport Herald.

Well: we consider this avowal; but do not see how it destroys the assumption. Our president and some of his cabinet are not such green politicians as to wait till members of Congress commit themselves on the wrong side, and then begin to operate. So far from it, they are men of great experience, tact and talent in managing elections and influencing men and measures. No one but the parties themselves can know how much influence has been extended already, to move the majority spoken of.

BLOOD HOUNDS.—The following, which appeared lately in the North Carolina Observer, tells its own story of the beauties of the patriarchal institution:

Sale Extraordinary.—Mr. J. L. Bryan, of Moore county, sold at public auction, on the 20th instant, a pack of ten hounds, trained for hunting runaways, for the sum of $1540. The highest price paid for any dog was 301; lowest price $75; average for the ten $154 The terms of sale were six months credit, with approved security, and interest from date."

UNNATURAL CRUELTY.—A girl of fourteen years of age, who lived in a family in New York, was taken away from her place by her mother, who compelled her to go through the streets, in the late inclement weather, without shoes or stockings, that she might raise money to buy rum for her true parent. The mother beat her when she objected to go on such errands. The girl died, and the Coroner's jury rendered a verdict "that the deceased came to her death by congestion of the brain and pleurisy—in our opinion the result of ill-treatment of her mother, Bridget Williams, alias Reburg."

NUISANCES IN PORTSMOUTH.

It is but seldom that we see nuisances noticed in print. People cannot fail to observe them, but, too often, they neglect to interest themselves in having them got rid of.

A great nuisance is the condition of some of the street crossings, particularly that near the Baptist Church and that near the Rockingham Bank. At the former, mud or slosh is to be found except during the driest weather; and during storms and thaws it is almost impassible. This might be easily remedied by draining the water into Court street, and by keeping the drain clear during muddy or thawing weather.

If, instead of hauling earth into the low places, they were kept drained, we should not see the streets rising up higher than the sidewalks, all over town.

In many places we see the street above the level of the stones of the crossings. In such cases the accumulated earth should be dug up and hauled away, for it costs not so much to cart earth away, as to go out in the country and bring it in.

It would be a blessing to all if our city authorities would turn their attention to this subject. P.

☞ The ship Ocomoco, Howes, which arrived here on Wednesday, in the South East storm of Friday morning, tripped her anchor and drifted from her moorings off the Navy Yard, to the ledge upon which the beacon is erected, where she stuck fast, as the tide was on the ebb. Com. Smoot of the Navy Yard immediately tendered to Capt. Howes such aid as he might require from the Yard, which was accepted, and the ship was got afloat at high water in the afternoon.

☞ The owners of the ship Ocomoco request us to present their grateful acknowledgment to the Commandant of the Navy Yard, for the aid so promptly afforded in relieving their ship.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Joseph Thompson, a master bridge builder, of York, while engaged in building a "draw," in Charleston, Mass., a fortnight since, had his hand badly crushed by falling timber. Mr. Thompson, after the accident, was taken to the Hospital and cared for, and on Wednesday last, the arm was amputated. His recovery was considered doubtful at last accounts. Mr. Thompson, by an accident a few years since, lost almost the entire use of one arm, and now has lost the other.

Freight, in the shape of flour &c. is now reaching Albany via the Canada West and Central Railroads from Michigan and other western states. The first instalment of flour for New York passed over the Canadaigua and Elmira railroad to the New York and Erie road, and thence to the sea board. This however, was before the tariff of freights had been arranged between the Hudson River and the Central roads. An arrangement has now been made by which freight shipped at Detroit for Albany or New York is checked through from the former point to either city, without extra charges for crossing Niagara River or the Hudson.

A DESPERATE LEAP.—On Thursday morning, as the Saxonville train was passing the Mill Dam, Boston, at the rate of about twenty miles an hour, a passenger who had taken the wrong cars jumped off. His head first struck the frozen ground with great violence, and when taken up he was covered with blood, the skin having been torn from his face in several places. He was brought back to the city, and it was ascertained that he had received no vital injury.

SINGULAR CONTENTS OF A MAN'S STOMACH.—A gentleman who communicates the death of Mr. Sumner Shattuck of Groton, informs us that his sickness had been of nearly six years' standing, he being somewhat better in the summer months than in the winter.—The last six months he suffered very much. At a post mortem examination by Dr. Smith, assisted by other physicians of Groton, there were found in his stomach 225 cherry stones and about a pint of black liquid matter.—Boston Courier.

ICE ON THE TRACKS.—At the time of writing, 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, no trains have reached here north of Concord since last Saturday. The snow is piled by the side of the tracks, and it melts and freezes over the rails in some places four or five inches thick, so that it has to be picked off. By a special despatch just received, the train over the Northern road arrived at Franklin at 2 1-2 o'clock this afternoon. The mails came through last night by horse power.—Manchester Mirror.

THE SEVEREST WINTER.—Mr. Drew of the Banner says, "since the memorable wreck of storms in December, this, up to March, has been the roughest and severest winter we ever experienced in Maine."

☞ Dr. Gardner has been found guilty, at Washington, of swindling the Government, and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

A CRASH.—At half-past two o'clock on Friday morning, the brick coping of the large four story brick block, recently built at the corner of Washington street and the track of the Worcester Railroad, Boston, fell with a heavy crash. The cause of this accident is not certainly known, but it is stated that the coping was not properly put up, and it is thought that the walls must be wholly taken down, as they are dangerous to passers by.

THE NEBRASKA BILL PASSED TO BE ENGROSSED IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—After an intensely exciting session of nine hours, the Senate yesterday ordered the Nebraska bill to be engrossed, by a vote of 23 to 12. Important amendments were made.

Mr. Stuart of Michigan insisted upon the modification of the bill, so as to exclude any implication of the French law of slavery.

A violent and angry altercation followed between Messrs. Stuart and Douglas.

Mr. Douglas and the majority yielded, and privately accepted Mr. Stuart's amendment, which was then offered by Mr. Badger, and adopted by a vote of 35 to 10. There was a severe contest over the amendment offered by Mr. Clayton, for excluding unnaturalized settlers from voting for members of the Legislature. The amendment was adopted by 22 to 20—Mr. Douglas and all the "Presidential" Senators voting no.

Messrs. Cass and Houston retired before the vote, Mr. Houston pairing off with Mr. Mallory. Mr. Bell did not vote; he speaks on the final passage of the bill to-day.

Scenes of furious excitement occurred between Mr. Butler of South Carolina, and Mr. Walker, of Wisconsin; between Messrs. Walker and Weller; between Messrs. Chase and Mason, and between Messrs. Mason and Wade of Ohio.

Mr. Wade made a speech against Mr. Mason, in reply to Mr. Mason's attack upon Mr. Chase, the most violent of the evening.

The fall Senate contains 61 members.—There are, however, three or four vacancies. It will thus be seen that fifteen or more Senators declined voting, or were absent.

The passage of this bill by the Senate was generally anticipated.

IN SENATE, Friday, March 3, Mr. Cass desired to record his name in favor of the bill, thanked Mr. Badger for his amendment, congratulated the South upon that act of conciliation and thought the passage of the bill would close forever the fountain of bitter waters.

The Bill was then read a third time, when Mr. Bell, of Tennessee, got the floor.

The Senate of Illinois, by a vote of 14 to 8 has endorsed Douglas's Nebraska Bill.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, March 2.

SENATE.—Mr. Stuart, from the Committee on Public Lands, asked to be discharged from the consideration of the memorial praying for a grant for a ship canal around Niagara Falls. Numerous remonstrances were presented against the Nebraska bill.

After some discussion on the Indigent Insane bill, it was again postponed, and the Nebraska bill taken up, Mr. Clayton resuming his remarks. He was opposed to many provisions of the bill, and especially that one establishing the Legislative Council, for which he desired to substitute the act of 1848, which denied the Legislature any power whatever over the subject of slavery. He again denied the constitutionality of the Missouri compromise, and quoted from a speech of John Quincy Adams on the Arkansas bill, wherein ground was taken that Congress had no power to refuse admission to a state because her constituents recognized slavery. He was opposed to the further annexation of territory, and thought if the Union was ever wrecked it would be upon its territory.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Chase, Badger and others.

HOUSE.—In the House, a bill was introduced granting the right of way for three railroads across public land from commercial points in California and Oregon. Referred to Committee on Railroads.

Mr. Sollers of Maryland asked leave to introduce a resolution requesting the President to open negotiations with Peru, either for the purchase of one of the Chincha Islands or for the abolition of the Peruvian monopoly. Not granted.

The House then went into Committee on the Homestead bill.

An amendment to the bill, proposing to charge twenty-five cents per acre, instead of donating lands, was rejected.

An amendment, providing that the bill shall not go into effect until one year after its passage, in order, as the mover said, to prevent the people of the West from stepping in at once, and selecting the best lands, was also rejected.

Before disposing of the bill, the Committee rose, and the House adjourned.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

One of those terrible accidents to which all steam engines are liable, has just taken place at Hartford, Conn., with a dreadful loss of life, which never need to occur in steam works on dry land. The fire, boiler, &c., of the Portsmouth Steam Factory, and some other large works, are placed in a separate building from most of the workmen and women, as they should be.

The accident at Hartford occurred on Thursday afternoon, about 2 o'clock, when the new steam boiler of Fales & Gray's car factory exploded, destroying the blacksmith shop and engine room, and badly shattering the main building. There were over 300 persons employed in the factory, over 100 of whom were in that part of the building which was injured. The explosion was terrific, breaking timbers, powerful machinery and everything about the building in pieces, and prostrating the walls for 100 feet in length. The glass of the main building was broken. The roof and walls fell in a huge mass over the men employed, burying them beneath its ruins. Efforts were immediately made by the remaining operatives, the firemen, who were called out for that purpose, and the citizens, who crowded in large numbers to the spot, to rescue those beneath the ruins. The Mayor superintended the extrication of the bodies, and the ruins were removed with all possible despatch. Nine persons were killed instantly; seven more died shortly after, and many others were badly injured.

Mr. Skinner was conversing on business with Mr. Camp, one of the workmen, when the explosion took place. Mr. Camp was killed, and Mr. Skinner had his arm broken in two places and his head badly cut. The immediate cause of the explosion may never be known. The boiler was a new one, of fifty horse power, built of the best materials and with the greatest care. It has been conjectured that the water was suffered to get too low. The scene was a most heart rending one. When the intelligence was scattered through the city, wives and children came rushing to inquire after the fate of their husbands or parents. Such was the excitement in the south district, in which many of the workmen dwelt, that the schools had to be dismissed at once in consequence of the excitement among the pupils. The victims were horribly mutilated, and in some instances could hardly be recognized. The engineer's arm was found at some distance from the body. The fragments were overhauled by 5 o'clock, and all the bodies extricated.—Many who were but slightly injured went away early to their homes, and are not included in the above account, and others were taken away, so that it is impossible to ascertain the precise number wounded. It is supposed to have been over fifty.

The loss on the building and machinery is estimated to be from $20,000 to $30,000, besides the loss of the business while the building is being repaired. Messrs. Fales & Gray will at once commence the repairs to their buildings, and urge them on with the utmost speed, to mitigate, as much as possible, the sufferings of their workmen through this frightful casualty.

MURDER.—The New York papers contain accounts of an unprovoked murder which was committed in that city Tuesday morning. It appears from the facts which have thus far been elicited, that as Mr. Henry Deikmajer, a German, was sitting in his store in Reade street, a man by the name of John Wilson, a cooper, entered, and seizing him by the throat, without provocation, stabbed him in the side with a large knife, inflicting a mortal wound. Mr. Deikmajer instantly fell to the floor, and died in a few moments. Wilson attempted to make his escape, but was arrested and committed to the Tombs, to await the result of the coroner's inquest. No previous difficulty is known to have existed between the deceased and the accused. Wilson worked next door to Deikmajer. The murder was apparently premeditated and unprovoked.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humors.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as little delicate women weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen scrofulous, puny, worm looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been subject to fevers for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Anything in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what ever ails them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-five inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief to Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. From the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humor the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

SALT BEEF AT MARSEILLES.—Salted beef, at 8 cents a pound, is so great a rarity at Marseilles, France, that a recent cargo from America could not be disposed of until the Mayor had tried it, and issued an edict stating that it was "very good." The Echo Agricole, of Marseilles, says that at first the people were shy, and could not believe that meat at 8 cents a pound could be fit to eat; but when the Mayor tasted it, others ventured—found it remarkably good, a little bit salt, but nourishing, healthy and satisfying. The Echo thinks that "the inhabitants of Marseilles are fortunate in being sure hereafter of so precious an addition to their alimentary resources."

DICKENS DRAWS ON THE JURY.—Charles Dickens has just had a public compliment paid to him by Lord Campbell, Chief Justice of England. They were trying cases in the Court of Queen's Bench, and Charles Dickens was called on the list of special jurors.—When he did not answer to his name, Lord Campbell said—"If this illustrious author were still engaged in the great chancery suit in 'Bleak House,' I could have excused his absence; but as 'Jarndyce and Jarndyce' is ended, I confess I should have been glad to have had Mr. Dickens here, in order that he might see how we get on at common law."—The result was a fine of £20, to be paid by Mr. Dickens for non-attendance.

A Vermont paper, with just pride, says:—"There is but one city in the State, and not a soldier. We have no police, and not a murder has been committed in this State within the last ten years. We have no museums, nor crystal palaces, but we have homes, genuine homes, that are the centre of the world to their inmates, for which the father works, votes and talks—where the mother controls, educates, labors, and loves—where she rears men, scholars, and patriots."

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

It it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc. which street, New York.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is an ALTERATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER,

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

A NEW POINT IN THE LIQUOR LAW.—The case of Pluff vs. Power, tried yesterday before Justice Russell, in Justices' Court, raised a new question under the liquor law. It was proved that two demijohns of brandy and wine were sent by the plaintiff to one of his customers, and were delivered by mistake to the defendant, who appropriated them to his own use. It was decided that although liquor was property, and protected by the criminal statutes, yet by a special provision of the act of 1852, no action can be maintained to recover the possession or value of liquors, except such as are sold under the provisions of that section. But the protection of the law did not extend to the demijohns, and judgment was given for their value, carrying costs for the plaintiff.—Boston Times.

WALKING ON WATER.—The perilous experiment of 'walking on water' was recently repeated, before a concourse of Dublin spectators, by the Hon. Mr. Swift. This gentleman's former experiment, was that of 'walking' by sea, from Venice to Trieste, a feat by which his life was well nigh forfeited. In repeating the attempt in Dublin harbor, between the Custom House and the Pigeon House Fort, he encountered no risk, and was thoroughly successful. His apparatus consists of two air tight tin floats, twenty feet in length, tapering to a narrow point at each end, and joined together by bars of iron. Standing on the floats, Mr. Swift propels himself by a double-bladed oar, which he uses with great dexterity.

THE BIGGEST LOADS OF THE SEASON.—The Keene (N. H.) News states that a pair of oxen belonging to Mr. Christopher Mason, drew to that village, from a distance of seven miles, a load of wood which measured seven cords, three cord feet and six cubic feet. On Tuesday last, Mr. David Willard passed through the town with a load of wood measuring 8 1-4 cords—drawn by two oxen and one horse. The News challenges the world against old Cheshire for big loads of wood!

There must be some "gumming" about this story. What sort of vehicles was the wood drawn upon? Did they travel on wheels, runners or rails?

The will of the late Elliot Cresson of Philadelphia, distributes $125 000 for philanthropic objects—including $50,000 for the American Sunday School Union; $10,000 for the School of Design; $10,000 to the Historical Society; $10,000 for a monument to William Penn; $10,000 to the Episcopal Mission at Port Cresson, Africa; $5000 to the Episcopal Seminary of Alexandria; $5000 to the Hospital for the Insane; $5000 to Philadelphia city for planting trees; besides sums to various benevolent institutions in the city.

AN AMERICAN OFFICER IN THE TURKISH ARMY.—Our correspondent at Constantinople says—"A large number of Polish officers have been sent to the Georgian frontier to help fight the Muscovites. Mr. Bonfanti, of New York, formerly of the American volunteers in Mexico, has been sent to the same place, with the rank of major. He has also received the name of Nevlis Bey.—N. Y. Evening Post.

We learn from the New York Evangelist that Rev. Dr. Cox has been compelled, by continued ill health, to request the people of his charge, the First Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn, to unite with him in asking of the Presbytery a dissolution of the pastoral relation, which has subsisted for nearly twenty years.

The fact that our government sends a deaf and dumb man, for such Mr. Mason is at Paris, to speak for his own country, and hear what others have to say, illustrates what we believe, that there is no necessity for our sending an ambassador to a foreign court at all. N. Y. Evening Post.

Mr. Levi Swain, of Meredith, N. H., informs the editor of the Democrat that he has worked 47 years at the carpenter business, and has never cut himself with an edged tool, never has been sick a single day, and always voted the Democratic ticket.

"I remember," says Lord Eldon, "Mr. Justice Gould, trying a case at York and when he had proceeded for about two hours, he observed, 'here are only eleven jurymen in the box, where is the twelfth?' 'Please you my lord,' said one of the eleven, 'he is gone about some other business, but he has left his verdict with me!'"

Large gangs of laborers are busily employed in laying the rails on the Eastern Railroad extension in Charlestown, Somerville, and across the new bridge, with a view of completing the track at the earliest possible day.

George J. Bradford, an unmarried man 27 years of age, belonging to Cuba, Me., was drowned at Jack-on's wharf, East Boston, on Saturday night, while attempting to go on board, or leave the brig B. Young, of which he had been mate. His body has been recovered.

TURKEYS.—We learn from the Salem (N. C.) Press that a drove of more than 1600 turkeys passed that place on the 3d inst, en route for Charleston, from Smith county, Va. The drove travels about seven miles per day, and eats up seven bushels of corn in the same space of time.

GOVERNOR DORR.

The Boston Chronicle says that the expunging act of the Legislature of Rhode Island [reversing the judgment of the Supreme Court of the State, by which Mr. Dorr was imprisoned for treason, &c., and drawing black lines across its record of the same] takes effect immediately—in order to prevent the Court from interfering for the protection of its records. The course of that tribunal in reference to the legislative invasion of its rights, is naturally looked for with much interest.—On Wednesday, in the House, several resolutions were introduced and ordered to be printed, having further reference to the Dorr rebellion of 1842. They provide that a certified copy of the 'People's Constitution,' &c., shall be placed in the archives of the State—that one year's salary shall be paid to 'Gov. Dorr,' with interest from May, 1843, until paid—and that copies of the resolves be sent to the President, to Congress and to State governors and legislatures.

The Chronicle adds, that this movement, and at this time, will probably surprise many, but it is stated that the democracy of Rhode Island, like their brethren in several other States, are divided on national and other issues which they conceive to be important, and that the complete restoration of Mr. Dorr to all his former privileges, &c., with interest, is demanded by one section, before it will consent to anything like cordial harmony or fraternization with the other.

We do not allow ourselves to be greatly surprised at any passing events; but we were puzzled to understand why the Dorr furore should blaze out so brightly just now. The explanation of the Chronicle however, seems quite probable, and so we conclude that the Union is safe in Rhode Island, and that Gov. Dorr, no longer a martyr, may yet live to be a real governor with a salary, under the constitution against which he fought and under which he suffered.

P. S. The Chronicle of Saturday says the Legislature of Rhode Island adjourned on Thursday, March 2d, and the resolutions for the collection and preservation of the records of the Foundry Legislature, and to pay a year's salary to Mr. Dorr for his services as Governor under the people's constitution, were indefinitely postponed.

THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS at Newburyport, closed its labors Friday, and holds its next criminal term in the same city, on the 4th Monday in May. The last case was the Commonwealth vs. Boston and Maine Railroad, for killing Samuel Newell at Lawrence, in Jan. 1753, when President Pierce's son was killed. B. F. Butler of Lowell, appeared for the road, and it was argued that the accident occurred from causes that no human foresight or prudence could guard against. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the road.—Herald.

BREADSTUFFS AT THE WEST.—The warehouses of the Great West are overflowing with immense quantities of grain and flour. The Western States seem to vie with each other as to which shall be ready at the breaking up of spring to throw the most bountiful supply of cereal products into the lap of the East. The Burlington (Iowa) Gazette, of 16th ult., states that at no time in the history of that city, has the amount of produce on hand been equal to that of the present time. Every place where a bushel of wheat, corn, oats or barley, can be stored, is literally crammed with grain, awaiting shipment on the opening of navigation; and the streets are daily crowded with teams, bringing in additional supplies. In Peoria, Illinois, every warehouse, storeroom and cellar is occupied by flour and grain, and several enormous warehouses are now being erected to meet the pressing demands for storage. The Peoria Press says there are now in that city about one million bushels of grain awaiting the opening of the river and canal, for the eastern market. One dealer had two hundred thousand bushels in store. A large additional quantity is expected to come in from the country as soon as the warehouses in this city begin to be relieved of their present contents. In Chicago, says the Chicago Tribune, the warehouses along the river are full of grain, and several operators have been obliged to withdraw for lack of storage room. There are sixty seven vessels in port, which will probably take, with the opening of navigation, some four weeks hence, 700,000 bushels of grain for the east.

The following scene occurred in the Senate of the United States on Friday:

Mr Jones of Tennessee.—Mr. President,—In pursuance of a previous notice, I ask leave to introduce a bill, and that it may be read twice and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

The Chair—The first reading of the bill.

The Secretary, reading—A bill to do justice to all the States of the Union. (Loud Laughter.)

Mr. Badger—I move that it be put on its passage at once. (Laughter.)

Mr. Cass—The title is so attractive we might pass it without reading.

Several Senators—"Read it!" "What's it about?"

The Chair—It is to distribute the public lands amongst all the States. (Laughter.)

Cries of "Don't read it; that's enough."

The bill was then referred.

Are you a Christian Indian? asked a gentleman of one of the Catteraugus tribe.

No, was the answer, I whiskey Indian.

THE GOLDEN LAND.

The following paragraph from the New York Herald, suggests the possibility of a reverse in the golden prospects of our Western State, California. We do not share largely in the apprehension expressed; yet it is only fair to notice it, as the opinion of men generally well informed. We do not believe the mineral wealth of that country is so soon exhausted: but the cream may be so skimmed, nevertheless, as to make golden dreams less frequent,—and then—a decline in everything there must take place.

The Herald says:

We published the other day a highly interesting letter from California, setting forth the rapid exhaustion of the gold washings of the California placers. Our correspondent says that the best portions of "the diggins" have been worked over several times—that the cream has been skimmed off, and that the mines will soon be reduced to the blue milk of the wet and dry diggings. In support of these statements he refers to the diminished shipments from San Francisco for the last two or three months. The fact of itself, however, signifies nothing. The gold placers during the winter season are, to a great extent, covered with snow—mining operations are proportionably suspended. But with the rains and floods of spring, which commence in California in February, we may expect a renewal of the work, and new discoveries from the new washings made by the rain. If these fail to bring up each steamer to the maximum of two millions, we may conclude that the California loose dust is not inexhaustible. What will be the consequences if those gold mines should prove to be nearly worked out? A general financial explosion like that of 1837? Just so, but upon a larger and grander scale.

SOUTHERN VIEW.—There seems to be but one opinion at the South in regard to Mr. Douglas' Nebraska bill. The Southern press, as well as Southern statesmen, advocate its passage on the ground that it throws the country open to slavery, whilst at the same time they deny the authority of the territorial legislature to abolish it—protesting against the principle of "squatter sovereignty." The Charleston Evening News says:

"But it may be asked, upon what ground do we base our support of this bill? Simply that it takes away an arbitrary geographical restriction upon the extension of slavery, and gives it what it did not possess before, a chance to colonize in the territory of Nebraska."

Here is the whole thing summed up in a nutshell: "It takes away an arbitrary geographical restriction upon the extension of slavery, and gives it WHAT IT DID NOT POSSESS BEFORE, a chance to colonize in the territory of Nebraska."

THE CLERICAL "GAY DECEIVER."—The individual who recently figured as a clergyman in a breach of promise case at Groton, and was subsequently dismissed from his ministerial office under serious charges, and left the State, has been heard from at the South. A despatch from Baltimore, dated 1st, to the New York papers, says:

"James Cowper, who professed to be a Methodist minister, and who figured in New York last summer, was brought before the Mayor of Richmond on Monday, when Mr. Rufus Read of South Groton, Mass., proved that Cowper married his niece, Miss Fletcher, under a false name.

Letters received from respectable citizens at the North accuse Cowper, who is an Englishman, of all sorts of offences. Read has started North with his niece, who rejoices in her escape."

☞ Our native townsman, Henry Bickford Brewster, printer, has written a letter to the New Hampshire Gazette, in which he represents the Maine Law, and indeed the State of Maine herself, to be in an exceedingly bad way, as the liquor there is running riot, and the liquor dealers are clamorously supporting the Law!

We quote his own words:

"It is made the mere tool of tricksters to operate on the fears of the people; and yet many of the men who are the loudest and most noisy in support of the Maine Law in this State, are the liquor dealers; they go for it almost to a man, and have no wish for its repeal!"

This last item is news indeed—and very important—if true. But as the papers often say, it wants confirmation. Swift witnesses almost always prove too much.

The Portland Advertiser of Saturday, at the close of its Court report, says:

"Business in the Municipal Court for the past week has been unusually small. Cases of drunkenness have been rare."

This hardly substantiates the statements of our friend H. B. B.

A railroad case is on trial before the Essex Court of Common Pleas at Salem, which it is supposed will occupy considerable time, many witnesses being in attendance. The action is brought against the Boston and Maine road in consequence of the death of Samuel Newell, of Lawrence, resulting from injuries received from the express-train car being thrown down the embankment at Andover, in January, 1853, when President Pierce's son was killed, and several persons were seriously injured. The point in dispute is, whether this accident was one which was owing to such imperfect machinery and management as the Railroad Company ought to be liable.

A CURIOUS RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The Hornellsville Tribune relates a singular accident which befel a train on the New York and Buffalo railroad a few days since. As an engine was bound east with an express train, one of the tender wheels broke—one segment of it passing off at a tangent, leaving the remainder to act upon the rails as a trip hammer. In a distance of fifty rods it hammered thirteen "eighteen foot" rails into halves, quarters and fifths, knocked the heads off a hundred pounds of spikes, broke forty chairs, and finally "hammered itself hammerless," before the train could be stopped.

LOCAL.

A BAD SON.

It gives us great pleasure to record the good deeds and great success of the Sons of Portsmouth who are abroad; and it oppresses us with sorrow to have any of them do evil and suffer shame. Nevertheless, when they do badly, they must be exposed and rebuked.

The last Dover Gazette contains an account of the arrest and imprisonment of Jacob L. Dennett, for stealing 4 bushels of Corn and 1 barrel of Flour, which he sold. In connexion with this account, the Dover Gazette gives the following statement of his previous course.

The community hereabout has been kept alive for a few weeks past, in listening to the recital of the petty villainies of one Jacob L. Dennett, a fellow, young in years, but old in crime if we may judge from the numerous reports that reach our ears at every turn. Our readers can hardly fail in calling to mind, the circumstances connected with the larceny of a gold watch and chain from the Dover Hotel, some year or more ago, by this same Dennett, his arrest and committal for the same, his subsequent trial and sentence of 6 months imprisonment with a fine of fifty dollars. He expiated his crime by living out his term of imprisonment in our county jail with the addition of three months, for non-payment of the fine. But from information which we have gathered from various sources, it would appear that he is inured to crime, and as his villainies have already won him the name of an oft convicted felon, we may be excused for laying before our readers, a brief history of some of his exploits.

Dennett is first known to us here as a Portsmouth boy, where we learn he has connexions residing at the present time, who have used every persuasive art to allure him to the paths of rectitude and virtue; but to no avail; he seemed bent on crime, and no earthly power could prevent him from pursuing his desperate course. The crowning exploit of his life, so far as has come to our knowledge, was the robbery of $3600 dollars from the purser of a U. S. ship at Boston, two years ago, most of which however, was recovered. We next hear of him in this town. Here he was celebrated as a "fancy man," dealing in game cocks, &c., which he would match against the most expert fighting cocks in Dover.

After entering upon the expiation of his sentence for larceny of the watch and chain, he became exceedingly troublesome, and it was found necessary to manacle his limbs, but "raving like mad," he would ingeniously extricate himself and threaten the life of any who dared approach him. Sheriff McDaniel then gave him a call, and upon entering the door of his cell, was menaced by Dennett, who stood at the opposite end with a portion of his bedstead, which he had demolished, raised on high, threatening the life of the Sheriff if he approached him. He was however, subdued, when forty weight of iron was attached to his limbs, which in time had the power of curbing his fiery nature, and a milder spirit seemed gradually to gain the ascendency. He next attracted public attention by effecting his escape from jail, through the aid of a young man whom he had bribed for the purpose, and fleeing to the woods on gaining the open air, would doubtless have eluded the vigilance of the officers, had he not by some misstep, fell and broke his leg, and was therefore recaptured.

We hear of him again, on the approach of the cold weather the present season, sick with lung fever within the cold damp walls of his narrow cell, destitute, and apparently in great distress, attracting the attention of some of our philanthropic citizens, who alleviated his sufferings in a measure, administering to his daily wants, at the same time inculcating the precepts of holy writ, and enlisting his sympathies in religious truths, until he exhibited signs of repentance and evidences of real reformation. One of our most respectable clergymen was sent for, and the prisoner Dennett was made a member of his church, evincing all those most commendable traits which go to form the true Christian character.

In the meanwhile his term of imprisonment expired, and being still in feeble health, a boarding place was procured for him, and the philanthropic few thrust their hands into the very depths of their capacious pockets, and by the aid of subscriptions and $10 from the Howard Benevolent Society, he was again set afloat upon life's tempestuous waves, to buffet its storms and withstand its temptations—a reformed convict. But how fallacious are all our fondest hopes; to attempt to follow him in his petty acts of villany for the last few weeks, his betrayal of the unbounded confidence reposed in him by those who were his "friends in need," the hypocrisy he has used to conceal his true character, would be impossible. He again occupies a felon's cell. From what we learn, he was a dangerous character to let loose upon society, as it is said he possessed the most winning ways, and artfully concealed beneath a pleasing exterior, the heart of a villain. He has occupied a felon's cell, if we are rightly informed, on not less than seven indictments for crime, although not yet twenty-two years of age.

His first public offence was that of stealing a trunk from the Depot in this city, several years ago. For this offence he was tried, convicted and sentenced to the County Jail for one year. He would at that time have gone to the State Prison, had not the Jury pitied his youth. Moved by this pity, in their valuation of the property, they made it 25 cents less than the amount necessary to send him to Concord.

VISIONS BY GAS LIGHT.—One of the last visions seen by the old gentleman was that of a young man lying asleep in the evening, in the gutter on Deer street, not far from the corner of Vaughan street; where the water and slosh kept down the fever in his system. A kind young man lifted him up and supported him by a post, while Uncle Toby went for a city officer to give the poor fellow a dryer lodging if not a cooler one. The cause of his being there is entirely unknown; but it is to be presumed he is not a total abstinent, but rather an occasional drinker. On this particular occasion, he probably lost his balance and found himself a poor sot before he was aware of his danger.

HIGH SCHOOLS.—The annual examination of the Boys' High School takes place to-day, commencing at 9 o'clock A. M.

The examination of the Girls' High School will take place to-morrow at 9 o'clock A. M.

Dick, the murderer of Catharine Young and her son, near Dayton, Ohio, was convicted of murder "in manner and form as he stands charged in the indictment;" which being an insufficient verdict, the law requiring the jury to specify the degree of murder, will require a new trial. They intended to find him guilty of murder in the first degree.

Among the petitions presented in the Massachusetts House of Representatives on Friday, was one from Thomas C. Amory and others, of Boston, for the repeal of the Saturday evening amusement law.

CONGRESS.

Up to Friday night at 9 o'clock, no vote had been taken on the final passage of the Nebraska bill. An animated discussion had been kept up through the afternoon by Messrs. Bell, Sumner, Norris, Wade, Toucey, and others.

Previous to its passage to be engrossed, several important amendments were adopted.

Mr. Badger offered the following amendment:

"Provided that nothing contained in this act shall be construed to revive or put in force any law or regulation which may have existed prior to the act of the 6th of March, 1820, either protecting, establishing, prohibiting or abolishing slavery."

And it was agreed to—yeas 55, nays 6—as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Atchison, Badger, Bell, Benjamin, Brodhead, Butler, Clay, Dawson, Dixon, Dodge of Iowa, Douglas, Evans, Fish, Fitzpatrick, Foot, Gwin, Hamlin, Houston, Hunter, Jones of Tennessee, Jones of Iowa, Mason, Morton, Norris, Petit, Pratt, Seward, Shields, Slidell, Smith, Stuart, Walker, Toucey, Weller, and Williams.

Nays—Messrs. Adams, Brown, Dodge of Wisconsin, Johnson, Rusk and Sebastian.

Mr. Douglas moved to amend by striking out the power of Congress to disapprove the legislation of the territory, and changing the veto power of the Governor so that it might be overruled by a two-thirds vote. Adopted.

Mr. Clayton moved to strike out the provision allowing aliens to vote and hold office.

Messrs. Walker, Petit, Dodge and Chase opposed the amendment, and Mr. Clayton supported it. Amendment agreed to—yeas 23, nays 21.

The question was then taken, shall the bill be engrossed and ordered to a third reading.

The question was decided in the affirmative—yeas 29, nays 12, as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Adams, Atchison, Badger, Benjamin, Brodhead, Brown, Butler, Clay, Dawson, Dixon, Dodge of Iowa, Evans, Fitzpatrick, Gwin, Hunter, Johnson, Jones of Iowa, Jones of Tennessee, Mason, Morton, Norris, Petit, Pratt, Sebastian, Shields, Slidell, Stuart and Williams.

Nays—Messrs. Chase, Dodge of Wisconsin, Fessenden, Fish, Foot, Hamlin, James, Seward, Smith, Sumner, Wade, and Walker.

Absent or not voting—Messrs. Allen, Bayard, Bell, Bright, Cass, Clayton, Cooper, Everett, Grier, Houston, Mallory, Pearce, Rusk, Thompson of Kentucky, Toombs, Toucey, Weller, Wright and Phelps—20, and one vacancy in North Carolina.

FINAL PASSAGE OF THE NEBRASKA BILL IN THE SENATE.—Washington, March 4.—The debate on the Nebraska bill was continued until five o'clock this morning, when the final vote was taken, and the bill was passed by yeas 37, nays 14, as follows:

Yeas—Adams, Atchison, Badger, Bayard, Benjamin, Brodhead, Brown, Butler, Cass, Clay, Dawson, Dixon, Dodge of Iowa, Douglas, Evans, Fitzpatrick, Grier, Gwin, Hunter, Johnson, Jones of Iowa, Jones of Ten., Mason, Morton, Norris, Petit, Pratt, Rusk, Sebastian, Shields, Slidell, Stuart, Thompson of Ky., Thompson of New Jersey, Toucey, Weller, Williams—37.

Nays—Bell, Chase, Dodge of Wis., Fessenden, Fish, Foote, Hamlin, Houston, James, Seward, Smith, Sumner, Wade and Walker.

Messrs. Bright, Toombs and Mallory were sick, but would have voted for the bill.

Mr. Allen was absent from sickness in his family, but would have voted against it.

Messrs. Pierce, Everett, Cooper and Wright not voting.

The title of the bill was changed to "a bill for the government of Nebraska and Kansas."

Mr. Cass said—I congratulate the Senate on the triumph of squatter sovereignty.

Adjourned till Tuesday.

THE SUICIDE OF DR. GARDINER.—Washington, March 4.—Dr. Gardiner, convicted in this city for fraud on the government by claiming and obtaining a large sum of money for an alleged silver mine in Mexico, and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary, committed suicide yesterday. He was 36 years old; had the education and manners of a gentleman, and was engaged to be married to a lady in Georgetown.

THE EXPLOSION.—Hartford, March 3.—Two more of the persons wounded by the explosion at the car factory, yesterday, have died—making eighteen killed in all. The number of the wounded is about twenty-five. The coroner's jury have been in session all day. The general opinion was that the accident was occasioned by the engineer talking with a friend longer than he was aware of, during which time the water became too low in the boiler and the pipes too much heated to allow of the introduction of cold water, as is supposed to have been done.

A meeting was held this evening at the City Hall, of the citizens of Hartford, to take into consideration the propriety of raising subscriptions for the widows and orphans of those killed at the explosion of Messrs. Fales & Gray's car factory. A committee of thirty was appointed to solicit donations. Mr. Wyatt gives the entire proceeds of his dramatic entertainment on Monday evening to the same object.

The Atlas says the report that Kittredge and Morrison, of New Hampshire, will vote against the Nebraska bill, and that Harry Hibbard is wavering, has no foundation in fact. All three are fully committed to the measure, as much so as President Pierce himself. The report was fabricated for effect in New Hampshire.

BOOT AND SHOE MARKET.—There has been less activity in the boot and shoe trade the past week, although some considerable purchases have been made for the Western, Southern, New England and California trade. Both sole and upper leather continue to rule very high, so much so that manufacturers are suspending business to some extent, and on this account dealers are confident that high prices will be obtained for the goods now on hand. The Western and Southern trade, although, as usual, pretty active at this season, does not, however, come up to the expectation, and this will have a tendency to check the movements of manufacturers. Prices have remained precisely the same as last week. All kinds of thick work is scarce.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will find yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well, if I know.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
All diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particular bad. A lady, aged 75, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was as proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circulars in and around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe was brought to Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S ENTIRE REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Ginseng, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

MUSIC IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

NEW YORK VERSUS BOSTON.

It is an unquestionable fact that in musical appreciation and taste, Boston is far in advance of New York.

The fact, that Sontag, Jenny Lind, Alboni, and other musical magnates are better patronized, and therefore give more concerts in New York than in Boston, proves nothing in favor of musical appreciation. People attend such concerts for fashion's sake, because of the prestige of a great name, and especially to gratify a love for the marvelous. They listen to a singer or player as they would look at the performances of a contortionist or juggler, and are pleased just in proportion as they are astonished. Hence one singer is admired more than another, merely because she can produce a tone a little higher than her rival; and an instrumentalist, because he is able to accomplish some mechanical difficulty which the other does not attempt—he can hold his breath something longer, or make his fingers fly a trifle faster. It is not always musical gratification which attracts people to concerts, or most pleases them when there. That Boston is musically far before New York it is useless to deny. Whence arises the difference?

It is because music has been taught among the people, and especially because it has, for many years been made a regular branch of instruction in their public, as well as private schools. It is to the "Yankee singing masters," the "psalm-smiters," as they are sometimes derisively called, that the credit is due for this state of musical proficiency. By their instrumentality, Boston children have been taught, not merely to sing by rote, but to understand music and musical notation.

In our public schools, almost nothing has been attempted in the way of music. We have had, comparatively, no musical instruction of children in New York, while Boston has practiced it thoroughly and well, nearly twenty years, and is yearly reaping more and more advantage from it.

For the sake of its effects, moral, intellectual, and physical, it is of the highest consequence that music should become a regular branch of instruction in all our schools; and not only our city, but the whole country must have it. We are convinced that next in importance to the three universally taught branches, Reading, Writing, and Arithmetic, comes Music. On a subject so important we shall have much to say, and hope, in our next number, to commence a series of articles upon the topic, "Music in Schools."—N. Y. Musical Review.

A WIDOWER TAKEN IN.—A CASE OF SECOND LOVE.—Sometime the first of this winter, a widower residing in Antrim, this state, became acquainted with a Miss Smith, of this city, and as men of this class are not slow in 'falling in love,' or bashful about 'popping the question,' the widower found himself quickly enamored with the charms of the fair damsel, and as quickly engaged to become her loving husband. She was poor, but what does lovers care for poverty? He drew from his hard earnings thirty five dollars and gave it to her for her 'fit out,' set the day for the marriage and returned home. A few days after Miss Smith had wrote to him that she needed fifteen dollars more to complete her arrangements for the bridal hour. At such a hour and time he made no hesitation about sending it, though it made his purse look lean. The day before the honey-moon was to rise he came to Manchester, not, however, without previously telling his son to take a team and come to Hillsborough Bridge the next afternoon when he would have the privilege of seeing his new mother and 'moving home her things.' But here he could not find Miss Smith, and for three days he wandered up and down our streets disconsolate, inquiring for the faithless one, without success, or learning one word about her. He could find plenty Miss Smiths for the name is 'a grain' popular here, but not the one that played the $50 tune on him—Mysterious are the ways of women!

We could give more particulars, but an inkling is enough, for shrewd ones will guess the rest.

By the latest returns the Antrim widower had not committed suicide.—Manchester Mirror.

THE RUSSIAN BEAR'S NEST.—The Russian emissaries scared up by the Courier des Etats Unis, who had been sent over here to enlist seamen, and fit out privateers against the Turks, have become objects of great curiosity, much to their own astonishment and annoyance. Their movements are regularly watched and chronicled, and we hear that Christadoro's is beset by fashionable ladies, begging for a few hairs from the magnificent moustaches or whiskers of the barbarian visitors. Meanwhile, they go on about their business, saying nothing to nobody out of doors, and drinking champaigne, and making love at our upper ten mansions, with all possible gravity. They have nearly finished the business on which they were sent, and will soon return—leaving a great many more privateers behind them than they will take away.—New York Day Book.

A SINGULAR LAW SUIT.—The Troy Whig says that a law suit of decidedly novel character is now a leading topic of conversation in the gossipping circles of that city. Several weeks since, at the Odd Fellows' ball in Troy, a careless waiter upset a service of coffee upon a lady's dress, ruining the garment, which was valued at $75. The gentleman who attended the lady has prosecuted the person who furnished the supper, to recover the value of the dress.

SELF-GOVERNMENT AND ITS ANTAGONIST.

This nation is approaching a crisis, which few men can or do foresee. Still all may understand that there is something alarming in the signs of the times. Our Northern people have been very much influenced and divided by party-spirit, an incident of free institutions, but carried to excess, it becomes, as history proves, the bane of a republic. But we shall soon witness a conflict in our political elements, a struggle between warring antagonisms, which will cast to the shades our past Northern divisions. There will be a general union on each side of the Mason & Dixon line. On the one side a union in defence of the principles upon which our revolutionary fathers founded free institutions; and on the other, a close union in support of the antagonistical principle. It must, in the nature of things, come to that, and all attempts, for party purposes, to disguise the truth, tend only the more clearly to exhibit it to the public view. The public attention, at this moment, is turned to the conduct of our greater and smaller men in the national councils—to their attempts to violate this or that solemn compact—to repeal a long-standing law interdicting slavery, and so open wide the door to its introduction into the vast public domain, and, going still farther, offering the lands of the United States as bounties to accelerate the introduction of slavery into territories heretofore dedicated to freedom; we look upon all such legislative action as preludes to the grand drama which will surely follow. There is no "finality" to any human legislation: but state ordinances cannot rescind the Divine economy which necessarily controls all the affairs of men. Will any enlightened citizen question the truth of the position, that laws, or a code of laws, adapted to a state of slavery, must be directly opposed to a state of freedom? We invite attention to this position. If true, it reveals the motives of our Southern statesmen, for a long period, in their arduous efforts to carry their points in the national legislature. In their state legislatures they can easily remove all obstacles in the way. But the true representatives in Congress of Northern freemen are often called upon to resist the encroachments of the slave power of the union. What may be the result of their present resistance, is, in some degree, uncertain—but it requires no spirit of prophecy to foresee that the warfare between the two antagonisms will be continued, until the one shall gain the complete mastery over the other. Compromise lines, sacred compacts, statutes, solemn ordinances of popular conventions sanctioned by great names, may pour oil upon the troubled waters for a time;—but again the ocean waves will swell and roll. Under our theory of self-government, (which means freedom, protected and secured by wise laws,) the laws are but an emanation of the public opinion or will. We need not say that all the people of our thirty-one States constitute one nation.—If, then, there be a majority of this nation in favor of the extension and perpetuity of slavery, while it remains one nation, its opposing principle must, as a natural sequence, be overcome and rejected—for in such case it can have no fixed basis in the popular sentiment. The parchment upon which human rights are inscribed, may, indeed, remain; but without vitality and spirit, it may be worthless.

We are of that class of politicians who hold to the theory of self-government, although it is said to be an experiment not yet fully tested by time: of course, we repudiate its antagonism, slavery, and may the period be far distant when the North shall come to a different conclusion;—for when freedom shall lose its strong hold upon the public mind, self-government would be but an unmeaning name. Demagogues may, for a time, succeed in their selfish designs—they may even infuse their poisonous ingredients in the fountain-springs of freedom, but while the great body of our virtuous and enlightened people shall remain sound, we shall have an abiding faith in our free institutions. Still it is true that the "price of liberty is eternal vigilance;" it is certainly true that a contest is approaching, which will put to the test the firmness and the integrity of northern freemen; the shock may be violent, and may shake the Union to its centre. But animated with that invincible spirit which achieved our national independence, the many millions that now spread over our free states have but to will that liberty shall live, and her foes would be scattered like autumnal leaves before the northern blasts.

T.

KILLED BY THE FALLING OF A TREE.—Mr. William Puffet, a resident of Irasburgh, Vt., was instantly killed by the falling of a tree, which fractured his skull. Mr. Puffet was 70 years old, an Englishman by birth, and was a soldier under Wellington in the war of the Peninsular and at the battle of Waterloo.

☞ The "milk of human kindness" is said to contain no chalk.

THE GARDINER SUICIDE.

We have already given information of the sentence of Dr. George A. Gardiner to ten years' imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary of the District of Columbia, upon a verdict of the jury of guilty of forgery, in the matter of that magnificent Mexican claim, upon which he recovered from the treasury of the United States the sum of four hundred and twenty-seven thousand and some hundred and odd dollars.

We have also very briefly mentioned that the fatal and terrible finale of his case followed close upon the Judge's sentence, for the criminal was found dead in his cell a few hours after, supposed the result of poison, retained about his person to meet the contingency. Thus ends the career of a young man, intelligent, educated, and capable, under good counsels, of high and honorable achievements.

Advices from Washington mention, that on Sunday afternoon his funeral was attended by a small number of personal friends. His brother Charles was present, thus relieving the impression that he had absconded. The suicide and its attendant circumstances form the chief subject of conversation, and the city is full of probable and improbable rumors in relation to the matter. There is much curiosity to learn the contents of the letter written by the doctor and handed to his brother just previous to his death. It is said that the letter will be produced at the inquest on Friday next, at which time it is said that Charles Gardiner will be before the Coroner's jury.

NONSENSE REBUKED BY COMMON SENSE.—The following sentiments are from two different natures, though both of one sex:

Marriage is to woman a state of slavery.—It takes from her the right to her own property, and makes her submissive in all things to her husband.—Lucy Stone.

Marriage a state of slavery!—Aye, but the bonds are silken and easily worn. Marriage is the sanctifier of love—an institution which acknowledges the right of woman to be protected, and the duty of man to protect her.—The offices of wife and mother are not those of slaves. What higher destiny beneath the skies than to instruct the infant mind in thoughts of purity? What holier mission than to soothe the turbid torrent of man's passions by a word—a look—a smile? It is to woman that this work is given. Woman, in her vocation, may cheer the tired spirit, may lend hope to the desponding, may whisper love to the lonely—while man may toil, and traffic, and fuss, and fret, and grow savage. Who would exchange places with him?—Ella Wentworth's Journal.

SINGULAR MISREPRESENTATION OF ABOLITIONISTS.—A paragraph has been floating through the papers containing an account of the burning of a negro man near the city of Natchez. According to that, the negro was burnt alive, as a punishment for striking his master, amidst the plaudits of a white mob, and with the sanction and approval of the ministers of the Church of God, and four thousand slaves were collected to witness the scene. The article was said to have originated in the Natchez Free Trader, which paper says the story never appeared in its columns, and that it is an "entire fabrication."—Boston Courier.

We are very glad to learn that this horrible story is false; and now the public would like to know who made the falsehood. Can any one tell in what paper it first appeared?

OUGHT DOGS TO BE MUZZLED?—Several cases of hydrophobia have recently been caused in this State, from the bite of dogs, and sometimes these curs are exceedingly troublesome when fatal results do not ensue. A few days since a young man in the south part of the city of Newburyport who had called upon a female friend, was returning home about midnight, and on the way was the residence of a butcher, whose premises are guarded during the night by an old and faithful dog. Now "Major" is a very discriminating animal, and while on duty never troubles any one unless signs of roguery are manifest. On this occasion, on hearing footsteps, the dog walked leisurely from his encampment into the street, and on being observed by the gentleman, the latter, instead of "pursuing the even tenor of his way like an honest man, as he was, unfortunately took to his heels, endeavoring thus to elude his expected pursuer.

Upon this indication of wrong, "Major" at once swiftly followed, and the gentleman, no doubt thinking that discretion was the better part of valor, resorted to a high fence for safety. It was a bitter cold night, and the dog not willing to be cheated in this manner, for three long hours kept our hero in this perilous situation. In vain he called to the nearest neighbors, for the houses in that portion of the city are few and far between. To cap the climax of his misery, he took off his overcoat and threw it at the dog, intending to cover him over with it, and then jump upon and strangle him, but the dog eluded it, and our friend, like David Copperfield's mother, progressed slowly. At the end of three hours, "Major," who is quite an aged dog and unused to be deprived of his rest for so long a period, fell asleep. Taking advantage of this opportunity, the gentleman dismounted on the opposite side, and made his way home on his hands and knees across the fields—a colder, if not a wiser man than before. If such adventures often occur, the young ladies will be interested to have the dog law enforced.—Newburyport Herald.

BREAD.—The prices of breadstuffs will probably be at lower figures in a few weeks. All the Western farmers have pressed their grain to the points for exportation as soon as the spring shall open, and never before were the storehouses so full. A few warm days to clear the lakes, rivers and canals, and the abundance of the west will pour upon us.—Newburyport Herald.

PORTSMOUTH AND CONCORD R. R.

Messrs. Editors:—I was much pleased to see in a late paper, a paragraph calling the attention of the citizens of Portsmouth, to the importance of this road to the prosperity of the city, in supplying fire wood to the inhabitants, by which ten or twelve thousand dollars has been put into the pockets of the consumers; and also in furnishing our ship yards with timber, thereby aiding and sustaining a very important branch of business of great value to the city. Other benefits also accrue from the road, promoting the prosperity of the city and vicinity, particularly the carrying out of merchandise from this port.

It is a well known fact that the road was mainly built and the enterprise carried through, by the valuable class of men who have more enterprise and public spirit than money, and who have not the means to do what the road needs, viz. make a further expenditure to put the road in full blast. The question is, what shall be done? Shall these men, many of whom have put into the road the last dollar they can spare—shall they be sacrificed and stripped of their hard earnings invested in this enterprise? I believe every good citizen, if he will look into the business and understand facts, would say No.

Allow me to say, Messrs. Editors, I do not own one dollar in the road; but I would give them prompt aid, by a loan of City Credit for $150,000, on good security. I may be told our city is too conservative to do it. I have taken some pains of late to ascertain the opinions of many of our most active and valuable men, and I can state that they express a desire to aid the road in any practicable way. Now it is no new thing for towns and cities to aid Railroads when they contribute to their welfare. It is done by many cities, our neighbors, and I have never heard of any losses by it, but on the contrary great benefits. If we continue too conservative in our views and practices in our city, we shall continue to be, as we have been of late years, "a city to emigrate from." I take this to be a fixed fact. Would our ancestors (if they had been so conservative) have been so bold as to introduce this new principle into the family of men; to tax the rich man to educate the poor man's children! Yet New England and the whole family of nations have been and will be blessed by this noble act—the rich as well as the poor; they taught us this great truth, that money and riches did not make character, nor did notoriety give us solid reputation, or extravagance place us in the ranks of gentility.

PHRENOLOGY AND PHYSIOLOGY.

Dr. C. R. Broadbent, of Providence, R. I., will give a free Lecture on Phrenology and Physiology this evening at the Cameneum, beginning at half past 7 o'clock. This lecture is to be followed by three other lectures, at 12 1-2 cts. each.

One will be on Wednesday evening, and will treat of Love, Courtship and Married Life.

A third lecture will be given at the same place on Thursday afternoon, to Ladies only, at half-past 2 o'clock.

And the fourth and last, will be a lecture to Gentlemen only, on Friday Evening.

Each lecture will be closed with a public examination of heads, and experiments in Biology and Mesmerism.

Dr. Broadbent has rooms at the Franklin House, where he can be consulted on medical subjects.

The Manchester Mirror, of Feb. 18. says;

Dr. Broadbent extracted eleven teeth for L. H. Whitney, yesterday, and so little pain and trouble resulted from it that he wishes us to state the fact. He went to the Doctor's room at the City Hotel, out of curiosity, as he had heretofore suffered so much from the extraction of a single tooth. The Doctor by simply rubbing his finger over the jaw paralyzed it, so that he scarcely felt the cutting of the gums, and ten teeth were taken out at one sitting, without much pain. He says that his mouth is but little sore to-day.

☞ The examination of the High School for Boys, under the care of Mr. Payson, took place on Monday. It was well attended by ladies and gentlemen, who, as well as the committee, were highly gratified with the appearance and progress of the school.

☞ We are informed that John P. Hale will speak This Evening at the Temple, to the ladies and gentlemen of Portsmouth, on the Nebraska bill, and the other party issues of the day. The meeting is called at seven o'clock, and all are invited to attend, by the Free Democratic Committee, under whose auspices the meeting will be held.

LOTTERIES.—There seems to be a great inclination among the people, of late, to try their luck in lottery gambling. Even those conservators of the people's morals, the printers, have been engaging in the business. For a few years back, it has been deemed advisable to fix upon a price for printing our City Accounts, and then award the job by lot, to some one office—rather than to have the price cut down below paying rates, by competition. We believe the Journal drew the prize the first two years, the Messenger the next two, and the Gazette holds it the current year.

MORTALITY IN PORTSMOUTH.—The number of deaths in this city, during the month of February, was twelve, viz.: Males seven—aged 4 years, 7, 50, 64, 68, 70, 76; Females five—aged 1 month, 2 years, 2, 14, 31.

SUIT TO RECOVER A WIFE.—On Friday, a remarkable case came up before Judge Bigelow of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. A writ of habeas corpus has been issued on the petition of one Parton, of Lynn, a young man of twenty years, to obtain the custody of his wife, Sarah E. Parton, who since her marriage has been kept from him by her mother, in whose custody she has since that time remained. It appears that the girl is but thirteen years of age, but was married by the regular legal forms, a Justice of the Peace officiating, though without the consent of her mother. The girl appeared in Court Friday morning, when the case was postponed until Saturday, and the girl ordered into the custody of the Lynn officers until the hearing.—She desires to go with her husband, but the mother seems to be much opposed to it.

TWO DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, March 5.

The steamer Nashville, from Havre via Southampton, brings London dates to February 15, having left Cowes on the 16th. She went ashore this morning in Egg Harbor, having mistook Barnagat for Fire Island light. She brings 35 passengers.

Off Portsmouth, England, the Nashville passed through the English fleet, about to sail for the seat of war.

The steamer Great Britain, from Australia, brought over 164,000 ounces of gold on freight.

The commercial and monetary news by the Nashville announces a lower price in breadstuffs, and that the fluctuations in the British consols ended on the 15th ult. with a very slight shade of decline from the previous quotations.

WARLIKE MOVEMENTS.—The preparations in England for the Eastern war are still active. It is stated that in addition to the steamers already taken, the Admiralty had decided to take the remainder of the Cunard steamers, as fast as they arrive, leaving the company to carry the mails in smaller steamers. Many East India sailing ships have also been taken by the Admiralty to carry stores, troops, &c.

At all the naval stations the preparations are on a stupendous scale. The Baltic fleet, of 36 ships, chiefly of the line, and powerful steam frigates, was to assemble in the Downs on the 6th of March, where it would be joined by ten French vessels of the line, of from 80 to 100 guns each. The whole fleet, which was to be under the direction of Sir Charles Napier, was intended for operations against St. Petersburg.

The steamer Hecla had already left for the Baltic to make surveys and soundings.

Rumors of peace, however, were still in circulation.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says that fresh negotiations are on foot, and hopes are generally entertained that they would be successful. The new proposition said to be adopted by the Four Powers makes a concession to the Czar; namely, the liberty of treating, to a certain extent, alone with Turkey, the latter power to have the right of consultation with the allies. It is also proposed that the evacuation of the principalities shall take place simultaneously with that of the Black Sea, and that the fleets will re-enter the Bosphorus when the Russians cross the Pruth.

In the House of Lords, on the 14th, a long debate on the Eastern question took place, but nothing of importance was elicited.

In Paris, on the 14th, the French funds fell considerably, owing to unfavorable news from St. Petersburg.

The first battallion of the Coldstream Guards marched through London on the 14th, on their way to Chichester prior to their embarkation for the Mediterranean, and were received by the people with extraordinary demonstrations of enthusiasm.

The autograph letter of the Emperor Napoleon to the Czar of Russia proposes a treaty of peace on the basis of the Vienna note modified by Turkey, and that negotiations should take place direct between the Russian and Turkish Plenipotentiaries.

The French squadron under Admiral Bruat was to take on board 12,000 troops and to proceed to Toulon to join the English squadron awaiting them there and take on board 40,000 more troops, when both squadrons would sail for the Levant.

Nothing new has been received from Kalafat since our last advices.

The correspondent of the London Times states that the Russians were committing dreadful excesses on the peasants of Wallachia, who had refused to submit to the burdens imposed upon them. The women and children of three villages had been massacred.

Advices from Asia state that Schamyl was pushing forward his armament with great energy. Nearly all Abrasia had declared for him.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Express writes that—"When the Nebraska bill comes to the House, it will be referred to the Committee of the Whole, where it will remain probably until the 1st of August. It is now conceived that the President does not regard adhesion to the bill as a test of allegiance to the administration."

☞ A fire occurred in Spruce street, New York, on Sunday morning, destroying four large buildings used as printing offices, paper stores, &c.; loss over $300,000, insurance about $131,000. Harper & Bros. lost about $50,000 worth of stereotype plates, &c. The "Independent" newspaper printing office is among the destroyed.

The fire originated in the basement story of the building occupied by Burdick, Reed & Co., book binders and publishers,—the basement being used as a storage for rags. The light omitted at four o'clock, was so great as to illuminate the lower part of the city, and most of Brooklyn.

☞ The New York Market on Monday, the 6th, after the arrival of the steamer Nashville, reports Flour easier—sales 2700 brls; common to straight State $7 75 a 7 81; common to good Ohio 7 75 a 8; Southern heavy—sales 400 brls; mixed to good 7 87 a 8 18. Corn 3c lower—sales 17000 bu, varying from 85 to 88 cts. for white, yellow and mixed.—Provisions unchanged.

☞ By the steamer Nashville at New York, the Grain Market at Liverpool, Feb. 15, was reported thus:

Flour—indifferent; moved at about 1s per bri. decline. Corn—Freely offered at 2s per qr. lower.

THE HARTFORD CALAMITY.—By the evidence before the coroner's jury in the case of the late explosion at the car factory, it was shown that the accident was caused by carelessness. The boiler was a good one, but it was not supplied with water.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is not it is common and he's about its rulling some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I have heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making it a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853. I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many have cured cures of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several cases of yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last two years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for two years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were perfectly cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does; and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers have come to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.
I do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have as herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

THE STOLEN KEG.—The Liverpool Journal tells the story of a deaf and dumb man who stole a small keg, which he supposed contained butter. Being unable to force the keg open, he heated a poker red-hot, and commenced to bore a hole in the keg with it. The keg actually contained gunpowder, and immediately a fearful explosion took place, which blew the roof off the house, and injured more or less, all who were within at the time. Seven persons were so badly injured that it is thought they will not recover.

RECOVERY.—The young Kentuckian, Mr. Sullivan, who was badly injured several months since on a Mississippi steamer, while endeavoring to protect a poor woman from the insults of a gang of Irishmen, and who, it will be remembered, killed several of his assailants in the conflict, is said to have nearly recovered from his wounds, and has returned to his home in Marysville. He will be disfigured for life by the scars which he received in the conflict, and his generous courage has cost him months of dreadful suffering.

AGED PEOPLE.—In the section of Newburyport known as Belleville Parish, (between Artichoke river and Oakland street,) there have not been less than eleven persons over eighty years of age since 1839—and during this interval the number over eighty has varied from eleven to seventeen. The population in this section of the city, during this time, has been about 1000.—Herald.

LOSS OF PROPERTY BY FIRE.—The property destroyed by fire last year, in Baltimore, amounted to about one hundred thousand dollars; in Boston to two hundred and sixty-eight thousand dollars; in New York to nearly five millions of dollars. The annual number of fires causing material damage in Boston, is about two hundred and fifty.—N. Y. Courier.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

It it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late king of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United states, without a single failure, and many have said that they would not be without half it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linitment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green street, New York.

Dr. Tobias has put up a SMOKE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

R. H. EDDY,

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that region, where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Morning Chronicle.

WHAT IS THE HARDEST MODE TO DIE?—To be shot dead is one of the easiest modes of terminating life; yet, rapid as it is, the body has leisure to feel and reflect. On the first attempt by one of the frantic adherents of Spain to assassinate William, Prince of Orange, who took the lead in the revolt of the Netherlands, the ball passed through the bones of the face and brought him to the ground. In the instant that preceded stupefaction, he was able to frame the notion that the ceiling of the room had fallen and crushed him.

The cannon shot which plunged into the brain of Charles XII, did not prevent him from seizing his sword by the hilt. The idea of an attack, and the necessity for defence, was pressed on him by a blow which we should have supposed too tremendous to leave an interval for thought. But it by no means follows that the inflicting of fatal wounds is accomplished by a pang. From what is known of the first effect of gun-shot wounds, it is probable that the impression is rather stunning than acute. Unless death be immediate, the pain is as varied as the nature of the injuries, and these are past counting up

But there is nothing singular in the dying sensation, though Lord Byron remarked the physiological peculiarity that the expression is invariably that of languor; while in death from a stab, the countenance reflects the traits of natural character, of gentleness or ferocity, to the last breath.

Some of these cases are of interest, to show with what slight disturbance life may go under a mortal wound, till it finally comes to a sudden stop. A foot soldier at Waterloo, pierced by a musket ball, in the hip, begged water of a trooper who chanced to possess a canteen of beer. The wounded man drank, returned his heartiest thanks, mentioned that his regiment was nearly exterminated, and having proceeded a dozen yards on his way to the rear, fell to the earth, and with one convulsive movement of his limbs, concluded his career. "Yet," his voice," says the trooper, who himself tells the story, "gave scarcely the smallest sign of weakness."

Captain Basil Hall, who, in his early youth, was present at the battle of Corunna, has singled out, from the confusion which consigns to oblivion the woes and gallantry of war, another instance, extremely similar, which occurred on that occasion. An old officer, who was shot in the head, arrived pale and faint at the temporary hospital, and begged the surgeon to look at his wound, which was pronounced mortal. "Indeed, I feared so," he responded with impeded utterance, "and yet I should like very much to live a little longer, if it were possible." He laid his sword upon a stone at his side, "as gently," says Hall, "as if its steel had been turned to glass," and almost immediately sank dead upon the turf.—Quarterly Review.

THE POOR OF MASSACHUSETTS.—From the returns relating to the poor of this commonwealth for the year 1853, it appears that the number of persons relieved or supported as paupers during the year was 26,414, of whom 8,004 had a legal settlement within the state, and 14,831 were foreigners or residents of other states—"state paupers." Of this latter class 11,874 were foreigners, and 10,014 were Irishmen or Englishmen. The number of alms-houses in the state is 197, attached to which are 20 036 acres of land, the total value of the establishments being estimated at $1,307,124. The whole number of persons relieved in these alms-houses during the year was 12,241, at an average weekly cost of $1.10. Of these paupers, 6,365 were unable to work, and the estimated value of the labor of the remainder is $19,679. The average weekly cost of supporting paupers out of the alms-house was but 92 cents, being 18 cents less than for those in alms-houses. Relief or support was given to 722 insane persons and 371 idiots. The portion of paupers probably made so by intemperance is 16,034. The net expense of supporting or relieving all these persons was $465,599. Of the paupers, 2,630 were children under 14 years of age.

SHOOTING CHALLENGE EXTRAORDINARY.—John Travis, professor of the pistol, in New Orleans, has accepted the following remarkable challenge from Mr. Bertin L. Rhodes: "Rhodes bets Travis $1,000 to $800 that he cannot, within ninety days, produce a living man, who standing thirty-six feet from the said Travis, will allow him to shoot with a pistol (off hand) an apple placed on the said living man's head—the apple not to exceed four inches in circumference. The said Travis is to have three shots at the apple, and must hit the apple once to win the match. If he does not hit the apple, or if he hits the man, Rhodes wins. The match is to come off within ninety days, and within five miles of the city of New Orleans." We have every confidence in John's ability, but we should like to catch him trying to hit an apple on our head! However, he will win the match "sure!" see if he don't!—N. Y. Spirit of the Times.

QUICK WORK AND LONG SENTENCE.—Rowland A. Smith, the baggage master who was recently arrested at New Haven, on a charge of robbing the mail, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to twenty years imprisonment in the State prison. It was reported that he had been engaged in his nefarious business for several months, and has probably abstracted from the mails upwards of one hundred thousand dollars. The prisoner was captured, tried, convicted and sentenced within the space of one week. Smith was very much affected, and shed tears during the proceedings. The sentence might have been extended to fifty-one years on the four indictments.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1854.

NEBRASKA AND MISSOURI.

The Nebraska bill was passed to be engrossed Friday night last, by a vote of 28 to 12—21 Senators not being present or not voting—the session being continued through the night, at 5 o'clock the final vote was taken, 37 Senators voting yea, and 14 nay—10 Senators not voting.

In the U. S. Senate, February, 1820, upon the bill admitting Maine into the Union, a clause was added for the admission of Missouri, when Mr. Roberts of Pennsylvania, moved an amendment, prohibiting the further introduction of slavery into Missouri, which after a fortnight's debate was defeated by 27 nays to 16 yeas. The bill was afterwards passed by the Senate, by a test vote of 24 yeas to 20 nays, and non-concurred in by the House. A committee of compromise on the part of the Senate and House was afterwards appointed, and by the secession of the Northern members, who "gave way," as Randolph said, the bill became a law.

What may be the fate of the present Nebraska bill in the House, it is at present difficult to determine. Should the opposition to it have sufficient numerical strength to refer it to a committee of the whole, it would there remain, probably, many weeks, under discussion, and finally be defeated. Should it not be so referred, it would be liable, at any day, under a call for the previous question, to be passed by the power of a party vote. The Southern States have some advantage in carrying the measure, as they are entitled to 23 Representatives in virtue of their slave property. But still the free States have 54 majority in the House. We may soon learn the result of the most momentous and grave question that ever was brought before our national Legislature. In the mean time we are not among the anxious lookers on; we have no favor for slavery in any form, nor in any place; but expect to see it triumph again in the passage of the bill through the House.—We have seen so many such things that they have lost their novelty, and most of their interest, except that of pity for a freeborn man who makes a burnt offering of his own conscience on the altar of ambition and oppression.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COURTS.

Messrs. Editors:—I feel very much gratified to learn, as I do from your remarks on Saturday, that the public attention is turned to a subject that has for a long time dwelt with weight on my own mind. While every branch of business and the means of facilitating it, is going on and increasing with railroad speed, must it be, of necessity, or is it caused by our own folly, that our jury trials are done away with, our laws more mystified, and clouds of thicker darkness are gathering every year over our courts of law? Can it be answered why law should become more intricate, and so far out of sight and out of reach of our common men in business transactions, and justice become so obscure that business men are not capable of judging what is right and just? Is it really true that common business transactions cannot be decided by twelve persons, drawn from the best of our citizens for that purpose, with the aid of a judge to lay open the law before them; and all this attended with great expense to both parties? I ask why we must go through all this farce and sham of a mock trial, if every case can be carried, at the pleasure of either party, up to a court of four men, whose business it is to read books, hear witnesses or what has been testified to in their absence, and judge on cases as they may come before them, or put them off at pleasure, or convenience, or otherwise! Let me ask if we are any more likely to arrive at justice by this course, and whether this Court possesses a power of discernment that other men have not. If so, then why do they differ, and defer and put off cases that the parties need to have decided at once. Is this the business for which the State pays a large salary? Let me cite to you one case, the P. & C. Railroad, where much anxiety and interest are suspended in this court, and property sacrificed and the parties made to suffer by such delay; and let me ask why all this delay? Is it not the people's own folly, after all? Is it not time that this great evil should be done away with, an evil that is far worse than an immediate judgment, right or wrong.

I would recommend to the people of this State, so to instruct their representatives to the next legislature, that this evil be remedied in some way or by some means that may be deemed most expedient. At any rate, it ought to be so amended that a short time only shall be allowed to this court to change the judgment of any jury, or return it to its former position without the additional expense of a new trial until after judgment is allowed.

MERCATOR.

The Baptist Church in Greenville Parish, Norwich, Ct., was entirely destroyed by fire Sunday morning, 25th ult.

"The Little Giant" was quite severe in his closing argument on the Nebraska bill, on Saturday morning. Senators Sumner, Chase, Wade and others were handled in the roughest manner. Speaking of the new Senator from Maine, Judge Douglas declared that the first he ever heard of Mr. Fessenden he read in a Maine paper some years ago, that on the fifth of July—the day upon which the negroes celebrate the Fourth in that state—the negro chairman proposed the following toast—"Our wordy brudder, William Pitt Fessenden—A white man with a black heart."—Boston Cour.

Quite likely it may be, that Mr. Douglas's first knowledge of Mr. Fessenden came in such a way as he describes in his witticism. We should probably laugh at such a joke, and would then turn, not to its author, the fictitious black man, but to its retailer, the real white man, Mr. Douglas, and ask him of what color he supposes that man's heart to be, who knowingly and wilfully does an act designed and fitted to make any class of human beings less happy, or to prolong and extend a system which is admitted to be oppressive and wrong by the better and larger portion of those who partake in it, and live under it?

We do not confess the indulgence of any fears as to the ultimate result of such measures as that which Mr. Douglas supports by the above cogent argument (?)—but we cannot have great respect for any persons who seem or pretend to worship a divinity so debased as slavery, while they sneer at and affect to despise any attachment to liberty, or any disposition to succor or befriend the oppressed.

Senator Douglas is doubtless a nice young man, and Uncle Toby read his speech with both pleasure and pain: pleasure, because he evinced so much tact and talent as a debater: pain, because he exhibited so little soul as a man. It is gratifying therefore to the old man's feelings, that our young New Hampshire President does not endorse the bill, as we read, that on Friday last, "the leading organ of the administration changed its tactics on the Nebraska question, and declared that neither the support nor the opposition of the bill would be regarded as either a test of democracy, or antagonistic to the government."

THE "HALLALUJAH."—Mr. Lowell Mason, the eminent composer of psalmody, is preparing a new book of Church Music, to be called The Hallelujah. Mr. Mason has not brought out any book (except his Musical Letters,) of which he was the sole author, since the publication of Carmina Sacra in 1841.—Over three hundred and fifty thousand copies of Carmina Sacra have been sold, and it has been highly valued and extensively used. The new book is now nearly completed. Mr. Mason has for several years devoted most of his time to its preparation, during which he has spent eighteen months in Europe, under auspicious circumstances. It is understood that The Hallelujah will not follow in the beaten track of its predecessors, but that it will be new in something more than the name.

☞ The Westminster Review for January, 1852, is just received from the publishers, Leonard Scott & Co. of New York. It contains the following articles:—1, Constitutional Reform; 2, Propertius and his Contemporaries; 3, English Religion: its Origin and Present Types; 4, Science at Sea; 5, Strikes and "Lock-outs"; 6, Arnold's Poems; 7, Life and Doctrine of Geoffroy St. Hilaire; 8, England's Foreign Policy; 9, Contemporary Literature.

One of these articles, English Religion, is to us, an essay of great interest and value; and is written with great apparent fairness.

☞ The New York Monthly, No. 2, for March, is just received from Federhen & Co. Boston, via Morse of this city.

This new monthly is made up of articles at once interesting and cheerful. The present number contains Canto I. of the Lay of the Last Minstrel, beautifully illustrated;—and twenty other articles, besides Everybody's Table, dished up by the editor.

We have also received Putnam's Monthly for March, from the same sources.

MISPLACEMENT OF A LETTER.—The Paris Moniteur, in announcing the presentation of Hon. John Y. Mason, the American Minister, makes one of the most ridiculous mistakes in English ever yet committed in France. It takes the Y which stands for Mr. Mason's middle name, makes a small y of it, and tacks it on to the end of John, thus: "Johnny Mason was presented yesterday."

Probably this was the first time that Johnny ever figured in a State paper or an official organ.

SLOW TRAVELLING.—The Worcester Spy says that the train of cars which left White River Junction at 6 o'clock on Monday morning, and which should have arrived at Worcester at half past 2 o'clock the same day, did not reach that place until half past 9 o'clock on Thursday last week—the cars having been detained by the snow and ice which had accumulated on the track during the storm on Sunday. Between Cannaan and West Andover, N. H., the cars made but four miles a day.

SONS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE IN LOWELL.—The Committee of the Sons of New Hampshire, resident at Lowell, had an adjourned meeting on the evening of March 2d, Nathan Crosby presiding, and rescinded the vote for having a festival March 15. They unanimously adopted a resolution recommending to the Sons of New Hampshire, resident in Lowell, to unite in a social festival, at such time in the autumn of the current year as may be hereafter decided upon.

MUSICAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Messrs. Editors Chronicle:—A few days ago I found at my house Mr. Meinerth's subscription Card for his proposed series of four concerts, on which was written, "Mr. Clark: two free Tickets." Considering Mr. Meinerth's conduct towards musicians and the musical public in this community, during his residence here, I deemed the proffering of these tickets an insult. And as this was not the first time I have felt myself insulted by his acts, I felt it my duty to make known to him what my feelings were in regard to his course, and after due deliberation I sent the following note:

Portsmouth, March 6th, 1854.

MR. MEINERTH—Sir:—I have received the circular for your proposed series of four "Musical Soirees," proffering me two free Tickets to attend the course.

In view of the dishonorable and very ungentlemanly course which you have seen fit to pursue in this place the past few years, I decline accepting any such token of your regard.

J. W. CLARK.

The above Mr. Meinerth replied to as follows:

March 6th, 1854.

JAMES W. CLARK—Sir:—Your Note of to-day came to my hands, and was read.

You will give me within forty-eight hours from now, two o'clock P. M., satisfactory explanation, either by speech or letter, what you mean by "Dishonorable and very ungentlemanly conduct pursued in this place the past few years," as contained in your letter.

If not—no matter to me; I will get it.

CARL M. MEINERTH.

By the following rejoinder, Mr. Meinerth will probably understand what I mean in my first note:—

MR. MEINERTH—Sir:—Your note of March 6th, is received. You desire me to give you within forty-eight hours, satisfactory explanation of what I mean by "Dishonorable and very ungentlemanly conduct, &c." You also subjoin that you "will get it."

Now, sir, allow me to say that I consider you very far beneath the quality of a gentleman, and unworthy of my notice in any manner; but as there are men of wealth and probity here, who have given you their influence and support, and who do not know you as well as I do, I have decided to state a few facts, which I am prepared to substantiate.

You have written articles, mean, and derogatory to the character of musical ladies and gentlemen here in Portsmouth, and then would dare to attempt to lie yourself out of it.

Send me no more of your notes: let me hear no more from you in any manner. I despise you, on account of your conduct in this place. You understand me now, of course.

J. W. CLARK.

On Tuesday morning, I received the following anonymous note through the post office:

"How many glasses brandy had you taken when you wrote that note to Mr. M? I hope you will pay dear for it. Poor, miserable little fool!"

Did the above emanate from Mr. M. himself, or from some particular friend, to whom he had mentioned or shown my note? And can such a note possibly benefit Mr. M.'s cause or injure me? J. W. CLARK.

THE NORTH CHURCH.—We have, in common as we suppose with all our citizens, a regard, and almost a veneration for the the Old North Steeple on Market Square; and we had some of the same kind of regard for the Old North Meeting House, as it was, with its two full galleries, its three tiers of windows, its lofty pulpit with rich drapery, and its elegant brass chandelier.

But all these things are of the past. The remodeled house never seemed to be the old one, neither was it new. It was a temporary expedient, perhaps the best that could be made in the circumstances of that day.—Fourteen years of wear have not worn out what was then new: but increased numbers, more wealth, and superior taste and style call for a change.

We have seen a vision on paper of the new house that is to be reared during the coming season on the site of the old. It is to be built of brick in a substantial manner; to be 91 feet long including some projections, and 66 feet wide; and is to be ornamented with a tower and steeple 170 feet high.

The organ, bell and clocks, will be the same. The dials of the city clock on the new tower are to be four in number; and as they are to be elevated about 30 feet above the height of the present dials, they will be visible from every direction, and for considerable distances.

If built according to the plan, the new house will be ornamental to the square and city, and creditable to the taste and public spirit of its builders.

HECTORS' MUSICAL COMPANY.—We perceive that Mr. J. R. Hector, the justly celebrated bass singer, and his troupe, (a fine quartette,) are giving Concerts in Newburyport and Portland. We hope they will favor us with a Concert.

A HERD OF SWINE.—A Rye Farmer informs us that a neighbor, Mr. Sam'l M. Rand, one day this week, found himself the owner of sixteen juvenile hogs, usually called pigs, all in one litter. Six of the youngsters, however, finding the climate not to agree with them, did not tarry a great while, but the other ten were alive and kicking at the last accounts.

SECOND LECTURE.

Dr. Broadbent will deliver his second lecture in the Cameneum this evening at half-past 7 o'clock,—to Ladies and Gentlemen, on Love, Courtship, and the Marriage Relation. The subjects will be considered in the light of Phrenological and Physiological Science. At the close, there will be a public examination of heads, and other interesting experiments. Tickets 12 1-2 cts.

☞ Dr. Broadbent, as we heard him last evening, was a pleasant lecturer, with a good voice and easy manner, introducing his course of lectures very neatly—but his audience was greatly thinned by the general rush to hear Mr. Hale. The Doctor lectures again this evening.

☞ Hon. John P. Hale's Lecture at the Temple on Tuesday evening, was fully attended by citizens generally; many with their families. The meeting, by request of the Mayor, was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Moore: after which Mr. Hale proceeded to examine the Nebraska bill and the arguments of its advocates, criticising all our great men pretty severely. After Mr. Hale had concluded, a series of resolutions were offered and adopted.

GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL.—The examination of the Girls' High School, took place yesterday, in the presence of a very large number of spectators. The examination of the scholars as to their proficiency in their various studies was exceedingly thorough, continuing from 9 A. M., with but a slight intermission at noon, until 6 1-2 P. M. The attendance of scholars was larger than at any previous examination. Remarks were made by School Commissioner Hoyt, Mayor Walker, Rev. Messrs. Peabody, Armitage and others, all of whom spoke in the highest terms of the school and of the apparent progress made by the scholars.

☞ We learn that Mr. Littlefield, teacher of the Haven School in this city, has resigned his charge.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, March 6.

HOUSE.—In the House, to-day, Mr. Appleton presented the resolutions of the Massachusetts Legislature in favor of cheap ocean postage.

The House then went into Committee on the Homestead bill.

Mr. Fuller presented the resolutions of the Maine Legislature in opposition to the clause in the Nebraska bill repealing the Missouri Compromise.

Both sets of resolutions were laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Dean of New York moved a modification of the fourth section so as to include within the provision of the act all persons who may declare their intentions to become citizens after the passage of the bill. Rejected.

Several other amendments were also rejected. The bill was then reported to the House, when

Mr. Goode of Virginia moved to lay it on the table. Negatived, 60 to 124.

The question was then taken on the first amendment, restricting the benefits to free white persons, and adopted by a vote of 101 to 78. The bill was then read and finally passed—yeas 107; nays 72. Among the nays are Messrs. Appleton, Davis, (R. I.) DeWitt, Edmands, Fuller, Benson, Belcher, Crocker, Hibbard, Kittredge, Meacham, Morrison, Pratt, Sabine, Seymour, Tracey and Upham.

Mr. Perkins of Louisiana offered a resolution instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to inquire into the propriety of directing judicial proceedings for the recovery of the money paid out of the Treasury to any person under the Gardiner claim. Adopted, by authorizing the committee to send for persons and papers. Passed. The House then adjourned.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ALPS.

The steamer Alps, from Liverpool Feb. 19, arrived at Boston on Tuesday morning, bringing the European mails.

The preparations for war are still going forward on the grandest scale. The fleet for the Baltic is to consist of 30 vessels, comprising 15 ships of the line, 4 regular screw steamers, and 11 heavy frigates, with a total of 1810 guns. Among the number are five three-deckers, (two of them screw propellers) carrying from 100 to 130 guns, five ninety guns, three eighties, two seventies and four sixties. Twenty-three out of thirty vessels are also provided with auxiliary steam power. The apprehensions with regard to obtaining crews have moreover been fully cleared up. Volunteers are coming forward in all directions, and the same spirit is also observable in the army.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.—The letter of Louis Napoleon to the Emperor of Russia had given rise to considerable discussion. Its expediency had been canvassed and the answer was awaited with great anxiety. There were reports in Paris that the proffered olive branch had been rejected, and although nothing of a positive character had transpired, yet the tenor of the advices from St. Petersburg and the fact of the publication of the letter in the French newspapers lead to the belief that the French government has received a telegraphic intimation of an unfavorable reply.

The movements among the Greek population of Turkey were causing considerable uneasiness. We have already mentioned the discovery of an extensive Greek conspiracy. It now appears, that disturbances have actually occurred in Albania, one of the Turkish dependencies.

No important movements have taken place in the Black Sea. The London Times says: "There is every reason to believe that the Russian fleet has been withdrawn from the navigation of the Black Sea, on the ground that it is accustomed to pass the dangerous months of January, February, and a part of March in harbor: the chance of a maritime collision has, therefore, diminished for the present, as none occurred on the first appearance of the combined squadrons beyond Bosphorus.

FRANCE.—The Minister of War has decided in order to relieve the industrious population as much as possible, that the married men of the conscription of 1851, lately called into active service by an imperial decree, may remain at home for the present, if they have not the means of procuring substitutes. The same exemption is granted to married men of the conscription of 1852, who have not yet joined their regiments.

The Chronicle's correspondent telegraphs from Constantinople on the 7th, that seven English and four French steamers went on the 6th into the Black Sea, convoying eight Turkish steamers and ten sailing vessels, with 7000 troops, and ammunition to Batoum.

One English and one French steamer had gone to Yarna.

LIVERPOOL CORN MARKET, Feb. 18.—Flour offered 6d per bbl lower, but this reduction not sufficient to meet the views of customers.

A GOOD IDEA.—Mr. H. S. Thompson of Newburyport, the popular singer and composer, with his "Carolers," a company of Ethiopian performers who gave an entertainment in this city last year, have just completed a hall in Newburyport, in which they are to give occasional concerts. The hall is finely fitted and will accommodate 500 persons. A good singing club here, conducted aright, would be a fine thing for the members and the public.

The Boston Daily Bee has been enlarged, and is beautifully printed with new type on clear paper, and with other improvements. The price of the paper has been raised from one cent to two cents per single copy. The proprietors, in view of the present cost of printing materials, labor, &c., certainly cannot afford to print so good a paper for a less sum.

The six New York policemen who were charged with refusing to wear the uniform appointed for such officers, have been disposed of by the Commissioners of Police, since the decision of Judge Roosevelt. Four have been dismissed, and two have resigned.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle taken, and a cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where there is a sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call and doing well; I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that without trouble every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this and other distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fever two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to cleise the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen the roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

The Unitarians of Boston are raising $50,000, to purchase and circulate the works of that denomination. At a late meeting, a report of a committee having the matter in charge, was read, which recommended that this be made a missionary work, and complained that they could hardly raise young men enough to keep their views from dying out among themselves; but wished to send abroad the thoughts of Channing, Ware, Peabody, and others. Dr. Huntington thought the works circulated should set forth clearly the incarnation of God in Christ; the necessity of regeneration; not a fixed limitation to future punishment; and various other points, and especially apply these truths to the great sins of the day, such as intemperance, slavery, &c. The character of the publications excited discussion, and was left to the committee.

VOICE OF A DEMOCRAT OF 1820 AND 1854.—Hon. Marcus Morton, of Massachusetts, was a Member of Congress at the time of the Missouri Compromise, and was one of the northern men who fairly represented their constituents by voting against the admission of Missouri, even with the interdict against slavery in the remainder of the territory. He is now strongly opposed to the bill which proposes to repeal that law, and in a recent conversation remarked, that in 1820 that man's life would have been in danger in Washington who should have dared to intimate that the South would ever disregard its plighted faith in the manner now proposed.—New York Evening Post.

A rich man once asked the poet Sadi why the learned were so often seen at the doors of the wealthy, while the wealthy were never seen entering the portals of the learned. "It is," said Sadi, "because learned men know the value of riches, but the rich are ignorant of the value of knowledge."

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 State Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber, late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837, determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS instead of twenty, as paid back by others, will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KNOWN REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

THE GREAT HORSE RACE.

Great curiosity has been excited, and many inquiries have been made in relation to "The Great Post State Stake," which will be ran for in New Orleans, over the Metairie Course, on the first day of April next. This race will, without doubt, be the greatest sporting event which has ever taken place in this country, and it has probably never been exceeded in magnitude by any single race throughout the world. Strange as it may appear to some minds, mankind from the earliest ages have always viewed with great favor all magnificent displays in which large amounts of money, mind, skill, strength, danger or experience were necessarily involved. In the State and national pride enlisted, in the amount of money at stake, in the number of horses, both in preparation and that will run in the race, and in the probable number of spectators who will be present, this anxiously looked for race will eclipse all others that have preceded it in this country.

The project of this "State Stake" originated with several gentlemen, from different sections of the country, who chanced to meet in New Orleans during the past race season.—Each was very "sweet" on the merits of the race horses in different parts of the country, and in his preference for favorite strains of pedigrees in blooded animals. "The Great State Stake," for $20,000, play or pay, with four States represented—Louisiana, Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi—was the result.

The following are the conditions of the Stake:

State Post Stake—For all ages. Four mile heats. Five Thousand Dollars subscription, p. p. Each horse starting in the race to receive One Thousand Dollars out of the Stake, provided he is not distanced, and the winner to receive the remainder. One horse only to start for any State.

As the horses which will run will not be certainly known until the day of the race, we can only guess which will have the honor of representing a sovereign State. There are now in training, in different parts of the country, nearly a hundred race horses, which are expected to be present during the April race meeting in New Orleans, and many of them are aspirants to run in the great stake.

Probably a million of dollars will be wagered on the different points and on the grand result of this race. Already large sums have been laid on different favorites, and on the election of other horses as candidates to represent a State. A bet has been offered in New Orleans of $10,000 that if the track and the weather are favorable on the day of the race, the time made will be faster than ever before made in the world. From the character and reputation of the horses in preparation, we think that the bet is a safe one.—Aside from the great stake, there will be many other stakes and purses contested for at our spring meeting. About $50,000 in cash will be put up during the meeting, for prizes, thus affording sport in variety and profusion, besides giving horses of all grades an opportunity of adding laurels to their reputation and money to the pockets of their owners.—N. O. Picayune.

BEARD.—Almost every newspaper we take up, has an article advocating the cultivation of this hirsute appendage to the masculine "human face divine." The following article we copy from Putnam's Monthly for March:

Now that the great "beard-question" is the question of the day in England, Mr. Alexander Rowland has published a work on The Human Hair, which is a complete and systematic treatise on the subject, anatomical, physiological, ethnological, and esthetic; giving not only accurate views of the structure and uses of hair, its diseases and history, but narratives of the fashions which have prevailed in regard to the wearing of it, both on the head and face. The author is a decided advocate of the beard and moustache, and looks upon it, as a kind of insult to the Creator, to apply the razor to the "human face divine." No man in the world, he argues, would shave himself, if he were not an arrant coward, afraid of the apparent singularity of the beard, and the world's dread laugh. In England, before the time of George the First, no full grown man ever thought of smoothing his chin, and then it was done in imitation of the practice of that monarch, who had some special reason for it,—perhaps an ugly beard, or a handsome mouth. A beard grows naturally on the face, and for some good and wise purpose, and ought no more to be removed than the hairs of the eyebrows or the head. Furthermore, adds our author:

"There is one certain fact I would mention with regard to beards. It is this. As a general rule, every man with a beard is a man of strongly marked individuality—frequently genius—has formed his own opinions—is straightforward—to a certain degree, frequently reckless—but will not fawn or cringe to any man. The very fact of his wearing a beard, in the face, as it were, of society, is a proof that his heart and conscience are above the paltry aid of a penny shave.

"If men would not shave from boyhood up, they would find their beards would be flowing, their moustaches light and airy, both adding a dignity to manhood and a venerableness to age, to which shorn humanity must be strangers.

"But the beard is not merely for ornament, it is for use. Nature never does any thing in vain; she is economical, and wastes nothing. She would never erect a bulwark were her domain unworthy of protection, or were there no enemy to invade it. I shall proceed to show that the beard is intended as a bulwark.

and designed for the protection of the health. The beard has a tendency to prevent diseases of the lungs by guarding their portals. The moustache particularly, as we have already seen, prevents the admission of particles of dust into the lungs, which are the fruitful cause of disease. It also forms a respirator more efficient than the cunning hand of man can fabricate. Man fashions his respirator of wire, curiously wrought; nature makes hers of hair placed where it belongs, and not requiring it to be put on like a muzzle. Diseases of the head and throat are also prevented by wearing the beard."

In this country, since the Mexican war, and California adventure, the beard is quite generally worn,—at least in the cities and large towns,—and we have no need of formal treatises to commend it to public favor. Besides, as every man among us does pretty much as he pleases, the fashion of wearing the hair is quite as infinitely varied as the tastes of the people.

ARGUS ON BREWSTER.

That excellent democratic paper, the Eastern Argus, published in Portland, under the head of "Remarkably Creamy," notices our friend Bickford Brewster's temperance letter, on this wise:

"H. B. Brewster, who proposes to publish a paper called the 'Liberal,' against the Maine Liquor Law, has written a letter to the Portsmouth Gazette, upon the workings of the aforesaid law, which, we suppose, is to be taken as a sample of what he intends to do editorially. We extract a few choice tit-bits:"

[These tit-bits are statements that 50 places exist in Bangor where liquor is sold by the glass on Sundays and all days,—and that 100 such places are open in Portland, day and night.]

The Argus then remarks:

"We shall have to get up a revolution at the coming election, and put in officers who wont permit such a state of things. Where in the world is the Mayor? And what is the City Marshal about? One hundred places open every day and night! This thing must be looked into.

P. S. It just occurs to us that the proposed 'Liberal' is to have a 'humorous' department, and perhaps these statements are mere specimens of what the editor will do in the funny line. In that case, our threat of revolution and manifestations of indignation go for nothing."

The reader will perceive that the Argus treats Br. B.'s statements as if Baron Munchausen had made them in the history of his adventures.

A Good-Notice.—At a late session of the Supreme Court of Vermont, in Franklin county, seven petitions for divorce were granted. Among them was that of Sarah A. Mott against Darwin Mott, formerly editor of the St Albans Democrat. The Rutland Herald gives the following biography of this worthy, which for pith is rarely equalled:

"We know that man—Darwin Mott. He came to St. Albans with a long face, a silver headed cane, and 'Rev.' prefixed to his name. He preached one faith a few months, and suddenly changed it. He preached and went hunting the same day. He preached on temperance (and the people were astonished at his stolen lectures and feigned honesty) and got drunk. He lectured to young ladies and played the adulterer. He kept a bad school—edited a reckless paper—stole money from his (borrowed) boy, and charged the theft upon the servant girl—got the office of Deputy Inspector—got drunk upon smuggled liquor—took one shirt, another man's wife, and a bundle of manuscript sermons, and ran away from his own wife, his paper, and a crowd of creditors.

A man with the same name, once preached to the First Universalist Church in Lynn; and left that place in a hurry. He was discovered by his association as a vicious man; and if, as we suspect, he is the same man above noticed, he has since gone on from bad to worse.

Gen. Houston Taking Tea in the Senate.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune, describing the debate in the United States Senate, on Saturday morning, among other incidents related, states that Gen. Houston excited some merriment by having cups of tea brought to him while he was speaking. The universal laughter was caused among the ladies in the galleries by his manner of pouring the tea from the cup into the saucer, and by his seizing the opportunity of occasional interruptions in his speech to quietly enjoy the beverage.

The General used to be a hard drinker of spirits; but for a number of years has been a teetotaler. His manner of pouring the tea, is very common; but the ladies thought it not the fashionable way in their circles. No matter; though he is not a very polished man, he may probably take his tea in the White House at some future day.

Father Gavazzi has been lecturing at Sheffield, where he defended American slavery as better than English servitude, and denounced Uncle Tom's Cabin as a mere romance.

Indeed Uncle Tom's Cabin is a romance; and so is Waverley; and so is Bleak House; —but truth is no weaker in a romance than in a sermon,—and satire in fiction may cut more keenly into the conscience, than the precept in the most didactic essay, or the threat in the gravest exhortation.

If we may believe the census, every fifth person in the United States owns a horse; and every tenth a dog.

CONGRESS.

Tuesday, March 7.

Senate.—In the Senate, Mr. Everett gave the reasons why he did not vote on the final passage of the Nebraska bill, which were unavoidable absence in consequence of ill-health and fatigue, and he asked the unanimous consent of the House to have his vote recorded against the bill.

Mr Clayton of Delaware, who offered a nearly similar excuse, desired to have his name recorded against the bill. Objections being made, both requests were withdrawn.

Mr. Fessenden was appointed on the committee on petitions, in the place of Mr. Seward, excused.

Several remonstrances against the passage of the Nebraska bill were presented.

A resolution was adopted requiring the Postmaster General to report the amounts paid the last three years to railroad companies for transporting the mails, &c.

The Homestead bill was then reported from the House, when Mr. Walker of Wisconsin moved its reference to the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. Cass desired, before the bill was referred to express his full concurrence in the great measure which it proposed, and his hope that the committee would report it speedily and seasonably.

After some further discussion the bill was referred and an executive session was held, when the Senate adjourned.

House.—The Senate bill granting land to Minnesota, to aid in the construction of a railroad in that state, was debated. The amount of land proposed to be granted is 600,000 acres. The length of the proposed road is 200 miles.

In the course of the discussion Mr. Lane of Indiana inquired whether 6,000 acres of public land have not been entered at the terminus of the road at Lake Superior. He had heard that one fourth of this land has been sold since the meeting of Congress, and further, that members of this House are interested in it.

Mr. Rice of Minnesota replied that not one foot of land in Minnesota had ever been advertised for sale. Whether any member of the House has been to that territory on such business, he did not know. There are not 6,000 acres of land at the terminus of the road subject to private entry. There are gentlemen there who claim, under one Jonathan Carver, fifteen million acres.

Mr. Washburn of Illinois desired to know whether the gentleman from Indiana made his assertion of his own knowledge.

Mr. Lane repeated what he had said, and asked who holds or claims the land in and about the terminus of the road.

Mr. Rice was unable to answer the question. He could say, however, that he owned none there, nor did he know of any other gentleman who did.

Mr. Land said he had been credibly informed by a gentleman from Minnesota that 6000 acres are held at and around the terminus of the road by gentlemen in Washington, and if gentlemen would call on him in a proper way he would furnish the information.—One fourth of the 6000 acres have been sold for $2800.

Several voices—"Name them—name them."

Mr. Lane said he would do so when applied to in a proper way. He had merely repeated the statement made to him from a credible source.

A further discussion ensued, during which Mr. Gerrit Smith opposed the bill, contending that the land belonged to the landless of all colors, and that the government had no right to dispose of in in that way.

Pending the debate the committee rose, and the House adjourned.

Very Sad.—A young man was sent to State Prison from Poughkeepsie a few days since. While his mother was getting into a wagon to bid adieu to her unhappy son, the horses started, and she was thrown to the ground and her back broken. She lived but a few hours afterwards.—Albany Journal.

Probably she would not regard death, in her circumstances, as a great calamity. We consider it a providential deliverance.

It was Gen. Fessenden of Maine, not Wm. P. Fessenden, that the negro complimented for having a white skin and a black heart.—Boston Post.

'Twas a nice compliment, any way, but the Post spoils the point of Mr. Douglas's hit.

Albany, March 7.—Navigation.—The propeller Dayton arrived at Oswego yesterday, from Toronto, with a cargo of 3500 barrels of flour. The ferryboats of the Hudson River Railroad have nearly created a passage across the Hudson River.

The Temperance bill passed to a third reading to-day in the Senate, by a vote of 17 to 10.

Salem, March 7.—George L. Newcomb, "Citizen's" candidate, was chosen Mayor by about 700 plurality. The following persons were elected Aldermen on the same ticket:—David Nichols, Benjamin Webb, William B. Parker, Eleazer Austin, John Masury, John D. Simmonds.

Hartford, March 7.—Fire.—The cotton mill in South Glastenbury, owned by the Hartford Manufacturing Company, Watkinson & Bartholomew agents, was destroyed by fire about one o'clock this morning. Loss about $40,000; insured for $20,000. About two hundred hands will be thrown out of work.

The Car Factory Explosion.—The jury investigating the cause of the late explosion examined ten witnesses to-day. The testimony is of much the same character as that heretofore given, showing that the engineer was habitually careless, and that at the time of the explosion the water was below the flues. The investigation will be concluded to-morrow.

The Swedish chamber of nobles have declared railroads to be "things unfit for Sweden."

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD.

Whatever balance may be wanted to build the contemplated railroad between Portsmouth and Dover, may be safely and easily raised as follows:

Let the City of Portsmouth lend her credit for a sum not exceeding $100,000 to the Eastern Railroad Company, they giving security on their Eastern Road for the same, at six per cent. interest, being the same as that company offer individuals.

In this way, time may be given, so that the earnings of the road may be amply sufficient to pay the Company from the income of the road, leaving an increase for the City, indirectly, of one hundred per cent. for their generosity and foresight.

If any reasonable objections can be raised against this plan, I should be willing to see and consider them, as I write for the general benefit of this city, and the increase of its trade and business. Mercator.

Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.—A gentleman, in conversing with us respecting the building of this road, said that, with the guarantee to the stock of 6 per cent. annually by the Eastern Road, and its exemption from taxes on individuals—making full 6 1-2 per cent. sure income, the stock ought to be all taken up immediately. Of course every trader in the city would be willing to pay $15 for the opening of such an avenue of business with the country; and the taking of five shares in the road would only be equivalent to this, at the worst—for this stock must be as valuable as that of the Portsmouth, Saco and Portland Road, which runs under a similar guarantee of the Eastern Road, and is worth at least $97 per share.

MUSICAL CORRESPONDENCE.

An Omission.—Messrs. Editors:—Having but a short time between one and two o'clock yesterday to prepare the matter which I sent to your office for publication, I find that you did not get the manuscript which contained all the facts that I intended to communicate. I now send you other statements which I had prepared and supposed would appear in your paper of yesterday, viz:

1st, That Mr. Meinerth has written and caused to be published false statements in regard to Music and Music Teachers of Portsmouth.

2d, That he has stated to one person certainly, that he thought I wrote the letter which was published in the "N. Y. Musical World & Times." This I consider scandalous; as I have tangible evidence that he has acknowledged that he wrote the letter himself. The 3d and last statement was published yesterday. J. W. Clark.

Portsmouth, March 8.

☞ An unknown correspondent, through the post-office, 'regrets that our columns should be so frequently occupied by what privately transpires between these irritable musicians.' To this friendly note, we answer, that such matter is not to our taste; that the controversy did not begin in our columns; and that its commencement, so far from being private, and between two musical characters, was a public attack of two or three columns in the Journal, made by a new teacher under his own name, on all the musical talent, taste and culture in this city, coupled with the very modest suggestion that all the people who had taught music here, for twenty years previous to his advent, were ignorant pretenders, while he was the true light to science, and the the only sure guide to music hereabouts.

The next step was a request from the same person, for us to defend his injured innocence against a forged letter, &c.—and step by step the matter has been led along till the present time. We hope it is now closed:—and suppose it to be so, unless some new light shall shine upon it.

LECTURE TO LADIES.

Dr. Broadbent will deliver a lecture to Ladies only, this afternoon at half past 2 o'clock, at the Cameneum, on the subjects of Physiology and Phrenology. He will also deliver a lecture to gentlemen this evening. The price of tickets is 12 1-2 cents.

Should the weather be stormy, the lecture will be postponed till to-morrow.

Dr. Broadbent will remain at the Franklin House until Monday, and can be consulted by all who wish, either on disease or character.

☞ We are desired to say the Lecture before the City Lyceum at the Cameneum, advertised this evening, by Rev. Mr. Moore, will be postponed till next Thursday evening.

Accident.—Last evening about seven o'clock, as Dr. N. L. Folsom of this city, was being conveyed to a patient out of town, the vehicle in which he was riding was upset in a gulley at the entrance of Vaughan street from Congress, breaking his leg and otherwise injuring him.

For Mayor.—The Free Democratic Committee have agreed to recommend, as the candidate of their party for Mayor at the approaching election, Brackett Hutchings, Esq. Their nomination is to be subjected to the approval or disapproval of the caucus of the party to be holden next Saturday evening.—Messenger.

KITTERY TOWN MEETING.

At the annual town meeting in Kittery, on the first Monday of this month, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Selectmen,—Benning Haley, Edward D. Safford and Rufus Remick; Town Agent, Daniel Peirce; Treasurer, Isaac D. Phillips; Collector, Benning Wilson; Superintending School Committee, Rev. Olmon Libbey.

As the Court question is now a matter of interest to York County, many of your readers here will be glad to hear that the following preamble and resolution were presented to the meeting an unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, there is, at this time, a proposition before the Legislature of Maine, to remove the Judicial Courts in York County, from Alfred to Biddeford or Saco, and whereas, we believe that this removal would subject this County to great expense and lasting inconvenience, therefore Resolved, That our Representative in the Legislature be instructed to resist, by all fair and honorable means, the passage of any law or laws to this effect." Yours,

Kittery, March 1854. Trim, Jr.

Improvements in Newburyport.—We learn that some improvements are contemplated at the Bartlett wharves, in Newburyport, which, if made, will very much advance that section of the city, and render that property, now almost worthless, of great value. At the head of the Bartlett wharf a pair of shears for the masting of large ships are to be erected. There are now none in the city, though very much needed. On the same wharf it is proposed immediately to establish a Flour Mill. In this enterprise is enlisted a gentleman of capital and ability, who will do the work, if he determines on it. Between the Johnson and Coombs wharves, the proprietors propose to fill up the dock, and build a ship yard. It is the best location for such an establishment on the Merrimac river, and would be an invaluable addition to the south part of the city. We hope that an extension of the Newburyport Railroad will be had before a twelve month, to these very wharves, that cordage may be conveyed to the ships using it, without truckage; grain and flour to and from the mill when in operation; and timber, plank, iron, &c., can be unladed from the cars into the yards where ships are building. A little public spirit only is wanted to open industrial avenues to twice the population we now have. There is capital enough for all the wants of the place, and it will be forthcoming when it is shown that the investments will be safe and profitable.—Herald.

IMPORTANT NEWS.

SANDY HOOK, March 7, 10 P. M.

The Collins Steamship Atlantic, Captain West, from Liverpool, on Wednesday, 22d ult., has arrived.

The Atlantic is aground off Sandy Hook, and is not likely to be got off to-night. The steam-tug Titan is alongside, and no fear is entertained of her safety.

The gale at Liverpool, reported by the Alps, has entailed no casualties on American shipping, except of trivial importance.

The Moniteur announces that the Czar of Russia's letter from St. Petersburg arrived in Paris on the 18th of February, and that the Emperor Nicholas does not accept the proposal for arrangements which was presented to him; and adds that this reply leaves no chance of a pacific solution.

Troops were embarking on the day the Atlantic sailed, from Liverpool, Dublin and Southampton, and ships were fitting with great rapidity at all the ports for the Baltic fleet.

French troops were embarking from Africa for Turkey.

There is nothing new from the Danube.—Omar Pacha was strengthening his position at Kalafat. The Turkish reserves were advancing to Widdin and Oltenitza and the camp at Shumla had been broken up.

At Constantinople fortifications were being erected.

The health of the Turkish army and fleet was excellent.

Six thousand men and twenty-four ships left Constantinople on the 7th of February under an escort of eleven British war steamers.

It was reported that when the French and English troops should arrive in Turkey, a measure will be proposed by the Sultan to the Divan to give the Christians and Moslems equal civic rights. The rumor is doubtful.

An important debate in the British Parliament had taken place on the Turkish question, and the army and navy supplies had been voted.

The Queen had issued a proclamation forbidding the exportation of arms, ammunition, and marine engines, or parts thereof. On an explanation being asked in Parliament, the government stated that machinery will be allowed to be sent to friendly nations.

A dreadful colliery explosion had taken place at Ince Hall, near Wegan, by which one hundred men were killed.

The Lord Chamberlain has notified Mr. Buchanan that he may henceforth appear at court in any costume he likes.

The King of Naples was attempting to form a general Italian league.

War was very popular in Russia.

Joseph Sturges and the rest of the peace deputation were still at St. Petersburg, but had not seen the Czar.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.—Wednesday 22d.—Three thousand troops embarked from here to-day.

The Greek insurrection has gained a formidable headway, 6000 men being under arms in Erupus, Macedonia and Thessaly.

It is said that if Austria does not immediately declare herself, France will form an army of 100,000 men on the Italian frontier, and send a force to operate in Italy. This statement is believed to be authentic.

A telegraphic despatch says that the Russians are bombarding Rutschuk.

There is a very doubtful report current that the Russians have taken seven Turkish ships of war.

Great enthusiasm in favor of war was arising in Great Britain.

LIVERPOOL CORN MARKET, Feb. 21.—Breadstuffs were rising. Wheat advanced 2d, Flour 6d, Corn rather more doing, but quotations were unchanged; Flour 41s a 42s; white Indian Corn 48s; yellow 47s a 47s 6d; mixed 46s 6d.

EXCITEMENT IN ROME, N. Y.—A fire broke out in the Medical Institute at Rome, N. Y., on the 4th inst., which, however, was soon extinguished. In one of the rooms some anatomical specimens and fragments of dissected bodies were discovered, and the people became much excited, hurling the remains from the windows and threatening the members of the Institute. The police were called to obtain order, and the excitement was quelled by noon.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Senator Everett and the Nebraska bill.—The following letter will appear in the Washington papers to-morrow:—

We beg leave to state to the public through the press, that to our knowledge the Hon. Edward Everett was in the Senate Chamber on Saturday morning until half-past three o'clock, and that he was then obliged to leave on account of illness, and did leave for that cause and no other—and that he having not only spoken against the amendment of the Hon. Mr. Douglas, which was a test question—and having been absent on the final vote for the cause we have mentioned—and having uniformly declared himself before and after those votes as opposed to the bill, we regard him as standing in all respects, on the same ground as if he had voted against the bill on its final passage. This statement is made entirely unsolicited by him and from our convictions of justice. Signed—William H. Seward, Truman Smith, Solomon Foot, Hamilton Fish, B. F. Wade.

RIOT.—There was a disgraceful riot at New Bedford on Monday evening, which the Standard says grew out of the result of the city election. The house of Mayor French was attacked by a dozen rowdies, at a time when two thousand of his friends were present to congratulate him upon his re-election. Three of the ruffians were arrested—Albert Greene, Daniel Greene, and a fellow by the name of Marshal, of Providence, R. I.—and after being placed in irons, the two Greenes were conveyed to jail, and Marshall was confined in the watch-house. Attempts were made to rescue Marshall, but they proved abortive, through the promptness and efforts of the officers and citizens.

REV. WM. C. CLARK of Exeter will lecture in Greenland next Monday evening, on the Nebraska Bill and the demoralising influence of slavery on our national legislation.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and itches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have been in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, humor and bad blood is suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much swelled that she reduced in circumference thirty-four inches, so as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. In the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your hearts bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads; which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

Diarrhœa can use. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

For the Chronicle.

I HAVE BEEN GAZING.

I have been gazing on the faces dear,
That silently have hung on Memory's wall,
Until it seems their voices greet my ear,
And breathe an answer to mine earnest call.
Oh there is one, with glossy, raven hair,
With her soul-speaking eyes of light,
'Tis said, did to my own face semblance bear—
But long since shrouded in Death's darkest night.
Yes! Sister dear, I see thee even now,
As in my younger days, I played with thee,
With thy calm look, thy broad, and placid brow;
And thy sweet smile that ever welcomed me.
And now again, as draws the season nigh
Like that in which thy spirit took its flight,
To raise the veil from off thy face, I try,
And see thee yet, as Life's morning bright.
How oft I wish that thou wert with me here;
And yet, why should I call thee back again?
When thou art happy, and a few short years,
Will pass, when I by thee in Death am fain.
Why should I wish thee here, since thou hast passed
The dread ordeal, through which all must go,
Made purer, and redeemed at last
From mortal agony, and strife below?
No! no! sleep on! thy soul is free from sin,
Though silently the body moulder here;
And though oft times on earth I wish for thee,
I'll be content to think thou 'rt hovering near.
And as to life returns the perfumed flowers,
And earth her garb of beauteous green puts on,
Many, sweet sister dear, shall be the hours
I'll lift the veil, and gaze thy face upon;
For still in Memory's hall 'tis hanging yet,
And no dust falls to mar its beauty there,
It whispers soft, and bids me ne'er forget!
With brow serene, and its dark raven hair.
Oh Memory! ever to thy office true,
Till this fond heart hath ceased its throbbing wild,
And though it now be sad, the spirit take with you,
To live again those days, in which the lost one smiled.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him to the party, on failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attention of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c. &

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

FAREWELL TO THE TABERNACLE.

Under this head, the Salem Gazette of Tuesday gives the following account of some interesting services held in the well known old Tabernacle of that city, preparatory to its demolition, and to the erection of an elegant house in its place.

On Sabbath afternoon a scene of rare interest was witnessed at the venerable Tabernacle. Within its walls were assembled a great multitude, drawn together by various motives; some who had for years regarded it as a Sabbath Home, others drawn thither by interest in the historic associations which make this ancient building so remarkable a representation of the Past. The bell rang a cheerful welcome; then tolled sadly, as if mourning that this welcome was the last to the ancient house.

The sermon was preached by the pastor, from the words "Now that which decayeth and waxeth old is ready to vanish away." He commenced by a statement of the laws of decay and reproduction to which all earthly things are subject, in obedience to which the house that has stood for nearly fourscore years, must now give place to another more convenient and tasteful. He then gave a retrospect of the history of the Tabernacle, which was commenced in 1776 to supply the place of a former house which stood in Essex street, and was destroyed by fire a few years previously. The old pulpit Bible, used in this former house, was held up to the view of the audience; besides the pulpit cushion this was the only article rescued from the flames. The present house was named in honor of Whitefield, and constructed on the model of his Tabernacle in London, with a belfry in the centre of the roof. This belfry was blown down in the great gale of 1804, soon after which the tower at the eastern end was erected. The house was covered and occupied in 1777, but it was without galleries or pulpit, or even plastering upon the walls, and in this condition, indicative of the circumstances of the people, strongly contrasting with those of the society at present, it was dedicated as a house of God. The preacher alluded to the previous pastors of the Tabernacle, and to the unanimity of feeling which has always characterized those worshipping there, and which, it is to be hoped, may continue as long as the society. He spoke of the time when consecrating hands were there laid upon the first American missionaries to the heathen, and to the connection of the house with the missionary cause, which has led it to be regarded with interest throughout the land, and concluded by a solemn and tender farewell to the Old Tabernacle.

The services were closed by an appropriate hymn and a doxology to the tune of Old Hundred, in which all the congregation united, and then took their final leave of the place where they and their fathers had so long worshipped God.

The bell on the venerable "Tabernacle" rang its last peal on Monday morning, after which it was taken down, and the demolition of the building was commenced.

A CRUSADE.

The present war between Turkey and Russia, not only has national hatred to sustain it, but also fanaticism, bigotry, religious hate, and superstition.

Russia is giving more and more the character of "Holy War" to hostilities. The soldiers are informed that they are on their way to rescue Christ's sepulchre from infidels! Following is the address of the Patriarch of Moscow to the Russian sixth corps on their leaving for the Danube:—

Children of the Czar our father, and of Russia our mother, our brothers of the army—the Czar, the country, and Christianity call upon you. The prayers of the Church and of the country will accompany you. Russia is again provoked by the enemy who was vanquished under Catherine the 2d, under Alexander the 1st, and under Nicholas the 1st. Already have your brothers revived the old habit of beating him by land and by sea! If it be decreed by Providence that you are to see the enemy in front of you, recollect then that you are fighting for the most pious of Czars, for your dear country, for the Holy Church, against the persecutors of Christianity, against the profaners of the holy and venerated cities which have seen the birth, the passion and the resurrection of Christ. Now, if ever, victory, glory, benediction and eternal salvation are due to those who give their life for their faith in God, for their devotion to the Czar and to the country. It is written of the ancient defenders of the country, "By faith you will gain the victory." (Epistle to the Hebrews, Chapter 11, verse 13.) You likewise will conquer by faith. We bid you farewell with our prayers and with the symbol of faith. Carry with you and recollect the warlike and victorious speech of the Czar Prophet David, "Salvation and glory is in God." (Psalm 41).

THE GARDNER CLAIM.—The amount received from the United States as the fruits of the Gardner fraud, was $428,750. The claim was for $700,000. Mr May, in his opening address to the jury, said he expected to prove that:—

The mine was so vaguely located that it could not be found by the commissioners, although they offered $500 reward for it; that persons whose names were furnished as evidence of title could not be found in Mexico; that every one of the depositions were made in Washington; the title was manufactured here; that Dr. Gardner was a poor dentist, and never could have worked such a mine as he described; that he was practicing dentistry and peddling small wares on the Pacific coast, hundreds or thousands of miles distant, instead; that the mine, the title, the seals and signatures of public officers in Mexico, were all forged.

These facts appeared on the trial.

The Washington Union, in reviewing the Gardner trial, observes that the administrative officers, besides bringing the offender to justice, have also succeeded in securing to the government about two hundred and thirty thousand dollars of the plundered treasure.

The commission which awarded the claim does not escape animadversion. Mr. George Evans of Maine was president of the board awarding the claim. Hon. Thomas Corwin, then Secretary of the Treasury, sold out his interest to George Law of New York for 80,000.

The Tribune's Washington correspondent says:—"It is reported that suits will be commenced against Major Lally, Waddy Thompson, and the other recipients of the Gardner claim money."

FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1854.

AVARICIOUS MINISTERS.

In the Manchester Mirror, lately, there has been a little good-natured controversy, about ministers loving money, being selfish, &c. One of the writers signs himself 'Nib,' another signs himself 'Minister,' and says:

"I am thankful he has spoken in behalf of the 'hard working, faithful ministers of Christ,' for this is the only class he has spoken for, and they are thankful for it. I can give fact after fact to show the position of Nib to be true. I have made since I have been in Manchester, more than one hundred visits among the sick, and attended more than 50 funerals among those who do not attend church regularly, any where, and in some instances paid for riding when I could not foot it, for which I have received not the first copper, or not even 'thank you,' which is much sometimes. Well, this we do not mind among the poor and ignorant, even if we buy the grave clothes and coffin, and pay for burying the dead, as the minister with a few friends has done a number of times, to my certain knowledge. But when we come to visit the sick again and again, and attend funerals with those who have cash in hand, in the bank, and rent buildings, and this we have done, and after all was over, they do not so much as thank you, or offer the first cent of remuneration; we feel then that there is somebody covetous and selfish besides ministers. And we do not care how much Nib prches those selfish misers.—Stand for the right."

The writer is correct. There are men who are too mean and selfish to be honest, both in the ministry and out of it. Uncle Toby has been troubled to learn that meanness of this sort in a minister, has gone so far in some cases, as to represent himself in want of needful food and clothing, while he was actually laying up money and had a goodly store already. And on the other hand he has been no less pained to see people who were well able to give much to support teachers of their own choice, give little or nothing. Withholding more than is meet tends to poverty,—of soul,—if not of purse,—but probably of both.

THE GREEK CHURCH.

The following statements and remarks from the Boston Courier, may throw some additional light on the motives and prospects of the present war between Russia and Turkey.

The insurrection of the Greeks against their Turkish masters is confirmed, and this new feature of the Eastern question seems destined to acquire great importance. The truth is, the determined attitude assumed by Russia in enforcing its right to a protection over the Greek subjects of the Porte in so unprecedented and determined a manner, has enhanced her popularity to a great extent with the Greeks; and taking a general view of her position in the East, it is evident that all the Christians of the Orthodox Greek Church now look on the Czar as their protector. The Greeks and Armenians are the practical and active men of Turkey. The population of European Turkey is not exactly estimated, but the following is about the just proportion of the different nationalities and religions:—The Mahomedan population of European Turkey does not at the most exceed 3 millions; Bulgaria may be reckoned to contain 3 millions of Christians; Wallachia 2 1-2 millions; Moldavia 1 1-2 millions; Albania, Bosnia, the Herzegovine, and Montenegro, 2 millions. The bulk of these Christians profess the Greek faith. There are from 700,000 to 800,000 Greeks in European Turkey. The Turks are the inactive portion of the inhabitants. All the shipping is Greek; Greek vessels carry on the corn trade; Greek merchants monopolize that department of commerce, and are conspicuous in every other line; whilst their branch houses spread through the whole of Europe; and their firms in Leghorn, Paris and London, are of heavy weight in all mercantile matters, exercising a considerable influence on the money market.

The Newburyport Herald says of the old Salem Tabernacle:

For some time it was without a pulpit or galleries or stoves, and with none but rough board seats. From the top of that house sounded the first "Orthodox bell" of Salem, and the first that ever called the people of that place to an evening meeting. At the last services there, a few days ago, was one old man who could remember its earliest history, and another, the first infant to whom the rite of baptism was administered in that house.

As for stoves in churches, they were exceedingly rare till 1815, between which date and 1820 they were placed in nearly all the meeting houses in New England.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The Illustrated Magazine of Art, for March, 1854, is just received from Frederick Parker, of Boston, via. J. P. Morse of this city.

The first illustration is a full page Symbolical Representation of Japanese Mythology, which like most mythological pictures, is full of monsrosities, and of apparent absurdities. Prominent in this picture is the god Maris, depicted as a hideous monster riding through the heavenly regions on a wild boar, but rapidly descending, and likely to make terrible work with some other divinities which stand or sit on terra firma.

Next comes an illustrated Chapter on the Vivarium in the London Zoological Gardens, with 14 cuts.

Afterwards we have Bell Casting, with 8 large cuts; Adrian Van Ostade, with 9; Adrian Braner, with 5; Hiram Power, with 4.

Every engraving in this work is accompanied with descriptive, explanatory, and illustrative reading matter.

THE SCHOOLMATE, No. 5, vol. 3, is just received from its publisher, Morris Colton, of Boston. It is a beautiful and useful Monthly Reader, for family or school. One dollar a year.

A NUT FOR ABOLITIONISM.—A bill has recently passed the Senate of Virginia, for the purpose of allowing certain free negroes in the county of Nottoway to enslave themselves. These negroes had earnestly petitioned to the Legislature for this privilege. Mr. Campbell, the able and estimable Senator from the Nottoway district, in making a statement of the facts to the Senate, said that they had been manumitted by the will of a gentleman in his district, and that their desire was to be sold to their master's next kin. A large number of respectable citizens of Nottoway, feeling an interest in the negroes for their good character, added their recommendations for the same object. The bill has passed the Senate, and we have no doubt will pass the other House.—N. Y. National Democrat.

Well: what of it? Why should not black men sell themselves as well as white ones?—But there seems to be a sort of fishy smell about the whole story. When a man sells himself for a slave, who takes the money? And after all, is it quite certain that voluntary servitude is slavery? If the whole institution were put on the voluntary principle, as this part purports to be, the blackest features of it woul! soon bleach out. But there is surely some trick or deception in the matter. If all the statements are facts, as they may be, there must be other facts, which are not stated, but which would qualify the case materially if they were exhibited. Human nature is not such a thing as that it can prefer slavery to freedom! One, or the other, or both, must be surrounded by advertitious circumstances, in order to make such a choice possible.

☞ A beautiful state of affairs must exist in the New York police department, when one of the officers replies to an interrogatory why he had not enforced the laws and ordinances, especially the Sunday law, in his district, in the following language:

"I have not been sustained heretofore to carry out the law. More than this—I have been actually thwarted in such endeavors by those in power above me. The police magistrates, from the first time I entered the department, have not shown that ready co-operation and desire to sustain me, which I had a right to expect, and without which I could do but little. Some of the most notorious offenders and disturbers of the peace of society, have been frequently arrested and taken before them, and as frequently discharged without punishment, thus more and more weakening all reverence for the law, or the just rights of others, and greatly discouraging the officers in the discharge of their duties."

He concludes by saying:

"For years, until recently, politics has continually thrust its officious nose into everything, awakening unfounded prejudices, and misrepresenting and paralyzing all my efforts to carry out the law."

William Critchton, cashier of the London and North Western Railway Company, has been arrested at Liverpool for embezzling about $20,000 of the funds of the Company.

It was hydriodate of potash (a form of iodine) with which Dr. Wight cured the cow of garget, not "hydriote" as stated by the Boston Traveller, Lowell Courier, &c.—Post.

M. and D. Nichols, colored men who shot Eben. Goodsell in Fairfield county, Con. when they were intoxicated, have been found guilty of murder in the second degree.

Mr. D. Riley, who has been for some time associated with George Saunders, editing the Democratic Review, died at Washington on the 5th from an attack of apoplexy.

"ANOTHER MAN OVERBOARD!"—Under this head the Albany Journal announced the fact that Mr. Clayton had signified his intention to vote for the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

Henry Ward Beecher was right in saying that "dress doesn't make the man, but when the man is made, he looks a good deal better dressed up."

MORE FEMALE PHYSICIANS.—At the recent annual Commencement of the Female College of Pennsylvania, the degree of Doctor of Medicine was conferred on four young ladies, one of whom was from Ostego county, New York.

The miners in the Cumberland coal regions who are on a strike formed a procession on Saturday and carried banners on which were inscribed "forty cents a ton," and "victory or death." They forced those who were at work to quit

A communication was received from J. F. Shores, jr., requesting the sidewalk to be cleared in front of the School House in State street. Referred to the Street Commissioner.

Several bills presented and passed.

COMMON COUNCIL.—Non-concurred in the ordinance in relation to removing snow from the side walks, and reported a new bill; which allows more time to clear the side walks, and prescribes a different manner of proceeding in regard to the penalty. Adjourned.

☞ The Lecture before the City Lycem at the Cameneum, next Thursday evening, will be by Dr. Frank Fuller. Subject—The New England Mind.

☞ In a friend's suggestion, yesterday, Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad Stock was prized not less than 97 dollars. By the latest report of Stock Sales in Boston, it sold for 98.25.

FIRE AT CAPE NEDDOCK, ME.—On Thursday morning about 2 o'clock, the grocery and variety store of Mr. Samuel W. Norton, at Cape Neddock Landing, was discovered to be on fire; and such progress had the flames made, that it was found impossible to save even the books and papers—and all was consumed together. The stock worth about $1500, was insured for $1100—the building worth $800, insured for $300. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Norton left the store at eleven o'clock Wednesday night.

CORRECTION.—I should have stated yesterday that Briard A. Currier was elected Town Clerk of Kittery for the ensuing year.

TRIM, JR.

"MIRROR OF PALESTINE."—Our readers will notice by the advertisement, that this work of art is to be exhibited for a few evenings at the Temple, commencing to-night. A friend in this city who has seen the painting, informs us that it is a very meritorious production, some of the scenes in the "Garden of Eden," being peculiarly beautiful. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," and as works of art continue and increase in our young land, a more intrinsic love of the beautiful must take possession of every heart. All the higher productions of the artists' pencil, come to us like messengers of love, and tint even the tearful gloom of mortal destiny, with the warm hue of beauty, and at once instruct and refine the senses. We trust that Mr. Langley, the gentlemanly proprietor, will be handsomely repaid for his efforts to place within the reach of our citizens, an opportunity to examine his fine picture. *

FROM EUROPE.

We have European news now, twice or three times a week. The latest is by the steamship Asia, which left Liverpool on the morning of the 25th of February. Her principal news relates to

THE WAR IN TURKEY.

No military nor naval action has occurred since our last advices, but political events of the highest importance are becoming developed. A significant announcement appears in the Paris Moniteur, saying—"If the flags of France and Austria are united in the East, France will not permit any attempt to separate them beyond the Alps." This is regarded as an encouragement for Austria to declare herself on the side of the allies, and a threat to raise Italy and Hungary if she sides with Russia. The same announcement says that France cannot suffer the integrity of the Ottoman Empire to be broken by aggressive acts from Greece; and further, France discountenances the present attempt at revolution anywhere.

The announcement is received as official and important. Meanwhile, the attitude of Austria, though vacillating, is becoming more and more favorable to the allies. It was even said that she had announced her intention of formally joining with the allies, if Russia continues her aggressive acts against Turkey.—This probably is a premature announcement, but it gave a firmness to the funds.

At the same time, Austria continues sending troops to the southeastern frontier, but to allay apprehension a manifesto is about to appear that Austria continues her efforts in favor of peace, and that the troops are merely to prevent disturbances spreading to Servia, Montenegro and Bosinia.

The attitude of Prussia remains unchanged and unexplained.

It is reported that a manifesto, agreed to by France and England, having all the force of a formal declaration of war, will appear in a few days in the Moniteur, and it was rumored that England has sent a formal announcement to the Czar, naming a definite time within which he must evacuate the Principalities.

The Greek insurection has become formidable in Epirus. The insurgents have taken the town of Arta, and besieged the Turks in the Citadel. 3000 insurgents were within ten miles of Yaninai, Albania.

A detachment of Greek regular troops have gone over to the insurgents.

Bands of armed Albanians go from village to village, arousing the people and distributing arms gratis. Inflammatory placards are being circulated. The Greek government is apathetic and powerless.

At Salonica on the 9th and 10th an insurrection broke out, but the Turks attacked and defeated the insurgents.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, March 8.

SENATE.—The committee of conference on the bill for the relief of the officers and soldiers on the San Francisco made a report, which was agreed to.

The bill providing for the retirement on half pay of disabled army officers was passed.

The Indigent Insane Land bill, after some verbal amendments, was passed—yeas 25, nays 12.

The Vermont Senator case was taken up, when Mr. Phelps addressed the Senate in support of his right to hold the seat. Subject postponed. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Several bills were received and referred.

The House then went into committee on the Minnesota railroad land bill, which was slightly amended, and discussed to the end of the sitting.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Outrage,—The block of stone which the Pope of Rome sent as a contribution to the Washington Monument was smashed to pieces by some unknown persons last night.

The particulars are these:—At about midnight the watchman in his box at the National Monument, heard some persons around the door, and going to it, found that a cord had been tied completely around the box. He spoke to those out side and was told to be still and not make a noise. He then asked them if they intended any harm to him. To this they replied in the negative. He went to the window to look out, but found that covered with paper outside. He heated his poker in the fire and made a hole through the door, burnt the cord off, and went out to make an examination, found his dog dead, probably poisoned, and the block for the Washington Monument, presented some months ago by the Pope of Rome, (a description of which was given in the papers at the time it was received,) entirely destroyed.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We regret to learn, as very many of our citizens will do, that Lake Beard, Esq., owner of the Howard Atheneum, and so well known as the manufacturer of "Beard's mineral water," &c., died suddenly at Wilton, Me., on Tuesday, from inflammation in the throat and consequent erysiplaes. He had not long since built an elegant place of residence in that town, and removed his family there, though daily carrying on his extensive business in Boston.—Boston Chrouicle.

THE New York Times says: "Mr. Franklin J. May, bar tender in the porter house of Messrs. Farrar & Kelly, No. 91 South street, this city, received from Georgetown this morning the order for the 'Fernham Gift' Farm situated in New Jersey, and valued at $22,000. The number of the ticket held by Mr. May, is five thousand five hundred and thirty nine."

NEW YORK, March 8.—The Atlantic.—The steamship Atlantic was got off by the steam tug Titan at three o'clock this morning, and at daylight proceeded up past quarantine, when she went ashore again on a mud flat, one mile below where she was lying at ten o'clock.

A HEAVY SWINDLE.—A New York paper says that Messrs. Caldwell, Harris & Co., who in January last opened a large hog slaughtering establishment about three miles from Jersey City, recently advanced $50,000 to a pork speculator in Ohio, with which to buy hogs. The recipient of the money immediately disappeared, and had not been heard from at last accounts.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures at hand can do all these wonders, should more every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is costive it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so warm a welcome as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of the most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside (taking it inwardly in the meantime.) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regarks dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will cure, if you can appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE: Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

THE BILL FOR THE SIX NEW STEAMERS.—The debate on this bill in the House February 27, indicates an intention with certain members to defeat, or at least to postpone indefinitely its passage; with what object, except for the furtherance of private interests, we are at a loss to understand. In the present threatening aspect of affairs, this is to be regretted. We had hoped that before now the bill so promptly passed by the Senate, (and which was, in fact, matured by the Naval Committee of the House,) would have become a law; and instead of reading every day of the discharge of mechanics at our navy yards, we should see the same activity therein as now prevails in the British and French dockyards.

It does seem, too, that after three months talking "an infinite deal of nothing," the time had come for our Representatives to attend to the great business of the nation, all of which stands at a "dead lock," for want of the needful appropriations.

Further attempts will doubtless be made to withdraw the $3,000,000 from its legitimate purposes, of building and equipping ships of war, which would add greatly to the strength of the navy, and to the safety and honor of the country, and place it in hands of private parties, who have old and worthless steamers to be got rid of, which, if bought for the navy, will neither be an addition to its strength, nor productive of any national economy. Indeed, we would prefer that our navy should continue to have only its present limited number of ships, provided they are, as now, perfectly sound, than to have it increased by the accession of vessels which, in any contest with regular built men-of-war, would be certain to disgrace it and to dishonor the nation.

It is to be hoped that the true friends of the navy will resist all such attempts from any quarter to defeat the passage of the $3,000,000 bill in its present form. Let them not allow the best part of the session to melt away before this important appropriation is passed. It is quite time that the keels of these six steam-frigates were laid down at our navy yards.—Boston Courier.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent remedy and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour: Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

ORIGIN OF THE WAR.

The origin of the Eastern quarrel was a dispute between the Greek and Latin Churches, respecting certain perogatives in the holy places. Such disputes have been of frequent occurrence, but have not been of so serious a character as to involve nations in the controversy. In this case the Latins, represented by the French Ambassador at the Porte, had obtained from the Sultan certain concessions conceived by the Greeks, who were represented by Russia, to derogate not only from their prescriptive rights, but from privileges recently granted by special firman. The Russian and French governments were, to some extent, embroiled—the former wishing to recover lost ground, and the latter desiring to preserve an acquisition. The privileges to the Latins were granted under the coercion of the French Minister, and when they were accorded the Russian ambassador threatened to withdraw, unless similar concessions were made to the Greeks. Although affairs at this time wore a menacing aspect, and the Sultan was placed between two fires, yet only France and Russia were seriously involved. The British government took no part in the quarrel, its position being one of impartial, but vigilant observation.

OLD PEOPLE IN ESSEX, MASS.—The oldest inhabitant now living in the town of Essex, is Mr. Rufus Cogswell, whose age is ninety seven years. He is the only surviving soldier of the revolutionary war, in town, and was in the American army under Gates, at the capture of Burgoyne. At the age of eighty-two, in a moment of ungovernable passion, he made an assault on the keeper of the alms-house in this town, (of which he was an inmate,) with an intent to kill, and was convicted and sentenced to the State prison for five years. His conduct while there, was perfectly correct, and after serving two years of his term, he was pardoned by the Executive. Since that time he has resided at the alms-house, and has been blind for several years.

There are several other persons, of extreme age, living in Essex, viz:—

Mrs. Hannah Marshal, aged 90 years. She has seven children, fifty-four grand children, sixty-five great grand children, and five great great grand children.

Mr. Parker Burnham is still living, at the age of ninety. Mr. Burnham is one of the oldest shipbuilders in town.

Also, Mr. James Andrews, in his ninetieth year. Mr. Andrews had the misfortune to break two of his ribs by falling from a ladder in his barn, a few weeks since.

Mrs. Mary Story, aged eighty-eight, met with a serious accident from a fall a few days since, by which her hip was broken.

Mr. Ebenezer Story, aged eight five, broke two of his ribs, by a fall on the ice on Saturday last.

There are twenty-one persons besides the above-named, now living in Essex, between the ages of eighty and ninety.—Salem Gaz.

THE BEARD.—The editor of the Republican Journal has committed himself on the beard question. He remarks:

The Editor of the Eastport Sentinel is out for hair, and hair is out for him, all over his face. Ch. DeWolfe, of Oldtown, has a long article in the Eastport paper, in favor of entire beards. Editors all about are telling their experience. So here's ours. For years we have worn a stout, handsome beard, of fancy color, a cross between London brown and the shade of a Malta kitten, shaving only the upper lip. We do not dare to let the mustach (as they spell it) grow, because then our ferocious look would be dangerous to persons of a delicate organization. We began this course in the first place, because we were too lazy to shave. Last summer we wanted to look at our countenance, and so we had our facial hair removed, and got the bronchitis in place of it. The beard was more comfortable than a sore throat, and so we took it back. We believe in a beard as an arrangement of nature necessary for the health—and nature is not often improved upon. We are with you, Emery.

SHOCKING CASE OF DESTITUTION.—The Manchester Mirror relates the following case of destitution and want, caused by intemperance, which was recently discovered in Hallsville, a small village in Manchester. The name of the family is not given. The Mirror says:

"Last week Friday, the neighbors heard that death had entered their miserable dwelling, and on going in, they found an infant, born the night before, but just alive; and a child 3 years old, quite sick, and also the mother. Upon looking around no food was found but a few cold boiled potatoes—not a stick of wood save a little a poor man near, hearing of their distress, had brought in the night before from his own scanty pile. From what they could learn, the family had lived mostly on meal, stirred up with water, and cooked in a spider, on the stove. Occasionally the father would get a bone that the meat had been cut off from, which boiled, would give them for a change a little broth. An old underbed, with one sheet, a cotton coverlid, and two pieces of cotton cloth tacked together, but no cotton between them, constituted the bed of the parents and child that died; whilst an old braided mat laid on the cords of a trundle-bed, and a piece of an old comforter for covering, has made up the bed for the oldest child through our severely cold weather."

SATURDAY, MARCH 11, 1854.

THE MAINE EXPOSITOR.

We have spoken of this paper before, as an able and open advocate of the rights of liquor drinking and dealing, published in Portland, and devoted to opposing the Maine law. It seems now to be strengthening its platform by the addition of other planks.

It goes against the abolitionists, against party delegate conventions, and last, but not least, against the Eastern Argus.

At the same time it goes for a mass convention, and for itself, as the liberal democratic organ.

On the subject of the Mass Conventions, the Expositor recommends the nomination of all candidates for office in this way, and says:

The first in order will be a Mass convention to select a candidate for Governor. How shall that convention be called? At the last Presidential election, Maine gave the democratic nominee, for President, ten thousand majority, and it is reasonable to suppose that if a mass convention is called, that a democrat of liberal views should be selected, in order to obtain a fair expression of the people at the ballot box, and elect the nominee.

The Democratic State Committee are invoked to call said Mass Convention; and a gentle hint is given, that whether they do so or not, the people will have one.

"A mass State convention is openly and urgently called for by the people, and the candidate nominated by that convention, will doubtless be the next Governor of Maine"

That seems to be a finality—if he gets votes enough.

Next, the Expositor taunts the Argus with being undecided in the matter of the Nebraska bill and the liquor law, and says,

Their subscription list, if all we hear is true, is on the decline, so far as democratic patrons are concerned, and were it not for the patronage of the abolitionists and Maine law fanatics, their circulation would be small indeed.

Not a day passes without our learning of one or more, who have become disgusted with the timid, time serving course of that paper, and discontinued it. One person, in particular, named to us that he had paid for "the thing" over fifty years, but could stand it no longer, and had stopped it. That person's story is the story of scores. Another said to us that his democratic neighbors had about all come to the conclusion to send down and stop their Arguses and subscribe for the Expositor.

Lastly, but not least, a correspondent of the Expositor, speaks of the "good time coming," when the people shall have a mass convention choose a "democrat of liberal views" for Governor, and repeal the Maine law:—winding up with the following rhetorical flourishes, which for richness are rarely excelled.

As it is manifest that the constituted, in this State, at the present time, are resolved, at all hazards, to rule over their constituents, would it not be right for the people to arise, en masse, annul the constitution, abolish or disband the Legislature, and take back their abused, delegated power and government, again into their own hands, for safe keeping, and thus become one pure, simple democracy, and no mistake. Were this to be done, there cannot be a doubt but that it would have a most renovating, salutary effect on public and private morals and manners, as it would effectually break up, rebuke, and destroy, all corrupt party organizations and coalitions, of whatever form, stripe, or texture, and at once, throughout the State, and blast the hopes and prospects of aspiring demagogues. We need a radical change, a thorough reform; but talking, and writing, and whining, will do no good; we must act! WE, THE PEOPLE, are daily spit upon, trampled on, and thrust to the wall, by our paid, hired servants, who laugh at us, for our impotency, and no one seriously "lays it to heart!"

Of our State, (body politic) it may be truly said, "the whole head is sick, and the whole heart faint. From the sole of the foot, even unto the head, there is no soundness in it, but wounds, and bruises, and putrifying sores. They have not been closed, neither bound up, neither mollified with argument." Revolution is, sometimes, the only political catholicon.

Shade of Cromwell! whither hast thou flown? Spirit of Jackson!* where is the place of thy rest?

*Bancroft, in his eulogy on Gen. Jackson, says, "he never died; but, when Death came, the old hero shoved him aside, and escaped into glory."

THE "MASSACHUSETTS LAW."—The bill to repeal the liquor law of 1852, was taken up in the House of Representatives of Massachusetts, on Thursday, and after a speech from Mr. Wiggin, the question was taken, and it was rejected by over one hundred majority. The exact vote was 183 to 80. At the same time a substitute was offered, which was a license law with several new provisions "for the public good," and which was to impose a tax of not less than 50 dollars nor more than 500 dollars for each license.

This was lost, 97 to 137.

FAST DAY.—In Massachusetts, Thursday, April 6; in Connecticut, Friday, April 14th, which day is Good Friday, and therefore a solemn fast of the Episcopal and Roman Churches.

The Washington Union desires Mrs. Partington to look after the telegraph wires. She begs to be excused, as she will have nothing to do with the "peaky clothes line that they hang the sheet lightening on." She is content to use her own knitting wires, which never communicate wrongly, or get out of "kilter."

AN IMPORTANT THOUGHT.

This important consideration is now submitted to the judgment of every candid man: Should the pending Nebraska bill be passed and slavery introduced as a consequence into Kansas and Nebraska, when admitted into the Union as States, there would be 17 slave and 16 free states. That would give to the south two majority in the Senate of the United States, and, of course, the political control of that body, so that no statute could be passed, no free State be admitted, no treaty ratified, no executive nomination for office confirmed, unless the majority from the slaveholding States should agree to it. In other words, the slaveholding power could veto any measure whatever which might come before the Senate. This was made a point in 1820, upon the question of the admission of Missouri, and it is now a still more momentous consideration, although it has not been so fully discussed as at that period. Let it be remembered, that by the act of Congress of March 1, 1845, now in force, several new slave States, "may hereafter, with the consent of Texas, be formed out of the territory" now included within the Texan limits. Remember also that the present population of the free States is estimated at nearly fifteen millions, while by the last census the free population of the slave States was six millions one hundred thousand, with some increase since 1850. The question submitted to every citizen, regardless of party, is, would it be just and right for fifteen millions of freemen to be governed and ruled by the slave majority in the Senate? Should the slave States gain the political control in the Senate, no enlightened person will believe that they would ever consent to surrender it up peaceably. T.

A LAND SWINDLE.—The telegraph recently announced that Mr. J. A. Noonan, the efficient postmaster at Milwaukie, "has been removed because he is opposed to some land swindle." It is said that he had the honesty and fearlessness to expose the gigantic land swindle of J. B. Macy, representative from Wisconsin, (obtaining land grants ostensibly for railroad purposes.) Mr. Lane of Indiana, stated that he had been informed through a reliable source, that many persons now in Washington, including Congressmen, were deeply interested in the passage of this bill. The New York Mirror says—"This statement tends to confirm what we have hitherto said concerning these extraordinary railroad land speculating schemes."—Boston Chronicle.

A shrewd politician and steadfast democrat remarked lately, that the French Claims would not be paid yet, he feared, although he knew the justice of those held in this city—but he supposed when the claimants and their heirs got tired, and sold all their claims to speculators, then by some influence and bribery the bill would be carried through.

We hope for better things, but his opinion is entitled to consideration.

SAD ACCIDENT.—The Boston Courier states that a gas explosion took place in the Daguerrean Gallery of Messrs. Masury & Silsbee, No. 299 1-2 Washington street, about nine o'clock on Thursday evening. It seems that they had been experimenting with some new contrivance by which they had hoped to take miniatures by gas-light. The apparatus burst, and the escaped gas caused an explosion which not only shattered the effects in the gallery, but disabled the operators in a serious manner. One of Mr. Masury's eyes was actually blown out of his head, and he was in other respects injured. Mr. Silsbee, in addition to many severe bruises, sustained a broken leg. The unfortunate men were removed, and were attended by surgeons.

FAIR REPORT.—There has been some reflection upon the management of the Kennebec and Portland Railroad, with regard to the removal of the snow after the storms of the past winter. A correspondent of the Kennebec Journal retorts as follows:

THE MAN WITH THE WHEELBARROW.—There having been much speculation about the man seen with a wheelbarrow on the Kennebec and Portland Railroad, I am happy to have it in my power to state, that he has left the road and the ground. While the Sarah Sands was lying aground in Portland harbor, a man was seen coming round Fish Point, trundling a wheelbarrow, making directly for the Sarah Sands, and was received on board. She floated the next tide and proceeded to sea, so that probably the spectre will not be seen again, to frighten people of weak nerves.

A REMARKABLE MAN.—A New York letter to the Mobile Tribune says:

There is a remarkable man connected with the Custom House here—a Spaniard. His business is to receive and test money. He will pour the contents of an immense bag of gold of gold or silver coin into the scale—for it is weighed, not counted—and in a trice announce the amount in dollars and cents. Then running his fingers through the shining pieces, and applying his nose to them, immediately takes out every counterfeit coin. He has never been known to make a mistake in pronouncing money good or bad; and his infallible instinct for detecting the spurious metal is located in his olfactory organs.

SMITH O'BRIEN.—The Asia brings intelligence of the intention of the English government to pardon Smith O'Brien. Lord Palmerston says that, having acted as a gentleman in refusing to escape at the expense of breaking his parole, he is to be pardoned.

LOCAL.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.

THIS EVENING.

A general meeting of the Free Democracy will be held at the south vestry of the Temple at half-past seven o'clock.

Ward 1.—A Democratic Caucus will be held at the Ward Room, Elm street, at seven o'clock.

Ward 2.—A Democratic Caucus will be held in the room over the Gazette office, at half-past seven o'clock.

☞ We write this paragraph with an India Rubber Coated Pen, which we have used all day, and which was left with us for trial by Mr. De Young, who visits the city to sell C. Leopold's Metallic Pens. He says they will not corrode—and offers to refund the money if they do; he says they are not the Gutta Percha pens we noticed some time ago. He is at the Franklin House.

Geo. W. Towle & Co. are agents in this city.

☞ A friend to public improvements in this city, suggests that when the new tower goes up on the North Meeting House that is to be, we should have the clock illuminated, after the manner of the City Hall in New York, so that we can tell what's o'clock by night as well as by day.

The Eastern Railroad have just completed a new station house at Newburyport. It is a brick building, 180 feet long and 60 wide, costing about $25,000.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The storage building of George Merle, No. 268 Front st., was considerably damaged by fire yesterday. A large amount of goods was in the store, including 8000 bales of cotton, 6000 barrels of flour, and 3000 crates of crockery. The building was damaged to the amount of $3000.—The loss on goods is from $50,000 to $60,000.

A despatch from Washington in the Herald states that the Peruvian Minister has informed the State Department that ample damages will be paid at once for the outrages committed at the Chincha Islands upon the officers and crew of the ship Defiance.

ACCIDENT FROM BURNING FLUID.—On Monday evening, as Mr. J. Hurley, at No. 10 Channing street, Boston, was filling a burning fluid lamp by holding the cap in his hand while he poured the fluid from a bottle in his right, the wicking being lighted at the time, the bottle exploded, and threw its contents over Mr. Hurley, burning him severely. His hair was burnt entirely off, and his face and hands blistered in a frightful manner. The Post says the presence of mind of his wife and a little boy, alone probably saved his life.

A BIT OF ROMANCE.—The Cincinnati News says that a Spanish boy about 18 years old, named Joseph Edward Pobalo, passed through that city a few days since, on his way to Washington. The boy was stolen from his home near Campeachy, in Mexico, with five of his companions, by a party of French pirates, who sold them to a merchantman, who after keeping them two years, sold them to a Louisiana planter for the term of their minority. As the planter was about to re-sell them Pobalo made his escape, and worked his way to Indiana, where he attracted the notice of a gentleman who wrote to the Mexican Minister concerning him, and at the Minister's request he was forwarded to Washington, thence to be sent to his parents, if living. On his route the railroad superintendents who heard his story gave him free passage, and the hotel keepers declared his bills settled at sight.

We cannot see why his owner does not send on to Washington and get him back. He bought him of a merchantman, who bought him of the pirates. Surely this must be a regular business transaction—and for aught we can see makes out a regular title.

A LAWLESS AND SAVAGE DEED.—The following extraordinary affair is recorded in a Nashville (Tenn.) paper. We scarcely know any punishment severe enough for such an inhuman and atrocious act:

Between two and three weeks ago, an individual residing in Williamson county, in this State, suspected a man named Miller, a chair maker by trade, who lived on his premises, of having $250 out of a drawer in his house, seized him, took him up stairs, and there confined him chained, from Sunday morning until Thursday night, when he was taken down and placed in the hands of three men, and carried by them to the woods, where he was hung up seven times and beaten in the most frightful manner in order to make him give up the money—he persisting all the time that he knew nothing of it, and beseeching them to shoot him at once and thus put an end to his sufferings. They stripped him and beat him with branches torn from a beech tree, some of which were afterwards found all bloody on the ground. The night was one of the coldest of the season.

After hanging him up and beating and lacerating and torturing him with truly Indian barbarity, they carried him to the house of a neighbor, and throwing him over into the yard, there left him, with the hope and expectation, it is said, that he would be torn to pieces by the dogs of the place, which were known to be exceedingly fierce. Fortunately, however, the dogs were away, and Miller, although scarcely alive, was able to make himself heard by the inmates of the house, who kindly took him in and afforded him such relief as it was in their power to furnish. His feet and hands were badly frost bitten, and parts of his body horribly lacerated. He now lies in a very precarious situation.

We understand that Miller was entirely innocent, and that the money had been stolen by one of the assailant's own negroes."

In the Boston Police Court on Wednesday, Francis McNeal, 436 Hanover street, was arraigned for selling two glasses of gin to Absalom Howes and Levi Miles, two persons who were, a day or two since, fined for being tardy as witnesses in another liquor case. Upon a searching cross-examination, it appeared that these parties were regular "spies and informers," who went about buying and drinking liquor for the express purpose of testifying and obtaining witness fees.

The Court held the question of giving such witnesses credence for further consideration, but the defendant subsequently pleaded guilty and was fined ten dollars and costs, with the usual $1000 bonds.

A liquor seller named Middleton, from Endicott street, also received a like sentence.

SALE OF A SHIP.—The new ship now on the stocks at the yard of Currier & Townsend, has been sold to persons in Boston, for $70,000. She is 1200 tons, and is the same size and model of the fine ship Troubadour, now ready for sea at this port. The builders an hour after the sale were offered $75,000 by a New York house, whose agent came down in the same train with the Boston man, but not knowing of the errand of the latter, the former spent an hour in waiting upon a lady, while the other, proceeding at once to business, obtained the ship, and the New Yorker found he had been caught napping.—Newburyport Herald.

The Lodon Shipping Gazette, of Feb. 24, says of the grain market:

"Though there has not been anything like excitement in the corn trade, its tone has undergone a decided improvement since this day week, and the prevailing impression now is, that the downward movement in prices has been arrested, at least for a time.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, March 9.

SENATE.—Several remonstrances against the Nebraska bill were presented.

Mr. Walker of Wisconsin reported back the Homestead bill, with the unanimous recommendation of the committee in its favor. It was made the especial order for Monday.

The question was taken on passage of the bill providing a retired list for disabled army officers. The vote stood—ayes 21; nays 3.

No quorum being present the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Dean of New York made an ineffectual attempt to introduce a resolution instructing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to inquire into the recent outrage committed at Havana on the persons and property of American citizens. The resolution had reference, doubtless, to the "Black Warrior" affair.

Remonstrances against the Nebraska bill were presented.

The House subsequently went into Committee on the Minnesota Land bill. A long discussion ensued.

THE LATE FATAL ASSAULT CASE IN WORCESTER.—The coroner's jury in the case of Major John H. Knight of Worcester, who died on Thursday last, from the effect of a blow on the back part of his head, rendered a verdict that the fatal blow was inflicted by some person unknown. Mr. Knight received his death-blow in Washington Square, a place which according to the testimony before the jury is as dangerous a location as was ever the Five Points of New York.

It was in the testimony that people who have occasion to go through the Square after dark, are in the habit of carrying arms for their personal protection; that recently several persons have been knocked down with bottles or slung shot, and robbed; and that the Square is filled with rum shops of the vilest description, and frequented by a dangerous class of people. Mr. Knight had in his possession nearly a hundred dollars on Thursday, and when taken to his house, but a small amount of change was found upon him. He was knocked down, murdered and robbed, in the immediate vicinity of ten or a dozen people, and no arrests have been made.

AN HONORABLE PIECE OF BUSINESS.—At the time of the departure of steamer Western Star from New York for Nicaragua, on her last trip but one, Timothy Casey of Boston, who was bound for California, fell overboard off Staten Island, and was drowned. Mr. Casey left a family in Boston. A friend, knowing his wife's destitute circumstances, wrote to the agent of the line in New York the facts, and he immediately remitted by mail the whole fare, ($110,) which Mr. Casey had prepaid. The agent in Boston was F. S. Saxton.

SINGULAR OBITUARY.—Died in Winchendon, 24th ult., Mr. John Tatro, 101 years, 9 months. He had the appearance of being a man about 75 or 80 years old, when I last saw him. It is said that he sawed about 100 cords of wood at the door, the year that he was 100 years old. He was a Frenchman, and has lived here for the last few years.—Puritan Recorder.

Alexander Morgan, a young man 19 years of age, was killed in Oswego on Tuesday afternoon, while engaged in coasting. The sled upon which he was descending a hill was going at the velocity of a mile a minute, when it came in contact with a cutter, and the young man's head was shattered by the force of the blow, as he was lying prone upon the sled.

DEATH OF AN IRISH PATRIOT.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune mentions the death, at Washington, of Thomas Devin Reilly, the Irish patriot and a clerk in the Land Office. He had been connected with John Mitchell's paper, the United Irishman; edited the Irish Felon after Mitchell's banishment, and subsequently escaped to this country. He was a principal writer in the Democratic Review during the last Presidential campaign, and was the author of the celebrated article on Naturalization in the Boston Post, attributed to Caleb Cushing.

NOT AN ASSAULT CASE.—In the case of Margaret Shay, of South Boston, who was charged with an assault upon a little girl by inducing her to drink gin until she became intoxicated, Justice Rogers gave a decision to the effect that the offence could not legally be termed an assault. She was therefore discharged, but was immediately arrested on a charge of selling liquor.

A letter from Lima, dated Jan. 8th, states that Kate Hayes has entered into a new contract, and has just commenced her series of operas. She has played Norma and Lucretia Borgia to not crowded, but respectably full houses. The aficionados in music are divided in their opinion of her and a rival, called Elizi Biscaccianti; but if anything the tide runs rather in favor of Miss Hayes. "Her boys" have not gone the length of drawing her carriage home, a task a little more difficult and dangerous than it was in Valparaiso, owing to the acequias which run right down through the streets, ever open to receive any votary of Bacchus who may be experimenting in circular sailing. You will have an opportunity of hearing the Biscaccianti, as she leaves here for Chili in the end of February.

The U.S. frigate St. Lawrence will be detained in Callao some time longer than was expected, owing to the revolution in Peru and the difficulties at the Chincha Islands

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and scaldheads among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Nothing looks so improbable to those who have never tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no d'f's with this humor and he's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to one boy a year old; to old people of eighty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.
To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most severe language uncommon of it that ever man listened to.
Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.
In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humor, and those who are some as enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.
Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.
I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.
In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.
I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns
Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.
I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.
It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.
It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.
A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.
It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.
When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.
Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.
As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.
Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.
No change of diet is necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.
I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.
Dimensions for one to Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

CHARADE.

As we Dodge round a corner, brave Ossian we meet,
With his good-natured phiz, his patrons he'll greet
With his cheerful Good-Morning—he graces my FIRST,
We can see by his movement's he's none to distrust.
My NEXT on the Lake, the proud Briton defied,
And whip'd the fierce Wolf and his minions beside.
I skim the deep waters, with tears in my eyes,
A friend to protect, though no foe I despise.
The Steamboat and Railroad have curtailed my WHOLE,
And left me a body with little of soul.
Hist! hist! times may alter, and then we may be
Like the Chariot which once was drawn from the Red Sea.
BONINE ROCK.

"Hooraw! off with its head!" cried Ike, swinging a small hatchet above his head, and dancing madly, like a warrior of the Marshpee or Natick tribes of Indians, round a barrel of apples that the expressman had just left. "Don't be so violent," said Mrs. Partington, "you mustn't give way to these abolitions of feeling, Isaac, because if you do I shall send for Mr. Disastrous Clapp and have you carried to the lunatic hospital where they put crazy people that are insane." Isaac moderated, like the weather in March, and the old lady went on like the four seasons: "We shouldn't make glutens of ourselves, Isaac, because we have anything we like; and if you eat these apples all to once, depend upon it you won't have any for to morrow." The hatchet had slowly raised as she spoke, and fell on the barrel head as the sentence closed, like a full stop. The head was removed, the golden russets tarned their smiling cheeks up to the light, and Mrs. Partington, with her hands upraised, and her mind on the donor, beamed like a whole constellation on the gift, while Ike helped himself with proper regard to the advice he had just received.—Boston Post.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can have all themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there and all the personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most faithful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attention and trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilirating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linitment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Spasms, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc. which street, New York.

HOUSES, &c.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

MEDAL SCHOLARS.

Quite an interest has been excited among the lovers of popular education in Boston, by a late meeting of those persons who have received the Franklin Medals for the last 62 years. One old medal scholar says:

Many years ago, a donation was made by Noah Webster of an edition of his book called "Webster's Third Part," to be presented by the School Committee to the best scholars, as a reward of merit. The book was ordinary, both in appearance and contents. It was ornamented with a coarse wood cut of the author, and was distributed with the same formality as the medals. A printed blank, with the same inscription as that on the medals, was placed in the book, to be filled with the name of the receiver; and those candidates who failed to come up to the medal standard, were soothed in their disappointed feelings, by the presentation of a "Webster's Third Part;" and those who received both medal and book were considered as having graduated with the highest honors of the public schools. Having been doubly fortunate in gaining both book and medal, I feel highly gratified in having an opportunity of contributing to the proposed memorial to the memory of the illustrious Franklin.

The Boston Transcript says:

A gentleman interested in the Franklin Monument brought to our office for exhibition a string of twelve Franklin medals which he long to eight brothers, having been awarded to them in the Boston public schools. Each of the eight lads received a Franklin medal at the Grammar schools, and four of them again received the distinction at the English High or Latin Schools. In addition to the above, the same family of boys received six silver and two gold medals at other schools than those above named, making twenty medals which were awarded to the boys of one of our citizens. We have heard of many instances where sons and brothers received the Franklin medals, so that one family can show quite a number, but we believe the family above named have the longest string ever collected in Boston. To have eight boys is a rare thing in a family, and to have eight sons who were Franklin medal scholars has only been the privilege of one father and mother. All honor to the whole family. They almost deserve a monument themselves.

EXPLOSION IN AN ENGLISH MINE.—An awful colliery explosion occurred at Wigan, in the Arley mine of the Ince Hall Coal and Cannel Company. The number of colliers in the mine at the time was as many as 226.—The northern levels of the mines were known to be highly charged with carburetted hydrogen gas, and it was here that the explosion took place. The engine driver and his assistants at the surface of the shaft were first informed of the accident by two loud reports, as of explosions under ground, which were succeeded by a rush of air, smoke and dust from the shaft. The alarm was given, and many persons hurried to the rescue. About forty miners were drawn out of the mine. It was then discovered that the north levels of the mine were on fire near the shaft, thus cutting off the retreat of those who remained alive within. Three hours elapsed before the searchers could extinguish the fire so as to allow them to enter the passages. They then succeeded in rescuing about fourteen persons alive, and at the last accounts had recovered eighty seven dead bodies. Many of those who were killed had been suffocated with the fumes of the sulphur.

BE CAREFUL TO WHOM YOU TALK.—Two young ladies were once singing a duett in a concert room. A stranger who had heard better performances, turned to his neighbor, saying:—"Does not that lady in white sing wretchedly?"

"Excuse me, sir," replied he; "I hardly feel at liberty to express my sentiments, being not impartial in the case; "it is my sister."

"I beg your pardon, sir," answered the stranger in much confusion; "I meant the lady in blue."

"You are perfectly right there," replied the neighbor, "I have often told her so myself; it is my wife!"

A farmer who was at an agricultural dinner in England, where the late duke of Buccleugh was in the chair, and a round of fighting men being toasted—one givin Wellington, another Graham, a third Lord Hill, and so on—said, when it came to his turn—"I'll gie ye Saunders Pirgive, o'Cuchtondeau for he's had a sair fecht wi' the world a' his life—an honest man wi' a big family."

CATHOLIC MATTERS.—A despatch from Washington, states that private advices have been received there to the effect that the Bishop of Mexico has been summoned to Rome to answer certain charges brought against him. Santa Anna acknowledges the authority of the Pope in the matter.

In reference to the Mississippi negro burning story, the Tribune states that it originated in a book published in 1842, called A Narrative of Slave Life, by W. Wellis Brown, a fugitive slave. It was copied into the Anti-Slavery Standard and other papers, as an occurrence of the day. The Tribune re-published it from one of these papers.

The man found murdered in Brooklyn proves to be Giovanni Ferdinandi, a refugee from Verona, exiled through the influence of Bedini and the Roman Catholic confederacy of Rome. He was single, 29 years old, and of steady habits.

POLITICAL TIT BITS.

We copy this morning, from papers of different politics, several choice extracts, for the season.

The first extract is from the leading editorial in the last Dover Gazette, a well known democratic paper. Speaking of the anti-Nebraska meetings in this State, it says, with extraordinary courtesy—

"The members of Congress would heed the measures adopted here by the whigs, very much as they would the piteous whining of a yellow dog. The passage of the measure therefore, cannot be arrested by any 'indignation meetings' in this State, and the whigs themselves do not expect any such thing.—What then is their object. Simply to overthrow the democratic party next Tuesday."

The New York Evening Post, a soft democratic organ, speaks thus, of Mr. Cass's statement that the Nebraska bill allows the inhabitants of the new territory to govern themselves. It says:

"What did Mr. Cass mean when he said that the passage of this bill was the triumph of squatter sovereignty? It puts the squatter of foreign birth—the Celt, the Teuton—on a level with the African. Its effect will, of course, be to exclude the white emigrant, and to Africanize Nebraska. With what face can these men talk of non-intervention by the federal government, when the federal government appoints the Executive, appoints the Judiciary, and appoints an agent to interfere with the legislative power? Dishonest pretences are frequent in these days among politicians, but the assertion that the Nebraska bill leaves the people of the territories at liberty to govern themselves and frame their own institutions, is a hoax of the grossest and most shameless character."

The third extract is from the Manchester American, a whig newspaper.

"A good democrat was bitterly opposed to the Nebraska bill, but clung tenaciously to the idea that it was not a measure of his party, and that the President was not in favor of it. He repeatedly declared that if the administration was for the bill, he was opposed to the administration.

At last a formidable package came to the post-office, at the town of A——, franked by Gen. Pierce. They were the speeches of Senator Douglas, in favor of the Nebraska bill. Among them was one directed to the democrat aforesaid. He took it from the office, looked at the great seal of the Republic and the frank. 'From F. Pierce, Pres. U. S.'—'Ah!' said he, 'if Gen. Pierce was not in favor of the Nebraska bill, he would not have sent me this defence of it.' He was convinced, and is now an open opponent of the administration.

We have since received the document to which we have alluded above. It is the letter of Douglas to Hon. Cyrus Barton, editor of the State Capital Reporter. It is directed to '—— —— Esq., Allenstown, N. H.,' and the frank is 'from Frank Pierce.' The person to whom it was directed is a democrat of the first water—voted for many of the resolves of the last few years in the legislature, and is in favor of them now. If anybody doubts the facts as stated, we have the document in our office, where it can be seen free of charge."

The fourth and last extract, consists of two sentences from that able democratic paper the Portland Argus.

"The support of this bill is not considered a test, either on one side or the other. That's all. Nebraska is a great way off, and it isn't worth while to 'sit up o' nights' worrying about it."

THE SALEM MUNICIPAL ELECTION.—The Salem Register makes the following remarks in regard to the recent election in Salem, which it will be remembered resulted in the total route of the regular political organizations, and the success of the 'Know Nothings,' or Native Americans:

"For the information of our friends at a distance, we may state that politically the City Government elect is composed of members of all the parties—the Whigs largely predominating. The Mayor, Mr. Newcomb, is a Whig, and has made no pledges of any kind to any party or person. In fact he declined the nomination, and was chosen against his wishes or consent; but it is understood that, having been elected by so large a vote, he will accept the office. He is a Salem boy—a graduate of our English High School, having entered with the first class upon its establishment. He is by occupation a machinist, and a very intelligent, respectable, and upright man, not unacquainted with public duties, having served the city in the Common Council, the Board of Aldermen, and as a Representative to the General Court."

MAYOR OF SALEM.—The Salem Gazette says:—"Last evening we received information from the City Clerk that Mr. Newcomb, the newly elected Mayor, had sent a note to his office positively declining to accept the office of Mayor. A new election, therefore, will have to take place."

MILWAUKIE, WIS., March 8.—A bloody riot took place at the election yesterday in this city, between a party of Germans and Irish. Many were knocked down and wounded, and the Sheriff, Page, was badly injured. It is reported that one Irishman and one German were killed. The affray grew out of the challenge of a German voter by an Irishman.

DETROIT, March 11.—The Supreme Court has decided the Maine Law to be constitutional; the decision of the Wayne County Court being confirmed.

ALBANY, March 11.—The ice in the river commenced moving about midnight. The ferry crossing to the Boston and Hudson River Railroads is clear.

ANOTHER THOUGHT.

In case the territorial bill, now pending in the House of Representatives, should pass, and become a law, is it probable that slavery would be tolerated in the two States proposed to be formed—Kansas and Nebraska? If the South have no real intent to introduce slavery into that vast region, why need they raise the vast excitement—why repeal solemn compacts of long standing, merely to settle an abstract principle of no practical importance or utility? But no rational man can for a moment doubt, that should slavery be allowed or tolerated there, it would go there. Slavery requires extension—otherwise, as it exhausts the soil, producing sterility, it would die out. The slave property has been valued at fifteen hundred millions. Its present value would be raised several hundred millions, the moment the door should be opened for its introduction into the Nebraska domain, a soil and climate as well adapted to slavery as any other part of the United States. The attempt to deceive the North is idle. Look at the map. We see that all the southern region of Nebraska is in the same parallel of latitude as Missouri, Kentucky and Virginia, that it is bounded on the east, in part, by the great slave State of Missouri, with a population of almost seven hundred thousand, including slaves. Already slaves inhabit the territory, and it is stated that one fourth of all the slaves in the Union, viz.: 860,000, now live north of the southern parallel line of latitude, which bounds the Nebraska territory. Who, then, can doubt that the objects of repealing the Missouri Compromise act prohibiting slavery north of 36° 30', are to get the control of the Senate, and advance the price of slaves by opening a great slave mart in Nebraska? It is a grave matter, rising infinitely above our little party questions which have divided us, because upon the result may depend the perpetuation of the liberties of our country. T.

TAYLOR'S MUSIC.—We are indebted to Messrs. Daniel Burgess & Co. for copies of the "Concordia," Prof. V. C. Taylor's Glee Books, published by them. Mr. Taylor's books have long been deservedly popular in this region, and are probably used more extensively in this city at the present time, than those of any other composer. The first work edited by him alone, was the Sacred Minstrel, of which a gentleman who has for many years been a fine singer and conductor of choirs, tells us that of perhaps a hundred sacred music-books which he has used or examined, Taylor's Minstrel stands at the head. The Concordia partakes largely of the peculiar style of the author. See advertisement.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

California dates to Feb. 16, are received at New York by steamer North Star, which brought no gold on freight.

Prices at San Francisco are ruinously low. Flour is about as cheap as in Boston and New York, and some provisions a shade cheaper.

The steamships California and Uncle Sam left San Francisco on the 16th for Panama, and the Brother Jonathan for San Juan de Nicaragua.

The North Star connected with the Uncle Sam.

The U. S. sloop-of-war Portsmouth, and the steamer Columbus left San Francisco on the 14th for Lower California. The latter had been chartered by the government.

Adventurers are still leaving San Francisco for Sonora and Lower California.

Advices at San Francisco state that the Mexican authorities were making extraordinary exertions to put the coast in a state of defence against the threatened invasion of Col. Walker.

Troops and vessels were on the way to the port of Mazatlan, and the inhabitants of Lower California were said to be enthusiastically eager to beat back the invaders.

The late rains in California have improved the mining business. The expresses were loaded down with gold dust.

The miners were averaging good returns.

The clipper ship San Francisco, Seizer, from New York Oct. 16, was beached outside San Francisco on the 8th of February, and soon bilged and became a total wreck.

Her cargo is valued at $40,000; part had been saved in a damaged condition.

On Friday the vessel and her uninsured cargo were sold at auction for 12,500, to Capt. J. F. Wright.

WHAT NEXT?—The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune tells some large stories occasionally, but that telegraphed by one of the editors to that paper of Monday, beats all others out and out. Under the head of "Sequel to the Plot," he writes—"Developments may soon be expected which will establish beyond doubt the fact, that the assertion of the principle involved in the Nebraska bill is but the preliminary step towards the execution of one of the boldest and most stupendous conspiracies ever heard of. It proposes no less an achievement than the forcible seizure of Mexico, Central America, and Cuba, during the approaching struggle in Europe, and their conversion into slave States. It is said that some of the first men of the Republic will be implicated, and nearly all the Southern leaders."

It is estimated the production of the silver mines for 1854 will reach $25,000,000. This is said to be an increase over last year.

BALTIMORE, March 11.—The Maryland Legislature adjourned last evening after rejecting all the Liquor bills.

The New York Senate has passed the "bill for the suppression of intemperance" by a vote of 21 yeas to 11 nays.

LOCAL.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.

THIS EVENING.

A general Democratic meeting will be holden at the Court House at half-past seven o'clock.

A general Whig meeting will be holden at Jefferson Hall this evening at half-past seven o'clock.

Ward 1.—A Whig Meeting will be held at the Ward Room, Elm street, at seven o'clock.

Ward 3.—A Democratic Meeting will be held at the South vestry at seven o'clock.

MYSTERIOUS—VERY.—On Saturday morning, among the posters for Panoramas, Auctions, &c. on the corners, we noticed a number of pieces of blank paper with one corner cut off, about as big as a common auction bill, which we supposed were put up at the several corners by idle boys. It was afterwards suggested that they were notices of a great meeting of the "Know Nothings," a new political society or club, of which we hear something but know nothing.

VOTES.—Friends in the neighboring towns, post masters, depot masters, &c., will confer a favor on us and the public, by forwarding to this office, at the earliest opportunity, returns of votes in their respective localities.

PHRENOLOGY.

DR. BROADBENT, of Providence, R. I., who has been in this city a few days, lecturing on Phrenology and Physiology, will visit South Berwick on Wednesday next, to deliver his course to the inhabitants of that place. His lectures are easy and familiar, and his examinations of heads careful and generally accurate. They were particularly so in regard to one head which we have rummaged a great many times, and which he found to contain a department for old stories, another for odd characters, and a third for analysis and comparison; besides other little closets, which, like old Dr. Lothrop's religion, are "nothing to speak of." Uncle Toby was delighted to hear that more old stories might be expected, as soon as the opening spring shall have made him young again.

Those who wish for curious and useful information on the sciences of which he treats, in a modest and unobtrusive manner, will be pleased with Dr. B. in public or in private.

☞ Dr. Broadbent having had many calls on Saturday, during his temporary absence, has decided to remain at the Franklin House in this city until Tuesday afternoon.

FIRE.—On Sunday morning about 1 o'clock, the small two story building, No. 18 Water street, was discovered to be on fire, but by the efficient aid of the firemen it was confined to that building alone. The building was owned by John Goodrich, who had no insurance upon it, and was occupied by James Goodrich as a shoe manufactory.—The large three story wooden building adjoining, owned by Leonard Cotton, and occupied by several Irish families was somewhat injured by fire and water. The fire was supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

LANGLEY'S MIRROR OF PALESTINE.—The last exhibition of this beautiful painting will take place this evening. We trust our citizens will, one and all, avail themselves of this opportunity to examine a painting, which, for historical interest and true merit as a work of art, has rarely been excelled.

INSTALLATION.—The Rev. John Cookson, A. M., will be Installed Pastor over the Franklin street Baptist Church, Dover, on Thursday Evening the 16th inst.

The Rev. Thomas F. Caldicott, D. D. of Boston, will preach the Sermon on that occasion.

The Committee appointed by the Newburyport City Council for that purpose, have petitioned the Legislature to pass an act for the better establishment of the Police Court, providing that the salary of the Justice shall not be less than $600 per annum, and for a Clerk, whose pay shall not be less than $300 per annum.

The great religious movement in Sweden has for some time attracted the interested attention of all evangelical Christians. Not finding their spiritual wants met in the established churches, large numbers of the Swedes are obliged to seek their Christian edification in other ways. Many have become Baptists. They are persecuted under obsolete laws, revived and enforced under the instigation of the Lutheran clergy. The King is understood to be decidedly in favor of toleration. The sufferings of these pious people have aroused public attention to the rights of conscience, and measures will undoubtedly be taken to secure changes in the laws. It is said that two Baptists have been elected to the Diet.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Great fears are entertained for the safety of the ships Leviathan and Waterloo, cleard Nov. 22d, for Liverpool. The former ship with freight and cargo valued at $300,000, and the latter at $125,000.

The James, cleared for Cardiff, Nov. 26th. Value $75,000.

The Constitution, cleared Dec. 22d, for Havre, and is valued at $270,000. Nothing has been heard of either of these ships.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, March 10.

SENATE.—The Senate was engaged on the private Calendar.

The bill making Dubuque and Keokuk in Iowa, ports of delivery was passed.

After an executive session the Senate adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE.—In the House this morning a resolution was passed unanimously requesting the President to communicate any information he may have received touching the seizure of the Black Warrior at Havana.

Mr. Dean of New York, gave notice of a Bill to repeal our neutrality laws so far as they are applicable to Spain.

A resolution was passed authorizing the selection of a site for a lighthouse at the entrance of Boston harbor.

The amendment to the Minnesota Land bill, providing that the proceeds of the sales of the reserved sections shall be paid to the States which have received no grants, was adopted by a majority of one vote.

Mr. Dean subsequently moved to lay the bill on the table.

An excited and disorderly discussion ensued, when the bill was finally tabled by 100 to 26.

The House next went into Committe on private bills. A very exciting debate arose on one of these bills, mainly between Mr. Sollers of Maryland and Mr. Lane of Indiana, growing out of a remark made by the latter touching a slave constitution.

When the Committee rose Mr. Stanton offered a resolution instructing the Committee on the Judiciary while enquiring into the Gardner frauds to extend their investigations to any awards made under the Mexican treaty which may be supposed to have been fraudulently obtained. Mr. S. was informed that testimony was in existence impeaching other important awards under that treaty. Resolution passed. Adjourned to Monday.

CONSUL TO ALGIERS.—The telegraph announces that John J. Mahony, of Massachusetts, has been appointed Consul to Algiers. The new Consul is a tailor by trade. He commenced business on his own account, at No. 52 Ann street, in 1842, and, like Carney and Sleeper, John Simmons and others, who embarked in the clothing business at that time, he soon amassed a fortune. In 1850, or thereabouts, he surrendered his store to his brother and brother-in-law, studied French, and, upon a convenient knowledge of that language, went to France, where he resided a year or two. He returned to this country about ten months since. The new Consul is a native of the city of Cork, Ireland.—Boston Courier.

SINGULAR DEATH.—A young man about twenty-nine years of age, arrived at Paris about a month ago to seek a place; but as he was provided with a rather large sum of money, he resolved to indulge in debauchery until it shou d be spent. He accordingly went to dine with some acquaintances and remained drinking until 4 o'clock in the morning. He then returned to his hotel in the Rue St. Honore, but was so drunk that he could hardly walk up stairs. In the morning a person called to see him, and was directed to his room which was situated at the bottom of an insolated corridor. To his astonishment he found him hanging by the neck, by his cravat, to the handle of the door. He had, it appeared, is trying to open the door, slipped, and his cravat, which he wore very loose, caught by the handle. The efforts he made to release himself, in his state of intoxication, were fruitless, and he remained hanging until he was completely strangled.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Commercial says:

It is believed that the land forces to be sent from this country, instead of being limited, as was at first intended, to ten thousand men, will amount to twenty-five thousand, while the French contingent will be not less than forty-five thousand. The latter is to include ten thousand Arab soldiers from Algeria, co-religionists with the Turks, and likely, from their ferocity and discipline combined to prove a most formidable band.

The Staats Zeitung of New York (German paper) having characterized the Germans of that city as greenhorns, on account of their opposition to the Nebraska bill, the latter to the number of four or five thousand, turned out in procession on Monday; with banners and music, and paid the Zeitung a visit to salute it with "cat's music," as they called it. The greater share of those in the procession wore evergreens in their hats, which they cast off before the office, leaving their greenness for the editor. On their return, they saluted the offices of the New Yorker, Democrat, Abend, Zeitung, (two other German papers,) and the Tribune with cheers.

HOMESTEAD BILL.—The Journal of Commerce's correspondent writes:—The Homestead bill owed much of its strength in the House to the fact that it was believed to be a counteracting measure to that provision of the Kansas Nebraska bill which obliterates the Missouri Compromise line. The sixth section, which admits aliens now resident to the benefits of the bill, was not embraced in the original bill. The Homestead bill is a measure kindred in object to the Kansas Nebraska bill; that is they both look to the same policy of bringing more of the public domain into market for the purpose of squandering it as soon as possible. The Homestead bill will send an army of alien anti-slavery men into our new territories as soon as the lands can be surveyed, which will, of course, outvote and expel the slaveholders with their slaves, if any there should be in the territory."

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.—The ladies of Steuben, Me., incensed at the backwardness and stupidity of their lords, lately got up a ball on their own account. Three female managers hired the hall, furnished refreshments—sent cards of invitation to about forty gentlemen—had a regular shave-down, or dance with them—treated upon their male partners to supper and paid the bills! They were unable to procure a female violinist, but got over the difficulty by dressing up a man in petticoats.—Boston Chronicle.

The three dollar gold coin authorized by the last Congress, will be issued as soon as the dies now making are completed.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 70, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. It should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him.

A mother came home to my shop and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, as I can show all, if they will let my grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever gave any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, for it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circulars around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it one time removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as a NATURAL RUNNING REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is now ceasing by cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Mosquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over Ninety Bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranted sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

ABOUT CATS.—The Traveller tells a story of a cat in South Boston, that discharges all the duties of a watch dog, and will attack any stranger that approaches its master's premises. Our neighbor Carter has a cat that is a general favorite all over our building. Tom can't speak, but he'll make you know when he wants a door opened as well as if he could talk, and appears conscious of all that's said to him. On Saturday the clerk cut off a piece of cheese and told him to eat it "Astor house fashion." He made a motion to it as if to take it up with his teeth, when, recovering himself, he reached out his paw, took the cheese up gracefully, and put it into his mouth. Tom hasn't an enemy in this world, and John says that even the rats have a regard for him. Tom was a valorous cat in his youth, and he had a black brother that was just like him.—One day a man came into Mr. Carter's store with a large and cynical looking bull dog—one that seemed to turn up his nose at all feline flesh. The man told them to look out for their cats, but he was told that they would risk the cats if he would his dog. While they were talking about it, a howling was heard in the back part of the store, and instantly the dog darted by his master toward the street door with a cat attached to each end of him, and they did not relinquish their hold until they got to Congress street. Tom has lost much of his early fire, but he is a good cat yet.

DORCHESTER TURNPIKE.—The President and Directors of the Dorchester Turnpike Corporation gave a dinner to the County Commissioners, Stockholders, Selectmen, &c., at the United States Hotel, Boston, on Tuesday. About fifty gentlemen sat down to the table, which was loaded with the choicest viands. Edward Sharpe, Esq., presided, assisted by Lewis Pierce, Esq. After the cloth was removed, Mr. Sharpe gave a history of the Corporation from its formation in 1805 to the occasion which had drawn them together to commemorate the opening of the Turnpike as a free avenue. Only two of its original stockholders are now living, Edward Sharpe and Dr. Henry Gardner. It paid no dividends for twenty-five years, and has undergone many vicissitudes. After interesting speeches and toasts from Messrs. Pierce, Sharpe, Safford, Whitman, Childs, King, Fowler, Richardson and others, the company dispersed, highly pleased with the entertainment, and hoping they might be invited to a similar "funeral" of the few remaining turnpikes in the Commonwealth.

AARON BURR'S WIFE.—The Paris Patrie of a late date has the following: "At the last Tuilleries ball, the brilliant toilette of a stranger, with an incredible number of diamonds, attracted the attention of all present. In a moment the attention was changed to the most intense curiosity, when Louis Napoleon was observed to accost the lady and remain some moments in conversation. The enigma was soon solved. The lady was the widow of Mr. Aaron Burr, formerly Vice President of the United States, with whom Louis Napoleon was on terms of intimacy whilst in the country, and at the end of fifteen years he has recognized the widow of his old American friend."

This probably alludes to Madame Jumel, the wealthy second wife of Col. Burr, who obtained a divorce from him a few years previous to his death. She owns a large landed estate on the Island of Malta.—Cincinnati Inquirer.

PRESENTS TO A BOSTON MINISTER.—Many of the clergymen of this city of past generations kept exact records of their sermons, journeys, company and presents. The private journal of one of these venerable men of the last century is now before us, and we obtain a good insight into the social customs of the times by its perusal. We find the list of presents quite interesting, and what in these days would excite surprise, is the fact, that the gift of a single book is not mentioned, while money, a silk gown, gloves, a wig, and hands, were received, and creature comforts were acknowledged each month. The record of the year, which is more than a half century ago, opens with the mention of a turkey; the next donation received is stated to be 75 cigars; oranges are mentioned seven times during the year; also one "demijohn of spirit," one gallon of gin, a barrel of cider, and a dozen Muscat wine. The Thanksgiving gifts received are as follows: from one parishoner a box of cigars and four pounds of tea; from another one-half a barrel of flour; from a third, a turkey; a fourth, a turkey and three fowls; a fifth, a pair of ducks; a sixth, a turkey; a seventh, a dozen of oranges; and the eighth gave a spareribs of pork.—Boston Transcript.

MANUFACTURING DIVIDENDS.—Forty of the largest New England Manufacturing Companies, which have made their dividends for the past year, it is found, when summed up, show an average of only about 7 1-2 per cent. on aggregate capitals of nearly thirty millions of dollars. Some of the concerns have made handsome profits, but they are the exceptions; while a few have declared no dividends at all.—Newburyport Herald.

The receipts of the American Tract Society for the last month were $60,056, including $29,526 in donations. The gratuitous circulation of publications since April 1 exceeds 46,000,000 pages. The daily issue of books is about 5,000, and of other publications, including periodicals, nearly 50,000. An unknown donor has sent to the treasurer nearly $1000 as a "thank offering."

TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 1854.

THE SOUTHERN VIEW.

It may be amusing if not instructive to our northern population to learn the political principles which prevail in the south. We hear of the "frame-work of southern society," and southrons sometimes say that the north do not understand it, meaning perhaps to convey the idea that it is so complicated as to be involved in some mystery. The following is an extract from a speech in the U. S. House of Representatives, Jan. 19, 1854, of the Hon. L. M. Keitt of South Carolina.

"It is not my purpose, Mr. chairman, to debate the institution of slavery, thrust upon the notice of the committee at an early period of its session. It is true it is imbedded in the foundations of our society, and interwoven with every fibre and muscle of our polity; it is true its destruction would spread a sirocco blight over a splendid portion of this confederacy, and, in blood and blackness, would extinguish all its hopes in the future. But impregnable as are these reasons, we rest its defence upon a still more solid basis. Founded upon an inextinguishable law of God, appointing an inferior organization to the African race, and also upon a grave natural necessity, we believe it is the corner-stone of republicanism, and that with it a pure religion will culminate. Government, like all things material, must rest upon a substratum, and that substratum is its industrial class." He then states that the substratum is the African race, which, he says, "is an enduring not a conquering race."

The last position is not exactly a historic fact. A great army from Asia under the command of a celebrated chieftain, once marched up the Nile, and with great slaughter was repulsed by an African army. There are also some accounts of brave soldiers from the land of Cush going over to aid the Roman cohorts. We have heard of Hannibal and his troops—we have heard of the many thousands of white christian people captured and held in slavery on the Barbary coast, in modern times, and something of a Hebrew nation enslaved, in ancient times, in Eastern Africa. At this period we should have some fears about living in the Palmetto State, where there are 274,623 whites, and 393,884 colored, were the latter in a state of nature, with all the revengeful propensities of uncivilized man. But Mr. Keitt says, the latter are the "industrial class"—the substratum of Southern society. This conveys a curious idea to us, Yankees, who hold to the dignity of labor. Will Mr. K. inform us what the other class do for a living? We hope they do not depend upon the substratum, for should it happen to have a heave up, it might upset the superstructure, or "frame work."

Another idea, new to some, is that Republicanism, at this age of progress, has got a new corner-stone. But we need not be surprised at new discoveries since the old foundations of our government were laid.

Mr. K.'s other position in substance, that slavery is a Divine appointment, that a race on one great continent were created and colored, on account of "a grave natural necessity" to be converted into "the industrial class"—to be the producers in order to support the other classes in indolence, supposed to be the mother of the vices, is not entirely new; but as there have been more white than black slaves in the world, it seems that each race has, at times, answered all the purposes of a substratum—but how the latter can make "pure religion culminate," may be well understood in South Carolina, even if it is beyond our dull Northern comprehension. The "sirocco blight" may be seen by standing upon the dividing line between a free and slave state.

BOSTON BUSINESS CARDS.

Our collection of Boston Cards for the coming Spring business, appears for the first time to-day.

The stores which advertise here, are chiefly, though not exclusively, wholesale establishments, and many of them large.

They exhibit for sale, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Clothing, Umbrellas and Parasols, Daguerreotypes and Ear Trumpets, Lozenges and Iron Castings, Carpets and Printing Types, Window Shades and Sasaparilla.

There are also Boiler Iron and Confectionery, White Lead and Window Glass, Cylinder Saws and Summer Clothing, Iron Axles and Pitch Lozenges. Black Ink, Blank Books and Stationery, Shoe Tools and Findings, Shawls and silks, Sewing Silks and Paper Hangings.

Steam Engines and Boilers, Snuff, Tobacco and Cigars, are for sale,—and Land Warrants and Travelling Agents wanted.

The list was collected and formed by V. B. Palmer, the great American Newspaper Agent—the pioneer in this great enterprise, in which he stands without equal.

SHORT BUT GOOD.—We were much pleased the other day to see proposed as the moral creed or central precept of a very unpopular sect, these three words, Injure no one. It is worthy of imitation by all christians.

Good butter is only ten cents a pound in Cincinnati.

MARCH.

A doubtful month this, between winter and spring. Sleighs and sleds, wagons carts and trucks are used, but the wheels are fast rising into the majority.

Sliding and skating are finished among the boys, and probably snow balling for the present, though we may have a little more of the latter; but the first piece of dry land we have seen this month, had a dozen boys on it playing marbles, some of which rolled off into the circumjacent mud.

The ice will be gone presently, and then look out for bat and ball—bass and mounters we were going to say, but perhaps we are too old fashioned to be understood.

Among the other Spring birds that have got thawed out, we heard some robins on Sunday, and on Monday morning we saw a razor grinder on Market Square. Quere, what becomes of the razor grinders in winter?

THE HOMESTEAD BILL.—This important bill, giving a large farm to every free white man who will go and settle on U. S. land at the west, having passed the House by a large majority, is now pending in the Senate. The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Commercial says of it:

"I have no doubt that the homestead bill has been favored by many northern men in the House, who are really opposed to it, merely because it will counteract the supposed effect of the Nebraska bill—that it will promote the settlement of the new territories by free laborers. There are new indications that both bills will fail—that the House will not go for the Nebraska bill without the Homestead bill, and that the Senate will not concur in the Homestead bill without the Nebraska bill."

We do not feel sure about that. We rather incline to the opinion that both will pass, and that Congress will devote much time to them which ought to have been spent on other objects.

"A young gentleman, whose eye-sight has partially failed by every application," advertises in the New York Herald, that he wishes to "make the acquaintance of an agreeable lady who will occasionally read aloud to him."

For every, read severe, as it was probably written, and the paragraph means something.

Oliver Shaw, a well known musical composer, was blind,—but he married a wife who could see, and who wrote down the music as he sung or played, and read to him the music he wished to play, or sing or hear. Their children, two daughters, were fine musicians, and estimable women.

THE RELIGIOUS SENTIMENT OF NEW ENGLAND.—The great protest of the clergy of New England against the Nebraska bill, has been forwarded to Washington by a sub-committee. Rev. Henry M. Dexter, of the Pine street church, Boston, has charge of the document. It contains upwards of three thousand clerical names, including those most distinguished in all our Protestant denominations, our Presidents of Colleges, Theological Professors, &c.

The venerable Dr. Charles Lowell heads the list from Boston. Next to his signature appear those of Lyman Beecher, D. D., Manton Eastburn, Episcopal Bishop of this Diocese, Baron Stow, D. D., Joseph Cummings, S. Streeter, Geo. W. Blagden, D. D., A. H. Vinton, D. D., and about 80 others. It is signed by the clerical Professors of Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Williams, Amherst, Middlebury, Waterville, Trinity, Bowdoin Colleges, Brown University, the University of Vermont, and the Theological Seminaries at Andover, New Haven, Bangor, Cambridge, Concord, and East Windsor. Such a document never was before seen.

REORGANIZATION OF THE JUDICIARY SYSTEM OF THE UNITED STATES.—In conformity with a vote of the Senate, the President has communicated to Congress an elaborate letter from Attorney General Cushing upon the defeats of the present United States judicial system and the remedy therefor. Mr. Cushing says:—

A change is felt on all hands to be desirable, if not necessary. And there is a form of experimental change which can easily be made, and easily returned from if it fail to receive the public confidence on trial, which, in my judgment, meets most of the advantages and avoids the disadvantages of either of the other plans; which does not involve any complex legislation; and which is respectfully proposed as a solution of the problem.

It is, to have at present nine, and prospectively ten circuits; to rearrange the existing nine circuits so as to comprehend within them all the judicial districts except those of California; to appoint nine assistant circuit judges, one for each circuit; to preserve unimpaired the jurisdiction of the circuit courts in all the districts, as well those now within the circuits as those without; to withdraw the circuit powers from the district judges and revert them in the proper circuit court exclusively; to have the ordinary circuit court holden as it is in each judicial district, and composed of the Justice of the Supreme Court residing in the circuit, as now, but to associate with him an assistant circuit judge, or either of them instead of district judge, the latter being left to his proper district duties, there being a real and effective circuit court even in cases of the necessary occasional absence of the Justice of the Supreme Court.

LAW OF SCHOOLS.—In a recent case at Lawrence, where a teacher was sued for injuring a boy under her charge, by correction, the great principle of law was conceded by both parties that for school purposes the teacher is possessed of all the authority of the parent, and is not liable for any punishment of a pupil unless it be such a punishment as would be unlawful if inflicted by a parent.—Verdict for defendant.

LOCAL.

VOTES.

We shall be much facilitated in giving early the result of the election in this vicinity, if town clerks, postmasters, station-masters, or others, will forward us at the earliest opportunity, such returns as they can gather. We will endeavor to repay the favor by forwarding such persons carcy copies of returns received. Our newsboys on the Eastern and P. & C. Railroads, afford good opportunity; will our friends please avail themselves of it.

GETTING NOTORIOUS.—Our friend, the Senator from Illinois, from whom we have recently received, at different times, several copies of a letter in reply to Hon. Edmund Burk, is rising, in the minds of the people. This morning at about 6 o'clock, our attention was directed by a watchman to an effigy suspended from a branch of the large elm tree in front of Mrs. Thompson's house in Islington street. Attached to the effigy was a piece of paper, probably with writing on it, but it could not be read by the light of the moon. We suppose it referred to our friend Douglass, from the fact that he has been elevated in the same way in other cities. We "know nothing" of the author.

RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION.—We understand that the directors of the Boston and Maine and the Eastern Railroads had a meeting of conference, a few days since, with reference to a consolidation of the two roads.—This desirable object was not secured by the conference, but the impediments to a union of the two corporations were found to be much fewer than had been anticipated; indeed, if we are rightly informed, they were reduced to almost a single one—the arrangement of the freight earnings. These were found very much greater on the Maine than on the Eastern road; but on passengers, the earnings of the two roads were about equal.

It is much to be desired that these two important, competing railroads should be consolidated; and we trust that the efforts on this behalf may be renewed and continued until the work shall be accomplished.—Boston Traveller.

ST. LOUIS.—The people of St. Louis have been excited recently by the appearance among them of the whole Legislature and government of the state of Illinois, who celebrated the opening of the Chicago and Illinois Railroad by a visit to the chief city of Missouri, to make acquaintance with their St. Louis friends, and to show that the "state policy" which had made Alton and St. Louis rivals in a measure had been abandoned with good grace. A great banquet was given to the distinguished visitors at the Mercantile Library Hall, at which the Mayor presided, and several good speeches were made and good toasts offered.

Another excitement of a more local nature was produced about the same time. A German named Huffman, had attempted to take liberties with the wife of Lewis Baker, of the sixth ward of that city, in whose family he had formerly boarded, though then all the parties boarded at the St. Charles Hotel.—Baker furnished his wife with a pistol, and upon Huffman's intruding into her chamber she fired two shot at him. He fled, but was soon after captured, and was about being put into an omnibus for the purpose of being taken to the calabooose, when he was rescued and taken to one of the rooms of the hotel. There he was tied, and whipped with two cowhides most unmercifully, his back being entirely cut to pieces, and then a brutal and revolting outrage was perpetrated upon him, and by which his life is endangered. Baker, Hawley, Smith, and Embree, one of the proprietors of the St. Charles, were at once arrested for this offence. They were held, however, in only nominal bail, and a German indignation meeting was holden, at which the Mayor attended, and made a sensible speech, calming down the feeling excited by the incendiary remarks of some of the speakers.—All the parties but one, who had disappeared, were rearrested and held in higher bail. Baker was in custody, and the St. Charles was vacated by its occupants.—Boston Courier.

THE CHOLERA.—The Commonwealth has an article on "the anticipated visitation" of the cholera next summer. The writer entertains little or no doubt that the terrible disease will be here, and unless extraordinary efforts are seasonably made, that it will be more fatal in this city than it was in 1849. The following table is given to show that our cities are in a far worse sanatory condition than London:

Mortality of July, August and September.

	Deaths.	Population.	Ratio.
Philadelphia,	2,925	400,000	1 to 135 ½
New York,	7,629	550,000	1 to 72
Baltimore,	1,610	180,000	1 to 112 ½
Boston,	1,291	150,000	1 to 108
London,	12,918	2,200,000	1 to 169

A table is also given, showing the mortality in the several American cities, and also in Charleston, S. C., during a single week—that ending on the 14th of January last. According to this exhibit, Boston stands third, having a higher rate of mortality than Charleston or Philadelphia, and a little higher than Baltimore. New York holds its place as having the highest rate of mortality. The writer adds:—"The foregoing statements and tables indicate that a great deal can be done by sanatory measures, to prevent the waste of human life. With the probability of being soon visited by the cholera, it would seem that the city authorities should lose no time in adopting efficient measures to protect the public from the ravages of the epidemic."

☞ In the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, on Monday, the opinion of the Court was delivered, says the Boston Journal, on a liquor case involving the constitutionality of some parts of the liquor law of 1852.—Judge Shaw read the opinion of the Court, which was to the effect that the so called "seizure clause" is unconstitutional.

A VALUABLE REMEDY.—The New Haven (Ct.) Palladium says:

We are able to record another case of the complete cure of erysipelas by the simple application of raw cranberries pounded fine.—The patient was a young lady, one side of whose face had become so much swollen and inflamed, that the eye had become closed and the pain excessive. A poultice of cranberries was applied, and after several changes the pain ceased, the inflammation subsided, and in the course of a couple of days every vestige of the disease had disappeared. The case occurred in the family of one of the editors of the Palladium, and we can therefore vouch for its truth.

THE BILLS FOR THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.—Washington, March 13.—The majority report of the Senate committee on the Pacific railroad is now in readiness to be laid before the Senate. The bill provides that twenty sections of land to the mile shall be given in the territories, and that the company shall receive at the rate of about $1000 a mile for carrying the mails, striking from the Mississippi river, and connecting to the Pacific. The contract to remain in force for thirty years. This, it is calculated, will be about $2,000,000 a year, or a bonus of $60,000,000 for the full period. No particular route is designated.—The President is authorised to receive bids for the service, taking the above as a basis, and to let the contract to whatever responsible company may make the lowest bid. The minority of the committee will report in favor of three routes, granting compensation on each, and a fair compensation for carrying the mails. The highest compensation now allowed by law is $300 a mile. It is understood that a good deal of feeling exists in the Senate relative to the Gadsden treaty, and several important amendments have been proposed by the Committee on Foreign Relations. It is not likely that the treaty will be ratified, unless amended so as to fix upon the mouth of the Colorado river, and give the United States without dispute a port on the Gulf of California.

LIBERIA.—The ship Isle de Cuba, which arrived at New York a day or two since, in twenty-nine days from Gambia, brought among other passengers the Rev. D. H. Peterson, who left New York in November last, for Liberia, at the instance of the colored church at Rome, N. Y., to examine and report upon the condition and prospects of the new republic. During the two months which Mr. Peterson passed in Monrovia, he was treated with great hospitality and enjoyed uninterrupted health. He says that the country presented every indication of prosperity. Contentment, industry, thrift and comfort, seemed everywhere to exist. Liberty, equality and self-government exhibited the benignest influences. He preferred the appearance of the Republic to that of the British settlements. Mr. Peterson went from Monrovia to Gambia in the English mail steamer, touching at Sierra Leone. Among his fellow passengers was Mr. Abram Caldwell, of New York, who visited Liberia as the agent of an agricultural society. Mr. Caldwell was unwell at leaving Monrovia, and died at Sierra Leone. Mr. Peterson will soon publish a report of his mission.

HORRIBLE CASE OF STARVATION AND DEATH—THE BODY OF A MAN EATEN.—We have the painful duty of recording to-day one of the most heart-sickening cases of disaster at sea, it has ever been our lot to speak of. The bark Saxonville, Capt. Hutchins, arrived at this port yesterday, reports having fallen in with on the 1st inst., the wreck of the bark Orline St. John, of Gardiner, Me., Captain Rodbird, from Norfolk, bound to Barbadoes. The Orline St. John had been bove down and dismasted February 21st, in a gale from the southeast; her cabin was filled with water, and a colored seaman named Martin drowned. The second mate (name unknown), was drowned in the cabin on the night of the 22d. Capt. Rodbird's wife died in his arms on the 22d, and another colored seaman named Douglas died on the 23d, from exposure and want. From that time till taken off by the Saxonville, on the 1st inst., the survivors, Capt. Rodbird, two sailors and the cook, were without provisions and water, and to sustain life were obliged to feed on the body of the colored sailor Douglas. On the arrival of the Saxonville, one of the sailors above named was taken to the Hospital with a broken leg, and the others remain in a most distressing state on board at India wharf.—Boston Atlas.

In Sweden a new religious sect has sprung up, called the Contemplators, because they believe that, in meditating incessantly on the essence and qualities of God, which they call contemplating God, they attain the perfection of saints. They think that everybody who does not join them will certainly be damned. A peasant named John Olsson, of the village of Otteslaest, in Gothenburg, cut the throats of his two children, one aged a year, and the other eighteen months, to, as he said, preserve them from etrenal condemnation. — Boston Post.

Josiah Perham, the "Gift Enterprise" man, offers to buy the Crystal Palace and its appurtenances, out and out from the stockholders, at a fair price, to be settled between the parties, provided they can assign to him their lease, or he will purchase the whole or a major part of the stock, provided that, in the latter case, the management of the Exhibition shall be placed under his control for the ensuing year.

In the Supreme Court at Portland, Hugh Doland, some time imprisoned for liquor selling, having been brought in on a writ of habeas corpus, was discharged by Justice Shepley, on the ground that the alleged sale was in a dwelling-house, a place not specified in the fifth section of the Maine Law.—Boston Chronicle.

Miss Catharite Hayes has gained the suit brought against her in New York to recover a forfeiture of $4,000, for not fulfilling a contract she made with Mr. Wardwell for her services for three months on her first arrival in this country. The court decided for the defendant, on the ground that the contract had been assigned to a third party.

TRENTON, March 9.—After a whole day spent in considering Mr. Mills's substitute terminating the monopoly of the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company in fifteen years, it was ordered to a third reading with an amendment reducing all fares to 2 1-2 cents per mile.

NEW BEDFORD RIOTERS.—We learn from the Standard, that Daniel Green, one of the election rioters, has been fined 30 dollars for assaults, and three of them bound over for trial in the Court of Common Pleas for riot, viz: Daniel Green is under bonds to the amount of $1000; Marshall, the Providence bully, $700; Albert Green $500, and Hadley Brownell $400—making an aggregate of $2,600.

MARCH.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

The stormy March is come at last,
With wind, and cloud, and changing skies;
I hear the rustling of the blast,
That through the snowy valley flies.

Ah, passing few are they who speak,
Wild stormy month! in praise of thee;
Yet though thy winds are loud and bleak,
Thou art a welcome month to me.

For thou, to northern lands, again
The glad and glorious sun doth bring,
And thou hast joined the gentle train,
And wear'st the gentle name of Spring.

And, in thy reign of blast and storm,
Smiles many a long, bright, sunny day,
When the changed winds are soft and warm,
And heaven puts on the blue of May.

Then sing aloud the gushing rills
And the full springs, from frost set free,
That, brightly leaping down the hills,
Are just set out to meet the sea.

The year's departing beauty hides
Of wintry storms the sullen threat;
But in thy sternest frown abides
A look of kindly promise yet.

Thou bring'st the hope of those calm skies,
And that soft time of sunny showers,
When the wide bloom on earth that lies,
Seems of a brighter world than ours.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE AMERICAN COLONIZATION SOCIETY.—A Baltimore correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, informs the friends of African Colonization, that the late decision in regard to the McDonough will, among others, settles one important point, by securing for forty years, some $30,000 per annum to the American Colonization Society. Reverdy Johnson, the opposing counsel in the case, admits the fact.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, have made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him to the inventor, when a patent is not obtained, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity, where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by loosening the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIZER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva, with great success.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can now purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates of the wonderful relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green Dr. Tobias has put up a BOWEL LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc. which street, New York.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Dr. W. S. Channing, Rev. A. A. Miner, and Hon. Amasa Walker, appeared before a Legislative committee on Thursday, to urge the abolition of capital punishment in this State. Of late years the penal laws of England and this country have been greatly modified to meet the changes in public sentiment. In four States, Maine, Michigan, Rhode Island and Wisconsin, no executions now take place, and it was not probable the Legislature that passed our present law, intended to have any more in Massachusetts. We have five men under sentence of death, and the end of one, Clough, is near at hand.—Newburyport Herald.

No doubt this paragraph states the facts correctly. It might be added that this man Clough, is constructed to death by the judges, who decided that the new law requires the Governor to fix a day.

No doubt society can well afford to spare the murderer Clough: but it is not quite so certain that they can afford to bear the bad effect of an execution.

We have never yet heard or seen the first word of complaint against the working of the law in Maine on this subject. No pretence has been set up, that crime has increased there.

SENATOR BADGER'S AFFECTION FOR HIS "DEAR OLD MAMMY!"—The correspondent of the N. Y. Times says:

Senator Wade made a capital argument against the Nebraska bill on Friday night, handling the subject with remarkable skill, and by his ready wit, prompt repartees and pointed sarcasms, reminding his auditors of a gifted son of Ohio, not now a member of the Senate. One or two of his points are too good to be lost.

Mr. Badger had drawn a glowing picture of the institution of slavery, telling in the course of his remarks of his good old "mamma," the negro nurse who had nursed him from childhood to manhood, and who, he bitterly complained, he could not take with him into Nebraska, if the opponents of the bill succeeded in securing the prohibition of slavery therein.

Mr. Wade saw but one difficulty in the case. Nobody had any objection to the Senator's taking his dear, affectionate old "mammy" to Nebraska with him, and nobody would think of interfering to prevent it. The only difficulty that the Senator would meet was, that he couldn't sell her when he got her there. Roars of laughter greeted the peculiarly ridiculous attitude in which this sally placed the Senator from North Carolina. At another time Mr. Wade was arguing to show that slaves were not property in the constitutional meaning of the term. If a man carried his horse out of a slave State into a free State, he did not lose his property interest in him; but if he carried his slave into a free State, the law made him free at once.

Mr. Butler, interposing, said: "Yes, but they won't stay with you; they will come back to us in spite of you."

Mr. Wade responded, amid roars of laughter—"Oh yes, I know they love you so well that you have to make a Fugitive Slave Law to catch 'em."

HOW THEY VOTED.—The Boston Chronicle, speaking of the test vote on repealing the Massachusetts law, says of the Representatives:—

Only 63 out of one hundred and seventy-two whigs (the Speaker not voting,) in the House voted for repeal—and that of the anti-repealers, are five whig members from Boston, viz: Otis Clapp, Timothy Farrar, Benj. W. Seamans, Benj. Smith, and Hiram Bosworth, who it is stated were pledged to repeal before the election, and in consequence received the Liberal or Union vote, without which they could not have been elected.

Two thirds of the democratic members voted against repeal, while the free soilers went in a body against it. The nine members from Lowell, (one sick at home,) some of whom were accounted as repealers and received the Liberal vote of that city, opposed the repeal; New Bedford, 2 for and 3 against repeal, (among the latter, the late and defeated whig candidate for Mayor;) Salem, 2 for repeal and 3 against; Newburyport unanimous for repeal, &c.

This statement shows conclusively, that the law in that State is not a party question, but that a great majority of all parties resolve to retain the law. And when we consider that the Boston members, all but 8, voted for repeal, it appears that the majority in the rural districts is most decisive.

Hon. John P. Hale made a very eloquent speech in the City Hall, to a large audience, last evening, in opposition to the Nebraska bill. After he closed, much to the astonishment of most present, Col. Rowell of Allenstown, who has been one of the hardest of the "Hard" democrats, came forward and acknowledged his conversion to Free-Soilism in a very effective speech, which was received with rapturous applause. It is shrewdly suspected by the knowing ones that disappointment in certain quarters has something to do with his sudden conversion, as well as the advocacy of the Nebraska bill by the administration.—Manchester Mirror.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1854.

THE ELECTION.

The Annual Election for State, District, County and City Officers, occurred on Tuesday; and was conducted with great decorum and good order, in all the wards of this city.

The vote for Mayor, it will be perceived, was quite full, resulting in the re-election of Mayor Walker, by an excess of 111 votes over all others.

On the ballots for State and District Officers, the free democrats polled about 200 votes—being much the largest number they ever threw here.

In Ward Three, the regular democratic ticket prevailed throughout, for Representatives, and city and ward officers. In Ward Two, the whig ticket prevailed in like manner. But in Ward One, the variety of tickets, particularly the Know Nothings, prevented the choice of one Representative, Aldermen, two Common Councilmen, one Assessor, Overseer, and one Selectman. These officers are to be voted for to-day.

The vote on the Plurality Law for electing a Mayor, foots up Yeas 485, Nays 528: so the provision is rejected.

Seabrook, 1 whig.

☞ 100 guns were fired on Tuesday morning, on Boston Common, by some citizens who rejoiced with great joy that the seizure clause of the liquor law is decreed void. One of the gunners, named McLaughlin, was badly injured. The Post informs us that "their honors the Court," were toasted overmuch, and their healths drank standing, the day before. It is rather probable that some of the drinkers did not stand, by the time they got through.

Major Bryant, U. S. marshal for Missouri, was, when last heard from, at the hotel in Bentonville, Arkansas, surrounded by seventeen lawless men, and he had sent to U. S. officers at Fort Gibson and written to the Governor for aid. Major Bryant was driven into this position on account of having attempted to arrest men who for a twelvemonth have been destroying with circular saws all the pines on the public lands in McDonald county. To the number of 150 they resisted the marshal and his deputies, and forced them to flee over the line into Arkansas.

Two and two may make four; but that is no reason why you should admit it. Never admit anything. Recollect, Protection was ruined, from admitting cheap corn.—Punch.

AMENDMENT TO THE CITY CHARTER.

Yes	193	No	100

Among the supplies provided for the English troops which are embarking for Turkey, are 12 large medicine chests, and 30 panniers, to be carried on mules and donkeys, and neatly packed with every description of medical and surgical appliance. Among the items included are 1000 lbs of lint, 1000 lbs of tow, 200 old sheets, and 1000 yards of adhesive plaster. These are some of the realities of war.

A writer in the New York Observer, states that there has been no general revival, either in the Presbyterian or Congregational churches, since the year 1832—a period of 22 years. The papers of those denominations are writing earnestly and strongly in favor of revivals, as the only possible means that can save the churches from dissolution and ruin.

Thomas Motley and William Blackledge, the two white men who tortured a negro to death, were to have been executed at Walterboro', S. C., on the 2d inst., and to be guarded to the place of execution by military, as it was feared their friends might attempt a rescue.

Last week, two clerks, white men, were publicly whipped in Charleston, S. C., for stealing from their employers. They were to receive by sentence thirty-nine lashes, laid on at three times, with such intervals that their wounds shall have time to heal. The first instalment consisted of twenty lashes.—Portland Argus.

The Baltimore Patriot says the amount of guano which will be imported into that city, the present year, will probably reach 60,000 tons, costing three millions of dollars.

LOCAL.

REFRESHMENTS.—Capt. Clark, under the Chronicle office, is laying in a good stock of sweet Oranges, fine Lemons, nice Dates, delicious Figs, prime Nuts, new Candies, Cakes, &c. We are generally apprised when he does this, by the receipt of a sample. Among other good things for 'lection-day, the Capt. wished us to try some of his Small Beer—which we found to possess so much "pop" that it was with difficulty it could be kept within bounds so small as a tumbler; but what we did succeed in conquering, was as good as the best. Call and see him.

☞ That effigy, of which we spoke yesterday, remained in its position, hung by the supposed neck, until about 9 o'clock A. M., when it was taken down by the boys, who had fine sport with it, dragging it through the streets, and finally threw it overboard to drown it. As we saw it all tattered and muddy, we lamented that the mighty had fallen so low. The placard attached to the back of the image bore the inscription—"S. Arnold Douglass—Traitor."

P. S. We perceive by his scorched remains on Market Square, this morning, that he was rescued from a watery grave and burnt.

☞ Members of the Young Men's Christian Association are particularly requested to be present at the meeting of the Association this evening.

EQUITY INDEED!—A suitor in Chancery, complaining of that reformed—but still radically—institution, says:

"A case is now pending in which you will be surprised to hear that the cost of examining witnesses is not less than £100 per diem."

We are going to war with Russia; and the expense of the contest will be enormous. But if we feel inclined to grumble at that, we may consider that we ought to think ourselves lucky in having to go to war instead of being obliged to go to Chancery.—Punch.

BUFFALO, 14th. A mob at Erie, tore up half a mile of Railroad track, yesterday, because the company ran their trains through on connected tracks. The sheriff remonstrated with the mob; and so did some of their leaders,—but in vain.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, March 13.

SENATE.—A large number of petitions against the Nebraska bill were presented.

Mr. Seward presented the petition of the New York tobacconists, asking for the imposition of a duty of 40 per cent. on imported cigars.

Mr. Fish presented a memorial praying for grant of land to aid New York in constructing a ship canal around Niagara Falls. It was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Numerous petitions, &c., were presented.—Among others, Mr. Everett presented remonstrances from 30 towns in Massachusetts against the Nebraska bill.

The Chair laid before the Senate a message from the President communicating copies of the correspondence in 1850, between Mr. Schenck, our Minister at Brazil, and the State Department, touching the African slave trade. Also a message from the President transmitted in reply to the resolutions of the last session, concerning the arrest and imprisonment of James H. West, by the authorities of Cuba, in 1851. Referred and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Gwin, from the Select Committee, reported a bill providing for the construction of a railroad from the Mississippi Valley to the Pacific Ocean. It was then made the special order for Monday the 27th inst.

The Vermont election case was taken up.

Mr. Phelps continued his remarks for one hour and a half in support of his claim.

Mr. Badger replied.

Mr. Foot got the floor, when the subject was postponed.

An Executive session then ensued, when the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—Messrs. Hunt and Lane made personal explanations, growing out of the exciting proceedings of Friday.

The joint resolutions for the relief of the San Francisco rescuers, were taken up, but after some debate were again referred to the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. McDougal, from the Select Committee, reported a bill establishing a railroad and telegraph to the Pacific.

The House refused by yeas 116, to nays 60, not two-thirds, to make it the special order for the second Tuesday of May and referred it to the Committee of the Whole.

The bill differs somewhat from the Senate bill.

The House then went into committee on the new Deficiency bill.

Mr. Chamberlain of Indiana, spoke against the Nebraska bill. Adjourned.

In the House of Representatives, on Thursday, Mr. Kittredge of New Hampshire wished to present a remonstrance of three thousand citizens of New Hampshire against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, which was objected to; so the paper could not be presented under the rule. The House then went into committee on the Minnesota Land Bill.

Among the amendments made was one offered by Mr. Kerr of North Carolina, that the money arising from the sale of the reserved sections shall be paid to these states which have received no grants of land for internal improvement, according to their federal representation in Congress.

Mr. Matteson of New York moved for a modification of Mr. Kerr's amendment, to read, "the money arising from the sale of the alternate sections shall be paid to all the states in proportion to federal representation in Congress."

Mr. Matteson's amendment was rejected, and that of Mr. Kerr was adopted, by 87 to 61.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.—Mr. Gwin reported on Monday in the Senate, a bill for the construction of a first class railroad, with rails weighing not less than 70lbs per yard, through the territories, from the western border of one of the Mississippi States, to the eastern border of California. The designation of the route is left entirely to the company that shall contract for it. It is to be begun within three years from the making of the contract, and finished within seven years thereafter.—The contract may be taken by any company chartered by any state, and such company is to receive alternate sections of land within 20 miles of the road on each side.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Mr. Dean's resolution inquiring as to the propriety of suspending the neutrality laws with reference to Spain, in consequence of the seizure of the Black Warrior, was not introduced without authority.

SENATOR BENTON ON THE NEBRASKA BILL.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune writes:

Old Bullion is preparing for a demonstration against the bill. He is thus reported:—"The Senate is emasculated, sir. Yes, sir, it is emasculated. A majority do not belong to the masculine gender, sir. No, sir, do not belong to the masculine gender."

NEW YORK, March 13.—The steamer Star of the West arrived here this morning. She sailed from San Juan March 5th, with 500 passengers and one million dollars in specie on freight.

A terrible accident occurred in Virgin Bay, Lake Nicaragua. The launch containing several passengers capsized, and 24 persons were drowned; 19 bodies were recovered.

The launch which was lost in Virgin Bay, proves to be a boat which was convoying passengers to the steamer, to embark for New York. The boat was large enough to carry 50 passengers; but 80 were squeezed into her. She filled, and 24 were drowned.

The George Law sailed from Aspinwall on the 5th, with two hundred passengers and one million of dollars in specie.

HARTFORD, March 13.—A serious accident occurred on the New London and Palmer Railroad this afternoon. A passenger car attached to a freight train, going from New London to Willimantic, near North Windham, was thrown from the track down an embankment, turning over in its course, and lodging on a stump which was driven through the top of the car. There were sixteen passengers in the car at the time, fifteen of whom were more or less injured. The Rev. Mr. Tilden, of Willimantic, was considerably hurt.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.
PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.
If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.
It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.
Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.
It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.
Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.
Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green
Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

THE SABBATH BELL.

BY ELIZA COOK.

Peal on, peal on, I love to hear
The old church ding-dong soft and clear!
The welcome sounds are doubly blest
With future hopes and earthly rest.
Yet were no calling changes found
To spread their cheering echoes round,
There's not a place where man may dwell,
But he can hear a Sabbath bell.

Go to the woods, when Winter's song
Howls like a famished wolf along;
Or when the South winds scarcely stara
The light leaves of the trembling fern,
Although no cloister chimes ring there,
The heart is called to faith and prayer;
For all Creation's voices tell
The tidings of the Sabbath bell.

Go to the billows, let them pour
In gentle calm or headlong roar;
Let the vast ocean be thy home,
Thou'l find a God upon the foam;
In rippling swell or stormy roll,
The crystal waves shall wake thy soul;
And thou shalt feel the hallowed spell
Of the wide water's Sabbath bell.

The lark upon his skyward way,
The robin on the hedge row spray,
The bee within the wild thyme's bloom,
The owl amid the cypress gloom,
All sing in ever varied tone
A vesper to the Great unknown.
Of God's unnumbered Sabbath bells.

The Mississippi Legislature has passed a law to regulate the sale of spirituous liquors, which forbids under heavy penalties the sale of such liquors without license, and forbids the licensing of any person for this purpose, unless he shall first procure a petition requesting it, signed by a majority of the legal voters in the district or town where such liquors are to be sold.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 29 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. Eddy, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Pat., &c."

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, humor and has a about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always save it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well.—I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns.

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured the fever. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clean the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humor to the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what I do, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Morning Chronicle.

THE UNIVERSAL REPUBLICAN DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY held a regular meeting last evening, in the Stuyvesant Institute, at which a variety of business was transacted. Members were very indignant at the amendment made in the Nebraska Kansas bill, on motion of Senator Clayton, by which aliens who had declared their intentions to become citizens were excluded from the exercise of the franchise in the Territorial elections. It was ordered that a strong protest—not a petition—against the clause be forwarded to the House of Representatives. Colonel Forbes read an interesting proposition from the Cuban Junta, inviting members and others to send in a written prize treatise as to the best means of abolishing slavery in Cuba. The subject of slavery generally was then considered, and M. Rosset (in French) stated that he had many conversations on the subject with Gen. Lafayette in 1830, and that the Gen. was decidedly of opinion that the existence of slavery was dangerous to the stability of the Union, and very pernicious to the South itself. The German Military Commission reported that they had determined not to send out any men to aid the Sultan so long as he was allied with France and England. The Germans did not repudiate the principles of liberty, but objected to such aid for such a cause. It was announced that Col. Doheny would be present to explain to what point of Europe or Asia the 20,000 Irishmen lately organized were to go; but at 10 1-2 o'clock the Col. had not appeared.—N. Y. Herald.

RECRUITING IN IRELAND.—The English papers say that in Ireland the efforts of the recruiting parties have been successful in almost every locality where they have been made, and it will be found that the accessions made to the ranks of the military in Ireland within the last eight or ten days have been very considerable. The Leinster Express relates the following incident which took place in one of the market towns:

"A sergeant was, after his custom, importuning some persons to 'list,' when one, who appeared to be spokesman for the whole, advanced to ask something about their prospects in the army. He did not inquire whether the eating or the drinking might be good, or if they would have fair pay, or anything of that kind, but simply—'Musha, sir, d'ye think we'd ever git a proq at the Imperor of Rooshia?' Of course the sergeant said they would not fail to come face to face with the redoubtable Nicholas, and in five minutes after, her Majesty had some 20 additional soldiers, and, we sincerely believe, good and true ones, to the backbone."

REMOVING RAFTS BY SUBMARINE BLASTING.—The New Orleans Crescent says that an experiment will probably soon be made in submarine blasting, upon the raft which accumulated in the bayou Plaquemine, during the last sudden rise of the Mississippi, and now forms a barrier to the navigation of that channel. The raft, if not removed immediately, will doubtless soon become so extensive that a very long time will be required to remove it, and perhaps a permanent obstruction will grow up. It is believed that submarine charges, such as have been used at Hurl Gate, New York, would, by the violent commotion of the water, loosen the connection between the logs, tear the raft assunder, and permit the fragments to be carried away by the current. The State snag boats would then be able to complete the work. This method of operating has been advised by the State Engineer, and is now under the consideration of the Legislature.

LIGHT HOUSE ON COHASSET ROCKS.—In the House of Representatives on Friday, Mr. Fuller of Maine, asked permission to introduce from the Committee on Commerce, a joint resolution, and to have it considered at that time, "authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury and the Light House Board to determine upon the site, plan, and mode of constructing the light house upon Cohasset rocks, and for other purposes." The resolution was read a first and second time by its title, ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and having been engrossed it was subsequently read a third time and passed. We believe that an appropriation for the erection of a light house on Cohasset rocks was made at the last session of Congress, and we hope the commencement of the work will no longer be delayed.—Boston paper.

A WHIRLWIND.—Old Boreas is a good fellow in the main, but he sometimes cuts curious capers. A few days since the dwelling house, kitchen and smoke house of Mr. Ira Smith, near Winchester, Tenn., were entirely torn to pieces and blown away by a whirlwind. The family were in the house at the time, but succeeded in escaping from the door after the building had started on its aerial flight. Rafters and fragments of the furniture and building (which was a substantially built structure,) were strewn for a mile along the course of the tornado. What renders the occurrence somewhat singular, is the fact that although the house was situated within fifty yards of a large factory, and was surrounded on every side by other houses, it was the only one injured.

GREAT NEWS FOR SCOTLAND.—"It has been announced in Constantinople," said the Earl of Aberdeen—"that I have received a hogshead of gold from St. Petersburg." The next morning the Premier received a letter from the authorities of Aberdeen, begging to know when that hogshead would be on tap!—Punch.

THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1854.

MASSACHUSETTS LAW.

In the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, on Monday, the opinion of the Court was delivered, says the Boston Journal, on a liquor case involving the constitutionality of some parts of the liquor law of 1853. Judge Shaw read the opinion of the Court, which was to the effect that the so called "seizure clause" is unconstitutional.

The decision is said to have been unanimous, every judge assenting. And having carefully read the decision, we are satisfied of its correctness.

The case brought up, was a suit against an officer for seizing liquors.

The pith of the decision is seen in the following paragraphs.

It was competent in the Legislature to declare the possession of property in certain cases unlawful, when it becomes dangerous and obnoxious, and to pass a law for the seizure and destruction of property, such as contagious goods, gunpowder, &c., &c.

The question then arose whether the system authorized under the 14th section of the law in question is so repugnant to the bill of rights of Massachusetts as to be void. The bill of rights declares that the people shall be secure in their dwellings from all unreasonable search and seizure of their property.

But the law does not require the complainants to name the supposed criminal, but only the place,—and when a little liquor is informed against, all that is there, even lawfully, may be seized. "The section, therefore, requires unreasonable search and seizure, and is unconstitutional."

Objection is made to seizure of imported liquors in original packages.

Many of the rights of the citizens, as set forth in the bill of rights, are overlooked in this section. The bill of rights says that no person shall be deprived of his liberty, property and estate except by the judgment of his peers and the law of the land. There can be no doubt that the liquor before it was ordered to be destroyed is property. The first act under the section under consideration is an ex-parte statement by three complainants, who are not afterwards necessarily examined; if the owner of the liquor is known to the officer he is to be summoned, but the fact depends upon his being known; if the officer returns his name and he do not appear, then the liquor is adjudged forfeited; if the officer happens to return the wrong name then the liquor may be destroyed before the true owner is notified. Supposing that the true owner's name is given, and the order is to destroy forthwith, the summons to appear may reach him too late. This would be a proceeding inconsistent with the rights as a citizen.

In case the officer does not know the name of the owner, then the liquor is not to be destroyed until notice of the seizure has been posted up for two weeks. But this notice fixes no time or place when the claimant shall appear, have a trial and offer his proofs; it deprives him of the use of his property, and fails to surround him with all the safeguards necessary for the protection of the innocent. He should be informed of the charge upon which his property is held, and have time to prepare his defence and to meet his accusers face to face.

Another and more formidable objection is, supposing the owner has full notice to appear before the magistrate, no provision is made for a trial. The statute says that unless the owner can show that the liquors are wrongfully kept from him, they shall be destroyed; no such trial is had as can satisfy the bill of rights in regard to the protection of property.

We have always supposed that trial by jury was a right not to be dispensed with in any law:—and we have stated it repeatedly, in public and private, in regard to this law.

Another question to be decided in the case was the liability of the officer, the defendant in the present suit. He acted under the warrant of a magistrate, but this could not shield him from the consequences where the process is wrong and the magistrate has no jurisdiction, as in the present case, when the law is unconstitutional and void.

The reader will please to remember that this decision is not upon the Maine Law, but upon the Massachusetts Law as it was amended by its opponents before its passage. Yet the points complained of and now set aside, we believe, are nearly similar to those in the Maine Law.

The present decision will undoubtedly have an important bearing on future legislation upon similar enactments, as the competency of the Legislature to frame restrictive laws, subject to the Constitution, is fully and clearly stated.

The Legislature of Massachusetts, which is now in session, has just refused, by a great majority, to repeal the law. It is highly probable, therefore, that a proposition will be made immediately, for such amendments as will prevent the law from conflicting with the constitution, while they will endeavor to restrain or limit the drinking houses and tippling shops within some bounds.

FURTHER ACTION.

The above article was prepared for the Daily Chronicle of Wednesday, but the election news crowded it out.

The Boston papers of that day contain a document signed by the State Temperance Committee, in which they state that they have taken legal counsel on the subject, and say,

The decision was exclusively upon the 14th Section and its dependent provisions, and has nothing whatever to do with the other sections of the law. The Court say distinctly that one part of the same statute may be valid and another part void.

The other provisions of the law have been sanctioned by the same Court, and are therefore valid. The erroneous impression has quite extensively prevailed that the whole law was overthrown. We have left in full force the prohibitory principle, &c.

The Committee find in these and other provisions left a more efficient liquor law than any license system that can be devised.

They therefore recommend the enforcement of the remainder of the law,—and the amendment of the 14th section.

In the Massachusetts House of Representatives on Tuesday, an order was offered, calling for a joint special committee to consider and report what alterations, if any, are necessary to be made in the present liquor law, in consequence of the decision of the Supreme Court. A debate sprung up. Mr. Wiggin was opposed to any further action upon the subject. The "Maine Law" had received its death blow, and although it was nothing more than he had expected, there was something refreshing in the decision of the Supreme Court. He did not care about what the cliques, called "friends of temperance," wanted.

Finally the motion for the committee was adopted.

The Boston Courier of Wednesday morning contains accounts of six or seven liquor cases in the Police Court.

☞ If the telegraphic report of Mr. Everett's remarks in the Senate, on Tuesday, is not extremely unjust, then he has done injustice to himself, and to his previous reputation. He was formerly a clergyman himself:—and now when thousands of clergymen, who are also citizens, send in a petition by him, he seems ready to go down upon his knees before somebody who pretends it is disrespectful.—The South will despise such a man. What the north may think about him we cannot say.

A NIGHT IN THE SENATE.

Some miserable scribbler writes to the N. Y. Tribune from Washington, under the above caption, and professes to describe the scenes attendant upon the final passage of the Nebraska bill, in the Senate. He represents the leaders to have been beastly drunk, and teeming with oaths and vulgarity. Now those who know the members of that body, know that it is the gravest and most dignified assemblage in the world, and that this description must be a-l-l-long way beyond the truth. If the writer of that filthy communication has a seat among the reporters, he should be expelled; for he lacks common decency.—Eastern Argus.

We did not publish the description referred to, not because it was untrue, but because on the whole it did not suit us. We do not think the reporter should be expelled, unless his statements can be disproved; certainly not if he can prove their truth.

We have no doubt the Senate is both grave and dignified; but at the same time it has been our lot to know a distinguished Senator who was a drunkard. As to all night sessions; there never occurs one of them in either House, in which some member or members do not attend in a drunken state, and as a matter of course, disgrace themselves. If a reporter "lacks common decency," because he mentions such things, what shall we say of the men who do them?

NEWINGTON.—Winthrop Pickering, dem., is elected Representative; Reuben L. Lane, whig, John A. Pickering, and George De Rochmont, dem., Selectmen; Wm. Fabyan, Town Clerk.

NEW CASTLE.—John Amazeen, dem., is elected Representative, having 65 votes, to 56 for George Vennard, and one Free Soil.—Joseph H. Hart is re-elected Town Clerk. No choice for Selectmen; and as the old board refuse to hold over, a new trial is to be made this evening.

PRESENTATION.—Rev. J. L. Trefren, a Methodist preacher, who has for two years past been employed in the Globe Mill, left a few days since, to take charge of a society in Byfield, Newbury, upon which occasion the ladies and gentlemen of the room in which he has been employed, presented him with a set of Clarke's Commentaries on the Bible, accompanying the gift with an address in verse, well written and adapted to the occasion, but which our limits will not allow us to publish. We hope the new and young pastor may prosper in the field of his labors, and greatly benefit the community. The men who are called from fishing boats and other laborious pursuits, often by energy of character and a knowledge of the world, are enabled to overcome difficulties that would intimidate other men.—Newburyport Herald.

DEATH OF CAPT. RODBIRD.—Capt. Rodbird, of the bark Orline St. John, died on Saturday evening at nine o'clock at the Massachusetts General Hospital. His body is to be taken to Bath for interment. His daughter had arrived in Boston previous to his death. The colored seaman, whose name is Grant, not Hogan, has had one leg amputated, and may recover.

CADETS AT LARGE.—Among the cadets at large appointed by the President, are Jonathan B. Cilley, son of Hon. Mr. Cilley, formerly member of Congress from Maine, and Frank C. Goodrich, son of C. B. Goodrich of Boston.

The returns, so far as received, indicate the general success of the democratic ticket for State Offices, with diminished majorities.

A despatch from the N. H. Patriot says:

We have returns from nearly 180 towns.—They show the election of 161 democrats, and 103 Coalitson to the Legislature.

The same towns last year elected 116 democrats and 77 opposition. The democratic majority then was 89. If the remaining towns come in as last year, the democrats will have a majority of 45 in the House.

The towns to be heard from are mostly democratic, and the result cannot reduce the Democratic majority below 25. The democrats have prebably chosen 8 of the 12 Senators.

Baker's (dem.) majority for Governor will be about three thousand over all others. A majority of democrats are elected to the Council.

The Concord Statesman, in an extra dated 3 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, gives returns "from a large portion of the State," which it says, "make it certain that Mr. Baker has been chosen Governor, but by a vote largely reduced from that of Governor Martin last year." It adds:

"Whether the Democrats have any majority in the House remains to be seen. According to our computation, their loss by the returns received, is nearly 64. Their majority in the last House was rising 80. Their loss in Concord on their Governor vote of 1853, is 85, notwithstanding Mr. Baker received very many Whig votes.

THAT EFFIGY.—'Twas a silly business, says Uncle Toby, to make an effigy and hang him on a tree, whether the effigy was of Douglas or Burke, Arnold or Andre. That the boys should get him down and drag him round in the mud is quite natural, and as harmless as it is useless.

But as to the effigy that was burnt at midnight after town-meeting—that was quite a different affair. As the old gentleman picked his way round the Square, he saw the boys surrounding a barrel, over which they had fixed a set of shears made of hoop poles, from which dangled a man of straw. Presently some fellows called out Hurrah for Mill Dam, and set the straw on fire beneath the image. It did not burn well. That's Douglas, said an outsider. "No it aint, it's Horton D. Walker." said the tar-barrel boys, just as the watchmen were upsetting the whole apparatus. Then came the oaths, and a query why the Watchmen should interfere to prevent a movement so laudable.

The old gentleman left; the boys went to get turpentine, and after the watchmen had gone, the boys came back with the turpentine, and rekindled their fire, burning up their victim and having a good time generally, as such boys are wont on the evening of great days.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, March 14.

SENATE.—In the Senate, Mr. Everett presented the memorial of the New England clergymen against the Nebraska bill.

Mr. Douglas called for it to be read. He said it was not respectful to the Senate, and he desired to say a word upon it. He then, in very strong language, condemned the statements of the memorial, pronouncing them atrocious slanders, &c. He wished to call the attention of the Senate to the memorial. "It is," said he, "presented after the action of the Senate as a protest against our action, in which certainly two-thirds of the Senate concurred. It protests against our action as being a breach of faith, as involving a moral wrong, as destructive of all confidence, and as subjecting us to the righteous judgment of the Almighty. It is presented, too, by a denomination of men calling themselves preachers of the gospel. It has been demonstrated that there is not a particle of truth in the allegation of a breach of confidence. It has been demonstrated so clearly that there is no excuse for any man in the community who believes it any longer. Yet here we find that a large body of preachers, perhaps three thousand, following the lead of a circular calculated to mislead and deceive the public, have come forward with an atrocious falsehood and an atrocious calumny against this body, and prostituted the sacred desk to the miserable and corrupting influences of party politics.

It matters not whether they have misled the whole of the clergymen of New England, and drawn them into this pool of dirty water. It matters not whether the misrepresentation has taken a broad scope or been confined to a few. I hold it is our duty to expose the conduct of men who, either from ignorance or wilful false knowledge, will avail themselves of their sacred calling to arraign Senators here in the discharge of their duties. I hold that this Senate is as capable of judging whether our action involves moral turpitude—whether it subjects us to the judgment of the Almighty, as are these political preachers who do not understand the question. It is evident that these men know not what they are talking about. It is evident that they ought to be rebuked and required to confine themselves to their vocation, instead of neglecting their holy religion and violating its sacred principles, and truth and honor by getting up a document here which is offensive, and which no gentleman can endorse without violating all the rules of courtesy, propriety and honor." Mr. Douglas spoke much further to similar effect.

Mr. Houston defended the memorial. He saw nothing infernal or monstrous in it—nothing that offered any indignity to the Senate. The memorialists charged that the Nebraska bill was a violation of the national faith. He had made the same charge in the debate, and had proved it. He then told the Senate that the passage of the bill would lead to excitement and agitation. It was then denied by Senators, but this memorial, signed by the three thousand ministers of the living God, was evidence that the people were deeply moved.

Mr. Mason of Virginia was in favor of the right of petition, and hoped never to see the day when this right would be denied in the Senate. But this memorial was of a character that did not entitle it to any favor from Senators. Its language was not respectful, and he moved that it be not received.

Messrs. Butler and Adams also opposed its reception.

Mr. Houston again defended it.

Mr. Everett said it was due to the Senate that he should explain his connection with the petition. He was called from his seat a few moments before he presented the memorial, to the door of the Senate, where he was requested by a gentleman to take charge of the memorial and to present it to the Senate.—The gentleman who had brought it was introduced to him as a most respectable gentleman of the clerical profession. That gentleman requested him to present it to the Senate. The memorial was voluminous—he called one of the Senate attendants, and told him to carry it in and lay it on the Secretary's table, where it now laid. A few minutes after, he presented it as it was on the table. He had not read it at that time, nor did he read it until he did so with the Senator from Illinois. He thought this explanation of his connection with it ought to be made, as the memorial was considered offensive by the Senator from Illinois and others, to the Senate. He thought the memorial ought to be received, and that it was wrong to ascribe to its authors unworthy feelings and motives.

Mr. Petit spoke in severe terms of the clergymen who signed the memorial, and proposed that it be referred to the Rev. Henry Slicer, Chaplain of the Senate, with instructions to inquire and report whether the Nebraska bill was a violation of the laws of God, and whether the Senate was in danger of provoking the judgment of Heaven by passing it. The discussion was continued by Messrs. Douglas, Petit, Houston and Seward, the latter defending the memorialists at some length.

Mr. Badger replied to Mr. Seward, and moved to lay the subject on the table.—Agreed to.

Mr. Bell offered a resolution calling for the correspondence between the American Consul at Smyrna and the American Minister at Constantinople, respecting the Koszta case. Adopted.

After the executive session the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—In the House, this morning, Mr. Appleton asked leave to present the remonstrance of the New England clergymen against the Nebraska bill. Mr. Boyce objecting the paper was withdrawn.

The resolution introduced yesterday to remedy the confusion at present existing in the appointment of cadets, caused by the new Congressional districting of the several states, was passed.

The House then resumed the consideration of the Wisconsin Railroad Land bill. After some discussion and the adoption of two amendments the bill was finally tabled, on motion of Mr. Jones of Tennessee, by yeas 97, nays 94. The vote was finally clinched by yeas 93, nays 85. Adjourned.

DO GOOD.

Do and suffer naught in vain;
Let no trifle trifling be.
If the salt of life is pain,
Let e'en wrongs bring good to thee;
Good to others few or many,
Good to all or good to any.

EPITAPH.

Here, crumbling lies, beneath the mould,
A man whose sole delight was gold,
Content was never once his guest,
Tho' thrice ten thousand fill'd his chest,
For he, poor man, with all his store,
Died in great want—the want of more!

CONCLUSIVE.

It's no use arguing about what's right,
And preachifying about what is not;
A fellow if he thinks all day and night,
Can't pay the money which he hasn't got.

HOME.—A certain popular divine lately gave rather a lengthy "screed of doctrine," on the subject of Home:

He told the charms of home so well
That, ere the twentieth minute,
We wished—ah! more than words can tell—
That we were safely in it! —Post.

"All-a-growing! All-a-growing!"—Close, philosophical observers, who amuse themselves in watching every little turn and change that takes place in the outside world, declare that they can plainly see indications of a Beard and Moustache sprouting on the Face of Nature! From this, they augur favorably of the success of the anti-razor movement, since Nature herself is lending her countenance to it.—Punch.

The rich have the meat—the poor the better appetite. The rich lay on the softest cushions—the poor sleep the soundest. The rich hang themselves through fear of poverty—the poor laugh, sing and love their wives and babies too well to put their necks into the noose.

It was prepared by request, to supply the urgent want for Glee and Quartett Music of not too elaborate an order.—The pieces, though simple, are not devoid of character. The poetry is of a high order, and cannot fail to please. Published by

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements, whereby our applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application, in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PATENT OFFICE,

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any otherlagent. I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

Boston, Dec. 7, 1852. eodly

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running sores.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed, which grows on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I have seen bedridden old people with rheumatism, and young children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and chronic coughs. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making it a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 73, was unable to leave her house for the last three years. She was much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. It the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your hearts bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit for 48 hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

I do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub.ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:
